

SPEAKERS GIVE
RELIGIOUS VIEWS
AT CONFERENCE4 Faculty Members And Minister Open Symposium
Wednesday Night.

Dominating the opening session of the University Conference on Religion, Professor Walter L. Dorn, department of history, gave as his opinion that traditional religion must undergo a drastic revision before it can become a vital factor.

Also discussing the topic, "What's Religion Worth Today?" in Commerce Auditorium Wednesday night, were Professors Carl A. Norman and William E. Henderson, as well as Dr. Jessie A. Charters and Rev. John Maxwell Adams.

The technique of the panel discussion simulated the old "fireside session" with each of the five speakers retaining the informality of that method of talking. They remained seated the entire time, arguing among themselves, with the audience listening in.

Professor Henderson, department of chemistry, said that he approaches religion through his desire for righteousness and goodness.

"There are two vital points in our conception of religion," continued Professor Henderson. "First, the belief that there is an orderly life force in the universe, and second, that a man's religion is the commitment or dedication of his life to that purpose."

In response to a question from Dr. Charters, asking whether he believed the theory that Jesus was the son of God to be in question, Dr. Dorn replied that the whole New Testament was in question.

Christianity Unacceptable
"Traditional Christianity is utterly unacceptable to the modern man," repeated Professor Dorn. "It is unacceptable to a person with a modern temper because of its supernaturalism. The whole religion of Jesus is debatable."

Professor Norman, department of mechanical engineering, reiterated other opinions on Christianity, but declared that he did not accept it as an absolute authority. He explained that the group is the important thing in determining religious beliefs, citing the Jews as great examples of this.

When asked by Professor Dorn if Jesus was original in his teachings, especially as to his Kingdom of God theory, Rev. Mr. Adams asserted that in his interpretations he was original, but that he was crucified by his own people because he interpreted old ideas in a new way.

Several humorous notes were injected into the meeting by questions arising from the floor.

Defends Darrow
Clarence Darrow was defended by Professor Dorn in his religious life as one who has profound social values.

Another query from Rev. Mr. Adams as to what was taught in the Commerce College in the various economics classes brought the immediate curt reply of "capitalism" from Professor Dorn.

Kirby Page, headliner of the conference, was to arrive on the campus today and appear at several meetings late this afternoon and evening.

At 4 p. m. he will attend a combined meeting of the University Religious Council and the Student Religious Council at the Ohio Union and will later be the guest at a dinner of fraternity and sorority presidents and other campus leaders in the Pomerene Refectory.

Today at 8 p. m. he will speak on "Building Life on a Sneezer" as the feature of a meeting in Commerce Auditorium.

Phi Delta Theta Hears
Dr. Hockett Wednesday

"The responsibility of effecting improvement in the social order, in large part, is the college man's," Dr. Homer C. Hockett, department of history, told members of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity during a discussion of "The College Man and His Social Outlook," at the chapter house Wednesday evening.

Dr. Hockett, in commenting on the future social organization, which he thinks will be some form of governmentally instituted socialism, was inclined to believe that the personal ambitions and hopes of college men would be of necessity relegated to the background in cultivating social mindedness.

School Situation
Will Be Discussed
At Banquet Meet

Committee to Plead with County Representatives for Relief Will Be Elected.

Phi Delta Kappa, honorary educational fraternity, whose chapters throughout the state have combined forces in an effort to secure help for Ohio's schools from the General Assembly, will hold a dinner meeting and round table discussion on the subject today in Pomerene Hall.

The organization, affiliating with the American Legion, has organized lay groups throughout the state to bring the situation to the attention of the legislature. Representatives of the various groups, under the name of the SOS (Save Ohio's Schools) committee, have been holding meetings regularly to crystallize the relief efforts.

Phi Delta Kappa has also asked its members to submit information concerning the effect of present financial conditions upon the schools and human interest stories of concrete cases.

At the Pomerene meeting a committee to interview the Franklin County representatives to plead for the relief of the schools will be elected.

Wallace Forming
12 Credit Groups

Bert A. Wallace, department of rural economics, is assisting with the organization of 12 production credit associations in Ohio.

These 12 associations will cover the whole state in providing short-term credit to farmers for production purposes. The local associations are organized, supervised and capitalized by the Production Corporation of Louisville, which originated with the passage of the Farm Act last May.

Raymond C. Smith, former member of the same department, is secretary of the Louisville corporation.

Vet Med Group Convenes

A motion picture showing the relationship of absorbable suture materials to normal healing was the feature of the meeting of the Junior American Veterinary Medicine Association meeting Wednesday night. This was followed by several reels on animal husbandry, offered by Edwin E. Heizer of the department of animal husbandry.

Women Debaters
Will Argue Merits
Of "Chicago Plan"

Co-ed Squad Plans to Meet Michigan in Forensic Contest At Ann Arbor March 5.

Debating on the subject, "Resolved, That the University of Chicago Plan Be Adopted by the Universities of this Debate League," the women's debate team will open its triangular series with the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor March 5.

The affirmative team is composed of Dorothy J. Lamb, Ed-4; Florence R. Meyer, A-2, and Dorothy E. Hansen, Ed-3, with the negative stand being taken by N. Elaine Hart, A-2; Irene M. Lawson, Ed-1, and Evelyn A. Bowyer, A-3.

The University of Chicago Plan, about which the Western Conference teams are debating, incorporates such ideas as optional attendance and comprehensive examinations given and graded by members of the faculty other than the professor teaching the course. This method permits the student to take his final examinations at any time he desires to complete the subject and so advance more rapidly in his academic studies than by waiting for quarterly reports.

Miss Florence G. Denton, department of English and coach of the team, announces that the dates for the debates with Indiana and other schools outside of the Conference are not as yet definitely scheduled.

Future School Marm's, How Will You Feel
During Your First Weeks on the Job?

What emotions may the prospective school teacher expect to experience during the first week on the job?

Perhaps the answer lies in a cardboard file tabbed "Information from Beginning Teachers" in the records of Mrs. Mary Ewan, appointments division of the College of Education.

There in a bundle of letters are stories of bitter disappointment and blasted hopes and at the same time confidences of happiness and ambitions realized.

COUNCIL DENIES
MEMBERSHIP TO
2 FRATERNITIES

Petitions from Kappa Phi Kappa and Epsilon Psi Epsilon Refused.

Petitions from two fraternities for membership in the Interfraternity Professional Council were refused by the council at a meeting Tuesday night in the Ohio Union.

Kappa Phi Kappa, national education fraternity and Epsilon Psi Epsilon, national optometrical fraternity, will not be admitted on the grounds that the nature of the vocations for which they prepare are not professional.

The constitution of the council restricts membership to four professions. They are law, medicine, dentistry, and veterinary medicine. Any others are excluded by implication.

Frederick J. Hunter, Med-4, president of the council, sent a letter of resignation to the meeting which was accepted. Harry C. Fink, L-3, automatically assumed the office, according to precedent.

William H. Stone, Dent-3, was elected to the vice presidency, which was left open by this action.

Willis R. Deming, A-3, secretary of fraternity affairs, invited the Professional Council to take advantage of the plan adopted by the Interfraternity Scholarship Council to raise the grades of fraternity men.

Funds obtained from the carnival will be contributed for the financial needs of publishing the Physical Education Journal. In other years the fund has been raised by bridge contests.

The proposed United States conservation project in the Muskingum Valley will give jobs to 11 University graduates and three students who are attending the University at the present time.

Wilbur Stout, state geologist, recommended the men to the PWA headquarters. Those selected were trained in geology, excelling in their studies.

Alfred Homberg, an instructor in the department of geology for three years, has been suggested as leader of the party. The members will include Stewart Schoff, John Melvin, Edgar Stephenson, Myron Sturgeon, Robert Nesbitt, Alan Stone, Robert Hergert, Ralph Senseman, John Kennedy, Harry Marshall, William Stuart, and Lysle Kirk.

Simpson Indexing
Papers on File In State's Libraries

Newspaper Librarian Named Organizer for American Bibliographical Society.

Harold G. Simpson, director of the newspaper library in the Archaeological Museum, has been appointed organizer of Ohio for the work of the Bibliographical Society of America.

The society plans to make an index of all of the newspapers on file in the various libraries of the United States.

An organizer has been appointed for each state, whose job will be to make an index of all of the newspapers on file in his state. The file, when completed, will be sent to the Library of Congress, Washington.

Mr. Simpson says that there are between one hundred and one hundred and eighty libraries in Ohio and that he has received letters from 80 of them listing the newspapers that they have on file.

Relief Commission
Grants University
$5220 Federal Aid

Funds Will Carry Part-Time Student Employment Program Through Remainder of February.

The University has been granted $5220 in federal funds to carry the part-time student employment program through the remainder of February, according to notice received Thursday from the state relief commission.

This amount, University officials believe, will be sufficient to provide employment starting the middle of next week for all applicants needing such assistance to remain in school the rest of the quarter. Future grants, it is expected, will carry the work through March and the spring quarter.

The number of applicants passed the 400 mark Thursday. Applications are still being received in the office of Bland L. Stradley, University examiner.

3 Pay Rates

Three rates of pay for this student employment were approved Wednesday by the executive committee of the campus FERA student aid administration, as follows:

For manual labor and unskilled clerical work, 30 cents per hour.

For semi-skilled clerical and other semi-skilled work, including typists and stenographers, 40 cents per hour.

For graduate students reading papers and doing skilled research work, 50 cents per hour.

Another Checking Method
An additional method of checking up on eligibility of applicants for positions was decided upon Thursday afternoon. Each student who has applied will receive through the mails three blanks to be sent to persons in his home town for further evidence as to his eligibility.

It is recommended that one blank be sent to the high school superintendent or principal, one to the pastor or family physician, and the third to a reputable business man in the home community. These persons are asked to state whether, in their opinion, "the student's financial status is such as to make impossible his attendance at college without this aid."

In the meantime, applications were beginning to come in to Mr. Stradley from young people not now in the University who desire to take advantage of the part-time employment plan for the spring quarter starting March 27. Several hundred new students will be aided in this way, in addition to the assistance given young people already on the campus.

20 MEN ATTEND
NEW SUBSIDIARY
BOARD MEETING

Recently Formed Group Will Act as Unifying Body In Ohio Union Work.

Members of the newly-formed Ohio Union Subsidiary Board met for the first time Wednesday night in the Ohio Union.

The Ohio subsidiary board will hear suggestions and, if approved, the suggestion will be recommended to the Ohio Union Board. Then if the Ohio Union Board approves the action, it will be put into effect.

The purpose of the board is to get a more intimate contact with the student body and to maintain more unity between the colleges.

Edward Van Rawn, Com-4, and Ernest P. Heiby, Ag-3, were responsible for the formation of the subsidiary board. They constituted a committee of two making plans for the formation of the board. Rawn and Heiby, together with John L. Gushman, L-1, and Robert E. Potts, A-3, are the student members of the Ohio Union Board.

The newly constituted subsidiary board will meet once each quarter. The members of the board are leaders in their particular colleges and of student activities.

The chairman of the subsidiary board will be Josiah T. Herbert, L-1, Director of Student Activities. Herbert presided at the meeting and the plan was explained by Edward S. Drake, director of the Ohio Union. All of the 20 members were present.

Festival Receipts
Will Go to General
Intramural Fund

Wood Approves Plan to Aid Affair by Fraternity Contributions, 10c Admission.

While the intramural department has accepted the proposed plan of the Council of Fraternity Presidents to charge admission to the Intramural Festival by asking for $5 contributions from each fraternity, it will not use the money as the Presidents' Council planned.

Instead of a fund to pay for injuries sustained by students participating in the intramural program, the contributions will be put in the general intramural fund to be used as the authorities see fit.

Harold S. Wood, director of intramural athletics, approved the plan. He said that the student medical service paid for injuries of this nature.

Each fraternity which contributes the $5 fee will receive a block of not less than 50 tickets to the festival. The general public will be charged an admission fee of approximately ten cents.

Pledge Council Meets
In Delta Alpha Phi House

The Interfraternity Pledge Council will meet today in the Delta Alpha Phi House at 7 p. m.

Reservations for a pledge cheering section at home basketball games will be distributed and the program committee has arranged for musical entertainment to follow the meeting.

A tea dance for the members of the Pomerene Advisory Board and their guests has been planned for Saturday afternoon in Pomerene Hall.

There will be dancing from 3:30 until 5:30. Bob Miller and his Ohioans will furnish the music.

Miller, who lives at the Tower Club, has organized his orchestra largely from among the students who are staying there. It was formerly composed entirely of members of the Tower Club, but he has recently made several changes.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Maxine Hengst, Ed-2, Roselyn Mathews, Com-2, Helen L. Campbell, Ed-2, Margery Aydelott, Com-1, Josephine M. Gulick, Ag-1, and Roberta J. Tucker, Com-1.

PAGING MR. PAGE!

Kirby Page is on the campus to take part in the University Conference on Religion.

Mr. Page is well known to student groups throughout the country, both as a lecturer and personal adviser. A speaker of ability, he is much in demand and the campus religious councils are very fortunate to procure him for their program.

The subjects he has chosen for his campus addresses are particularly attractive, giving promise of no little interest. Such titles as "Building Life On a Sneezer," "Have We Outgrown Jesus?," "Is There a God?," and "Must a Christian Be a Radical?" should attract many people to the discussions.

We urge every student who has the opportunity to take advantage of the unusually fine program that has been arranged for the religious conference.

HUMOR

The usual flurry of comic Valentines hit the campus Wednesday, most of them addressed to faculty members whom students take unusual pleasure in jesting.

The fact itself that the Valentines were sent is some indication of the fact that humor still lives. The added fact that the victims received them in good spirits should constitute proof. If you read any of the poems, you'll know what we mean.

MIRACLE

Migawd, we beat Michigan.
Ohio State's wrestlers Tuesday defeated the Michigan University team, 19 to 11. We had begun to think it was impossible.

SHAVINGS OFF THE BLOCK

Some of the proctors in the liquor examinations being conducted throughout the state are famous campus personages. There is: Lloyd S. Jones, campus sketcher; Frank Zimmer, formerly chief justice of the Student Court and present representative from the College of Law to the Student Senate; Milton Y. Rusotto, business manager of the 1933 Makio; Nathan Stern, editor of the 1934 Makio; Bart Ewell, member of the swimming squad; Charles St. John Chubb, the University handy man; Robert Curry, student senator; James Ball, campus legislator; William B. Poe, last year's secretary of the Commerce Council.

It really doesn't make much as material for editorial comment, but we do wonder how activity men portion out their time to allow for all this extra-curricular labor.

Campus officers will soon have to be on the watch for violators of the Oval one-way traffic regulation. When the new road is completed from Thirteenth Avenue past the Commerce Building, motorists will be attempting to skip High Street traffic by cutting across to the Oval and thence east on Fifteenth.

"Yes," said William E. Gold when he received his diploma in the spring of 1933. "I've been educated from 'A' to 'E'." There's strength in versatility.

One doesn't know his Ohio until he has been through the Archaeological Museum. For education, bigger, better and broader, visit the Museum before graduation.

Fences are still going up on the Oval. Students, we notice, are looking surreptitiously toward the psychology department. Is this another "maze running" contest?

Many schools celebrate their Dads' Day but how many have a day set aside for the Mothers? The Easterner of Ball State Teachers College informs us that such a day is recognized at their institution.

Attempts will be made at the George Washington University Friday to form a Junior Bar Association. Bravo! What has happened to the one that was proposed for our own fair school?

Professorial Profiles

No earth rumbling greeted the birthday in 1892 of Eugene Holloway Roseboom. Of mongrel parentage which included a Pennsylvania Dutchman who spelled his name Roseboom, he entered life the normal way. And to date no king has evinced a desire to reward him with an accolade. Thus far he has pursued the history professor's usual obscure trek from womb to tomb.

It was at Frankfort, O., that he was duly born, duly schooled, and duly Methodized. In 1910 the entire family moved to Columbus to permit him and his sister to be educated at Ohio State. Even back in public school he had shown his professorial caliber by skipping the entire fourth grade; he now struck vertiginous heights with a Phi Beta Kappa key. His Master's degree in 1916 netted a two-year job at Mt. Vernon High School. And in September, 1918, after only a month in training camp, he sailed to war and adventure in France.

Picture him in a lonely outpost near Verdun, beside him a cough afflicted comrade. In his hand is a grenade; in his comrade's, a rifle. But our hero does not know how to use the grenade, the comrade does not know how to use the rifle.

And so they plan their strategy in advance: Roseboom can't throw, the comrade can't shoot; if attacked, therefore, they will beat an honorable but expeditious retreat to the main line. For some unknown reason it does not occur to them to exchange weapons (Roseboom can work comrade's rifle). But the Boche overlooked the pair, next morning Private Roseboom was transferred to the main trench to assist the company clerk.

After his return he instructed for two years at Ohio State, for two years instructed and worked for his Ph.D. at Harvard. In 1923 he returned to the campus, has lived here happily since. In 1932, after nine years labor on his thesis, Harvard granted him his doctor's degree. In collaboration with Dr. Francis P. Weisenburger he has recently published a book on the history of Ohio.

Dr. Roseboom has a strikingly Wilsonian countenance. In 1925 he married the daughter of the Ohio Senate chaplain. He has two children, a boy and a girl.

Dr. Roseboom is a typical assistant professor, a man

Content to breathe his native air unambitious beyond a professorship because more is beyond his reach. After all, there is no use aiming when you can't shoot.

AN ENGINEER COACH

'Tis reached me the good news that the engineers are becoming more than disgusted with the football situation and are taking matters into their own hands by circulating petitions.

The petitions, as we understand them, are boosting Mr. Herman Mueller of the metallurgy department for the next coach.

It appears that Mr. Mueller when questioned by his ever-alert group of mining and industrial engineers concerning the coaching muddle, always has an answer that he would like to be the next coach.

So the boys in his department are booming him with quite a bit of gusto. Which is indeed very grand.

THE BASTILE ELEVEN

The 12 lads from the Sig Alpha House who were guests of the city at the bastille the other night past, do not realize how near they came to wrecking the hopes of the athletic department.

When this writer arrived at the city house of honor it looked, from first appearances, as if the law had marched all of our promising young athletes into the bastille.

Among the 12 guests of the city for the few hours were at least four promising freshman football stars who will probably be transferred to the penitentiary team if they do not behave in the future.

RATHER SHADY

They tell me that the Delta Upsilon-Triangle contest last week in which the D. U. quintet ran up a total of 77 point, of which Dick Heekin, the Varsity footballer, amassed 35, was not strictly on the up-and-up, as the boys on the corner would say.

My informant claims that the contest in question, which is very questionable indeed, ended at the regulation time with the Sixteenth Avenue players having a total of some 40 points.

However, since the game was such enjoyment to the Delta Up boys, they played a 30-minute overtime which is a naughty thing to do with out first informing the officials.

FLYER JESSE OWENS

And now that Jesse Owens, the ebony flyer of the freshman track team, tied Percy Williams' 60-meter record at the West Virginia A. A. U. meet, the boys around the Oval are booming Mr. Owens as one who will surely take a place among the Ohio State great men.

Owens, in this writer can correctly recall, had one glaring fault at the high school state meet last spring. It appears that Jesse's fault was in not getting off to a flying start.

Although he would almost lag behind the field the first 20 yards, a great outburst of speed would soon permit him to pass his rivals.

Once Jesse is taught to get the jump right from the start, there will be no stopping him. He's headed for plenty of records in the Big Ten and collegiate world. He won't stop at those records, either.

SPIRIT WANTED

When Ohio State beat Michigan in wrestling the other night, it was the first win an Ohio State team has taken from the Wolverines in ever so long.

If our records can be correctly referred to, the last time a Buckeye team took the measure of an athletic squad from Ann Arbor, 'twas in 1931, when the Buck eleven defeated the Maize and Blue by a 20-7 count.

The wrestling match was a bitterly contested event from the start with the Wolverines outclassed badly in the early portion of the program, but fighting with dogged determination to keep the Michigan jinx over the Scarlet and Gray.

After the match the 1000 spectators were all smiles and talking only about the fact that a Michigan team went down to defeat. There was plenty of Ohio State spirit at the grappling event.

Talking about spirit reminds us that Ohio Staters appear to have lost that certain thing.

Michigan men are always talking about Michigan but Ohio State men seldom talk about the deeds of Ohio State. Let's find that lost spirit and give the University a boost, whether it be at parties, gatherings of various sorts, or any argument in which the school's name is involved.

BOOST OHIO!

Ohio Tankers Will Swim 2 At Michigan

Buck Mermen Meet Wolverine Friday, and State Saturday.

Ohio mermen will engage in two meets away from home over the week-end. Friday the Bucks meet Michigan and Saturday Michigan State.

Michigan's scholastic returns brought Coach Mann of the Wolverine swimming team some good news.

One of the outstanding stars on his squad, Taylor Drysdale, as well as a pair of outstanding sophomore prospects, have returned to the fold after being ineligible last semester.

Drysdale in 1932 won the Western Conference and National Intercollegiate back stroke swimming titles. In that season he chalked up the Big Ten record of 1:42.3 in the Conference meet at the Natatorium.

Fela vs. Drysdale

The Ohio State team will have a fine swimmer to match this star when Andy Fela goes to the mark against Michigan at Ann Arbor Friday. Fela turned in a 1:41.2 at Pittsburgh recently, and it is quite likely that the winner of this event will set a new Conference mark.

Two men were dropped from the Wolverine squad through ineligibility—Dick McLeish and Ned Diefendorf. McLeish was the leading breast stroke artist and was also a member of the medley relay team.

McLeish Ineligible

His fall gives the Buckeyes a great chance in the breast stroke event, but the medley will have the service of Drysdale to somewhat offset his loss. Diefendorf is one of the best sophomore divers.

The Michigan diving entrants will list Dick Degener, the National Intercollegiate and A. A. U. champion. Ohio State has three divers to choose from. Casey Graham, who has lost only one victory in his collegiate career, is certain to start. Ormand Adams and Fred Walton are both available as running mates.

Ogden Dalrymple, one of the sophs who made the grade in his studies, is one of the best sprint swimmers on the Michigan team. He will give George Burrell some hot competition in the 100, and probably hold down the free style position on the medley relay.

On Olympic Team

The other fortunate, Tex Robertson, is a 220 and 440 free style swimmer. He competed in the National A. A. U. meet last year, and also was a member of the American Olympic water polo team.

Robertson will team with Captain Cristy in an endeavor to beat the Scarlet entrants, Captain Ewell and Dick Figley. Cristy holds the Big Ten record in a 20-yard pool at the 440 route, his mark being 5:01.4.

The medley relay should provide a thrilling climax to the meet. Andy Fela, George Colville, and George Burrell will represent Ohio. Drysdale, Dalrymple, and a sophomore breast-stroker, will carry the Michigan colors.

Michigan Has Edge

Michigan will have the edge in the meet with the diving and 440 free style much in their favor. All other events may be termed toss-ups, with Ohio's best bid for a first in the breast stroke. George Colville seems a probable winner there.

The Conference medley relay mark was made by the 1932 Michigan team in the Natatorium with Drysdale in the number one position. This mark, 3:10.4, has been shaded several times this season by both teams, so a new mark may result.

Following the meet proper, the mermen of the two teams will stage a water polo game. Saturday Ohio State will visit the Michigan State pool for a second meet, and another polo game.

Ohio sunk the Michigan State swimmers by a 57-27 count in 1932.

Political Organization Plans April Meetings

The meetings of the Central Ohio Institute of Politics, previously set for February, have been postponed to the middle of April. H. Schuyler Foster, department of political science, announced today.

This change has been made in order not to conflict with the Ohio Model League of Nations Assembly, which will convene at Oxford March 2 and 3, under joint auspices of Miami and Western College for women.

Let's Play "Rumors"

Everybody Wins, Nobody Loses; Lucky People Can Say "I Told You So."

By HARRY VOLK

Riddle me this, and I'll need more than three guesses: "Who's going to be the next football coach at Ohio State University?"

Thanks for the three guesses, but I give up! But somebody should know. Perhaps the sports writers have a line on the situation?

Oh yes, quite a few lines, in fact, so many that they've become entangled, and the ensuing mess is a sorry sight.

First they collectively hooked a Mr. Gus Dorais even before Sad Sam Willaman abdicated. And before Willaman announced his resignation, the same Mr. Dorais, who commanded seven- and eight-column streamers for the space of two weeks, was relegated to a short paragraph. He renewed his contract at Detroit.

Then the sports writers were visualizing pictures of Clark Shaughnessy drawing circles and crosses on the blackboard in the musty classroom in the Stadium where the Varsity team undergoes mental training during the spring quarter.

When Mr. Shaughnessy started choosing his staff of assistants for another year at Chicago the scribes (they shouldn't need copy now that the baseball hold-outs are as numerous as ever) have elected with much ado, Mr. Don Peden of Ohio University for the task.

Mr. Peden, so they say, is dicker-ing between succeeding E. C. Hayes at Indiana, and moving his worldly possessions from Athens to the north end of Columbus.

Though L. W. St. John, director of athletics, again denies everything in his suave customary manner, already Mr. St. John and Mr. Peden are having conferences, etc., say the reporters.

Peden, until very very recently, was mentioned frequently, but only in a secondary sense, while Dorais, and then Shaughnessy held the spotlight.

Today Mr. Peden is wallowing in the mud of newspaper talk, and a new crop of candidates, heretofore unmentioned, were relegated to a fourth paragraph status (that's where "others being considered" are listed).

Today we find among the "others" none other than Pete Stinchcomb, Buck All-American halfback in 1920 and coach of the Chicago Bears for the past two seasons. Shifty Bolen, Marty Karow, and Wes Fesler are other "fourth-paragraphers."

The man of mystery, Ernie Godfrey, assistant to Willaman, is always given a paragraph or two on his "possibilities" as the successor. Godfrey, who as a undergrad played center for Ohio State, was once head-coach at Wittenberg.

Now that Willaman is safely harbored at Western Reserve, some have suggested that Tom Keady, who Willaman succeeded, be installed here. An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth!

Others suggest Chick Meehan of Manhattan, Pop Warner, Harry Kipke, Zupke, etc. Is there a coach

Week-End Games May Decide Title

Boilermaker Five Will Meet Iowa and Minnesota Away From Home.

Basketball activities on Western Conference courts this week-end may definitely decide the champion for 1934.

Purdue leading the race with only one defeat faces two tough opponents in Iowa and Minnesota. The possibility of a Boilermaker defeat is strengthened by the fact that these teams must be met on foreign courts which necessitates a long, arduous trip.

Illinois with two defeats is ready to step in should the Lafayette team fall by the wayside. The Illini, however, must overcome the opposition of Wisconsin and Northwestern over the week-end to stay in the running. Wisconsin's squad seems to have found itself and may prove to be a thorn in the side of the ambitious Champaign cagers.

The Wildcats of Northwestern cannot be underrated either, since they gave Iowa a good lacing last week. All in all, the Orange and Blue will have a good time.

Iowa, after its encounter with Purdue, takes on Indiana, and one of the two will drop into the second division after that fray.

in the country who, if he keeps a scrap book, does not have a clipping saying that — is being considered as a probable successor to Sam Willaman at Ohio State University?

Perhaps Mr. St. John will solve the problem and take over the coaching reins himself. He once was head coach, you know. Nobody suggested that. It should merit a paragraph at least.

This popular game of "rumors" now being run on sports pages of Columbus is easy to play. It's something like jig-saw puzzles. If one doesn't fit, what's that, try another. When, after the trial and error process, you've placed the right one, pat yourself on the chest affectionately, emit two or three self-satisfied chuckles, and in a patronizing, stentorian voice broadcast to the waiting world:

"I told you so."

Babe Ryan, former coach at West Point, and Ed J. Doyle, once assistant there, were named assistant coaches today by Gar Davidson, head coach of Army. They will replace Earl Blaik and Harry Ellinger, who received other positions.

Committees Chosen For A. A. U. Meet

Organization of official committees for the National A. A. U. swimming championships to be held in the Varsity pool of the University Natatorium April 5, 6, and 7, were named by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.

For the first time in its history the meet will be held outside of Chicago, and nationally known swimmers from all parts of the country are expected to participate.

College swimmers will be in abundance, as the National Intercollegiate championships will be held here the week preceding, and most of the place winners in the Intercollegiate will stay over.

The national meet is being sponsored by the University and the Columbus Athletic Club. Underwriting of the guarantee demanded by A. A. U. officials has been made possible by a number of local men subscribing to a fund for the purpose.

Bishops Defeat Ohio University

Ohio Wesleyan Assures Itself Of Tie in Buckeye Association.

Ohio Wesleyan's Battling Bishops assured themselves of at least a tie in the Buckeye Athletic Association Wednesday night when they defeated the Bobcats of Ohio University, 29 to 17, at Athens. One more victory by the Bishops will give them the undisputed title.

Both teams played fairly evenly during the first half, but in the second stanza the Bishops trotted ahead to win the slowly-played game. Stammler of Ohio Wesleyan led the scoring with 14 points, five field goals, and four fouls.

In another Buckeye Association game, Cincinnati nosed out Wittenberg, 34 to 34, at Springfield. The Cats were on the short end of a 21 to 12 score at the half, but in the last five minutes of play, they snapped out of their lethargy to creep ahead and stay there.

Theta Kappa Phi Star Tops Heekin's Record, Team Triumphs, 75-8

A.E.Pi Cagers Clinch Alpha League Title by 40-9 Win; Delta Upsilon's Cop Beta Gonfalon Downed A.T. O.'s, 31-17.

Dominic Bertolini, Theta Kappa Phi pledge who recently won the University heavyweight boxing championship added more laurels to his already large collection when he individually scored 45 points for his team Wednesday evening to set a new I-M record. The former high mark was held by Dick Heekin, Varsity footballer, who pushed through 35 markers last week.

Bertolini is the Carnera-like Italian boy who in 1931 put in the winning basket in an overtime period to win the state class B championship for Youngs-town Fitch high school. He made 21 points in that game. He was chosen all-state B center.

With these 45 points, the Theta Kappa Phi pledges swamped Delta Sigma Phi, 75-8.

Another high scoring tilt found the Spartans subduing Tower Club No. 3, 70-7. In this track meet Brandt and Short each looped in 19 points while White made 17.

ENGINEERS PICK DR. ARNSTEIN AS DINNER SPEAKER

Goodyear Zeppelin Company Official to Talk At Banquet February 27.

Dr. Karl Arnstein, chief engineer for the Goodyear Zeppelin Company, Akron, will speak at the All-Engineers' banquet in Pomerene Hall February 27, Elmer S. Barrett, Engr-4, said Tuesday evening.

The banquet, sponsored by the Engineers' Council, will be held in the Pomerene Hall Refectory at 6 p. m. Dr. Arnstein, renowned authority on rigid airships, has been vice president and chief engineer of the Goodyear Zeppelin Company since 1925. He came to the United States from Germany, where he was chief engineer of the Luftschiffbau Zeppelin Company.

Directs Macon Building

In Germany he was doctor of technical sciences at the University of Prague until 1912. During the war he designed and directed the construction of more than seventy rigid airships. He has recently directed the construction of the Akron and the Macon in this country. The honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering was conferred upon him in 1927 by the University of Aix-La-Chapelle.

"The engineers could not have made a better choice for a speaker. He is one of the world's best aeronautical engineers," Professor Carl A. Norman, department of mechanical engineering, commented today when he learned of the selection for speaker.

Here Five Years Ago

Dr. Arnstein visited the campus five years ago and addressed a meeting of the Graduate School. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Society of Automotive Engineers, the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, and Sigma Tau.

Entertainment at the banquet will be furnished by the Engineers' Orchestra, the Engineers' Quartet, and group singers. Leonard I. Schiff, Grad, is organizing the orchestra, and Charles W. Choi, Grad, is directing the organization of the quartet.

Ohio School Funds Very Inadequate States Dr. Davis

Educator Discusses Unfavorable Financial Outlook Among Secondary Institutions.

That schools of Ohio are in a much more serious financial plight than people appreciate for 1935, was revealed by Dr. Harvey H. Davis, department of education, in an address before the Practical Education Club in Pomerene Hall Wednesday night.

Approximately ninety-five million, five hundred thousand dollars was available for schools in 1926. In 1935 there will be 15 per cent more students, largely on secondary school levels, and at present there is no prospect of any more than $60,000,000 income for their support.

Secondary school pupils in particular require subjects such as physical education, industrial arts, commercial subjects, agriculture, and home economics, all of which tend to cost more because of their equipment and supplies. Whereas there was a special $1,000,000 fund for aiding such subjects in 1929, there is now nothing in addition to the general curtailment.

By way of recommendation, Dr. Davis said that not only was an adequate program of school finance needed in Ohio but that larger schools were required for efficiency and that there would need to be additional subsidies for the purchase of equipment for practical education subjects.

Professor McKay Ends Basal Metabolism Tests

Basal metabolism tests being given under the direction and supervision of Professor Hughina McKay, School of Home Economics, are nearing completion. The tests have been made to set the standard for energy production of women from 30-40 and 40-50 years of age.

Professor McKay said today she should like to continue the tests on women above 60, but that this is more difficult because of scarcity of subjects. Prior to these experiments tests were made on girls from the ages of 14 to 18.

Son of Trustee Aids Roosevelt In Relief Work

Julius F. Stone, Jr. Assists In Direction of FERA In Washington.

An Ohio State graduate is aiding President Roosevelt in directing CWA work from Washington. Julius F. Stone, Jr., '22, a graduate of Ohio State University and of Harvard, is now assistant director of relief work under Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator. His father is a Trustee of the University and president of the BancOhio Corporation.

Civil works developed under his direction include the renovation of the National Zoological Park, the elimination of slum areas, and the construction of swimming pools and tennis courts.

Ninety-five of Stone's proposed works have been approved. In carrying out these projects he has aided in providing employment for 4,000,000 men and women throughout the country.

CWA projects have extended outside the United States, according to Stone, who points out that Alaskan Indians are now engaged in many relief ventures.

Freshmen to Hold Pomerene Party

At 6 o'clock dinner will be served in the Pomerene Refectory, after which the party will adjourn to the Ohio Union, where at 7:30 p. m. a mass meeting of freshman women and men will conclude the day's program.

This prize can be secured only through recommendations furnished by members of the faculty.

The Boeing school offers four awards for its winning contestants. The first prize consists of a nine-month course of training in aviation. The other three winners will be given their choice of 1504 hours of ground schooling in aviation or 930 hours of instruction with 20 hours of flight.

The Boeing scholarship contest will be based wholly on theses written about some subject pertaining to a particular phase of aeronautics. Each thesis will be graded on its completeness, its ability to analyze and draw conclusion, and the originality of its subject matter.

Application blanks for the scholarship contests may be secured in the offices of the department of chemistry and at Robinson Laboratory.

PHILOSOPHY ESSAY CONTEST

The philosophy department announces a contest for the William E. Bingham Memorial Medal, which will be awarded to the undergraduate presenting the best essay on a philosophical topic. Contestants may choose any topic in philosophy or the relation of philosophy to other fields. Term papers previously submitted in courses may be used if desired. Since the contest will be judged by a professor at some other institution, students are at liberty to consult with members of the department.

Each contestant should sign his essay with a pseudonym, accompanying it with a sealed envelope containing his real name. Essays should be handed to some member of the department by noon, Monday, April 9, 1934, or mailed to Professor A. R. Chandler, University Hall, so as to reach him on that day.

The medal awarded in the contest is a memorial to William E. Bingham, who studied and taught here 1914-1916, enlisted in the United States Navy in April, 1917, and was accidentally drowned in the harbor of Tangier in December, 1918. The medal is a copy of an Athenian bas-relief and was executed by Mme. Anie Mouroux. It may be regarded as representing Athens, the goddess of wisdom, mourning at the grave of a defender of Athens.

"Sure, I like Old Gold ... but maybe you won't"

"You see, son, you've got to do your own smoking . . . and your own choosing. Nobody else can tell you what cigarette you'll like best."

"There are a lot of good cigarettes. But I like OLD GOLDS because they're free of artificial flavoring. Just better tobacco, and nothing else. That seems to make them smoother, better-tasting and easier on the throat."

"Maybe that won't mean a thing to you! I'm just suggesting that you try OLD GOLDS for a few days. Then let your own taste decide!"

No better tobacco grows than is used in OLD GOLDS. And they are PURE. (No artificial flavoring)
