

NORSTAD IN CONFERENCE—General Lauris Norstad, Allied NATO Commander of Europe, told reporters from downtown newspapers and the LANTERN at a press conference yesterday afternoon that NATO must be continued until we have definite guarantees for our security. The General flew in from Paris especially for his appearance last night at Merston Auditorium, sponsored by the Merston Committee on Education in National Security. Norstad Lauds NATO

By Phyllis Cashman

The world cannot accept the "status quo" of international relations as satisfactory.

According to General Lauris Norstad, Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in Europe, the success of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is vital to achieving secure peace.

NORSTAD, SPEAKING at Merston last night as part of the Merston program of Education in National Security, outlined the purposes and structure of NATO.

In 1947 and 1948 when Czechoslovakia went behind the iron curtain and the first Berlin blockade took place, the United States and its allies in Europe realized a need for an organization capable of taking the precautions necessary to preserve world peace.

In 1949, 12 nations signed the North Atlantic Treaty Pact. According to Norstad, the military purposes of the organization were to unite efforts for a collective defense.

THROUGH THE SHAPE Supreme Headquarters of the Allied powers in Europe, these efforts were co-ordinated.

"Top brass of the organization include the officers from the forces of a variety of nations," said Norstad, explaining that "The success of our efforts depends upon a united front."

Auxiliary shield forces of NATO scattered throughout Europe are designed to defend the people of their area.

"ANOTHER important function," said Norstad, "is to compel any aggressor to make a conscious decision on whether they intend to start an all-out war or not, and to think in terms of the prices that nation and others will have to pay if war is the result."

Progress in the work of NATO has been significant. In 1956 there was a meager, un-coordinated radar coverage of European fronts. Facilities were being manned eight hours a day, five days a week.

"This left holes in our radar coverage in both time and space," said Norstad, "but now as a result of the work of NATO, there are no gaps in the radar coverage."

THE BASIC problem of NATO at this point is equipment.

General Norstad, whose headquarters are in Paris, flew directly to Columbus. This was the only lecture he made on this visit to the United States.

Westlake Elected Columbus Mayor

By Al Brown

W. Ralston Westlake, Republican Independent, was elected Mayor of Columbus last night by a margin of 5,115 votes over incumbent Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner. Unofficial returns from 826 voting places showed Westlake 52,746 over Sensenbrenner, 47,631.

FCC Backs Move To End Housing Bias

Twenty-eight new Freshman Class Council members added their vote to a 20-18 decision to support the faculty's call for non-discrimination in University housing at a regular meeting last night.

Vice-president Jim Turner moved that the pledge of support of the non-discrimination policy be made, and the council agreed to the statement of approval which reads:

"We, the members of Freshman Senate, as a body fully support the action recommended by a segment of the faculty of Ohio State University with relation to the elimination of segregation in off-campus housing. Any assistance we can give is willingly offered."

A major revision of the constitution passed last night by a unanimous vote concerns the representative election process which will go into effect next fall.

This new policy states that representatives will be elected at the beginning of each school year in proportional numbers from four areas: town, men's dorms, women's dorms and rooming houses. The later category will include fraternity and sorority houses.

Under the former system, members were elected Winter Quarter and each represented an individual living unit.

With 730 of Columbus' 826 polling places reporting, Republican Independent, W. Ralston Westlake, was leading Incumbent Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner by a margin of 4,579 votes. Early returns were not indicative for the two candidates for mayor were running neck and neck.

The race for City Council was also hot and heavy as the earlier returns were tallied. Seven hundred and thirty out of 826 precincts reported the four council seats going to William P. Hoermle Sr., (D); Miss Golda May Edmonston, (R); William M. Hicks, (R); and Ronald E. Devore, (R).

THE TWO issues on the city ballot, the tax levy for schools and the renewal of a tax levy for operating expenses for the City School System, had almost a 2-1 majority, carrying both at that point.

Both proposed Constitutional Amendments in a state-wide balloting were leading with more than a fourth of the votes counted.

Amendment No. 1—To lift restrictions on Cities' sale of Water and Sewer Services.

Amendment No. 2—To permit additional Appellate Judges in courts with heavy work loads.

Audience Rates 'The Happy Time' As 'Tres Bien!'

By Sara Pentz

University Theatre opened its 1959-60 season with an audience-approved production of Samuel Taylor's "The Happy Time."

Although the cast was not quick to assume their roles, the play which has many opportunities for laughs, picked up speed after the actors finally assumed their roles and carried off the humor of the scenes with moderate finesse. Much of the humor of the play is based on the broad-minded view of sex taken by the three brothers of the French-Canadian family and their father, Grandpere.

DEBONAIR grandpere, played by David Eaton, was perfectly cast with his rasping voice and stooped appearance. The realism which he and Uncle Louis, played by Joel Neshkin, created was successful primarily because of their perfectly integrated French accents.

Uncle Louis stole the show as he continually "drank wine from his water cooler," which he claimed was his "sanctuary."

Maman, played by Lindsay Chichester, represented the stabilizing factor in innocent Bibi's life. Her role of keeping her 12-year-old, innocent son from learning the facts of life through the crude lives of the three brothers was, perhaps, too obvious.

MAMAN'S Scotch Presbyterianism, which over-emphasized her primness, became so because of her lack of Scotch accent and the seeping through of common American gestures.

Bibi, played by Ted Florence, molded his cast and in turn the play with his every appearance. His very sincere interpretation of a 12-year-old boy was accepted with great response from the audience. His scene imitating Rudolph Valentino, like his Papa's (played by Ray Stawiarski), brought warm applause from his audience.

Bibi must be commended for his genuine contemplation of adult actions, which would arouse contemplation in any 12-year-old boy.

RAY STAWIARSKI, Papa, gave warmth to his role. Louise Zelizer, as Mignonette, gave an excellent portrayal to her role as the maid-turned trapeze assistant.

On the whole, the cast upheld the tradition of University Theatre productions and gave, under the fine guidance of director, Bill Zuccherro, a pleasant interpretation to this French-Canadian comedy.

"Spotlight on India" will be the theme for a Foreign Affairs Night for members of the Faculty Club tonight at 7:30 in the Grand Lounge of the Faculty Club.

Who's Delinquent?

Within the past year pressure has been put on authorities to curb juvenile delinquency by enforcing stricter laws.

This pressure has increased since the wave of teenage uprisings in New York last summer. Moral indignation was centered on the unfortunate, slum-ridden, illiterate juveniles who took part in this wave of delinquency.

Juvenile delinquency which seems to play a prominent part in most large cities, is being incessantly checked by authorities—authorities who are expected to guide, instruct, and admonish youthful offenders.

Yet proper authoritative leadership in the city of Columbus would seem to be lacking in many respects. In Columbus, the very department that is responsible for apprehending offenders is being apprehended itself. So far nine Columbus policemen have been arrested for stealing.

It seems incongruous to expect young people to conform to proper standards when those who uphold these standards fail. However, juveniles weren't the only ones being deceived.

Television viewers throughout the nation were surprised this week when quiz wonder Charles Van Doren, a college English professor, confessed that he had been coached in the rigged, scandal-tinged, now defunct program, "21."

But even more shocking was the reaction of public opinion to the affair. Many were apathetic, not caring whether the show was honest or not. They felt that if the producer's wanted to make an extra dollar, it was all right with them—just so the entertainment was good.

The producers of the rigged shows rationalized their insatiable greed for the almighty dollar by stating that they were "providing the public with lively entertainment." Devoid of any sense of moral responsibility, their only regret was that they were stopped.

The "intellectual wonder," who brought the quiz show exposé to a climax seems to have held this same opinion. His final painful confession before the grand jury this week comes just a little too late to denote true repentance. Van Doren had three years to clear himself but he chose to perjure himself before the grand jury rather than reveal he had been bought for public pleasure.

But this week, aware of the walls of exposure crumbling around him, Van Doren "bares all" and becomes a modernday George Washington. What a sham on the education profession! Like the producers of these questionable quiz shows Van Doren was tempted by the false gods of fame and fortune ($129,999).

Charles Jackson, a minister, also fell prey to the dollar by allowing himself to be bribed by officials of the quiz show "The $64,000 Challenge."

What can be said about the exposé of these individuals—a college professor, a minister, policemen—when these individuals prove nothing other than delinquents themselves?

Trashy Situation

Squirrels and students have really a lot in common—neither of them have any use for waste paper.

Of course, the University maintains a ground crew to pick up paper, but they are hopelessly outnumbered. As a result of this, the Oval starts resembling a roadside park every time a Wednesday comes around.

Since litterbug drives have not had too many results off campus, a drive among students probably wouldn't accomplish much either—especially as long as trash cans are spaced several blocks apart.

A few trash cans could sure make a difference.

Groups Back Faculty Letters; Four Students Give Opposing Opinions

Endorsement . . .

To the Editor:

The members of the Ohio State Dissent Forum wish to place on record their full endorsement of the letters calling for immediate University action against discrimination in student housing, which, signed by 26 faculty members, appeared in the LANTERN Friday, Oct 30.

Members of Dissent Forum

Gives Support . . .

To the Editor:

As president of Theta Chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, I would like to voice my approval and give my support to the move made by 26 of our professors and expressed in the two letters of last Friday (Oct. 30).

If many more of our professors and the students on this campus would make a similar move, racial discrimination would be on the way out. If we combine our efforts and work together instead of feeling as some individuals do that "there is nothing that I can do," we would "save the face" of our University.

Janice A. Gipson, Nurs-4

Opposite Views Are Expressed

To the Editor:

Due to the number of protests against racial discrimination, we feel that there is a need for a statement concerning the opposite faction on this vital problem.

We belong to the seemingly minority group who believes in the basic freedom to choose one's associates and friends. We resent anyone's attempt to restrict our freedom of choice. Ohio State has reached a sorry state when it forces a student or landlord to associate with or rent to a group of persons whom he dislikes.

We realize that there exist many rabble-rousing organizations which either by force or gratuity persuade the so-called "minority groups" to enter into a situation where they will be discriminated against. It is the fault of these trouble-making groups that there exists friction between races. If the schools would investigate these so-called "equality" groups instead of attacking the individuals who believe in discrimination, the problem would be partially alleviated.

You see we believe in our convictions just as much as the equality groups believe in their policies. We feel that to force this precept down our throats is as un-American as communism. Since we do feel this way, we have a right to express our convictions publicly in the LANTERN.

SATELLITE SHOT FAILS

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Navy acknowledged officially Tuesday that it tried last year to launch a small satellite from a high flying jet fighter plane.

The project, known as "Pilot," was not successful and "The Navy has no plans to conduct further experiments to place a satellite in orbit by means of an air launch."

Suggestions Given to Solve Greek, Anti-Greek Problems

To the Editor:

This quarter there has appeared in the LANTERN Letters to the Editor offering sincere criticisms of our sorority and fraternity systems. To the authors of the letters this writer extends his gratitude in the attempt to arouse an awareness in the problem areas of Initiation Week, abuse of University regulations, snobbishness, discrimination, year around volunteer spirit, scholarship and major activity participation. Toward this purpose I believe you are sincere. If you aligned yourself with any other purpose I would immediately disregard the attack as name calling or sour grapes.

THERE IS A progressive spirit within the fraternity system to assure a freshman student of a more rapid adjustment to academic standards. Through the period of pledgeship, a young man can realize this development because of the close personal contact with men in leadership positions. Toward this purpose we align ourselves as members of the outstanding fraternity system in the United States and Canada.

Now let's examine the main problem between Greeks and anti-Greeks as rational men and women in an institution of higher learning. There are members of the Greek system who do not understand the above purpose or ever hope to support the development of it. As past president of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and as a member of the Council of Fraternity Presidents Executive Committee and presently serving as an officer for the fraternity system, I can assure you that the dissenters of our common purpose are in the minority.

TO ARRIVE at the conclusion that all Greeks are snobs, all participate in immature initiations weeks, all foster a non-scholarship attitude, all are indignant toward University regulations and administrators and all are playboys and playgirls throughout the academic year is incredulous.

The important point to be noted in the recent articles is how misinformed and how readily the authors have generalized their conclusions from one or two specific instances. Certainly our University does not support this method of thinking within the classrooms.

IN AN ATTEMPT to aid in the understanding of Greeks, they are men and women with human emotions. And they are equally proud of their mature achievements and equally resentful of those who maintain that fraternities and sororities are the same now that they were 30 years ago.

We are students attending a fine University, individuals who seek a vocation and search for constructive values by which we may pattern our lives. Yet the primary value of human relations and understanding is entirely forgotten in this bitter rivalry. Each group strongly defends how much better they appear to be in one area of University participation than the others.

This writer offers the following suggestions to eliminate the present problem:

TO THE GREEKS: 1. If the letters to the editor persist in the future to evaluate the criticism and if it is worthy of consideration we must meet the criticism head-on and eliminate it.

2. If the criticism is unwarranted, search to understand how the author arrived at the conclusion and do not attempt to refute it.

TO THE Anti-Greeks: 1. As a member of Phi Kappa Tau, I invite you to our house where you may discuss your views with our fraternity leaders. We will explain every detail of our fraternity program that we feel is constructed to serve the best interest of the college student.

2. As an officer in the fraternity system, I invite you to talk with our officers and observe: (a) How we attempt to solve our present problems, and (b) how we have supported our purpose with concrete organization.

WE WELCOME YOUR suggestions for improving our system and hope that you will discuss your objection before our executive committee.

In closing it is hoped, that the differences between the Greeks and anti-Greeks be solved. There was only one point stressed, that we arrived at a better understanding. Perhaps in the future we will combine our efforts in aiding the University in its attempts to mold good citizenship within the student. Certainly a basic understanding of human relations that involve individual and group differences is a start.

Coins in the Slot To Do Great Wonders in 1960

CHICAGO — (UPI)—The vending machine industry recently took a look into the 1960's and saw food, football tickets and four billion dollars in its future.

The crystal-gazing took place at the 13th annual convention and exhibit of the National Automatic Merchandising Association.

ALMOST EVERY official at the convention forecast a boom in automatic cafeterias, particularly in plants and schools. According to Aaron Goldman, vending machine manufacturer, machines can already vend about 90 per cent of the food which most workers want for their meal "away from home."

"And machines which will vend a tasty hot platter for those who want a heartier meal are just around the technological corner," Goldman predicted. The first models of these hot platter machines have already been tested, and Goldman foresaw a rapid improvement in and wide distribution of these electronic marvels within the next few years.

Loaded with frozen food that's cooked electronically, they can turn out a hot meal of roast beef, mashed potatoes and beans in minutes and for just 40 to 50 cents.

A MANUFACTURER of paper handling machines foresaw football tickets in the vending machine industry's future. Newsmen were asked to visualize 80,000 people buying tickets for a Chicago Cardinal-Cleveland Brown game at box offices manned only by two precision machines.

One machine would "red light" the seats already sold and "white light" the ones still available. After the customer made a selection by push buttons, he might hand a $5 bill to the other machine which would dispense his ticket and change.

Several manufacturers called ticket selling machines and even vending machine supermarkets or department stores a near reality because of the development of continually better currency-handling machines. An almost-perfected one could be called an unattended cash register. A demonstrator put a $1 bill and a $5 bill into it, pressed a button and $6 in credit showed up on the machine.

THE DEMONSTRATOR then selected a $3.75 fountain pen, which the machine dispensed with $2.25 in change.

William C. McConnell Jr., vending machine operator, cited another development likely to put vending machines into the supermarket and department store business. This was the single machine offering a wide variety of foods or other goods. One on display held 132 kinds of food under refrigeration, including apples, cheese, salad, fruits, pastries, breads, soft drinks and soups.

The $4 billion in the industry's future was an estimate of sales in 1965, based on the increase in vending sales for the past 10 years.

Ike and Khru Tug-of-War Is Talk Topic

Scott Nearing, economist and author, will speak on "Ike and Mr. K—The Struggle for World Power" at the First Universalist Church, 121 16th Avenue at 8 p.m. Sunday. The meeting is sponsored by the Channing-Murray Fellowship, college group of the Universalist and Unitarian churches.

Scott Nearing has been one of the outstanding critics of the status quo for many years. He formerly taught at the Universities of Pennsylvania, Temple and Toledo and Swarthmore College. His dismissal, during the first world war, from his teaching job resulted in one of the most famous civil liberties cases of the generation.

Dr. Nearing is the author of numerous books, including "Economics for the Power Age."

Historian Sees Famine If no Equilibrium Is Set

ROME—(UPI)—British historian-philosopher Dr. Arnold Toynbee said mankind must accept birth control or else "sooner or later famine will stalk abroad again" in an over-populated world.

Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) was made with diplomatic immunity.

TOYNBEE, AUTHOR of the monumental "Study of History," said civilization has increased the life span of mankind and has cut down the inroads of death by famine, pestilence and war.

"We have started to impose on nature's heartless play a humane new order of our own," he said. "But when once man has begun to interfere with nature he cannot afford to stop half way."

"We cannot, with impunity, cut down the death rate and at the same time allow the birth rate to go on taking nature's course. We must consciously try to establish an equilibrium or sooner or later, famine will stalk abroad again."

TOYNBEE discussed birth control and religious opposition to it.

"The issue is, indeed, a religious one in the sense that it raised the question what is the true end of man," he said.

"Is it to populate the earth with the maximum number of human beings that can be kept alive simultaneously by the world's maximum food supply. Or is it to enable human beings to lead the best kind of life that the spiritual limitations of human nature allow?"

TOYNBEE SAID the subject of birth control was educational and political and that it could be imposed only "by private action of the many."

Sandmel Discusses Greek Scholar Philo

By Jody Hill

"Hellenistic influence was borrowed by the Jews from the very atmosphere," asserted Dr. Samuel Sandmel, Professor of Bible and Hellenistic Literature at Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati.

That scripture has survived in Greek rather than Aramaic was presented as evidence of this by Dr. Sandmel, who was sponsored jointly by the University Advisory Board on Religious Affairs and the Graduate School.

"YOU CAN'T have the language without the ideas," said Dr. Sandmel. "You may not agree with all of them, but you have the concepts."

"Did they borrow external modes of thought only," Dr. Sandmel continued, "or did they also assimilate internal things?"

Dr. Sandmel illustrated his thesis by discussing Philo, a Greek scholar, who wrote about church problems in Alexandria between 20 AD and 40 BC.

A PALESTINIAN Jew regarded his world in this way, according to Dr. Sandmel. God had revealed himself through Abraham to man, who was to obey God's laws, but could not. There had to be some way to regain good standing and the answer to this was repentance and atonement.

Greek influence subtly changed this, said Dr. Sandmel. Sin ceased to be active and was regarded as the result of inherent evil in man.

The Palestinian Jew was asking how can I change my conduct.

THE GREEK was asking how can I change my nature.

According to Dr. Sandmel, Philo developed the doctrine of logos, a definition of the world in which there is a universal mind.

Philo thought that when man was in contact with this universal mind, he was as close to a transcendent, remote God as he could get.

PHILO ALSO used the allegory to explain most of the difficulties his logical examination of the scripture turned up.

Dr. Sandmel implied that Paul was also Hellenized, although he centered his discussion on Philo.

'Lucas' Knee Not Serious' Says Wilson

For Ohio State basketball phenom, Jerry Lucas, the heat's on.

The fans, who have dreamed of seeing Lucas in a varsity uniform, will not be disillusioned, however, for Dr. Judson Wilson stated that his knee ailment "is nothing so serious that it cannot be alleviated."

THE YOUNG basketball coach, Fred Taylor, was greatly relieved to hear this news.

The concerned Taylor immediately put Lucas under Wilson's care when he learned of the injury. Lucas has been unable to play for periods longer than five to ten minutes before the knee became stiff and sore.

THE ORTHOPEDIC surgeon diagnosed Lucas' knee trouble as synovitis, and explained it as being "an inflammation of the knee joint lining," and ordered heat treatments be administered the swollen knee. These treatments are given Lucas before and after the practice sessions.

Since standing around on the hardwood floor is more aggravating to the knee than is running, Dr. Wilson prescribed that the 6-8 center's playing shoes be "padded."

Brown Lauds John Wooten

The performance of rookie John Wooten was singled out today by coach Paul Brown in reflecting on the Cleveland Browns' 38-31 victory over the Baltimore Colts last Sunday.

"He always took his part in a silent, quiet way, but he had something extra for this game," the coach said. "You remember he was with the All-Star team and took a lacing from the Colts. This was the first time he was really talking it up."

Wooten and Gene Hickerson alternate at right guard and bring in plays from the coach. Brown said Wooten was most eager when the play called for him to blast away at the big Baltimore line."

"We had a good offensive line charge," Brown continued. "It always gets better when your passing gets better, and our passing was good."

Brown also cited the work of tackle Mike McCormack, the Browns' captain, who was assigned to cover all-pro Gino Marchetti. He said he didn't recall seeing much of Marchetti during the game.

"I know he never hurt us as he's hurt other teams," said the coach.

Ingram's Slap Breaks Bone

Guard Mike Ingram suffered a hairline fracture of a wrist bone in Saturday's 30-24 football win over Michigan State, coach Woody Hayes said Tuesday.

Ingram's right arm has been put in a cast but Hayes added that the injury is not expected to keep the 217-pound linebacker out of Saturday's game with Indiana.

Hayes said the injury apparently occurred as Ingram playfully slapped a teammate's helmet following the last Ohio touchdown.

The 55 certified airlines in the U.S. carried 49 million passengers last year, 1½ billion letters and 500 million ton-miles of freight.

MIDWEST BACK OF THE WEEK—Quarterback Tom Matte, who threw three touchdown passes against Michigan State, has been named Midwest Back of the Week by United Press International. Matte also was one of four men selected for the National Backfield of the Week.

Hoosiers No Patsy; Batting .500 in Big 10

By Phil Rohr

Anyone who expects the Indiana Hoosiers to be the soft touch they have been in more recent years is in for a mild shock.

The rejuvenated Hoosiers will invade the Stadium with high hopes of avenging such recent walloppings as the 49-8 victory last year, and the 56-0* slaughter of two years ago.

COACH PHIL DICKINS has molded a fairly representative Big Ten team that has a 3-3 record for this season, same as Ohio State. Last year the Hoosiers wound up the campaign with a 5-3-1 mark.

John Henry Jackson is one reason for this season's fine showing. Jackson is a tailback and the leading passer for Indiana. In addition, he is the second leading ground gainer with 218 yards in 72 tries. Jackson is a sophomore.

Senior Ted Smith, another tailback, is also a top ground gainer. Smith has picked up 220 yards in 57 carries, an average of 3.8 yards per carry.

A STRONG single-wing offense, with Jackson leading the way, is the big Indiana weapon.

Against Northwestern last Saturday, the Hoosiers actually outgained the Wildcats on the ground, amassing a total of 261 yards to 243 for the Cats.

Indiana, like the Buckeyes, prefer to use the pass mainly to help keep defenses honest, but the pass also has been a potent part of their attack. They have scored at least one touchdown by passing in each of their six games.

EARL FAISON, a hulking 6 ft. 5 in. junior, has caught three touchdown passes. The other end, Ted Aucreman, is the top pass snagger as he has caught 10 aeri- als, good for 228 yards.

Other favorite targets for Jackson are wingbacks Ron McCauley and Richie Bradford.

Their ground attack is their main ingredient. Besides the ground gaining abilities of Jackson and Smith, fullback Vic Jones has also sparkled. Jones has gained 264 yards in 79 carries.

HOOSIER BACK — Ted Smith, Indiana's hard-hitting tailback, has picked up 220 yards in 57 carries. He has averaged 3.8 yards per carry.

Matte, Kilgore Top Statistics

By Bernie Karsko

After six games, Dayton senior, Dave Kilgore still tops the Bucks in scoring with his 18 point output on the strength of 6 point-after kicks and four field goals.

Bob Ferguson and Jim Houston both have scored a pair of touchdowns and Tom Matte and Chuck Bryant have set the band in action once. Bill Wentz has a TD and a safety credited to him accounting for the team's 62-point total.

PRIOR TO Saturday's game, neither Ohio State nor their opponents had scored in the third period. A 13 yard Matte to Wentz pass shattered this barrier for the Bucks but opponents have still been unable to turn the trick.

But what foes lacked in the third period they have made up for in the last where they have racked up 34 points to the Bucks 17.

Tom Matte is currently sporting a passing record that looks like shades of John Borton. Completing five of his eight attempts against the Spartans Matte is now batting .512 with 21 completions in 41 attempts, good for 345 yards and 4 touchdowns. Only two of his efforts have been intercepted.

THE EAST CLEVELAND junior is far out of the reach of any of his teammates in total offense with a combined passing-rushing net of 524 yards.

After gaining 106 yards in six tries last week, Bob Ferguson is the undisputed top rusher with a 7.6 average. In 40 tries he has gobbled up 306 yards while losing only 3.

Bob White is the only other regular who can be counted on for more than three yards at a crack. In 86 tries he has clicked off 273 yards for a 3.1 average. But "big Bob" has yet to score this year.

WHAT WHITE has lacked in running this year he has helped make up for with his punting. Having boomed out a 41.9 yard average in 16 tries he now ranks as one of the best in the league. Jerry Fields is not far back with his 39.7 mark in 14 efforts.

With eight grabs Chuck Bryant heads the pass receiving department. Jim Houston and Tom Perdue have each caught five, while Bill Wentz is credited with four catches.

The opponents still hold an edge on the Bucks statistic wise. We are down 101-81 in first downs and behind 1,901 yards to 1,503 in total net offense, having been out-gained both on the ground and in the air.

UNLIKE THE last two seasons when the team could scoff at fumbleitis, so far this year the Bucks have given the ball away via this route eight times, once more than the opposition.

The only plus side of the ledger for Ohio State is in the penalty column. The Bucks have only had 144 yards taken away while the opponents have had to forfeit 216.

Four Foundations Form Fellowships

Four student religious foundations have combined on a state level to form the Ohio United Campus Christian Fellowship.

The four foundations are Baptist-Disciple Student Fellowship, Westminster Foundation, which is Presbyterian, United Student Fellowship, which is Evangelical and Reformed and Congregational Christian, and Albright-Otterbein Student Fellowship which is Evangelical United Brethren.

REPRESENTATIVES of these four groups from all Ohio campuses met at Pilgrim Hills near Mt. Vernon last weekend to draw up their articles of procedure and elect officers.

Marion Wiehe, Com-3, of USF was elected state vice-president and Steve Schuneman, Arts 4, of Westminster, was elected chairman of the Commission on strategy.

The local chapters of OUCCF have not been formed, according to Nancy Krody, BDSF president, but the individual groups on campus will eventually dissolve.

The movement is scheduled to take effect on a national level in August, 1960.

Schedule Cards Due

Graduate and Professional students who are currently enrolled are again reminded that schedules for the Winter Quarter 1960 must be turned into their college offices before November 7th. Extra fees will be assessed for schedules filed after that date.

Paper Criticizes Alanbrooke Book

LONDON — (UPI)—Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard charged today that the criticisms of President Eisenhower's World War II strategy by British Field Marshall, Viscount Alanbrooke reached "a new low in this type of post-war abuse between generals."

The comment in an article by Milton Shulman coincided with the formal publication date of "Triumph in the West," the second volume of the diaries of Alanbrooke.

IT WAS THE second sharp criticism in two days by a Beaverbrook newspaper of Alanbrooke, who was Chief of the British Imperial General Staff during World War II.

In the diaries made public Friday, Alanbrooke had raised a storm by charging—among other things—that just before the Battle of the Bulge in late 1944, Gen. Eisenhower was "on the golf links at Rheims—entirely detached and taking practically no part in running the war."

WRITING IN today's Evening Standard Shulman said:

"The picture emerges of an efficient, dedicated, all-seeing Field Marshall doing his best to win the war almost single-handed at the conference table while constantly being hampered by the childish petulance of Winston Churchill and the strategic ignorance of his American colleagues, Marshall and Eisenhower."

The Standard article followed one by Robert Pitman in the Beaverbrook Sunday Express that criticized Alanbrooke for opposing the allied landings in France and declared that he "could well have led us to deadlock or disaster" if it had not been for "Churchill and the politicians."

ANOTHER COMMENT came today from former Laborite Prime Minister Lord Attlee who said that the present volume of diaries "does not add to, and may detract from, Alanbrooke's reputation, and certainly may cast shadows on Anglo-American relations."

Attlee said that in his opinion, Alanbrooke was one of the three great "soldier statesmen who emerged in World War II, ranking with the Americans, Marshall—whom he much underestimates—and MacArthur—whom he somewhat overrates."

'If Steel Strike Ends Soon Holiday Business Will Boom'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — A Commerce Department economist predicted Tuesday that Christmas business would be at a "record all-time high" this year if the striking steelworkers go back to their jobs within 10 days.

Louis J. Paradiso of the Office of Business Economics said in an interview that people will have more money to spend this season than last Christmas.

HE ADDED THAT the steel strike would act "as a drag on total sales" but generally would not affect business unless the strike continues for 10 more days.

Paradiso pointed out that if the strike continued into December, it would have an adverse "psychological effect" that might reduce consumer spending.

The Commerce Department official said latest figures show that there has been a five per cent increase over last year in personal income after taxes.

AT THE END OF September, the annual rate of income after taxes was 335 billion dollars. A year ago, it was 320 billion dollars.

In past years income after taxes has shown a direct relation to Christmas buying.

But, Paradiso said, "Christmas shoppers will find prices a little higher than a year ago. He said prices of consumer goods generally are about one per cent over a year ago.

"More people are at work and incomes are higher," Paradiso said in forecasting a big Christmas season.

Hull Directs Yule Seal Sale

James R. Hull, assistant professor of orthodontia at Ohio State, and a former Ohio State All-American basketball player, will be the Tuberculosis Society of Columbus and Franklin County's 1959 Christmas seal sale chairman.

Goal of the county-wide campaign, which begins Nov. 16, is $200,000.

Among the volunteers assisting in the preparation of Christmas seal letters were members of Alpha Epsilon Phi, Alpha Rho Chi, Delta Tau Delta and Kappa Alpha Theta.

Christmas seal sales, conducted entirely by mail, are the Tuberculosis Society's only source of income. Contributions provide free chest X-rays, tuberculin tests, local TB research, health education and rehabilitation programs, which benefit every community in Franklin County.

Dr. Hull is a member of the Ohio State Dental Association, past president of the Columbus Dental Society, a member of the Ohio Dental Society and the Great Lakes Society of Orthodontists. He is a fellow of the American College of Dentists.

Police Arrest 9th Suspect

An off-duty motorcycle patrolman today became the ninth officer arrested in a continuing investigation of burglaries and thefts involving Columbus policemen, the Associated Press reported yesterday.

Patrolman Raymond E. McKnight, 34, is being held for questioning.

McKnight's involvement, said Inspector Harvey List, "seemed minor" and consisted mainly of "knowledge which he didn't report."

There is evidence of lowered morale in the police department as the investigation continues.

Police said they are getting crank calls, not only at work, but at home.

There is no sympathy among fellow officers for the men arrested. Ane veteran officer said, "I hope they get every guy that's mixed up in this mess and I hope they put them all behind bars."

Friends and families of the arrested officers are shocked because apparently none was in financial difficulty, investigators said.

Thief Grabs Loot, Flees

A burglar broke into the Delta Theta Sigma fraternity house early Tuesday morning and stole $20 and a wallet.

Joe Yantis, Ag-2, was awakened by a noise. When he looked up, he saw a man going through his wallet. He yelled and the intruder ran down the steps and out the front door.

The Columbus police were summoned and it was discovered that the thief had taken Yantis' wallet and $20 belonging to Ken Denk, Ag-2.

The first forest fire law in America was passed by the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1631.

Singing Cowboy Is Not In Trouble Says Rogers

HOLLYWOOD — (UPI)—Since the advent of TV wrestling, singing cowboys have been considered dead, but not only is the body still warm, it's rolling in dough.

"Rodeo is the fast growing spectator sport in the United States today, according to Roy Rogers, who's poked along hundreds of ranges singing the cowboy's lament.

"IT'S EXPECTED that rodeos will draw more than 15 million spectators this year," Roy claimed. "And, there's plenty of money there and in other areas of entertainment for a singing cowboy.

"For instance, I got $450,000 last year as my percentage from 45 days of road shows."

Emphasizing the point with a wave of his hand, Rogers displayed a large gold ring, shaped in the form of a saddle and studded with 45 diamonds and 23 rubies.

ROGERS, APPEARING at the Grand National Championship on TV Nov. 8, admits singing cowboys aren't the rage gunslingers are, but he insists there's still money in that there guitar.

"Musical westerns started about 1934, following up cowboy films that featured rustlers and that sort of thing," Roy said. "The musicals were hot up until the time TV started and producers began doing period stuff."

Rogers, a veteran of 21 years in pictures, made 100 TV films which he won't describe as musicals.

"I WAS NEVER much of a singer, didn't claim to be," he con-

Also next Wednesday evening due to the holiday there will be no movies but the following week (Nov. 18) the Movies Committee will present "A Man Called Peter" starring Richard Todd and Jean Peters.

CD On Tour At Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — (UPI)—Some 125 U.S. Civil Defense leaders yesterday viewed testing facilities for missiles that America hopes will serve as deterrents to World War III.

The CD chiefs were briefed, then given an extensive tour of Cape Canaveral. They returned to Miami late yesterday for the remainder of their three-day conference, which closes today with a series of committee reports.

DURING their briefing, the delegates were shown charts of the setup for missile testing at Cape Canaveral, plus many of the missiles in flight—both successes and failures.

During the briefing, Maj. James Reid, head of the Patrick Air Force Base community relations branch, emphasized that the nature of missile testing meant that a certain number of failures were to be expected, and that the aim was to iron out the troubles before declaring the weapons ready for combat.

DETROIT — (UPI) — James R. Hoffa said Tuesday his giant Teamsters Union would make an organized effort to defeat every member of Congress who voted for the Landrum-Griffin Labor Bill.

WQIM Program Got Its Start In 1946 With Nine Students

In 1946 a group of nine Ohio State students transferred to Mexico City College for intensive study of Spanish and allied liberal arts subjects.

This experiment, under the direction of Dr. James B. Tharp, retired professor of education at Ohio State, was the beginning of the Winter Quarter in Mexico program.

SINCE THAT time Dr. Tharp has taken a group of a hundred or more transfer students enrolled in a college operating on the quarter system to study at MCC.

According to Dr. Tharp the idea behind the program is to give United States students instruction in the Spanish language and Latin-American literature, culture and business.

"Here is an almost unique opportunity for special study in areas and under conditions which cannot be paralleled in most universities and colleges in the United States," Dr. Tharp said.

ALTHOUGH Dr. Tharp retired from Ohio State in June 1958, he remains on the staff of MCC as a professor of education and directs the Winter Quarter in Mexico program.

According to Dr. Tharp, MCC specializes in the teaching of Spanish, at all levels, in all its aspects, and stresses Latin-American culture and affairs.

The college is housed on 20 acres of scenic landscape at Kilometer 16 on the Mexico-Toluca highway, the continuation of the historic Paseo de la Reforma.

MCC HAS NO dormitory facilities, but arranges accommodations for students in Mexican homes.

Although students may travel to Mexico in any way they choose, a group bus trip is offered so that students may get acquainted and do some sightseeing.

The bus trip is organized by the Mexicohio Society. This society

Series Features Mrs. E. Roosevelt

Eleanor A. Roosevelt, speaking on the subject, "How the United States Can Best Influence the World Against Communism," appears at Mershon Auditorium at 8 p.m. Nov. 12.

Mrs. Roosevelt's prominence in national and international affairs has continued and on the occasion of her seventy-fifth birthday anniversary, she was recognized by a special program on the NBC television network in a recent Sunday evening program.

A former official delegate to the United Nations, Mrs. Roosevelt is a keen student of world affairs and a distinguished citizen. In a number of polls taken by the American Institute of Public Opinion, Mrs. Roosevelt has topped a list of 10 choices as the "most admired woman living today in any part of the world."

Tickets for this second event of the Celebrity Series are now on sale at Mershon Auditorium Ticket Office, 15th Ave. and High St., and reservations may be made by calling AX-1-4144.

was formed in 1949 by a group of Ohio State students who had studied in Mexico.

THE PURPOSES of the society are to aid students who plan to go to Mexico, to create one or more annual tuition scholarships, and to keep alive their pleasant memories of student life in Mexico.

Included in the program are organized trips to historic and exotic spots throughout Mexico.

A long weekend on the Pacific beaches of Acapulco is usually one of the main excursions.

THE MEXICOHIO Society offers free transportation to WQIM members to the Pyramids of San Juan Teotihuacan and the "Floating Gardens" of Xochimilco.

Students who have studied under the program generally feel that it was the most broadening and exciting experience in their college careers.

Marcia Brownson, Arts 3, Arleen Foreman, Edu 4, and Gay Bender, Arts 4, are a few who studied under the program last year and they feel that it was a most thrilling and educational experience.

"JUST TO SEE the vast cultural differences between modern and ancient Mexico makes the trip worthwhile and educational. Their traditions and customs were so completely new to me that one cannot help but be fascinated," Foreman said.

According to Brownson, Mexico City is a city of tremendous contrast.
