Conlisk said it appeared Zubrod's was teaching.

"This individual was very aggressive coming to us saying he wanted to 'help'," she said. "He said he wanted to provide his professional experience to students and could convey that."

According to a statement by the Gahanna police, Zurbod has attempted scams at other colleges and universities located in central Ohio and throughout the country. In one instance, Zubrod contacted music department chairs and said he could arrange a $1 million to $8 million donation for the estate of a woman in California. To receive the donation, Zubrod requested either a salary or "administrative fee" be paid to him.

The Gahanna police also recently received information that Zurbod attempted to purchase an interest in a $30 million aircraft. The police believe Zubrod was attempting to use a promotional flight as a prop to lure investors in to some type of scam.

National Convention. Miller, always known as a conservative democrat, has said on numerous occasions he believes President Bush is "the right man" to lead the nation in the current world

Jason Mauk, spokesman for the Ohio Republican Party, said Ohio is sending the largest delegation it has ever sent to a Republican National Convention. 179 delegates and just as many guests will represent the Buckeye State, making Ohio's delegation one of the largest at the convention.

Mauk said Ohio has a large delegation this year because of the number of congressional districts in the state and because the Republican Party is a major player in Ohio politics. Mauk said the importance of Ohio in this election cannot be overstated and that he and his party are working hard to make sure Bush wins the state.

"Ohio is probably the battleground state of battleground states in this election," Mauk said. "Ohio is one of, if not the, swing state that will determine the outcome of the election."

Claire Stilwell, a senior in political science and economics and the treasurer of the Ohio College Republican Federation, said young people should watch the election to hear the true message of the Republican Party and to get a better understanding of what the Republican Party offers college-aged

"It won't be like the political commercials, which have become so negative and nasty," Stilwell said. "It will cover real issues that young people think are important, like education and tax cuts."

Calen Byers, a sophomore in business management and accounting and the chairman of the Ohio State College Republicans, said two members of his organization will be attending the convention as volunteers.

He said he believes the convention will highlight the Republican Party's conservative ideals, as well as their belief in a smaller central government and personal accountability. He also said the convention will provide an opportunity for Bush to reach out to undecided voters nationwide.

"It's a great opportunity to see what goes on in politics," Byers said. "It gives some people who might be on the fence an opportunity to hear Bush's plan for the next four years."

Electoral voting procedure Waste issues focus could mean repeat of year 2000's election scenario

By Will Paoletto Lantern wire editor

With polls once again. showing an extremely close pundits are discussing the possibility of having another situation like 2000's election where the winner of the popular vote loses the electoral

"I suspect that by labor day we will be back to a situation where there is a danger or possibility of one candidate finishing first in the electoral vote but second in the popular vote, and it's more likely to be President Bush than John Kerry," said David Stebenne, associate professor of history at Ohio State.

He said the reason for this is a result of the presence of many thinly populated, mostly rural states with morally traditional voters who are supportive of President Bush. The electoral college in general increases the strength of those states because it gives them more voting power in the electoral college than they would have in the popular vote.

In a close election the democratic voting base is so metropolitan-oriented that it is at a distinct disadvantage in the electoral college, Stebenne said.

"Ever since Bill Clinton came along in 1992, the democrat vote has been unusually concentrated in the most urbanized and suburbanized states," he said. "If the democrats win by a lot it does not make a difference in the electoral vote."

Although recent national polls suggest Kerry is leading in the electoral college, Stebenne said that could easily change.

Rafi Ron, former head of security at Israel's Ben Gurion Airport and now a security consultant in Washington, said he was convinced it was terrorism.

"The timing indicates that this is probably a coordinated attack," he said.

He also noted reports that one of the jetliners activated an emergency signal shortly before disappearing from radar screens, which could indicate a hijacking. "In my assumption, that must have been the result of a terrorist on board," Ron said.

Oleg Yermolov, deputy director of Russia's Interstate Aviation Committee, said it was impossible to judge what was behind the signal, which he said is used merely to indicate "a dangerous situation onboard," is no cause that has been ruled in including a catastrophic mechanical problem. NEW YORK — Al Franken wants people to get up out of their chairs, open their windows, stick their heads out and yell ... fuggedaboutdit?

Well, yes.

In the spirit of Paddy Chayefsky's classic movie monologue from "Network," the liberal comedian Wednesday urged New Yorkers — and other Americans — to simultaneously scream the all-purpose nomination.

Franken said the Sept. 2 protest, called the "Great American Shout-Out," will not "tax our public safety system at all."

This is our way of venting," Franken added. "It will be a catharsis.'

Franken said he expected the shouts to last less than five minutes. Out of "respect for the office of the presidency," he asked that participants quiet down once Bush begins speaklocal wisecrack at the moment ing so "people can hear him that President Bush accepts the give a bad speech."

Franken said he expects 100 This is a form of protest that million people nationwide to is very non-disruptive," participate, adding, "Anything cal alternative to conservative Franken said at a press conferless would be a horrific failure." talk radio.

Unlike the movie version — "I'm as mad as hell, and I'm not going to take this anymore!" - , this protest has been tailormade for regional dialects, Franken said.

In his native Minnesota, people are to yell "Oh no ya don't!" in an exaggerated accent.

In California, the suggested shout is the following phrase: "No way, dude!"

Air America has created a Web site, www.thegreatamericanshoutout.org, where participants can plan "shout parties" or let their solo shout be counted.

Vietnam document aides Kerry camp

By Matt Kelley Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A Navy report filed five days after a disputed incident in Vietnam sup-contradicts critics who say the Democratic presidential nominee never came under enemy gunfire when he won two medals.

Crew members on Kerry's boat and a Special Forces soldier Kerry pulled from the water that day insist there was enemy fire, and they have appeared on behalf of the Kerry campaign.

The task force report mentions the incident twice and both times calls it "an enemy initiated firefight" that included automatic weapons fire and underwater mines used against a group of five boats that ports John Kerry's version and manded at the time by retired Rear Adm. Roy Hoffmann, the founder of the group Swift Boat Veterans for Truth, which has been running ads challenging Kerry's account of the episode.

A member of the group, reported his group of boats Larry Thurlow, said he stood by being fired on during the March his assertion that there was no enemy fire that day. The anti-Kerry group has not produced any official Navy doc-

Bush campaign lawyer Benjamin Ginsberg resigned Wednesday, a day after acknowledging he had given legal advice to the anti-Kerry group. One member of the group who appeared in an ad, Ken Cordier, was a volunteer member of the Bush campaign. The campaign cut its ties with Cordier last week.

"There was a time you did things all day long," said Sen. Pete Domenici, chairman of the New Mexico delegation to the Republican National Convention referring to things like work. Then it moved in the direction of dar," he said. 'Why work all that time? We're just inventing work."

The 4,853 delegates and alternates to the convention aren not coming just for business. They are coming here for fun.

Government arrests illegal file sharers

By Curt Anderson Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The FBI seized computers, software and equipment as part of an investigation into illegal sharing of copyrighted movies, music and games over an Internet "peer-to-peer" network, Attorney General John Ashcroft announced yesterday.

Search warrants were executed at residences and an Internet service provider in Texas, New York and Wisconsin as part of the first federal criminal copyright action taken against a P2P network, in which users can access files directly from computers of others in the network.

The warrants sought evidence about the operators of five 'hubs" of the "Underground Network," an organization of about 7,000 users who, prosecutors charge, repeatedly violate federal copyright laws by swapping feature films, music, software and computer games.

"The message is simply this: P2P or peer-to-peer does not stand for 'permission to pilfer,"' Ashcroft told reporters at a Justice Department news conference. examined, investigators said. The maximum penalty for criminal copyright infringement is a fine of $250,000 and five years in prison.

The search warrants were executed at homes in San Antonio and Belleaire, Texas; Johnson City and Fulton, N.Y.; and Waukesha, Wis. Another search was conducted at the office of The Planet, a Dallas-based Internet service provider. Authorities said The Planet is not a target of the probe

The individuals involved in the search warrants operate some of the Underground Network's hubs, which act as a central point for people granted membership to exchange copyrighted files. Ashcroft said the hubs can store digital data each day equivalent to 60,000 full-length movies or 10 million songs

The five hubs are called Movieroom, Project X/The Asylum, Achenon's Alley, Digital Underground and Silent Echoes, according to an FBI affidavit filed in support of one search warrant.

Agents used covert computers to infiltrate the network and obtain for free huge amounts of copyrighted material, including such movies as "Kill Bill Vol. I," "The Last Samurai" and "Bruce Internet users worldwide, the Almighty." The Wexner Center for the Arts is announcing its 2004 Fall Performing Arts season.

Karen Simonian, communication manager for the Wexner is excited about the upcoming season and the price of tickets offered to the students.

"The Wexner is in the heart of campus, you can walk there from almost anywhere," Simonian said. "With many different kinds of bands, and amazing dance and theater all for a reaand a schedule.

The season gets a lot of support from organizations and foundations around central Each of the art disciplines has their own sponsor.

"It is really nice for everyone's support and each type of art having their own sponsor,"

'Madden' ready for gridiron

By Adam Jardy Lantern opinion editor

The holy grail of football gaming has arrived for its fifteenth season, and is showing no signs of slowing down. "Madden 2005" is now available for Microsoft Xbox, Nintendo GameCube, Sony PlayStation and PC platforms. Gamers that are ready can now take on the challenge of running a franchise or talking trash to friends who can't seem to stop your formidable offense.

As it has for the past decade-and-a-half, Madden delivers solid, familiar football gameplay. The franchise has clearly established itself as the must-have football game each and every year through its familiar gameplay and graphics.

This has not come about by accident. With more options than ever, "Madden 2005" allows users to fully With the new "hit stick," players can lay the smack immerse themselves within the world of the NFL.

For users who are new to Madden, all the new features can be overwhelming. But once a person establishes a foothold on the game through practice and scrimmages, the real fun can begin.

Franchise Mode gives the user the option of being completely in control of a team for many seasons. Gamers should not enter into this option unless they are prepared to surrender priceless hours of their lives to the game. Before the preseason even starts, gamers run players through training camp drills. The better the player does in training camp, the more points the in. The harder the football is kicked, the more difficult user earns to power them up.

Users also have the ability to make their players happy. By restructuring contracts or naming players as team captains, users can help keep specific players on their roster for years to come.

and their ratings will increase.

But players shouldn't count on this happening

The reason for this is perhaps the best feature of "Madden 2005:" a new, tougher defense. Sending a running back around the tackle is a gamble that seems to seldom pay off. Quick slants across the middle get picked off by the linebacker, who cheats back when the defense reads what formation the offense is sitting it is to be accurate. Using the "hit stick," players can deliver bone-crunching hits that jar opponents out of games with injuries.

But the more Madden a person plays, the easier it becomes. For all the new improvements the game has Journalism rears its head as well in the form of made, it is still a game that users carr master in a relatively short amount of time. Perhaps this is an obstacle that the game franchise inevitably will run into as it hits its fifteenth year. For users who are familiar with the game, it will not take long before runs of 70 yards become commonplace.

THE LANTERN'S PREVIEW OF THE 2004 BIG TEN FOOTBALL SEASON

2004 Big Ten: Where senior QBs dare to roam

Michigan Wolverines

Coach: Lloyd Carr, 86-26 (9 years) Last season: 10-3 (7-1) Lost to USC in Rose Bowl Key losses: QB John Navarre, RB Chris Perry, DE Larry Stevens, DT Grant Bowman, DT Norman Heuer

Schedule notes: It won't be too easy for the Maize and Blue with both Notre Dame and Ohio State on the road. Two of their other Big Ten road games are weaklings Indiana and Illinois, and they avoid Wisconsin and Penn State altogether.

Outlook: There are plenty of changes in Ann Arbor with Navarre and Perry heading off to the NFL. How QB replacement junior Matt Gutierrez does should give a good idea of just how well the Wolverines will end up. Who will replace Perry? It's not clear - possibly a committee of RBs including seniors David Underwood and Tim Bracken or possibly the injury-prone Pierre

Michigan returns with a highly powered set of wide receivers as both Braylon Edwards and Jason Avant return to the Big House. Jackson is likely to set school records this season in catches, yards and touchdowns. Steve Breston will also see more time at receiver after lighting up the league on special teams last season. But success will depend on Gutierrez's ability to get them

The offensive line should remain strong, but the defensive line takes a hit by losing Stevens, Bowman and Heuer. Marlon Jackson returns as one of the country's best cornerbacks, and that will help a line that might not get too much of a pass rush.

Michigan's special teams remain dangerous with Breston returning, as well as sophomore Garret Rivas, the best kicker in the Big Ten not named Mike Nugent.

Prediction: If both OSU and Michigan get to the big game in Columbus undefeated, anything can happen. But with Michigan's slightly easier schedule, The Lantern sees Michigan at the top of the Big Ten once again - but tied with OSU.

Ohio State Buckeyes

Coach: Jim Tressel, 32-7 (3 years) Last season: 11-2 (6-2) Beat Kansas State in Fies-

Key losses: QB Craig Krenzel, WR Michael Jenkins, OL Alex Stepanovich, WR/CB Chris Gamble, DE Will Smith

Schedule notes: First of all, "that school from up North" has to play OSU at the Horseshoe so that always is a good sign. OSU also has Wisconsin at home but faces some tough matchups on the road including Iowa, Purdue and an early-season matchup with N.C. State. The Boilermakers and Wolfpack most likely have the OSU game marked as a revenge game from last season's close Buckeye wins.

Outlook: Just like with Michigan and most of the Big Ten this season—there are new faces at the quarterback position. Justin Zwick is looking like the starter going into opening day, but if he struggles there will be many who will not hesitate to call for the more mobile Troy Smith to see time as well. A new Stanley Jackson-Joe Germaine situation? Possibly, but look for Tressel to try to settle on one man eventually.

The offensive players that will be key for OSU this season are RB Lydell Ross and WR Santonio Holmes. These two will be the fuses for the offense, and fans of Ross are hoping he can reach 1,000 yards this season.

As always, OSU's defense looks good. The Buckeyes have one of the best linebacking corps in the country with Air Force transfer Anthony Schlegal in the middle and A.J. Hawk and Bobby Carpenter on the outside. No worries there, but what about the secondary? Chris Gamble is gone, but after his ineffective season last year, it won't take much for senior Dustin Fox and junior E.J. Underwood to make us forget him. Nate Salley is threatening to break out into stardom if he continues laying some of the hardest hits in the conference from free safety.

OSU will still have the special teams that fans have come to adore during the Tressel era despite Ray Guy award winner B.J. Sander heading to Green Bay. Mike Nugent returns as one of the safest legs in the Big Ten. With both of last season's primary returners, Jenkins and Gamble, gone, look for last year's Super-Prep National Defensive Player of the Year Ted Ginn to turn returning into his personal stage.

Prediction: This team is good enough to compete with Michigan at the top of the Big Ten, and the Michigan game is at home-which always gives OSU a serious shot. Look for Purdue to get revenge at Ross-Ade Stadium for the last two seasons' shoestring victories by the Buckeyes, meaning it could come down to tiebreakers if OSU and Michigan both finish

Iowa Hawkeyes

Coach: Kirk Ferentz, 32-29 (5 years) Last season: 10-3 (5-3) Beat Florida in Outback

Key losses: QB Nathan Chandler, OT Robert Gallery, RB Fred Russell, WR Ramon Ochoa, WR Mo Brown, K Nate Kaeding, SS Bob

Schedule notes: What did Iowa do to deserve not playing either Northwestern or Indiana this season while facing Michigan in Ann Arbor? But they do get Ohio State, Purdue and Michigan State in Outlook: Arguably no team in the Big Ten loses as much across the entire lineup as Iowa. From quarterback to kicker, this will be a very different Hawkeye team from last season as they lose 13 starters, nine from the offense. Iowa will have to rely on one of two sophomores to replace Chandler. Drew Tate was 6-of-11 last season in limited duty as backup while Jason Manson did not see any action. Tate is probably the favorite for the job, but it will not be easy.

With second team all-Big Ten rusher Russell gone, Iowa will look to senior Jermelle Louis who did have over 700 yards in 2002 before seeing limited action last season recovering from a knee operation. They will all be looking over their shoulder at junior Nebraska transfer and little guy (5'8") Marques Simmons. All the losses will take a toll on the Hawkeye offense, especially losing Gallery's lead-

The defense takes its hits as well, losing tackle Clauss and end Hodges. Likely the biggest loss is safety Sanders. Who was good enough to be drafted by Indianapolis in the second round. While his replacement Marcus Paschal may be bigger in size, the loss in Sanders' presence will not be easily filled. One bright spot is the return of most of their linebackers including Abdul Hodge and Chad Greenway. Hodge led the Big Ten in tackles and both he and Greenway could be All-America bound.

Lou Groza award-winner Nate Kaeding is gone to the Chargers and will be replaced by sophomore Kyle Schlichter (unrelated to Prediction: After going through five senior quarterbacks in as many years, developing another won't be too new to these guys and if all the replacements can settle in Iowa, these guys won't be too far away from the Rose Bowl hunt.

Minnesota Golden Gophers

Coach: Glen Mason, 44-40 (7 years) Last season: 10-3 (5-3) Beat Oregon in Sun

Key losses: QB Asad Abdul-Khaliq, FB Thomas Tapeh, WR Aaron Hosack, K Dan Nystrom, LB Ben West

Schedule notes: Prior to the all-powerful Big Ten matchups, the Gophers must face "MAC daddies" of Toledo in the season opener and then travel to Colorado State to battle the Rams at high altitude. Before being thrown to the wolves to face Michigan and Michigan State, the Gophers have hopes of starting off the Big Ten season with two home wins against Northwestern and Penn State. However, they lucked out by not having to face the Buckeyes or Boilermakers, who always seem to spoil Minnesota's Outlook: As some of the other Big Ten teams are experiencing, the Gophers have a two-man battle for starting quarterback. Leading the battle is inexperienced sophomore Bryan Cupito who has a slight edge over junior college transfer Adam Ernst, whose only experience is from junior college. If both of them are unable to get the job done, newly signed freshman John Carlson could step in

The key to the Gopher offense will be RB Marion Barber III, one of this year's predicted Heisman hopefuls, and RB Lawrence Maroney, last year's Big Ten Freshman of the Year. Center Greg Eslinger is also another one to watch — he is predicted to be one of the nation's best centers.

The defensive line lost two part-time starters but will have their backups to rely on as well as two full-time starters. Mark Losli and Darrell Reid. Returning tacklers will have to replace graduated two-year linebacker Ben West but will be returning experienced cornerbacks Ukee Dozier and Trumaine Banks.

One of the biggest losses the Gophers face is kicker Dan Nystrom who is being replaced by Rhys Lloyd from Dover, Britain.

The Gophers will again have the powerhouse duo of Barber and Maroney on Minnesota's kick return, but special teams' main concern will be preventing big plays on kickoff coverage returns.

Prediction: If there is going to be a surprise team in the top third of the Big Ten, this is the one. They didn't win ten games last season with smoke and mirror and they should improve on their conference record this season.

Purdue Boilermakers

Coach: Joe Tiller, 55-32 (7 years) Last Season: 9-4 (6-2) Lost to Georgia in the Capital One Bowl

Key Losses: WR Joe Standeford, C Nick Hardwick, LB

Gilbert Gardner, DE Shaun Phillips, MLB Niko Koutouvides Schedule notes: Purdue will enjoy hosting the brunt off its Big Ten schedule at Ross-Ade Stadium, as Wisconsin, Michigan and Ohio State all travel to play the Boilermakers there. Their only formidable Big Ten away-game will come at Iowa. The team's non-conference schedule is relatively easy, with Purdue looking past the toothless Notre Dame and Syracuse at their conference schedule - and especially at the possibly vulnerable Ohio State, who has left the Boilermakers heartbroken the last two years.

Outlook: Purdue is absolutely loaded on the offensive side of the ball, but with only three returning starters on defense they might find themselves being simply blown out by teams with any sort of offensive firepower. Quarterback Kyle Orton has earned his place among the historic QB heroes at Purdue and he will have plenty of targets and protection around him - but the Boilermakers lost their entire linebacker corps from 🚺 last year's top-25 finish. If the team can find some young players to fill the holes on defense, it will be a formidable opponant. If not they will be an exciting team that gets beat by bet-

Special teams are better than average, and might be able to help out the faltering defense with good field position. While the team lost their best punt returner, they don't look to be forcing a great many punts this year. Their kickoff return team is returning in full from last year.

Prediction: Purdue should have no problems outscoring the bottom half of the Big Ten as well as their non-conference opponants. With three key conference games at home, they should be able to walk away with at least one of those in the "W" column. Look for Purdue to finish up in familiar position: in the top-third of the Big Ten, floating around 25 in The Associated Press poll with a mid-level bowl game. Also look for the team to be haunted by their third miracle loss to Ohio State in

Wisconsin Badgers

Coach: Barry Alvarez, 99-67-4 (14 years) Last season: 7-6 (4-4) Lost to Auburn in

Key losses: QB Jim Sorgi, WR Lee Evans, LB Jeff Mack, LB Alex Lewis, DB Ryan Aiello

Schedule notes: Most of the home games are in the beginning of the season so the Badgers will have to come out strong at Camp Randall in order to keep a decent record as they go on the road for four of the last six games. However, with Michigan and Indiana off the schedule, the Badgers can take a breather for not having to play the Wolverines, but also don't get the security of an easy Indiana victo-

Outlook: Taking over Sorgi's spot will be QB John Stocco, who proved worthy of the position after playing in the final three games last season and impressing teammates with his arm strength and quick release. The backup positions will be in the hands of two freshmen: Tyler Donovan and Sean Lewis who have little to no experience on the field

The Badgers are going to be putting a lot of pressure on RB Anthony Davis to pull the weight of the offense, despite recovering from an injured ankle. Replacing Lee Evans will be a struggle and the Badgers can't rely on just a single person to fill his shoes, so look for Alvarez to spread the ball around to Brandon Williams, Jonathan Orr and Darrin Charles

The defensive line will consist of experienced players, led by Anttaj Hawthorne and Jason Jefferson. Finding replacements for Mack and Lewis will be crucial but linebackers LaMarr Watkins, Mark Zalewski and Elliot Goode are going to have chances to fill their shoes. Look for Jim Leonhard, a top defensive back in the Big Ten, to be the defensive star of the team, aiming to keep his reign of conference-leading interceptions again.

Prediction: If Davis can stay healthy throughout the season and Stocco controls his rocket powered arm, the two can make a nice duo and should pull out some wins. A winning season is possible for the Badgers, but, with such young players leading the team, Wisconsin may get badgered by Purdue, Michigan State and Iowa.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS The Lantern will not publish illegal advertising or the advertising of illegal products or services. The Lantern reserves the right to reject advertising that denigrates individuals, groups or organizations based on race, gender, nationality, ethnicity, religion, mental or physical capacity, veteran's status, age or sexual orientation. The Lantern Business Manager will refer questionable advertising to the Publications Committee of the School of Journalism and Communication. The committee will recommend a decision on whether to publish the advertising to the Director of the school.

1. Complete name, address and telephone number for each advertiser is required.

2. Copy must be furnished by noon three days before publication, except for special publications whose deadlines will be announced.

An advertisement is required to occupy at least as many inches in height as columns in width. Any advertisement exceeding 18 inches in height will be considered a "full column" (21 inches) advertisement and charged accordingly.

4. Make-goods and adjustments will be considered for those advertisements only where errors occur in (a) business or group name, address, or phone number, (b) item price or (c) date, time or place of event. The error must be solely the fault of the Lantern. Adjustments will not exceed the cost of the adver tisement and will be based on the portion of the advertisement nullified by the error. Minor spelling errors will not qualify for adjustment. Complaints must be registered with the Business Manager with in 45 days of publication to qualify; otherwise the advertiser accepts full responsibility.

Guaranteed position is sold at the Busines Manager's discretion.

A composition charge may apply to any changes, revisions or cancellations made after deadline.

No proof will be furnished for any advertisement received after deadline or for an ad smaller than seven column inches.

If the Lantern finds it necessary to stop contracted advertising because of nonpayment, the adver tising agreement will be violated and the advertiser subject to a "re-bill" fee. The Lantern reserves the right to require prepayment for advertising, or to reject advertising, if the advertiser is delinquent in payment, or if the advertiser's credit is impaired. Advertisers must prepay all advertising until a satisfactory credit rating with the Lantern is established. A certified check or money order is required for out-of-town advertisers. 10. Contract advertisers will furnish the Lantern with a "rate-holder" ad meeting contract minimums for use in any contract period for which the advertiser does not provide an ad. 11. A tearsheet will be furnished for all display advertising run in the Lantern, Additional tearsheets are available (limit 15) provided the advertiser requests them from the Lantern office prior to publication.

12. The advertiser agrees to indemnify and hold harmless the Ohio State University, its Board of Trustees and its officers, agents and employees from and against any and all loss, cost and expense, including reasonable attorney fees, resulting from the publication by the Lantern of the advertiser's advertise

13. Advertisers in the Lantern agree that they will not represent themselves in any way as being endorsed by the Ohio State University

14. A mail-order advertiser is required to submit a sample "proof-of-product" prior to publication. 15. Advertisers must request the return of their original ad materials; the Lantern will dispose of such materials 60 days after their first publication.

PREVIEW FROM PAGE 8

Penn State Nittany Lions

Coach: Joe Paterno 339-109-3 (38 years) Last Season: 3-9 (1-7)

Key losses: WR Tony Johnson, WR Maurice

Humphrey, LB Gino Capone, LB Deryck Toles, S Yaacov Yisrael Schedule notes: The Lions look at an easy non-conference schedule, including home games with Akron and Central Florida. Two tough road contests start Penn State's Big Ten schedule against Wis-

Outlook: 77-year old coach Joe Paterno signed a four-year contract with the powers that be in State College despite growing calls for the legendary coach's dismissal. Given the fact that Penn State has lost 26 games during the last four seasons, compared to 26 losses in the 1990s, 28 losses in the 1980s, and 22 losses in the 1970s, even the most optimistic observers are beginning to wonder whether the game has passed Joe Paterno by.

The off-season saw numerous problems in the lives of Lion players and will be a key factor during the season. Sophomore wide receiver Maurice Humphrey, second in receiving yards last year, was arrested on felonious assault charges in November and found guilty of three lesser misdemeanor assault charges. Temporarily expelled from the university, he might face jail time.

What could have been a strong defensive line was greatly diminished after a brawl at a local ice rink in February. As a result junior defensive end Matthew Rice and sophomore defensive tackle Ed Johnson were suspended from the team. Junior defensive end Lavon Chisley is off the team while being investigated for an alleged sexual assault in November.

The big question for Penn State's offense is whether senior Zak Mills can hang on to the quarterback job this seasond despite junior Michael Robinson breathing down his neck.

Prediction: With a soft non-conference schedule that this year does not include Nebraska, the Lions have a shot at a winning season. If Mills steps up and his receiving corps stop dropping passes, a 6-5 record is not out of the question.

Michigan State Spartans

Coach: John L. Smith, 8-5 (1 year) Last season: 8-5 (5-3) Lost to Nebraska in Alamo

Key losses: QB Jeff Smoker, WR Ziehl Kavanaght, G Joe Tate, G Paul Harker, T Steve Stewart

Schedule notes: Michigan State has a nice bunch of cupcakes to start the season (with the exception of Notre Dame, and frankly they are only a little frosting short of being a cupcake). They do get Ohio State and Wisconsin. A late-season trip to Hawaii will be tough as they will not have seen a team that will pass that much and that well all season, and their big one against the Wolverines is in Ann Arbor, too.

Outlook: MSU too has to develop a new quarterback. It's not yet clear whether red-shirt senior Damon Dowdell or the sophomore Michigan prep star Drew Stanton will start. Stanton was prone to injuries last season. Dowdell had academic issues and went 1-4 in his five starts last season so this remains a massive question mark. They like to chuck ball around it will help that last season's top eight pass receivers are back, including juniors Matt Trannon and Agim Shabaj. The defense line that led the Big Ten in sacks loses two starters and their sieve-like secondary remains — which should have opposing offensive coordinators salivating at the mere thought of the Spartans. Brandon Fields is probably the league's best punter now with Sander gone. Prediction: They should be interesting to watch in that prolificoffense-but-no-defense, "WAC team" kind of way. But that won't prevent them from finishing in the bottom half of the Big Ten.

Indiana Hoosiers

Coach: Gerry Dinardo, 56 - 68, (11 years) Last season: 2-10 (1-7)

Key losses: RB Brian Lewis

Outlook: The good news is Indiana is returning 20 of its 22 starters from last season. The bad news is they finished 2-10 last season, so the team will have to drastically improve over last year's perfor-

Notre Dame transfer quarterback Matt LoVecchio, who seemed destined for greatness after winning seven games his freshman year in South Bendis back but ranked last in the Big Ten last season in passing efficiency, so don't expect any Heisman trophies coming his way with below-average receivers to throw to.

The Hoosiers will probably rely on their sophomore sensation and name-of-the-year candidate BenJarvus Green-Ellis, who rushed for 938 yards and seven touchdowns despite not starting six of Indiana's games. Green-Ellis could have a stellar year with all five linemen in front of him returning in the trench. However that offensive line did not protect the quarterback last season, giving-up a Big Ten leading 40 sacks.

Ilinois Fighting Illini

Coach: Ron Turner, 32-49 (7 year) Last season: 1-11 (0-8)

Key losses: WR Kelvin Hayden, DE Derrick

Strong, LB Winston Taylor, CB Christian Morton Outlook: It couldn't possibly go any worse for Illinois than it did during their calamitous 2003 season. Frankly, they were awful —finishing below the teams many expected to be that bad, Indiana and Northwestern. Mercifully if you're an Illini fan, Jon Beutjer was granted an injury redshirt by the NCAA last season and returns this year for his

The defense should improve on last season's disaster, giving up over 425 yards a game, an unspeakably bad 223.4 rushing yards-per-game, and allowing a Big Ten-worst 33.2 points-per-game. With so many players gone, it's not clear who the Illini can lean on this season either. A small speck of hope out of the darkness is that fact that the Illini return a rather good punter in Steve Weatherford. He ranked second in the conference at the position.

Prediction: It can't possibly get much worse for Illinois but it doesn't appear it's going to get much better, either. It could very well be time for Turner to start looking for Realtors if they don't make a dramatic

Northwestern Wildcats

Coach: Randy Walker, 24-35 (5 years) Last Season: 6-7 (4-4) Lost to Bowling Green in Motor City Bowl

Key Losses: RB Jason Wright LB Pat Durr, S Torri Stuckey Outlook: Much of what minimal success the Wildcats had last year, rested on the legs of All-Big Ten tailback Jason Wright. With Wright—and his 1,388 rushing yards—gone this season, the Wildcats will look to senior Noah Herron to lead a two-part running game. The passing attack, as was the case last year, will not be the main chain-mover this season. Gone are Kunle Patrick, who led the team with 32 receptions last year and Roger Jordan, whose 442 yards topped all receivers for the Wildcats. Junior quarterback Brett Basanez had a dismal 2003 campaign, leading a passing attack that ranked 103rd of 117 Division I squads. The major loss for the defense is honorable mention All-Big Ten linebacker Pat Durr. Prediction: Last season's seventh place finish was an aberration, 'Cats fans... Sorry.
