

Secretary Benson Urges College Help For Farm Marketing

U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today called on land-grant colleges to help initiate a program of sound farm marketing.

Secretary Benson spoke before the general session of the 67th annual convention of the Association of Land-Grant

*Colleges and Universities in the Ballroom of the Deshler-Hilton Hotel.

In explaining his position as the result of the attack by some farm leaders and congressmen on his farm policies, Benson said it would have been "comparatively easy to yield to the demands . . . to go off on a round of patch-work programming."

He remarked that there is no "easy panacea" for agriculture. "Patchwork remedies, quack remedies . . . are a dime a dozen, and that's all some of them (panaceas) are worth."

In concluding, Benson said, "I am firmly convinced that we should, and that we can, help American farmers achieve full parity," and called upon the land-grant colleges

Senate Vote May Create New Offices

The Student Senate tonight will vote on an amendment to create a vice-president for each of the classes.

This action is probably the result of the appointment of senior class president Harland Randolph, Ed-4, to a debating tour to India.

Section 3 of the Code of Acts of the Senate provides for only three officers for each class, minus a vice-president. If the amendment to the section is passed, such a post will be created.

In other action, the Senate may hear a report from the Council on Student Affairs (CSA) concerning the Senate's request for power of recommendation and review on all rulings of the Social Board before they are passed on to the CSA.

The Senate may also hear a report on the National Student Association (NSA) by Fern Kristeller, Com-4, vice-president of the Senate and campus coordinator of NSA.

Contest Set By Arab Club

Ohio State students and Columbus residents may submit designs with a world peace motif in a contest sponsored by the Arab Club, it was announced Tuesday night.

The contest is held annually to promote world peace, with emphasis upon the relationship between Arab countries and the United States. The winners' works will be displayed in the Ohio Union.

The entry may be a drawing, painting or sculpture. Entries will be accepted now and until the end of the Winter Quarter, and will be judged by professors of the School of Fine and Applied Arts.

The life of Khalil Gioran, Arab author, was discussed at Tuesday's meeting by Mrs. Mary Swaney, assistant to the Committee on International Relations.

'Mr. Enchanted' Retires

By Dick Wootten

What has happened to "Miss Enchanted" or, as was later discovered—"Mr. Enchanted"?

At the moment he's living a life of ease in a nearby trailer camp. He's the guest of Ernie Kaszar, V-Med-4, at the Byway Trailer Camp on Innis Road.

Our cute, perky, odorless friend is not greatly heartbroken about losing the Homecoming queen race. He realizes that a small mammal like himself is rarely accepted in our homo sapien society.

He's quite proud of having received more than 500 votes in the election. This was nearly one-sixth of the votes cast.

Not only is he pleased with the support he got, but he's also proud of being chosen "the" skunk most likely to run for Homecoming queen."

Another polekitty that resides at the Omega Tau Sigma house, a veterinary medicine fraternity, was originally planning to run. (Thank goodness he didn't.) Sure, he's deskunked, but what a disposition! He was uncooperative (refused to face a camera), introverted, anti-social and downright mean.

"Mr. Enchanted" is living proof that all skunks aren't skunks. Some are lovable (like himself). A life of ease certainly won't spoil him.

He feels he knows the place that a fine, upright, young skunk should take in society—that of an entertaining companion.

Dorm To Publish 'Canfield Crier' For First Time

Canfield Hall tomorrow will publish its first paper, "Canfield Crier."

The paper is filled with "personality sketches, floor news and social news," said Elaine Sorr, Com-3, editor.

Leah Lando, A-2, is assistant editor, and the rest of the staff consists of dormitory women.

The dorm will hold an open house for friends and relatives from 4:30 to 6:30 Saturday. "Canfield Dad" will be honored.

Canfield artists will hold an art exhibit starting Saturday.

An exchange dinner with the Buckeye Club and Canfield and Mack Halls will take place from 5:30 to 7:30 Tuesday.

Koutz To Address Poultry Meeting

Prof. F. R. Koutz, of the department of veterinary parasitology, will speak tomorrow at a conference of Poultry Pathologists at Bear Mountain Inn, Stony Point, N. Y.

The meeting is part of educational conferences held in New York this week.

Prof. John H. Helwig, chairman of the department of preventive veterinary medicine, spoke yesterday before the American Public Health Association.

Winter Education Courses Offered Graduate Students

Ohio State will offer special Winter courses for arts college graduates who want to become elementary school teachers, it was disclosed today.

Those interested may contact the secretary of the College of Education.

WEATHER

Today will be partly cloudy and cooler with a high of 48 and a low tonight of 32. Friday will be fair and slightly warmer with a high of 53.

Home Ec Student Receives Borden's Scholarship Award

Carol Jean Schnarenberger, H-Ec-4, received the 1953-54 Borden Home Economics Scholarship at a meeting of the Home Economics Club yesterday.

The $300 cash award is presented annually to the senior in the School of Home Economics with the highest scholastic record.

Miss Schnarenberger has a cumulative point-hour ratio of 3.85, the second highest attained since the award was begun in 1945.

Dorothy Joan Parlette, H-Ec-4, received honorable mention with a 3.72.

The purpose of the award is to recognize outstanding undergraduates in home economics who give promise of future achievement.

Prof. Dorothy Scott, of the School of Home Economics, presented the award.

Annual Pigeon Shoot Held

Armistice Day, commemorating one war's end, marked another war's beginning on the campus yesterday.

The latter war was fought, not man against man, but man against bird.

Students, faculty members, and University employees assembled on the campus at 7:30 a. m. yesterday with loaded shotguns, for the annual pigeon shoot.

The shoot serves a twofold purpose. The campus is rid of pigeons and hunters get in practice for hunting season which opens Monday.

Hunters must get permission of campus police to take part in the shoot. As a safety precaution, only shotguns are used, because their pellets will not carry more than 50 yards.

The noise of guns yesterday brought an occasional car to the hunting grounds to inquire about the shooting. James L. Beck, chief of campus police, and his men supervised the extermination.

"Actually, there's very little danger," Chief Beck said. "There are very few people on the campus and we've set up safety rules."

"First of all, we've only permitted 20 or 25 men to shoot pigeons. They're supposed to fire only when the birds are in the air. Can't shoot near buildings, either."

A sporadic shower of pellets and pigeons rained over buildings and grounds until the noon deadline. Here and there a feather floated to the street. One bird did a fancy swan dive into a rainpipe, flipped and staggered to the ground.

After the hunt, most of the dead pigeons were carted away by the hunters to show to admirers or left for the service department to clear away. A few were headed for the skillet.

A Disagreement With The President

We cannot agree with President Eisenhower that former President Harry S. Truman and Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark should not have been subpoenaed to appear before the House Un-American Activities Committee to answer questions about the Harry Dexter White case.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr. has made charges that Truman promoted White to the position of executive director of the International Monetary Fund, despite knowledge of an FBI report on White which labeled him a Communist agent. Brownell's charges were a shock and a surprise to the American people.

Although Truman has denied that he had seen or knew of the report, the situation has been further complicated by statements former Attorney General Tom C. Clark and former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes have made.

We agree with the President that it is inconceivable that a man in the position of President of the United States could knowingly harbor a Russian spy.

But we deserve to know the answers to Brownell's charges. And we have the right to hear Truman's explanation while he is under oath.

The situation, as it exists now, is very frightening to the American people. The infiltration of Communist agents into high government posts has long been a matter of speculation and a certain degree of fear.

We do not think Brownell could have made his charges with nothing to warrant them. We want to know the facts concerning the entire situation. Truman has been involved. His appearance, therefore, in answer to the charges is only right and is to be expected.

We cannot, therefore, agree with President Eisenhower that Truman and Clark should not have been subpoenaed. We are anxiously waiting to hear the results of the committee's hearing.

A Challenge

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming said some things earlier this week which are worth repeating. Dr. Flemming is president of Ohio Wesleyan University, but now on leave to serve as defense mobilization chief. He was speaking at the 67th annual meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities.

He offered us a challenge, but it is a challenge which we have no choice but to accept. We are facing the "age of peril," he said, and our generation must be prepared to meet it. He outlined three things which educational institutions can do to help us prepare.

First, we must have a clear understanding of why "we must adhere to the concept of a universal obligation to serve in the armed forces."

Second, we must have accurate information about the nation's manpower requirements.

Third, we must be aware of the basic values the nation is preserving through its mobilization program.

Dr. Flemming offered these suggestions to the administrators of universities; but we, as students, can accept them also. We can show that we are preparing to meet the challenge of the age of peril.

Writers Asked To Sign Names To Letters

Editor's Note: We have received several letters from readers which we would like to print, but cannot because the authors have failed to sign their names.

Before any letter can appear in the Lantern, we reserve the right to know who is writing. If for any reason, the writer does not want his name to appear, we will comply with his request.

We welcome the opportunity to publish the opinions of students, faculty members or any person interested in Ohio State. The editor's Mailbag column provides a means for an expression of your views or ideas on any subject.

Letters which direct a personal attack against some individual are not, naturally, accepted. We also ask that the laws of decency, libel and fair play be kept in mind when you are writing to us.

We are hoping that the students who have written to us recently, but whose letters have not appeared because they failed to sign their names, will let us know so that we can print what they have written.

Psychiatry . . .

Doctors Urge Quick Relief For Soldiers

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Three Army psychiatrists recently returned from Korea urge immediate treatment for battle-frightened men as the quickest way to "re-acquire their confidence and control."

The three doctors are stationed at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital here. One of them, Maj. Thos. T. Glasscock, feels that field doctors should be trained to recognize and treat the mentally sick soldier as soon as possible.

"In this way," he said, "the number of men lost because of combat exhaustion can be cut down."

He added that if battle surgeons could deal "kindly but firmly with fear reaction and combat anxiety cases, most of the men could be brought to re-acquire their confidence and control."

When such rough-and-ready treatment is not effective and examination shows no physical disability the soldier is sent to the rear for psychiatric consultation.

Maj. Richard L. Conde described the reasons for such treatment:

"A man has more time to consider the case from a strictly individual standpoint, the farther he is from combat. Get him back where the discomfort and perils of combat seem more remote."

Maj. Dermott A. P. Smith, who held frequent conferences with medical corpsmen both before and after battle, mentioned the importance of morale in preventing combat exhaustion and neurosis.

"Dry socks, regular mail, hot food when possible are important," he said. "And you can always do a lot for a soldier by being nice to him and making him feel that he belongs in the outfit."

Coffee and tea stains in china cups can be removed quickly with baking soda on a damp cloth.

at a distance. Yet, I have found week after week that the students trying to call any of the dormitories on the campus haven't had a chance to use this instrument . . . without receiving a busy signal.

We hear of field houses, new dorms, proposed additional building, but a real problem like this no one seems to pay any attention to.

Let's all back a plan for the expansion of the communications system of this University. The next time you hear "Sorry, all the lines are busy!" remember the fact that they wouldn't be all busy if we did something about it.

The telephone system of a University gives it a new life. Let's keep Ohio State alive by providing more outlets, etc., to do away with those busy signals.

University officials are quite aware of the problem.—Ed.

ANSWERS VETS

Editor, the LANTERN:

After reading your article "Korean Veterans Infiltrate Campus Fraternity Ranks" in Thursday, Nov. 5, issue of the LANTERN, I'd like to let the fellows know that they aren't alone in their status as older students on the campus.

There are a good many women at Ohio State who, though they didn't tote guns in Korea, had their education delayed because of family responsibilities, finances or various other reasons.

I, as one of these mature women students, would like to assure Mr. Metters along with all the rest of the 1,106 vets, that they really don't have to worry about feeling out of place or "attending parties with younger women."

Ohio Field Growth To Ohio Stadium Traced From Beginning To Present

Two old-timers stood in the middle of Ohio Stadium Saturday and received the plaudits of 82,328 people.

They stood as they might have stood 37 years ago discussing a new football play. Only then their audience would have been a pasture belonging to the department of animal husbandry, with a few trees.

Those were the days when Ohio*

Stadium was just a dream for the future. True, football had become progressively popular since Ohio State had won its first Ohio Championships in 1899 and 1900. But still it hadn't arrived; it wasn't "big time."

Interest Generated

It remained for the two old-timers, Dr. John W. Wilce, now director of the University Health Service, and Charles W. (Chic) Harley, Ohio State's first all-American, to generate the interest which resulted in a stadium.

Athletics had been moved in 1908 from the original center on Neil Ave. to "a new and improved Ohio Field with a far greater seating capacity."

Ohio Field was located on High Street and extended to Woodruff Ave. It boasted "an enclosed playing field with grandstand and bleacher seats located on the west side of the field."

Interest had increased so much by the next year that a "permanent iron fence with gates and ticket office were added." By 1912 Ohio State had applied for admission to the Western Conference.

Chosen Coach

Dr. Wilce was chosen as coach of football and intramural athletics. He organized the first extensive program of recreational athletics and created a winning football team in 1913.

Still this wasn't enough. The 1913 record showed that Ohio State had been beaten by two of the three other Western Conference teams it had played. Sure it had won against Ohio colleges but this was the "big time" now. What was needed was someone to spark the team to its first Western Conference title.

He didn't come along until 1916 in the person of "Chic" Harley. A little guy by present-day football standards, Harley only weighed 158 pounds.

Some people didn't even think that he looked like a football player. He had a shy smile and a quiet way about him which made some people shake their heads.

Named All-American

These wise prophets had disappeared by 1916 when Ohio State won its first Western Conference title.

To prove that its triumph was no mere accident, Harley sparked the Ohio State team to its second straight title the next year.

Interest reached a fever pitch in those years and Ohio Field bulged at the seams when Harley and his teammates jogged out on the muddy field to make football history.

Win Third

Harley had left by 1920 but his teammates under the direction of Dr. Wilce went on to win their third Western Conference championship. That year they traveled to Pasadena to meet and be defeated by the University of California in their first big holiday season game. They lost, 28-0, but the game was a great event witnessed by 42,000 people.

Ohio State had arrived. This was the "big time." When attendance at the 1921 games at home and on the road reached a staggering total of 175,000, Harley had been gone for two years. But he had left behind him an idea, an idea that reached fruition when the ground was broken on August 3, 1921, for the new Ohio Stadium.

Next Wednesday I shall continue the story of how a pasture became a stadium and how 4,000 students plus alumni in 24 countries helped to build it.

RADIO GOVERNOR

CONCORD, N. H.—(UP)—Gov. Hugh Gregg's car boasts one of the biggest radio setups ever devised for an automobile. Debator To Get Purse

Harland Randolph, Ed-4, one of two students chosen by the Institute of International Education to represent the United States in the Indian debate tour next month, will be presented with a purse, donated by campus organizations.

The purse will be given at a dinner in Randolph's honor, in Pomereene Hall, at 6 p. m. Nov. 24.

The money will be used for Randolph's travel expenses to and from New York, and $200 of Randolph's personal expenses.

Committee Initiates

A committee consisting of Russell M. Jones, associate executive secretary of the YMCA; James H. McElhaney, assistant dean of men; Prof. Paul Marmack, of the department of speech, Randolph's debate coach, and Prof. William E. Utterback, chairman of the committee, initiated the plan.

The committee feels that Randolph, as representative of the entire student body, will bring honors to Ohio State and deserves campus support.

While on tour, Randolph's expenses will be handled by the governments of the countries in which he will debate.

Harland Randolph

Although the committee wishes to have all donations turned in by Nov. 20, further donations will be accepted.

If the amount donated, goes over the amount requested by the committee, the surplus money will be put into a Harland Randolph fund for Randolph's graduate work.

National Winners

Randolph and Alan Reuben, of the University of Pennsylvania, winner of the national debate contest, last July, were originally chosen by the American Forensic Association to take the British tour.

However, when the new exchange with India was announced this fall, Randolph was chosen by the Institute of International Education to take the Indian tour.

Randolph will leave New York Dec. 1, for England. He will then fly to India where he will debate at 20 schools throughout the country.

Flies To Pakistan

From India, Randolph will fly to Pakistan and then on to Rome, Paris and London. Carmack says there's a possibility that Randolph may also go to Honolulu and Malaya. In that case, he would return to the West Coast some time in March.

A recipient of many honors since he won this tour, Randolph not only became the first Ohio State student to be chosen as part of an international team, but also the first ever sent to India.

The latest honor will be accorded Randolph when he is initiated into Delta Sigma Rho, national debaters honorary, Nov. 23.

Band Group Recognizes 26 For Initiation

The national honorary band fraternity, Kappa Kappa Psi, Eta chapter, pledged the following students in recognition of their musical achievement and attitude.

Harold Bingham, Neville Dietzel, Jack Feldheimer, Norman Gaines, Marvin Gale, Marshall Glickman, Sterling King, Charles Lang, Robert Markowitz, George Marshall.

Students Depict Land-Grant Act

Three Ohio State students assisted Samuel C. Steiger, assistant agricultural editor, in a television program describing the land-grant college system, last Sunday.

On the regularly scheduled Agricultural Extension Service program, "City-Farm Extra," Steiger presented the history of the land-grant college movement.

The show was designed to emphasize the sixty-seventh annual meeting of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities which ended today.

Rebecca Louise Powell, H-Ec-2, used a wash board and tub to depict a homemaker of 100 years ago while David K. Ferguson, Ag-3, used a scythe and cradle to depict the farmer of 100 years ago.

Ferguson said that a farmer could feed himself and three other people while today's farmer feeds 12 people besides himself.

The modern farmer uses modern tools—designed by engineers, Steiger said. Roland C. Fischer, Engr-3, played the part of a blacksmith fashioning a tool used 100 years ago. Steiger made the contrast between those tools and today's modern machinery.

The show pointed out that the Morrill Act which eventually set up Ohio State was passed in 1862 when "a storm of protest arose from the people that American colleges were not serving many of the needs of the people." Signed by Abraham Lincoln the act provided for the sale of federal land.

Proceeds from these sales were used to endow at least one college in each state.

Glider Club Paints Craft

Fifteen members of the Buckeye Glider Club will meet at 10 a. m. Saturday at Don Scott Field to repaint a glider, which will be donated to the club by the University.

David Uhl, Ag-1, reports that the purpose of the meeting is "to get the glider in shape for University presentation." The glider is now scarlet and cream, but will be repainted.

A tow-car, purchased by the club, will be displayed at the meeting.

Purpose of the Buckeye Glider Club is to increase interest in aviation and to permit members to fly and acquire glider pilot's licenses. Members engage in competition with glider clubs of other universities.

Membership is open to students, faculty and employees of the University.

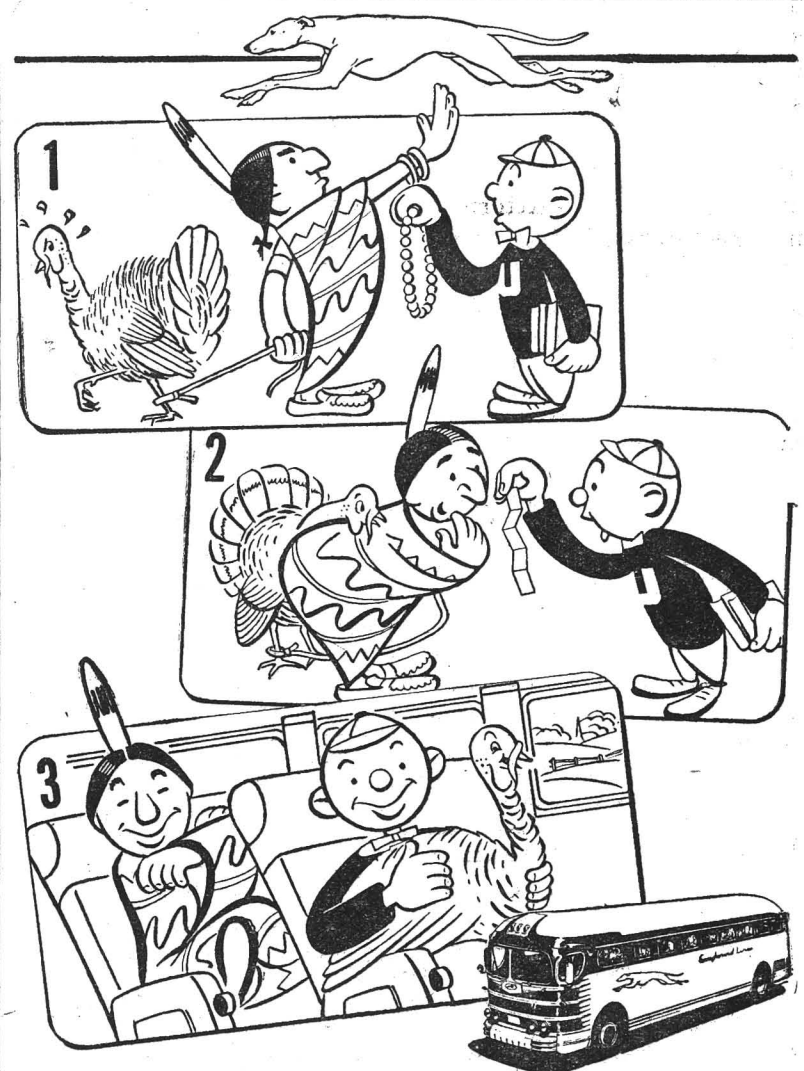

Members wishing transportation to the meeting are asked to call UN-0783.

During its lifetime, the average car will have consumed 8,000 gallons of gasoline and run up $588 in gasoline taxes.

Buck Practice 'Disappointing'

BOB JOSLIN
OSU End

The Middletown senior injured his head for the second time in four days at practice Tuesday night and will definitely miss the Purdue game. Joslin also suffered a head injury in the Michigan State contest.

Joslin Out Of Purdue Game; Guzik, Williams Promoted

By Bill Schechter

It may have been Armistice Day, but there was no peace in the mind of Woody Hayes yesterday as he directed what he termed a "disappointing session."

Besides the team's poor showing against Purdue pass formations, Hayes is bothered by the sudden crop of injuries which have seriously damaged his line.

Co-captain Bob Joslin may have ended his college career Tuesday when there was a recurrence of his head injury in scrimmage. The ailing Buck end, who was in the midst of a fine comeback attempt, will definitely be sidelined Saturday.

Ailing Linemen

Ken Vargo is the only center working out with full equipment now, with Jerry Krisher and Bob Thornton nursing minor ailments. George Jacoby is seeing little rough activity for the second straight week because of his slowly healing shoulder.

A bad knee has kept Mike Takacs from taking part in the scrimmaging. Incidentally, Takacs was introduced to linebacking yesterday in a move made partly to complement the line injuries and partly to make room for spunky Jerry Williams.

More Action

The sophomore guard from Pittsburgh led Ohio in tackles and assists against Michigan State and will see a lot more action Saturday, although he won't be starting. At that, it would take a great player to move out such as Takacs and Jim Reichenbach.

The only other change in lineup plans was the reinstatement of Frank Guzik into the "top four" of the ends. He joins Dick Brubaker, Tommy Hague and Dean Dugger in making up the flanking corps.

Stopped Ground Game

Although Buckeye defenders did little to stop Purdue pass patterns yesterday, they managed to smother the Boilermaker ground game successfully. The red shirted

Buck Booters Meet Denison

The hard-luck Buckeye booters meet Denison tomorrow at Granville in an attempt to regain their winning ways.

The Scarlet kickers, who blanked Denison 3-0 in the first game of the season, have been the victims of a few rough one goal losses.

Ticket Exchange For Swim Meets Opens Monday

Ticket exchange for swimming meets will open at the Stadium Ticket Office next Monday at 9 a. m. The reverse side of the football half of the student activity cards must be filled out with a preference marked for which meet is desired.

The schedule for home swimming meets this Winter is:

Wisconsin, Saturday, Jan. 9, 3 p. m.

Indiana, Friday, Feb. 12, 4 p. m.

Michigan, Saturday, Feb. 27, 3 p. m.

Students may either take their activity card to the ticket office or mail it. If mailed, a self-addressed stamped envelope must be enclosed.

Each card may be exchanged for one non-reserved ticket. If all tickets are gone for the meet which is your first choice, you will receive a ticket to your second choice, and then, third choice.

Ticket exchange will continue as long as tickets are available or until noon, Dec. 19.

The Army, at a cost of about $1,800,000,000, has recovered and rebuilt material worth $13,600,000,000 since World War II.

After defeating Michigan 3-1 at Ann Arbor in the second game of the season, the Bucks have dropped four close contests and tied one, three of the four losses coming by one goal.

In the seven games the Buckeyes have played, they have tallied 12 goals as compared to 12 goals scored by the opposition.

Leading the Buckeye scoring brigade is Dick McCombs with five goals. Gene Yang and Bohdan Chopko have each scored twice while Rudy Gregus, Bill Shively and Vince Martino have scored a goal apiece.

Ohio State beat Denison 3-2 at Granville last year and Denison is still looking for its first victory over a Buckeye soccer team.

Coach Bruce Bennett, in a reply concerning the showing of his Buckeye booters throughout the season said, "We've had our ups and downs this year, unfortunately we played our best games against top opposition; Earlham and Kenyon. Our other loss to Ohio Wesleyan came when the Bucks were pointing ahead to the Kenyon game."

Bennett said there would be a few changes in the Buckeye lineup tomorrow.

Beldon Dixon, a sophomore, will see plenty of work at left fullback and Gene Bak, who started the season as goalie will be used as a full-time right halfback. Paul Halpern will see plenty of service in the goal.

The next home game for the Scarlet kickers will be Tuesday against Ohio Wesleyan and Bucks are looking forward to meeting the team that upset them last week.

varsity linemen seemed to be in the right place at the right time against the running plays.

Johnny Borton was kept from defensive practice, causing much speculation as to how much he will play this week end.

Sharp Passing

Borton joined Dave Leggett in a sharp passing drill earlier in the afternoon in which a wide variety of pass patterns were employed. The twin quarterbacks consistently hit long, short, button-hooking and screen receivers during the drill.

YOU CAN'T GET A GIRL WITH A GULP

OR.. How do you know when your best foot's forward?

Once there was a Senior who was Shy. (Look, this is a story. It permits certain liberties with the truth.)

He'd call up a Girl, stammer incoherently through the Preliminaries, gurgled helplessly through the Bicuspid, and hang up. Dateless. One day his room-mate took him in hand. "Herman, old buddy," he said, . . . and unfolded a Plan.

Next day the Big Girl on Campus got a Telegram. A terse message. Simply: "Will pick you up at eight P.M. Friday. Regards. Herman H. Glockenspiel." She was Intuckered and waiting when Herman sheepishly up the steps of her Sorority house.

"Are you Herman H. Glocken-spiel?" she cooed. "Ulp," said Herman. "Ooooh," she said, taking his arm, "I just love Original, Masterful Men." Herman was on his way.

Now Herman has more dates than the Syrian Desert. Still makes 'em all by Telegram. No fool, this Herman.

When you've got a Date in mind—Whether it's with the Campus Queen, a Smith Siren or a Big Moment Back Home—a Telegram has the Man-of-the-world Approach that pleases. Equally effective, too, for birthdays, Mother's Day and Easter Messages, congratulations, or yaps to Pop for Cash, or to Sis to Airmail you The Baggy Sweater. Just call Western Union and see.

Horizons Unlimited

In March, 1953, the Department of Defense disclosed the existence of the Chance Vought guided missile, the Regulus, designed under the sponsorship of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics for launching from submarines, surface ships and shore bases. In May, 1953, the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics announced that Chance Vought had won a design competition for a new Navy Day Fighter, it being selected as the design best suited for Navy requirements from designs submitted by eight aircraft manufacturers. This engineering work was added to the current Chance Vought projects, the F7U-3 Cutlass and the attack airplane, the A2U-1. Moreover, other research and development programs which will shape the aircraft designs of the future are being carried out at the present time.

These engineering projects offer excellent long range employment opportunities in many fields of engineering and science as Chance Vought enters its thirty-seventh year designing and building military aircraft. Newly graduated engineers and scientists from the Bachelor to the Doctor's level will find interesting futures awaiting them in the design and production of these aircraft.
