'Man of Action' Designs Air-Cooled Men's Shoes

Men are becoming "air-cooled" conscious. Proof: they pull out their shirt tails, don light-weight trousers and repair to short (and how!) haircuts about the time the tennis season sets in. Ask any one of 'em and he'll tell you, "Sure, we men put off our stuffy clothes. The ladies can't get ahead of us." If you'll notice his attention does not extend below the ankle.

Thinking along this line, Allan Rice, Med-1, lay under the middle-most oak on the Oval one day this spring and was disgruntled as he glanced at the toeless, heelless, bodiless shoes of the co-eds who strolled past and then at his own imprisoned feet.

Being a man of action, he pulled out a scrap of paper and jotted down a rough design of a man's air-cooled street shoe. This pattern with an outline of his foot, he sent to a shoemaker in Cleveland.

The result was gratifying. In one week a pair of brown leather sandals, consisting of a flexible sole, a heel and a toe strap, reached him. The sole, being cut to the exact contour of his foot, insured perfect fit.

Rice declares, "It's time that men's attention descended to their feet." And he cites streamlining above the ankle and the lack of it below.

An open-work evening pump is the subject of his most recent design. He feels that summer formals would be that much more enjoyable if a man's feet were not encased in stifling patent leather pumps. He proposes an airy sandal of a porous black leather.

It might be said in the case of these shoes, that the proof is in the wearing. And how Rice expects his fellowmen to arise from their foot doldrums if he's too conventional to wear his own invention, we don't know. So far the inventor of the "Rice Special" has ventured to the front steps of his house.

Six Fraternity Heads Receive Merit Awards

Eighty Attend Annual Greek Night Banquet

Fraternity heads ended the official year Thursday night at the annual Greek Night banquet at the Fort Hayes Hotel. Approximately 80 guests were present including outgoing and incoming members of the Council of Fraternity Presidents and fraternity faculty advisers.

Certificates of award were presented by J. Frederick Stecker, assistant dean of men, to six outgoing fraternity presidents "in recognition of outstanding achievement in interfraternity work." They are:

Blake E. Stauffer, Acacia; Elmer J. Shapiro, Zeta Beta Tau; Casper G. Haas, Phi Sigma Delta; Robert K. Lawson, Sigma Nu; John Lancione, Alpha Phi Delta, and Leo K. Mintz, Tau Epsilon Phi.

Packer Cited

George L. Packer, A-3, Phi Kappa Psi, also received a certificate for his work as chairman of Greek Week.

Beta Theta Pi was awarded the cup for the finest fraternity library, for the second successive year. Professor Wilson R. Dumble, department of English, announced the award. Kappa Sigma was runner-up, and Theta Kappa Phi and Phi Delta Theta shared third honors.

Judges in the library contest were Professor Dumble, Earl N. Manchester, University librarian, and Frank Long.

Plaques were presented to two sophomore secretaries of the Fraternity Affairs office, Harry M. Calavan, Com-2, Delta Tau Delta, and Philip Tener, Com-2, Phi Sigma Delta.

Greene Guest Speaker

"Carry on fraternity ideals after graduation," Allen W. Greene, Columbus contractor, guest speaker, advised the Greeks. "Wear your recognition badge as a badge of honor."

Pointing to what he called the "appalling" number of affiliated men who drop all fraternity contacts after graduation, Greene urged them to join alumni chapters to get fullest advantage from fraternity life. A graduate of Brown University, Greene is a district governor of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Toastmaster was John B. Fullen, alumni secretary. Joseph M. Ryan, A-3, outgoing secretary of Fraternity Affairs and new head of the Fraternity Presidents' Council, presented the year's report before handing his office over to William H. Allen, Com-2, new secretary.

Education Society Elects 15 Members

Phi Delta Kappa, educational honor society, held formal initiation for 15 new members at 5 p. m. Thursday in Derby Hall.

At a banquet in Pomerene Hall following the initiation ceremonies, Dr. David Sutton of the State Department of Education spoke on the subject, "Legislation in Ohio Affecting the Educational System."

The new members are: Vernon O. Davis, Leonard H. Dinan, Robert R. Fink, Donald E. Haines, L. Herman Headington, Walter Heischman, Thomas J. Horne, J. Wesley Lotz, Arthur McCullough, Lester S. Pearl, Perry G. Rawland, Francis M. Robinson, John Arthur Speelman, Kenneth D. Weber, Richard D. Wood, Mitchell W. Darling and Professor Eugene J. Weigel, department of music.

16 Organizations File Contracts for Booths

Contracts for concessions for 16 booths at the Ohio Staters' Spring Carnival to be held in the Physical Education Building Saturday night had been filed by noon today.

Contracts are still available but the number will be limited to 35. Those organizations operating booths are: Phi Kappa Psi, Delta Upsilon, Chi Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Alpha Phi Delta, Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Chi, Mortar Board, Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Pi Beta Phi, Delta Gamma, Phi Delta Theta, and Rho Pi Phi.

Dainty Six-Foot Engineers Sing-And Dance, too

If it's "melodrammer" you want the Quadrangle Jesters will give it to you when they present "Gold in the Hills" or "The Dead Sister's Secret," by J. Frank Davis, Saturday, May 27, in University Chapel.

Neal C. Albert, Engr-4, will portray the hero; Harry J. Grashel, Engr-4, the heroine, and of course there's a villain. Albert M. Ankrum, Engr-4, is directing the production.

The Hoofers, graceful six-foot engineers, will step high, wide and daintily (?) between the acts of the play. The Hoofers claim to be the "one and only male singing and dancing chorus on the campus."

The Quadrangle Jesters' band, under the direction of Charles M. Haas, Engr-4, will furnish the music.

June Graduates To Be Received By McPherson

1700 Seniors File Applications for Degrees

Marking the renewal of a graduation custom dropped in recent years, the president's reception for seniors and their parents will be held at 2 p. m. Monday, June 12, in the Administration Building.

Admission may be procured only by cards which should be obtained from the office of Dean of Men Joseph A. Park before June 1.

The University orchestra will present a concert after the reception, immediately followed by formal commencement exercises.

1700 Applications

Nearly 1700 students have applied for degrees, Professor Louis H. Burgwald, department of dairy technology and chairman of the commencement committee, stated today. Commencement services will take place at 5:30 p. m. June 12 in the Stadium, for those whose degrees are approved by June 5.

New feature of this year's program is the senior swing out which supplants a traditional class breakfast and will highlight the class supper at 5:30 p. m. Sunday, June 11, on the Oval.

Class day exercises held in front of the Main Library will conclude the supper.

Baccalaureate

At the baccalaureate services starting at 3 p. m. Sunday, June 11, in the Physical Education Building, Dr. M. H. Lichtner, pastor of the First Congregational Church, will speak. A choral response to the prayer sung by a University octet will supplement his talk.

Members of the Commencement committee are: Professor Burgwald, chairman; Dean of Men Joseph A. Park; John W. Price, department of zoology; Carl E. Steeb, business manager of the University; Edith D. Cocksins, registrar; Professor Eugene J. Weigel, department of music; Paul Elleman, service department; and Paul A. Barry, department of military science.

Kellogg Will Speak At Geneva Banquet

Professor Lester S. Kellogg, department of business organization, will speak at the annual banquet sponsored by the Geneva Student Conference, at 6 p. m. Wednesday in the Ohio Union. Student speakers will be Robert E. Elsas, A-3; John J. Morrett, Com-3, and Roger D. Kennedy, A-4.

The fiftieth anniversary of the Student Conference will be celebrated this year at College Camp, Wisconsin, June 11-18. Prominent leaders at the conference will be: Walter H. Judd, surgeon and head of a hospital in Shaowu, China; Kenneth S. Kline, secretary of the University YMCA; Paul A. Schilpp, professor of philosophy, Northwestern University; Harold W. Colvin, associate executive secretary National Council of Student YMCA's and executive secretary of the conference.

Included in the daily program plans for the YMCA Conference are platform hours, worship, commission groups, forums, informal hours, association technique hours and personal interviews. Mr. Kline is in charge of the technique hours.

WSGA Council Plans To Hold Picnic June 1

Members of the former and present councils of WSGA will be entertained at a picnic, June 1, at shelter house number seven, near Fishinger's Bridge, according to Mary Helen Clinger, A-3, general chairman.

Hillel to Recognize Leading Members

125 Expected to Attend First Annual Dinner May 31 At Pomerene Hall

One hundred and twenty-five members are expected to attend the first annual all-Hillel banquet which is to be held at 6 p. m. Wednesday, May 31, at Pomerene Hall. The dinner, which is invitational, is being given to recognize those who have been most active in working for Hillel during the past year.

Members of the new student council will be installed, activities awards will be presented, and the list of the members on the honor roll will be announced at the banquet. There will also be a short musical program.

Leroy F. Kurlander, A-3, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Working with him are Howard Greenberg, Com-1; Shirley Stein, Com-1; Jay Robert Klein, Ed-4, and Harry J. Robbin, Com-3.

The annual dinner sponsored for the incoming and outgoing student councils by the Hillel Advisory Board will take place next Thursday at the Winding Hollow Country Club.

Medical Seniors To Fete Faculty

A "Faculty Take-off" will be the theme of the Senior-Faculty party to be given by the senior medical class Wednesday at the Brookside Country Club.

The class will continue the tradition of honoring one of the faculty members by presenting a photograph of Rollo C. Baker, secretary of the College of Medicine, to the college.

Members of the party committee include John M. Lowery, chairman, Curtis P. Artz, Harold M. Messenger, Arnold B. Kurlander, Orlan P. Burt, Robert N. Finnical and Alexander Pollack.

Oval Will Go Commercial When Co-Eds 'Sling Hash'

What is probably America's largest dining room opens on the Ohio State campus tonight, when tables are set on the Oval for the annual May Supper sponsored by Women's Ohio.

Last year 800 waited, plates in hand, to be served by busy members of Women's Ohio. This year accommodations for 1000 will be provided—and 20 girls will take care of them, "surprisingly quickly," the committee stated firmly.

The committee expressed complete satisfaction with the weatherman's prediction of rising temperatures. When it rains, the supper is held in the Stadium; last year, plates, tables and food were carried from the Oval to the Stadium twice before the sun came out to stay.

Held at 6 p. m., the May Supper is the last event of Traditions Week, preceding the removal of the torch from the Stadium.

Student and faculty members munch meat loaf side by side, as strains of recorded music waft through the air. From usually reliable sources it is reported that "everyone whom everyone knows" is there.

Diners will eat wherever they

* In front of University Hall at 11 a. m., the capped and gowned Sphinx members silently strode through the crowd; three times they went out among the hundreds gathered, then began the ritual of selection.

McPherson Speaks

Dr. William McPherson, acting president of the University, congratulated the new Sphinx members, following their selection. They will be honored at a formal dinner at 6 p. m. today at the University Club.

The three seniors are: Keith H. Bliss, Sigma Chi, president of Ohio Staters, Inc., football, Bucket and Dipper.

Tom J. McFadden, Sigma Nu, editor of the LANTERN, Ohio Staters, Inc., May Week chairman, Student Senate, Kappa Tau Alpha, Sigma Delta Chi.

John F. Sisson, Beta Theta Pi, 1938 Homecoming chairman, Student Senate sophomore secretary, Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Staters, Inc.

The 13 juniors are: Stephen F. Andrako, Delta Upsilon, captain of football team.

Robert E. Elsas, Phi Delta Theta, secretary of Student Court, vice president of YMCA, president of Beta Gamma Sigma, Ohio Staters, Inc., Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Union Board of Overseers.

Amon E. Gross, Delta Tau Delta, editor of 1939 Makio, Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Staters, Inc.

George C. Miller, Phi Gamma Delta, business manager of Sundial, Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Staters, Inc.

Robert A. Minor, Beta Theta Pi, president of Strollers, Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Staters, Inc.

George L. Packer, Phi Kappa Psi, Greek Week chairman, Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Staters, Inc., Fraternity Affairs.

Dean W. Palmer, Sigma Chi, president of Student Senate, Bucket and Dipper, Board of Student Publications, Council on Student Affairs, Ohio Staters, Inc.

Albert Patrik, Sigma Chi, swimming team, Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Staters, Inc.

John P. Pierce, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, business manager of Strollers, Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Staters, Inc.

James W. Rutherford, Phi Gamma Delta, business manager of Makio, Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Staters, Inc.

Joseph M. Ryan, Phi Gamma Delta, secretary of Fraternity Affairs, Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Staters, Inc.

Eseo Sarkinen, Beta Theta Pi, football, Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Staters, Inc.

Harry T. Vallery, Phi Kappa Psi, president of Scarlet Mask, secretary of County Clubs, president of Bucket and Dipper, Ohio Staters, Inc.

choose—at the tables, on the Library steps, and points west. However, guests will be discouraged from toying with their scalloped potatoes in the vicinity of Mirror Lake in the light of campus policeman Bill North's recently announced clean-up program.

Later Women's Ohio will conduct a clean-up program of its own. Dish towels will fly as the girls wash all the silverware used before returning it to the Ohio Union.

New Club to Be Inactive

Mrs. S. A. Hatfield, temporary chairman of the newly formed Interfraternity Mothers' and Wives' Club, announced today that the organization will be inactive until September when it will meet in the Interfraternity House to elect a president and other officers which the group decides on.

Here We Are Again...
It has been just a year since the ladies of the press took over your college daily and issued it single-handed. It was May 20 last year, to be exact. And now, one and all having recovered from the experience, here we are again.

Now it's all yours, fellows, so go ahead and laugh. We co-eds have slaved long and hard on this issue and we think we've proved that we women can get along beautifully by ourselves—one day in the year. For the rest of the time, we will go on relying on your manly support and encouragement (not that we need it, but it seems to make you so much happier).

About that going ahead and laughing business. You can get positively hysterical about the sports stories in today's paper. The regular sports editor did. You're supposed to laugh at our out-and-out attempts at humor. At least a slight snicker is expected. You can chortle about the straight news stories if you like, but be careful—most of the good stories are written by co-eds every day in the week.

Maybe you haven't noticed anything different about today's LANTERN anyhow. That would make us very happy, of course, but we are sure you noticed the air of general excellence about the paper... plus an air of subtle femininity... plus an additional bit of smoothness found no other time in the year. At least, we hope you noticed there IS a LANTERN today.

Well, it was fun putting out the paper. Any objections you have, dear readers, will be received gratefully by the bevy of beautiful blondes, luscious brunettes and striking red heads who cooperated in putting out today's tremendous edition of the LANTERN.

Good Will...
Not being a fraternity man, it is probably out of our province to criticize the action of the Council of Fraternity Presidents in defeating the motion to continue the Fraternity Dance Parade over WOSU. But, we still think the 11 fraternities which voted against it overlooked a splendid chance for good, dignified publicity.

We all know what people not connected with universities think of college students. We all know that these opinions are wrong, but we do little to combat them. Too many sensational news stories and pictures supposedly representing college life appear in magazines and newspapers and too little worth-while publicity is offered against it.

That is why we think that the Fraternity Dance Parade, in its small way, contributed something to the University and to all fraternity men, and should be continued. The cost of the project, it seems to us, is small in comparison with the benefits. The program went beyond its original purpose in providing music for Saturday night fraternity parties; it served to entertain the general public and to arouse their interest in the University and its students.

Perhaps we are being too idealistic. Perhaps we have over-rated the good this particular program has done. We don't think so. In fact, we think the fraternity members who voted against continuation of the program would wish to change their vote if they thought over the question in that light.

5000 Watts on Jittering Jeneralities

By Jean C. Poffenberger

The Thetas have four new babies at the chapter house... four itty kitties and a mamma kitty, too. And they completely disrupted the Chi Delta Phi meeting held there the other night, because the girls all spent the evening trying to decide what each kitten would be when it grew up... the maternal instinct, no doubt.

George Sattler was conspicuously absent from the Lantern-Senate game Wednesday at 4 p. m. The Military Review was at the same time. The Lantern managed all right without him, though... after all it had Jacobs.

And Mrs. Getzloe came along ostensibly to protect Getz from the umpire's usual fate (Mirror Lake ducking) but told us privately she wanted the game to last so long he'd have to take her out to dinner. Some system.

The Mortar Boards had a lot of trouble getting Helen Bower awake Wednesday night. After singing themselves hoarse (as if weren't already) with no response, they tried the AK house next door for a telephone, and had a big dog sicced at them. They looked ready to give it up as a bad job when the Bower door was finally opened.

My roommate in an earlier year was a Parisienne, who once remarked to me that "French newspapers are more conservative than American"... I'd like to see her try to convince anybody in Curly Lawrence's 623 Journalism class of that, after their recent unhappy experiences with five Parisian papers.

Job Blickensderfer, Wa. 1434, asked for a free ad for a senior prom date, since the Psi O's insist on initiating that week end. No feeling, the Psi O's... Adv.

Recent observation: Four new Bucket and Dippers singing their song to four girls... co-eds... in a campus hot-spot at 3 a. m. Thursday. The harmony was awful.

And then there was the girl who steadies with an out-of-town man... friends insisted on her attendance at their formal, so she sent him a list of six possible dates and asked the man he approved. And we repeat, what a system!

To forestall the usual story on Ohio State statistics, which is an annual LANTERN filler-upper, I would inform you that we have 43 degrees, 943 professors, 200 graduate assistants, 30 research assistants, 61 buildings, 445,000 volumes in the Main Library and 17 department libraries, and offer about 2000 courses.

We've mullered over this since last fall, and now is the time for all... well,
Alas, How True
Ah, what a funny world we live in;
Men demand and women give in.

What this campus really needs is a good automat restaurant. The senior class might take that under consideration and start a fund for installation. And speaking of the senior class, if a masculine voice answers the phone at St. Hilda's these days, it'll be Dick Baker. Martha really does wear the pants in that family. Mr. Baker also calls the roll of dates every night and herds all the boys out promptly at 10:30... really, he's quite a help to have around.

And Miss Kelton, head resident at St. Hilda's, remarked the other day, when asked how the spring weather was affecting the Hall, "Oh, we've done very well since spring set in... we've acquired a husband and another pin." The pin is Eleanor Barnard's Beta... the Barnard girls seem to do all right.

Prize editor of the year, I still think, was made by today's editor-in-chief at a Chi Delta Phi meeting. Remark had been made about Vivian Chubb. "Oh, she's Vivian Chubb Light, now," Bernadine Whitmer explained. "What's she do?" asks Hinkle. "Keeps house, I guess," she was told. "Sort of light housekeeping?" Hinkle responds.

Window Shopping

By JEAN STOREY

"Down by the old mill stream
Where I first met you,
Dressed in gingham too—"
Nope, we aren't getting sentimental, we're only anticipating the theme song for this year's crop of spring romances. The last line is especially appropriate since it seems that it is gingham in the field of feminine fashions which, this year, is guaranteed to stir the young man's fancy.

From dawn 'til dawn, we predict that you'll walk and play and dance—in gingham. There's a formal in a window downtown which—well, we'll just tell you about it, and you see how it sounds. It was a jumper made of tiny red and white checked gingham with a fitted waistline. The full skirt flared out from the hips, showing a broad expanse of ruffled white petticoat at the bottom. The blouse was of starched white organdy, very simply made with a high scalloped neckline and tiny puffed sleeves.

Gingham All Day Long
To get our mind off formals which we don't really need, we started to look for playsuits, and the first one we found intrigued us very much. The only trouble was that it didn't fit. Then who should come along but Phyllis Engler, whom it did fit, and who annexed it. It was a blue and white checked gingham blouse and shorts, all-in-one combination, the blouse having blue rickrack on the little round collar and the sleeves, as well as on the fancy pockets. The skirt, like the playsuit, buttoned down the front. It was high-waisted with the belt attached, and with rickrack around the bottom.

We saw another dress which looked like it was made for "school days, dear old school days," and which definitely reflected the little girl trend. This one was pink checked gingham with a perfectly plain high round neck trimmed in white rickrack, same as the sleeves. It opened down the back with a white zipper, and the skirt, a full dirndl one, was accented by a sash which tied in back in a big bow.

Now, for afternoon tea-goers, or bridge players—gingham makes your kind of a dress, too. To give you an idea of what it would look like—it might have a blouse of red and white checked rayon, very femininely tailored with long full sleeves caught tight at the wrist-band. From the high waistline down, the rest might consist of a blue and white checked skirt cut on princess lines. The whole would be one piece, but the effect would be that it was two—double trouble.

Stripes Offer Competition
But gingham won't be the only thing under the sun or moon this summer. Stripes are still offering lots of competition; they seem to be more concentrated this year, the wild ones, at least. Either they appear in the blouse and the skirt is a solid color, or vice versa. Pin stripes, however, used for the whole dress, have a very fresh and cool appearance.

Two piece dresses are especially popular this year, and they're available in so many lovely shades, you should be able to have two or three which you could switch around very effectively. Chartreuse still is the favorite, with lavender and rose running a close second and third. Beer jackets and blazers may be combined with these combinations. Martha Jean Hinkle has a vertically striped beer jacket in brown, rust and white, and Gertrude Ride-nour has a Big Apple one on which the apples look good enough to pick. Another very attractive jacket is the one we saw Mardelle Kleinman wearing. It is made with a yoke, and as a result, "the hang of it" is a little more graceful than that of the ordinary beer jacket. Hers is covered with comic strip figures portraying college days.

Old Fashioned Formals
There are some very dainty lace boleros available to freshen up old formals. Jeb Blickensderfer laces hers up high to the throat with red ribbon, giving a quaint effect which is right in style, cux formals are getting more and more old-fashioned. There are a lot made of embroidery organdy. These have deep square necklines in front and in back, puffed sleeves bound by weaving a ribbon through in drawstring fashion. The waistline which is very long is fitted tightly, and a full skirt gathers on at a line beginning at the hips. Lots of dresses, other than formals, are making use of this new long waistline.

We haven't had the courage to look for hats since all the wild specimens scared us out this spring, but we did look at shoes, and it must be admitted that they have lots of possibilities. The classic saddle strap now comes in a barge as well, and those Mexican sandals which appeared on our soil last year, are being woven in two or three colors into gillies. Jenna Lou Brown has some brown and white spectator pumps which are characteristic of the toeless and heelless trend shoes

Increase in Sports Field Brings Women From Dark Corner

Canoeing on the Olentangy River. Sounds like fun, doesn't it? It is fun, ask someone who has done it. Maybe you would prefer a round of golf or a set of tennis, or any one of a dozen different sports.

All of these are made available to women students through the Ohio State department of physical education, which is one of the finest and best equipped of any university in the country.

Since the Swan Club was organized in 1935 by women students especially interested in swimming, many other sports organizations have developed out of increasing interest and skill. These include: the Archery Club, the Badminton Club, which this year has opened its membership to both men and women, Boat and Saddle, Bowling Club, Foil and Mask, Golf Club, Hockey Club, Orchestra, Outing Club and Tennis Club.

The programs for these clubs are diverse entertaining and include tournaments, recitals, picnics and horse shows. Membership requirements in these clubs are mainly keen interest and the desire to have fun.

The Women's Physical Education Department is in close contact with other colleges and universities as well as having a closely knit intramural program.

This week there will be a National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Archery tournament. Ohio State women, many of whom are shooting the Columbia Round for scores above 300, are expected to make a very good showing in the national competition.

In April, 1940, the Northeastern District of the Athletic Federation of College Women will meet at Ohio State. This will mean that delegates from 75 colleges and universities from Indiana to the Atlantic coast will be here to discuss recreational activities and programs. The Ohio State Women's Recreation Association will plan the program and act as hostesses.

But sports go on all year round and in the physical education department they are not forgotten just because a school year ends.

This summer there will be a Sports Clinic from July 27 to August 10, with the idea of extending the services of the department to graduates of the University to teachers in the state of Ohio. And of course, there will be a complete summer program for students.

Get out and have fun! Make use of your Women's Physical Education Department.

All-American List Names Al Patnik

The annual college all-American swimming team, has named Al Patnik, Ohio State's great diver, on two of the team's berths.

Patnik, only collegiate diver ever to win the three major diving championships in the year, was placed in low board and high board diving.

The team was announced by Henry Ortland, Navy swimming coach and secretary of the Collegiate Swimming Coaches' Association. Most of the places were captured by Ohio, Michigan and Princeton swimmers.

Dick Hough, Princeton, was given the 200-yard breast stroke; Al Vandee Weghe, Princeton, the backstroke; Michigan's Tom Haynie the 400 free style, and Princeton's team the medley relay.

Physics Department Will Picnic May 28

A committee was chosen Tuesday by Sigma Pi Sigma, honorary physics society, to arrange the annual picnic of the department of physics to be held at Perkins Observatory, Delaware, May 28.

Members of the committee are: Edmund E. Goodale, chairman; Charles H. Tindal, Elmer J. Scott, and Louis D. Ellsworth. All are graduates in the department of physics.

An original letter written by poet Henry W. Longfellow has been given to Randolph-Macon Woman's College.

Fordham University has a World's Fair personnel course to train workers for the New York exposition.

Ohio Batters Battle Indiana On Week End

Ohio State's baseball team arrived in Bloomington this morning for a two-game series against the Indiana Hoosiers. Today's game is scheduled to start at 3:30 p. m., with Saturday's encounter at 2:30 p. m.

John (Moose) Dagenhard will probably pitch this afternoon's game for the Bucks. Gene Dornbrook will be Fritz Mackey's choice for mound duty on Saturday. It is likely that Dale Gentil, Don Hundely, Carol Cox and Seward Wilshire will divide time in the box for Indiana.

Both games will be highly important to Indiana and the Buckeyes. A double victory for the Bucks will give them a chance to gain in the Big Ten standings, as both Chicago and Wisconsin, last and eighth place occupants, battle each other in a two-game series. Two wins for the Hoosiers, currently a half game behind the league leaders, will give them a part or the entire Conference lead.

The Buckeye veteran team seems to be shaking out of an early season slump as evidenced by victories over Purdue and Miami earlier in the week. Coach Fritz Mackey will pit his strongest combination against the Hoosiers who are currently suffering from a loss of pitching strength.

The probable starting lineup that will take the field for the Bucks this afternoon will be the same as in the last two contests. This will be: Bill Coyer, left field; Captain Gene Myers, second base; Bob Lynch, third base; Bill Laybourne, first base; Tony Jesko, right field; Ralph Waldo, shortstop; Paul Washburn, center field; Cliff Morgan or Dick Wulfhorst, catch; John Dagenhard, pitcher.

Ralph Leopold, sophomore infielder, and John McVay, senior outfielder, will probably see action before the series is over. Mackey has a high opinion of Leopold's play and may inject him into the lineup at the first sack. McVay may see action in right field in place of Jesko, who has lately been bothered by a bad foot.

Freshman Honoraries To Hold Picnic Sunday

Fifty students are expected to attend the annual Phi Eta Sigma-Scholaris picnic at Griggs' Dam Sunday afternoon.

Members of the freshman honoraries will meet at 2 p. m. at the Ohio Union, where transportation to the picnic spot will be provided. Refreshments and games will feature the afternoon's program. A dance will follow in the pavilion.

Ohio Has High Hopes for Big Ten Track Meet

Sports fans of the campus will be in a dither over the week end with so many things to keep their interests aroused. There are baseball, polo and tennis games, and the Thirty-ninth Annual Big Ten Track and Field Championships. Much interest will probably turn to the latter which is to be at Ann Arbor, Mich., Friday and Saturday.

Ten track members left Columbus Thursday to participate in the meet. The Bucks are expected to score in the 440-, 100-, and 220-yard dashes, two-mile run, half mile, mile relay and javelin throw.

Co-captains Bob Lewis and Harley Howells in the 220-yard dash and the quarter mile will seek to defend their present titles.

Leading contenders for the mile relay are Iowa, Michigan, and Ohio. The Bucks' team is composed of Sulzman, Cooperrider, Howells and Lewis.

Jim Whittaker, Buck trackster, Walter Mehl, Wisconsin, and Ralph Schwartzkopf, Michigan, are entered as chief contestants in the two-mile run.

Howard Ell and Durwood Cooperrider who usually score heavily in the javelin throw are expected to add several points to the Buck score.

Buck Poloists Play Big Ten Title Holders

Realizing that the success of the 1939 outdoor polo season hinges on the outcome of the two home meets with Illinois, present Big Ten champion, on Saturday and Tuesday, Captain Jimmy Clyburn's poloists were prepared to shoot the works this week.

Saturday's match is carded at the University polo field at 2 p. m., while Tuesday's match is booked at Champaign, Ill.

Although the Bucks have not marked up a single victory in three engagements to date, they are not a bit downcast. Two wins over the Illinois would not only regain the Conference championship that the Bucks held two years ago, but would also avenge last year's defeat suffered at Illinois.

Illinois uses a tricky offense. The principle of it is to feint opposing players out of position so that they can present open shots to the irrefragable Schaefer. The Bucks, however, are confident that Illinois will not be able to capitalize on that bit of deception, for they plan to stick to the heralded Schaefer like glue on a postage stamp.

Coach Clyburn plans to start the same lineup that he has used so far this season. This lineup includes Chet Roof, Captain Ed Kennedy, Earl Sprunger and Ted Connor. There is a possibility that Sanborn will get the call over Sprunger at three.

Reserves Play a Return

The Ohio State Reserve baseball team left Columbus at 11 a. m. today and will arrive at Wilmington, O., this afternoon where it will play Wilmington College. This is a return clash between the teams, the Buck Reserves winning the first contest which was played here, 10-2.

The players making the trip are: Barney Evans, Jack Mitchell, Glenn Poff, Walt Topa, Tony Colletti, Tom Swope, Joe Morabito, Jay Ingram, Ed McGowan, Charles Fall, Andy Tobik, Merrit Young, Gene Tison-yai and Rader.

CO-ED SPORTS

By RUTH WILLIAMS

Of course the most important event popping off around the sports organizations this week is the Intercollegiate Sports Day planned for Saturday. Participants for baseball, tennis, fencing, archery, badminton, swimming, golf and riding will come from Wittenberg, Wooster, Miami, University of Cincinnati, Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio University and Ohio State. So far 193 students have signed to participate.

Buck Racketeers Face Two Teams

While Coach Herman Wirthwein expressed high hopes of taking the Big Ten championship in the second doubles position, the Varsity tennis team left Thursday to play Kalamazoo today and to meet Michigan State in a match Saturday.

Irv Droyoun and Jerry Rosenthal, playing in the third and fourth singles positions, respectively, are two of the team's standouts in the win and loss column. Last week end, in the triangular match against Illinois, Purdue and Indiana, each won five matches while losing only one.

Irv and Jerry had been playing together for several years before coming to Ohio State. Last season the combination finished second in the Cleveland Munny Tournament. Both are ranking players in Cleveland tennis circles, Jerry having won the Cleveland junior tennis championship two years in succession.

The boys have been defeated only once this season by a Big Ten opponent, Northwestern having administered the loss in a close match two weeks ago.

Notice: All plans for the Sports Day Dinner have been cancelled because many of the participants are not able to remain so late in the evening. Money for dinner tickets is to be refunded, and all dinner tickets are to be returned to Janet Anding, chairman of tickets.

The National Intercollegiate Archery Telegraphic Tournament is now in progress. The eight highest individual scorers will comprise the Ohio State team. The highest scores to date are Mary Lee Wilkerson, 291; Anna Lou Stevenson, 314; Ann Reber, 331; Jane Kious, 300; Mary Gay, 363, and Carmen Manley, 301.

The Swan Club picnicked Tuesday evening at the Field House. After lunch the girls sang folk songs and entertained with folk dancing. A business meeting was also held for the election of new officers. The new officers elected are: Thais Savage, president; Martha Fippin, vice president; Sally Wayman, secretary; Betty McCoy, treasurer; Jane Jacobi, recorder; Virginia Wirtz, chairman of life saving, and Emma Lou Adams, chairman of tryouts and improvements. Following the dinner and business, the Swans splashed in Pomerene pool.

University of Utah cue-men this year won the national intercollegiate telegraphic billiard tournament.

Dancers to Displace Airplanes June 9

Alpha Phi Sorority to Have Formal Downtown; St. Hilda's Will Dance Under Cherry Blossoms

By JUDITH SMILACK

"Lovely moon," the young lady is likely to remark. They often do when sitting out a dance. "Wanta hunk of it?" the young man may return. "Could I? Honest?" She pretends naive. "We can't do more than try," he says and leads the way to a tri-motored airplane nearby.

"Start the motor, Pete. We want a hunk of moon," he directs the pilot. The couple zooms up toward the orange-zeese. Up and up until only the purr of the plane motor can be heard.

Flash Gordon stuff, you say? No such thing. This is merely a preview of what is likely to happen when the Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity has its dance the night of Friday, June 9, at the Port Columbus airport in the hangar. And we mean IN the hangar.

It isn't everybody who can wangle an airplane hangar for a ballroom and perhaps that is the reason that more fraternities don't have airplane riding with the foot gliding. (Notice? It rhymes.) A plane will be at the disposal of air-minded couples. At midnight couples will embark for home in the hay-filled trucks provided for the occasion. Gerald Simson, social chairman, simply says, "It's something new."

Formals Galore

Formal week end seems to have taken hold. Alpha Phi sorority is having its annual spring formal Saturday from 9 to 12 at the Athletic Club with Henry Cincione furnishing the music. Preceding the dance, the Alpha Phis who live at the house will entertain their dates with a dinner at the Broad-Lincoln. Beverly Gabrio has charge of arrangements.

Phi BD's will celebrate with a formal dinner dance at the Beechwood Tavern Saturday with Phil McDade's orchestra. Social Chairman Art Markell says that they expect many, many alumni. To fill out their week end, they will have a wiener roast tonight and a tea dance at the house Sunday.

Theta Kappa Phi

Tonight the Theta Kappa Phi fraternity will dance at the Brookside Country Club. Dinner at the house will precede the dance at which Mack Tooill's orchestra will play. In charge of arrangements are Emmett Brasseur, Cleve Stein, Jr., and Bill Barber. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holden, Mr. and Mrs. James McCarthy and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bennett will chaperon.

Tau Beta Pi will dance downtown at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel tonight to the tune of Earl Hood's orchestra.

St. Hilda's . . .

A Japanese motif will prevail at St. Hilda's Hall for the annual semi-formal Saturday night. There will be Japanese lanterns, cherry blossoms and Japanese parasols. (None were made in Japan, as the name might indicate. They were as a matter of fact made right in St. Hilda's.) Dorothy Weaver is social chairman.

Musical

The Delta Zetas will entertain local high school senior girls at a musical tea Sunday afternoon at the chapter house. Lawrence Butler and Jean Jolley are co-chairmen (or is it chairwomen?) of the tea. Mary Page, Kay Meranda and Gail Scheibel and Ann Davis will play selections on the piano, violin and cornet.

Phi Mu . . .

From 10 to 1 tonight Phi Mu will have a house formal. It imported Bill Morot's orchestra to play. Gerry Jelen is social chairman.

Alpha Xi Delta got a head start on the field by announcing the first

The Graduate School and the departments of psychology and zoology announce a lecture at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, May 23, in room 100, Botany and Zoology Building, by Dr. L. S. Penrose on the subject "Recent Advances in Human Inheritance." Dr. Penrose is research medical officer of the Royal Eastern Counties Institution at Colchester, England. He is one of the most outstanding students of human inheritance. The lecture is open to the public.

Summer Lecture Series

The summer quarter lecture committee is arranging lectures for each Monday and Wednesday of the quarter at 4 p. m., in the Chapel, and motion pictures for 2 and 4 p. m. each Thursday of the quarter. Departments and student organizations are urged to request to avoid conflicts by not scheduling other activities for these hours.

Jamin' with Jeb

It is awfully hard to keep your mind on campus personalities and their doings and such when May Week and all the activities beckon. We want to begin by congratulating these persons who helped to make the rally Monday night such an outstanding success. One of the minor casualties of the rally was the girl who caught her leg between two cars, but she was whisked away before we could see who it was. For our own benefit we would like to know how she is.

Earl Gordon, HHOC, plans to marry his little Galion cream puff sometime in July (that is, if poppa-in-law will give his permission). Martha Brown Baker has released the news that she plans to forget all about teaching and "just be a good wife to Dick." And just a tip to graduating seniors . . . maybe more of them should run away and say "I do" . . . Dick seems to be getting a job out of it.

Bud Armstead and Mary Kay Roberts, the most peace-loving couple on the campus, called it quits the other day, much to the disappointment of those who predicted wedding bells. Betty Lou Thompson, the Alpha Xi tornado, was seen crying the other night when hearing a Beta song. Old loves popping up again, Betty?

Charlotte Drake, the Delta Gamma scholarship winner, sits around dreamy eyed all week waiting for her Ted to come home. Faith Foster, a veteran in the love game, has been recently decorated with another fraternity pin.

Martha Ann Hinkle, No. 1 LANTERN woman, is on very, very friendly terms with a Larry from Ann Arbor. Harriet (silver on the) Sage spends far too much time in the library these sunny days. Could Jack Van Oskeuls be the reason for this sudden intellectual interest?

Lots of favorable press releases have been coming out of New York on our campus Elgin queen, Tanny Goodwin. Of course, we hate to predict . . . but since you asked for it . . . yes, we think Tanny wants to join the ranks with the other campus queens who have made good in the big city.

Bob Harper, Phi Delta Sigma, certainly has taking ways with the fair sex. He takes one home at 10:30 and takes another in at 12. Bob Butler, whom we don't need to identify, has recently announced that he is footloose and fancy free, after going steady six months.

Well, my pets, it is too bad that we don't have time for more of you . . . but there will come a day. So-oo, that's all, folks.
