Stadium Dorms Plan Protest To Governor

Rebel Against Increased Board Rates

Residents of the Stadium dormitories today were planning a letter to Governor Herbert as a protest against the increased room and board rates which will be in effect during the Winter Quarter.

The rates were increased from $130 to $140 a quarter at the beginning of the Autumn Quarter. The Winter Quarter rate will be $150.

Ray Skinner, Ed-4, president of the Inter-Club Council, student governing body of the dormitories, said that University officials told the residents the rates are being raised to help pay off the debt for the three new Stadium dormitories which were built last year.

He said that Governor Herbert will be asked to support legislation to appropriate funds for student dormitories. At present all such facilities must be self-supporting. Skinner said that "some of the boys are burned up." He added that the residents had to sign an agreement to live at the Stadium for three quarters at the beginning of the Fall Quarter. He said that what the men objected to most was the increase in the middle of the school year.

He pointed out that rates have gone up from $95 to $150 since 1946.

Charley F. Miller, assistant comptroller of the University, said that the rate increase was general in all Ohio State dormitories. He said that the building costs were considered as part of the increased expenses, but that there were other reasons for the increase.

He said that the contracts signed for occupying dormitory space for the three quarters stated that rates were subject to increase.

One of the dormitory residents said the men were informed that the recent increase was due to increased food costs. Then he added that a third dietician has been hired and that, previously, the Stadium dining hall was managed by only two dieticians.

Tickets For Fall Commencement Not Necessary

Tickets will not be issued for the Autumn Quarter Commencement exercises to be held in the Fairgrounds Coliseum, Friday, Dec. 17.

Prof. William E. Dickerson, of the accounting department, who is in charge of the program, said the Coliseum is expected to have ample seating for friends and relatives of the 1,100 graduating students, and that the use of tickets would not be necessary.

Dr. Harvey H. Davis, former vice-president of the University, now dean of the Graduate College at the University of Iowa, will deliver the Commencement address at the services which will be held at 2 p. m. John B. Fullen, alumni secretary, will welcome the graduates into the Alumni Association.

German Club Plans Party

The German Club and Delta Phi Delta, the German honorary, will hold a Christmas party and dance at 8 Thursday night in Pomerene Hall.

Cage Tickets Available Until Supply Gives Out

Students who miss today's deadline for obtaining their first set of basketball tickets will still be able to get them when the distribution of tickets for all nine games starts Thursday, Oscar L. Thomas, director of ticket sales, said today. Tickets for the full nine-game season will be on a first come, first serve basis.

The ticket office will be open from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. daily and from 9 to 11:30 a. m. Saturday.

Top Officials To Greet NSA Conference

Vice-President Bland L. Stradley will be the principal speaker at the National Students Association Ohio Region Conference to be held on the campus Saturday and Sunday.

William S. Guthrie, junior dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, will speak on the history of NSA.

The conference will begin with the registration of visiting student representatives at 8 a. m. Saturday. A plenary session will take place from 10 a. m. to 12 noon. Afternoon workshop discussions on problems pertaining to NSA in Ohio will conclude the business of the first day.

The convention will close with a plenary session from 10:30 a. m. to 12 noon Sunday.

Willis K. Link Jr., Com-4, Ohio State NSA chairman, is in charge of all campus arrangements. Nancy E. Yerges, Com-4, is Ohio Regional chairman of the NSA.

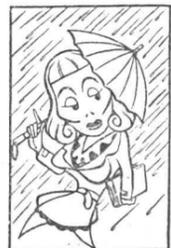

Other Ohio State representatives will be Jerrold L. Lockshin, John F. Cummings, John E. Shackelford, and Nancy Ann Krieg.

Fair And Colder Tonight; Rain, Warmer Thursday

Cloudy skies and moderate temperatures are the order for today.

Tonight will be continued fair, but colder. Thursday's prediction is for increasing cloudiness, rain and warmer.

Tuesday's extremely mild weather was six degrees above normal for this time of the year. A low of 28 degrees and a high of 44 is predicted for today.

566,657 See Bucks Play

Michigan Game Draws Second Largest Crowd

A total of 566,657 persons attended Ohio State's 1948 football games, W. E. Snypp, director of athletic publicity, said today. He added that the figure was unofficial.

The total attendance at the six home games was 420,930, he revealed. The three out-of-town games accounted for the remaining 145,727 figure.

Ohio State's all-time attendance record was set in 1946 when 603,600 fans saw the games. That mark was almost broken last year when the attendance was 603,500, a difference of only 100 persons.

Last year's home figure was 427,000 and the road total, 176,500.

The Michigan game of 1926 still holds the single game home record with a crowd of some 91,000 persons. Chairs were placed on the field and in the aisles to increase the capacity of the Stadium.

Up to this year, the 1935 Notre Dame game was second with an attendance of 81,000, but the 1948 Michigan game topped that figure with a crowd of 82,845. Five thousand extra chairs were needed to accommodate the overflow crowd at the latter game.

The above figures include paid attendance as well as Stadium employees who were admitted free.

Judging Team Places Second In Meat Contest

The Ohio State team placed second in the national meat-judging contest Tuesday night at the 49th International Livestock Exposition in Chicago. The contest was won for the third time by the Oklahoma A. & M. team, who will retain permanent possession of a gold trophy.

On Monday, Ohio State won a share of the honors by showing the championship pen of the Berkshire breed in the swine contest.

The University livestock raisers also won the reserve title for lambs with a pen of Shropshires, behind Iowa State University's grand champion pen of three wethers. In the Berkshire hog judging, Ohio State won with the championship pen of barrows.

Members of the meat judging team are William Waldo, John Waldo, Theodore Held, and Raymond Ramsay.

Robert Frost Comments On His Works, Election, Scientists, To Overflow Crowd

Robert Frost, "dean of American poets," spoke to an over-flow crowd in Hagerty Hall auditorium Tuesday night.

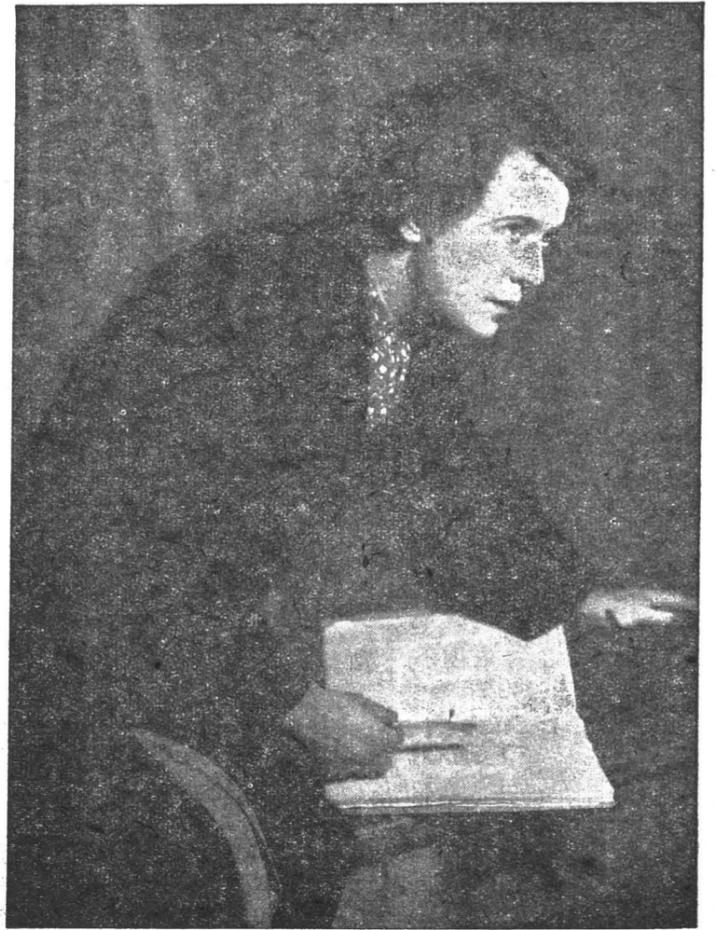

Two hundred standees packed the aisles and caused the program to be delayed 30 minutes. The committee in charge, headed by Dr. Claude M. Simpson Jr., department of English, tried to obtain a larger hall but was unsuccessful.

Some 400 persons who had failed to gain admittance rushed over to University Hall when a rumor spread that the meeting would be moved there. After finding the rumor false, they returned to Hagerty Hall and again unsuccessfully tried to get in.

Mr. Frost began his delayed speech by taking a "gentle poke" at science. He emphasized that he is as tolerant of science as a scientist is of poetry.

Commenting on the recent election, he said, he didn't think there ever was a greater confusion in the world's history. He repudiated Dr. George Gallup's explanation of the wrong prediction of the election outcome.

MARGARET WEBSTER

Margaret Webster's Performers To Appear In Shakespearean Drama

By Margaret Williams, Lantern Theater Editor

"Shakespeare" will travel by bus when the Margaret Webster Shakespeare Company rolls up to University Hall Friday for its production of "Hamlet."

For the first time, Broadway-caliber repertory takes to the road in an initial tour of the nation's colleges and universities. Margaret Webster, daughter of the late*

Dame May Whitty and Ben Webster, organized the troupe and has started a "living shelf" of Shakespeare's drama.

The company is headed by Carol Goodner, Joseph Holland, and Alfred Ryder, all prominent performers in films and Manhattan's showshops.

Miss Goodner was most recently featured in "Deep Are the Roots" and "How I Wonder"; Mr. Holland was seen in "Antony and Cleopatra"; and Alfred Ryder appeared opposite Eva LeGalliene in Ibsen's "Ghosts."

It is possible that skeptical thoughts may pass through the minds of the prospective audience when confronted with the forthcoming performances of "Hamlet." Yet "William" seems to have more adherents among us than we know, for the production comes literally by popular demand. It seems that there are certain things which are a heritage of man. Shakespeare is one of them. He belongs not to a particular country or an exclusive age. It is Miss Webster's contention that our share in Shakespeare belongs not only to the past, but to the present, and the future also.

"Hamlet" is in many respects a story of a young man of today, for he is confronted with a series of dreadful events which over-balance his established values and leave him to rebuild his world. It is a play which deals with the universal impulses of man, the thoughts which trouble and bewilder him, and the problems of the spirit which burden him.

Since the problem, except in its dramatic brilliance, does not belong to the past alone, "Hamlet" is presented in the costume of no particular period. They rather endeavor to combine the glamorous association and pictorial romance of a royal court with the stripped, clean lines associated with our modern clothes.

The play will be presented in as full and complete a text as possible. "Hamlet" is a long play, but the cuts have been designed to preserve the structure and development as Shakespeare must have planned them. The words themselves have not been altered.

According to Miss Webster, who will be on the campus to see her production Friday, "This tour is an adventure in many senses, and not least because there are no precedents to go by. We are pioneering; that too is part of the American inheritance."

Donald Gramm To Sing Here

Donald Gramm, young American bass-baritone, will appear in recitals at 8:15 tonight and Thursday in University Hall chapel as the second presentation of the University's Guest Artist Series.

Season books will be honored for the recitals. Individuals tickets will be available at the box office at $1.25.

Seek Lausche's Opinion On Site For Fairgrounds

The Ohio State Fairgrounds Relocation Commission sought Tuesday to get the views of Governor-elect Frank J. Lausche on the purchase of a new state fairgrounds site.

The commission has selected a 523.7-acre site north of the University Farm along Ackerman Rd. The chairman of the commission, Myers Y. Cooper, a former Ohio governor, said that Ohio cannot afford to miss the opportunity to purchase this tract.

Two taxpayers' suits in protest of the proposal has held off the purchase. Attorney General Hugh Jenkins would not consent to the purchase until the suits have been settled. State Auditor Joseph Ferguson, also of the control board, has refused to approve the funds until the matter is decided.

Christmas Vacation Jobs Offered

The Christmas season has already brought requests to the Student Financial Aids Office from post offices of neighboring cities offering jobs to students, veterans preferred, during the holiday vacation.

Local retail stores have yet to request additional help, and the amount they will desire is "very uncertain," Mrs. Lucille Gau Rose, associate director of the office, said Tuesday.

For months her office has been attempting to fill requests for stenographers, typists, and clerical workers. These full-time positions pay from $140 to $170 monthly.

They are located in downtown Columbus, and are available for wives or immediate relatives or students. "The demand just exceeds the supply," Mrs. Rose said.

Several "room jobs" are available for men for the Winter Quarter. "This is one of the most popular ways of obtaining inexpensive housing," Mrs. Rose said. In exchange for 21 hours of work a week, the student is usually given board, room, lunch money, and carfare.

Also expected to arrive during the Winter Quarter are requests for Summer jobs in private camps, resorts, and hotels throughout the country.

ROTC Engineers Learn 'Dozer Use In Clearing Land

A project started at the University Farm last week gives ROTC students practical experience in operating a bulldozer and adds two and one-half acres of cleared land to the farms.

Fifteen advanced ROTC Engineering students are busy with a D-7 bulldozer, clearing the land. Each student takes his turn at the wheel and his technique of operating is criticized.

Capt. James M. Webb, department of military science, supervises the project. The work began last week and is scheduled to be completed before Friday.

Students Ignore Traffic Lights Near Campus

Pedestrians are disregarding traffic lights on High St. at Thirteenth and Seventeenth Aves., a survey indicated today. Most of the jay-walkers appeared to be students.

Five-minute surveys were made at the two intersections during class-change periods. During one checkup period in the morning, eight persons crossed the street against the light at Seventeenth and High.

In another five-minute period at noon, the count was 14. A check made in the evening at Thirteenth Ave., showed that 10 persons disregarded the light.

Four To Serve In Medical Corps

Four seniors in the College of Medicine will serve their internships at Army hospitals. They are Donald W. Walter, Douglas B. Price, Irving Wikler, and James R. West.

The four will receive commissions as first lieutenants in the Medical Corps Reserve and will serve for one year. At the end of the one year they may apply for regular Army commissions.

Useful Palmetto

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—(UP)—Chaw-fo-ka-naw, the cabbage palmetto, has varied uses. The Seminole Indians make their open-sided homes from it. The white man in Florida eats the bud like cabbage.

Passing Ace

Stan Heath of Nevada, the nation's leading forward passer, is finishing his last season of collegiate football. He'll be in the market for a pro football contract at the end of the year.

Nutrition Expert To Speak Friday At Sigma Xi Meet

Dr. Clive M. McCay, professor of nutrition at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., will speak on the "Physiological Approach to the Problems of the Aging" at a meeting of the Ohio State chapter of Sigma Xi Friday night. The meeting will take place in Campbell Hall auditorium at 8:15.

Autumn initiation ceremonies for new members of the scientific honorary will be held at 4:45 that afternoon at the same place. A dinner for initiates, members, and guests is scheduled for 6:15 p. m. at the Faculty Club.

Nutrition and growth in relation to life span has been one of the research fields of Dr. McCay.

Nine Professors Attend Annual Gotham Meeting

Nine members of the mechanical engineering department are taking part in the annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in New York City.

Attending the session, which ends Friday are Profs. Aubrey I. Brown, Carl A. Norman, Karl W. Stinson, Samuel R. Beitler, Salvatore M. Marco, Dr. Jesse W. Huckert, Walter Robinson, Richard H. Zimmerman, and David J. Masson.

Professors Beitler and Norman and Mr. Masson will present technical papers at the meeting.

Premiums Paid From Pensions

Student veterans may authorize the Veterans Administration to deduct their National Service Life Insurance premiums from their disability pension, compensation, or officer retirement benefits which are paid by VA.

However, the VA explained that deductions cannot be made from subsistence allowances. Veterans desiring to take advantage of this insurance payment plan may contact their nearest VA office.

University Continues Public Opinion Polls

By Eugene F. Perine

The University's Public Opinion Research Project will continue its work by conducting post-election interviews of Columbus voters, Dr. Donald T. Campbell, department of psychology, head of the project, said today.

Prior to the election, the group polled voters throughout Columbus, getting their preferences and finding out how they had made up their minds to vote. Polls were conducted in May, July, August and October.

The final round of interviewing will be concluded in December. Dr. Campbell estimated that approximately 600 Columbus residents have been polled from three to five times in the course of the project.

The questions to be asked of the voters are concerned with the popular explanation of why President Truman won; if the voters changed their minds and, if so, when; and the general attitude of the voters toward the poll-takers who predicted a Dewey victory.

Interviewing has been done by nearly 100 students who are taking social administration or political science and journalism courses. Dr. Campbell said that this work has provided a wealth of information and has been fine experience for them.

He pointed out that the project was initiated for the purpose of providing a basis for study of national elections and of factors which influence voters. The group would like to find how voter's opinions are formulated and the shifts and factors in their conclusions.

He said that the final results and conclusions of the group will not be announced in the near future because of the tremendous job of analysis yet to be done.

Veteran Butler Squad To Test Buck Cage Team

By John Fisher

Ohio State basketball fans will get a good indication of just how strong the Buckeye cagers are by their showing against Butler Saturday night.

The Buckeyes could hardly have picked a tougher opponent for their opening game. Butler will bring virtually the same team here that whipped the Scarlet last year by 10 points. In five clashes with Butler teams, Ohio State has emerged victorious but once.

Butler will open its season Friday night at Illinois and then travel by train to Columbus for the encounter with the Bucks. Butler Coach Paul Hinkle will have an opportunity to correct any weaknesses displayed by the Bulldogs against Illinois, but Buckeye Coach Tippy Dye will send his charges into the game cold.

Leading the Bulldogs will be Capt. Charlie Maas, a classy guard. Maas will probably draw the job of stopping the Bucks' Dick Schnittker. In this respect Schnittker will hold an edge in height. Schnittker is 6-ft. 5-in. tall while Maas stands 6-ft. 1-in.

Ohio State will hold a height advantage at every position except center. Bulldog Center John Barrowcliff will be the biggest man on the floor standing 6-ft. 6-in. high. The remaining Butler men will be comparatively small.

Ralph O'Brien and Bill Shepherd will be the probable starters at the forward posts for Butler. O'Brien is 5-ft. 9-in. tall and Shepherd stands 6-ft. 2-in.

Jimmie Doyle will team with Maas at the guards. Forward Jerry Cranny is the only member of last year's Butler team not available this season. Cranny decided not to play this year.

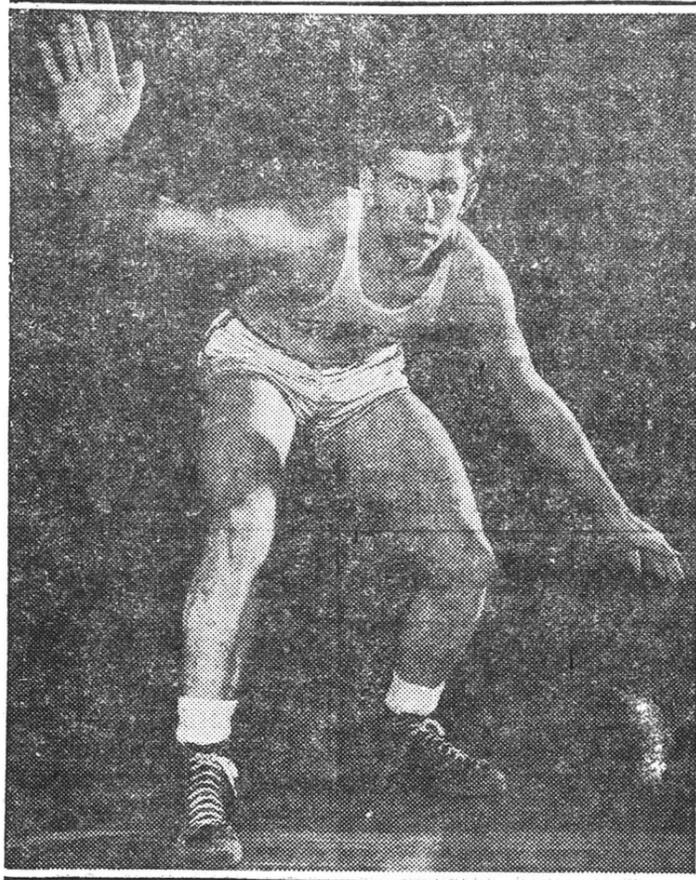

Front line subs are Bob Evans and Marvin Wood. Evans is slated to alternate with Shepherd at Cranny's deserted forward position. Wood, who stands 5-ft. 6-in. tall is noted for dribbling so low that it looks like he is rolling the ball along the floor.

Harlan To Be Honored

Bruce Harlan, Ohio State diving star, is among a score or more of champion athletes who will be in Toledo Dec. 16 to attend the "Banquet of Champions" given by R. A. Stranahan.

Champions from every major sport, selected on the basis of 1948 performance have accepted invitations to the banquet.

GENE BROWN
Ohio State Guard

Basketball Coach Tippy Dye has described Guard Gene Brown as the most improved player on the squad this year. The Dayton Southpaw has a good one-hand push shot from far out and is cool under fire. Brown started all 20 games last season and led all varsity men in playing time with 665 minutes. He scored 113 points, for an average of 5.6 points per game.

Brown also performs for the Buckeye diamond squad as a pitcher. He earned the nickname of "Whiff" as he won three and lost one for the Ohio State baseball team last season.

The 20-year-old Brown is 6-ft. 2-in. tall and weighs 190 pounds. A junior social administration major, Gene was married this past Summer.

Canton McKinley Back Named Player Of Year

(By Associated Press)

A kid with a broken collar bone is Ohio's No. 1 high school football star of 1948.

The youngster, who hasn't decided where he'll go to college but who probably will have scores of offers in the next few weeks, is John Colceri of Canton McKinley.

Colceri, 18-year-old 180-pound* halfback who stands five feet 10 inches, was voted the top spot today by Ohio's coaches and sports writers in the annual poll conducted by the Associated Press.

The Stark County stalwart, playing in nine of the 10 Bulldog games — all the winning ones — scored 21 touchdowns and two extra points for a 128-point total. He was almost a 48-minute player, an excellent open field runner, a good plunger and a sturdy line backer.

Of his 21 touchdowns, only nine were made from within the 16-yard line, and four were for more than 50. In 169 tries from scrimmage he gained 1381 yards, a single-handed average of 153 yards per game. He missed the final game against Massillon, the only Bulldog's loss, because of his broken bone.

Colceri was a standout for the "one-man gang" laurels, but he had more than a little opposition from such stars as Jim (Boxcar) Bailey, Hamilton's fine ball-toter; Dick Shuff of Mount Vernon, Chet Grob of Lakewood, Bob Koepnick of Dayton Cham-inade, and Don Zimmer of Cincinnati Western Hills. The voters nominated 28 players for the "most valuable" award.

The "Coach of the Year" award also wound up in Stark County, in the capable hands of Charles (Chuck) Mather, mentor of the Massillon Tigers—the state's top team.

Mather was a "four to one" choice of his brother coaches and newspapermen for the top spot, with heaviest opposition coming from Bup Rearick of Canton McKinley, Chuck Thackera of Hamilton, Ralph Ness of Lakewood, "Fuzzy" Faust of Dayton Chaminade, Ray Schick of Newark, and Eddie Wentz of Akron St. Vincent. Seventeen coaches were mentioned in the contest.

Mather, a native of Bloomingdale in Jefferson County, was an outstanding athlete at Hopedale High School and Ohio Northern University. He opened his coaching career at Brilliant, O., in 1937, winning 10, losing 11 and tying three in three years.

He moved to Leetonia in 1940 and 1941, spent three and a half years in the Coast Guard, and returned for the 1945 season. In his three campaigns at Leetonia he won 28, lost one and tied one. That record moved him up to Hamilton in 1946, where he won 15 and lost three in two seasons before going to Massillon this year. A year ago he was head coach of the Southern All-Stars.

In an informal poll made in connection with the all-Ohio voting, Mather was favored by almost two-to-one this year to coach the Northern All-Stars, with Rearick second and Ness third. The Southern All-Star choice wound up in a deadlock between Thackera of Hamilton and Glenn (Tiger) Ellison of Middletown, with Jim McDonald of Springfield and Schick of Newark deadlocked for second.

Highway traffic in Oregon increased 50 per cent between 1941 and 1948, according to the state highway department.

Buckeye Banter

By John Fisher

Although the football season is over as far as Ohio State is concerned, many fans are already discussing the Buckeyes of 1949.

Wes Fesler should field a better team next year, but any championship hopes can be spiked by the same trouble that plagued this year's squad—lack of team speed.

Pete Perini is slated to move from his quarterback post to fullback. Perini, Fred Morrison and freshman Dick Corless are expected to battle for the starting berth vacated by Joe Whisler.

The highly-touted freshman halfback, Vic Janowicz will be moved from the tailback position he played for the frosh to wingback. Janowicz appears to be every bit as good as his press clippings—he was named Ohio's outstanding high school griddier in 1947.

With Alex Verdova and Mike Cannavino graduating, Janowicz is expected to move right into the starting wingback post. He is the only frosh griddier given much of a chance of cracking the starting lineup.

The loss of Dave Templeton and Ray DiPierro will provide Fesler with plenty of trouble finding replacements. George Toneff, George Matthey, and Jerry Manz return from the varsity and George Endres may move up from the J-Vs to solve the situation. The return of Tom Snyder, starting guard on the unbeaten 1944 squad, will also help bolster the guards. Snyder was ineligible in 1948.

Walter Klevy, speedy frosh end, is expected to serve as an offensive replacement for Sonny Gandee.

JIMMY CLARK, halfback on the Buck football team, is working out with the varsity cagers.

FRED TAYLOR, lanky first baseman on the Buckeye baseball team, is hoped to be eligible for the varsity cage squad next quarter. Taylor was ineligible last year, but is reported to be a good basketball prospect.

Taylor never competed in athletics in high school, but participated in both baseball and basketball while in the service. He will be captain of the 1949 Scarlet baseball team.

In addition to Clark, there are four other gridders trying for positions on the Buckeye cage squad. They are Tom Watson, Jim Hague, Billy Newell and Dick Widdoes.

DAVE TEMPLETON, Buckeye grid captain, has been invited to play with the Eastern All Star team in the annual East-West Shrine Bowl Charity game in December.

FRED MORRISON made the longest scoring run from scrimmage in all Big Nine games this year. Morrison sprinted 55 yards for a touchdown against Illinois on an intended punt play. Morrison was rushed so badly he was forced to run.

ALEX VERDOVA tied George Taliaferro of Indiana and Leo Koceski of Michigan for the most touchdowns in a single Big Nine game. Verdova caught three touchdown passes against Wisconsin.

Trojans Prep For Notre Dame

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1—(AP)—Southern California's Trojans went about their football drills today, fully aware that mighty Notre Dame is headed this way and is heavily favored to take them apart here Saturday in the finale of the season for both elevens.

It will be the 20th meeting between the two in a series that began in the years of the late, great friendly rivals, Knute Rockne and Howard Jones, back in 1926.

Notre Dame is pointed for its 22nd consecutive victory, its 28th game without a loss—a victory string interrupted by that famous scoreless tie with Army in 1946.

Last year it was recorded that the Troys awaited the Irish much like condemned men awaiting the executioner. The observation drew caustic replies from Trojan rooters.

Well, the execution took place, on schedule—38-7.

But hope never dies, as witness last Saturday's results around the country, and there always is a chance for a miracle. Trojan rooters still hold out hope for a miracle on Saturday.

75th Anniversary: A "Year-Long" Celebration?

The current issue of the employees' magazine of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company contains a nice spread about Ohio State.

The pictorial 13-page story is tied in with the University's "Diamond Jubilee" celebration. Various scenes are pictured, including classroom shots, sports, and other campus activities.

This brings to mind again the 75th Anniversary program. The "kickoff" was held Oct. 14-15. At that time, it was repeatedly emphasized that the celebration was to be a year-long affair, with various student groups and the colleges planning programs throughout the year in honor of the University's birthday.

In fact, these programs during the school year were to be the main features of the program, as far as students were to be concerned.

At the time of the "kickoff" ceremony, the idea of a year-long program was used to combat the apparent deficiency of student participation in the more formal opening programs.

The only evidence so far that other 75th Anniversary events are being planned in which students will participate has come from departments and colleges.

The College of Medicine has completed plans for an observance of the Diamond Jubilee. It will include a medical study course held Dec. 6 to 11.

The military science department is also working on a program to be held in April, in which students will take part.

Early in the Quarter, we suggested that some sort of student carnival be planned for May Week. This was merely one suggestion; many more could be made, of course.

We still believe that it is squarely up to the Student Senate to begin to plan some type of student celebration, for all students.

Must the only opportunity for students to participate in the celebration come from the University administrative departments?

Why can't the students—through their elected representatives, the Student Senate—plan at least one program of their own?

On Tolerance

Further comment on the college fraternity which was suspended by its national council because it insisted on pledging a Negro student, and other allied cases, is printed below on this page.

James Marlow, Associated Press columnist, expresses in a clear, concise way the issues involved in a recent series of newspaper stories.

We present Mr. Marlow's views not because they happen to agree completely with our own, but because he states his case in a much better fashion than we could ever hope to do.

We think the issue is grave and important. We hope our readers think so too.

Without Fanfare

Robert Frost, the distinguished American poet, was heard Tuesday evening in Hagerty Hall.

This event, given little publicity, was under the auspices of the English department. It was free and open to the public.

Frequently, talented and renowned persons in many fields are brought to the University under similar circumstances, without much fanfare.

By being alert, students can gain much, and spend little, by watching for just such programs as this.

Notes On L-P Records; Jack Benny's Migration

By Howard Hartman

The recent appearance of Columbia's Long-Playing microgroove records is causing quite a discussion among record fanciers. With this new record improvement it is now possible to record an entire symphony on one record.

To avid record collectors this will mean an enormous saving of storage space. But the manufacturer insists that the advantages do not end here. The Long-Playing records will make listening more enjoyable because fewer record changes need to be made.

The records are made of vinylite, a composition which is unbreakable.

These L-P records have been made possible by increasing the number of grooves from the average of 90 per inch to between 224-300 per inch, and by slowing down the record speed from 78 rpm to 33 1/3.

The narrow grooves require a smaller needle with lighter pressure exerted upon the record. The new radio-phonograph combinations are equipped with two record arms to play both the old and the Long-Playing records.

believed to be similar to those which brought Amos 'n' Andy to CBS from NBC several weeks ago. The Music Corporation of America, a talent agency, figured prominently in the negotiations of both Amos 'n' Andy and Mr. Benny.

It is believed that NBC failed to come to terms with MCA and that disagreement brought Benny to NBC, with Bergen and Harris following.

A touch of irony surrounds the transfer of talent. Amos 'n' Andy, the first prize snagged from NBC, may have to change broadcasting time (Sunday, 7:30 p. m.) to allow room for the three-power comedy block moving to CBS. It seems Benny and friends wish to keep broadcasting at their present time, 7 to 8:30 p. m.

Although final details in the inter-network program transfer are not settled, it is known that NBC has abandoned hope of retaining any of its big Sunday comedy shows save that of Fred Allen.

Jack Benny, Edgar Bergen and the Phil Harris show will migrate to CBS early in 1949. This huge exodus represents three-fourths of NBC's heretofore dominant Sunday night program pulling power.

The means by which Mr. Benny was brought into the CBS fold are

Collegians 'Growing Up,' Recent Events Indicate

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Here are some events of the past few weeks which show in the present college generation some growth of appreciation for a man as a man in spite of his color:

Levi Jackson, a Negro, unanimously was elected captain of the Yale football team.

Frank S. Jones, a Negro, was chosen student manager of the Harvard football team.

Thomas W. Gibbs, a Negro, was pledged a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity at Amherst College over the protest of the national fraternity. The Amherst chapter was suspended by the national organization before Gibbs was initiated.

Lafayette College refused to play in the Sun Bowl football game at El Paso, Tex. on New Year's day because state laws there discriminate against its Negro halfback.

"The New York Times" and the "Herald-Tribune" thought the events important enough to treat them as outstanding news.

Some one from another country, seeing those events, considered prime news, would realize racial tolerance in this country is far from widespread.

If it were, only Jackson's election would have been news, since the election of a Yale captain always is.

But all those events are only one of the five ways in which attacks are being made on the problem of racial and religious prejudice and discrimination, more and more every year.

1. By individual groups acting for themselves, such as the students at the schools mentioned. They've knocked a few bricks out of the wall of prejudice, if only in their own backyard.

Such action may be limited to a group here or there. Or by breaking the ice it may awaken others to the problems.

2. By written and spoken words: in newspapers, magazines, on the radio and in discussion groups. And this includes education at home and in schools.

This is a constant, growing pressure. It keeps the whole problem out in the open.

3. By individual states. The states themselves can try—and many have—in their own way to solve the problem which makes some of their citizens second class citizens because of their race, color or religious beliefs.

4. By the U. S. Supreme Court. For example, through decisions which strengthen Negroes' voting rights, and forbid forcing Negroes to ride in the back of buses crossing state lines.

5. By the federal government—the President or Congress—issuing orders or passing laws which knock down discrimination.

President Truman's civil rights program for Southern Negroes, if passed by Congress, is an illustration of No. 5.

The roots of prejudice in this country are so deep, that no one of the five attacks on it can solve the problem.

And if all five were working now at white heat, the prejudice might be controlled but it's unlikely it would disappear from individuals for years to come.

But all five, taken together, have a steady impact on, and against, discrimination and prejudice, and whittle some of them away.

Occupation Troops Are Law-Abiding, Well-Disciplined, McCormick Maintains

By Matt McCormick

(Editor's note: This is the fifth in a series of articles on the Army occupation forces in Germany. The author returned to his studies after three years with the occupation troops in Germany.)

A chow line by-word of the occupation soldier these days is, "Even Confucius can't advise Lucius." (Meaning General Lucius Clay, the able Military Governor).

Perhaps this will indicate to the reader the complexity of the job being done in Germany. The task of policing our zone is one of gigantic proportions.

Failure to understand this, and misconceptions built on false information or isolated cases has created a completely distorted picture of the occupation in the hands of citizens here at home.

The Kathleen Durant-Kronberg jewel case and one or two similar events have apparently left the impression that Americans in Germany are looting the country in every sense of the word.

In a community of 100,000 people a few dishonest individuals always turn up. This is also true of the occupation forces. But make no mistake, military justice is swift to deal with such persons.

By and large, our troops are well-disciplined, lawabiding, efficient "ambassadors of democracy." In addition to mastering the ordinary soldierly skills, they are trained in German history and geography, theory and practice of criminal investigation, and thoroughly grounded in their principal mission—democratizing Germany.

It has been erroneously reported that in his off-duty hours the G.I. "lives the life of Riley."

It is true that K.P. duties, laundry, scrubbing barracks and jobs like washing trucks are performed by German civilian employees. But did you know that the cost of such services is deducted from the soldiers' pay?

Had you heard that as late as the cold, rainy spring of 1947 the entire 37th Constabulary Squadron lived in pup tents for months to avoid evicting German nationals from the few buildings still standing in Wetzlar?

Are you aware of the G.I. charity performed through German Youth Organizations, Red Cross and other groups? Countless hours and vast sums of money have been donated.

The life in occupied Germany is no "bowl of cherries." American movies and athletic events make up the entire social calendar.

Quarters often lack many of the accustomed niceties such as hot water. Life is generally drab and the daily routine deadly monotonous.

Then too, full impact of the war of nerves strikes home. Many families of soldiers have food, clothing and gasoline stored in automobiles for possible flight to Switzerland if the need should arise and—if there is time.

School Of Music Opens New Composition Course

A composition course has been added to the School of Music this quarter. Under the direction of Prof. Kent W. Kennan, students are receiving guidance in composing various types of musical works.

At present, five "would-be composers" are enrolled. The department plans to expand and increase its activities so that those who have the ability to write music may have the best possible opportunities to train and develop their abilities.

He is a distinguished composer in his own right. One of his compositions, "Concertino for Piano and Orchestra," was played by the Columbus Philharmonic Orchestra Saturday night.

Referring to this composition, Norman Nadel, music critic for the Columbus Citizen, said, "It was the sort of music we need to maintain our faith in the creative ability of our native composers."

"Night Soliloquy," another of Professor Kennan's works, has been recorded by Arturo Toscanini.

Professor Kennan studied at the University of Michigan and the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N. Y. He won second place in Paul Whiteman's contest for orchestra works in the modern idiom in 1935.

After winning the Prix de Rome in music in 1936, he spent the next two years at the American Academy in the Italian capital.

He later taught at the University of Texas and Kent State University. After serving four years in the Army Professor Kennan came to Ohio State as head of theory and composition.

Jingle Genius Needs Junk

Useless Dancing Lessons And Useful Cash Won By Student Entering Radio Contests

Have any old box tops, soap labels, or used toothpaste tubes lying around loose? If so, you could dispose of them by sending them to Bernard L. Beatty, Com-2.

Beatty uses such objects in entering some of the many contests "plaguing" magazine readers and radio listeners today.

Although he has never won a prize, Beatty has managed to come away with some lesser rewards for his efforts. Once he won a consolation prize of a single dancing lesson from one of the local dance studios. The contest consisted of writing 25 words or less on "Why I Would Like to Learn to Dance." At the time, Beatty was already an accomplished dancer.

The contest he enjoyed the most dealt with a concern that specialized in the making of a type of feminine wear. In this case, using an assumed name, he wrote in typical 100-words-or-less style why he liked a certain make of girdle. Using such terms as "cool," "It left me so relaxed," and "After a game of tennis, I still felt refreshed," Beatty came away with the seventh-place award, a check for $25.

Although Beatty has won many contests, he still feels surprised when he hears from the sponsor. He refers to his hobby as being "constructive."

At one time he thought of forming a contest club at Ohio State, but lack of interest forced him to abandon the plan.

Beatty is referred to by many of his friends as being a "professional" in the field. He frowns on that term when it is applied to himself. He said there are people in the country who attempt to make their living by being successful contest entrants.

Beatty doesn't advocate "professionalism." Contest-entering should be thought of as a hobby, he advised.

Desperate Nationalists Prepare Final Defense

(By the Associated Press)

Two Nationalist army groups were reported today desperately trying to establish a new defense line to save Nanking from advancing Chinese Communists.

Diplomats expect to hear from the government—perhaps within 24 hours—that Nanking is no longer safe for them.

Despite government denials, it was learned reliably such a warning is being prepared.

Official denials that any plan exists for moving China's capital conflict with obvious activity in every government ministry—including the foreign ministry. Archives and furnishings are being packed for shipment.

Many officials already have been alerted for transportation southward with the majority slated to go either to Canton or Formosa.

These developments came as the government abruptly cut its air link with isolated Suchow some 200 miles northwest of Nanking and deployed its forces for a battle to save the nation's capital city.

A new defense line was reported under construction on the southern bank of the Huai River, athwart the approaches to the lower Yangtze valley and 100 miles northwest of Nanking.

The line is anchored to Pengpu, on the rail line midway between Nanking and Suchow, and is being manned by the bulk of some 85,000 troops in the sixth and eighth army groups.

These groups are the last major Nationalist force standing between Communist armies and Nanking.

The governments 12th Army Group, of some 140,000 troops, was reported still tightly encircled by seven Red columns about 50 miles south of Suchow, in the Suhsien sector.

Three other Red columns were reported massed about 25 miles south of Suchow to block the southward movement of the Suchow garrison. The garrison, of some 250,000 men, was reported abandoning Suchow in an attempt to rescue the trapped 12th Army Group.

With the Nationalist armies thus separated in three pockets and threatened with destruction by numerically superior Red forces, Nanking circles found little comfort in the preparations being undertaken along the Yangtze River itself.

The Generalissimo's determination is not matched by that of many of his top officials in Nanking, reports from China indicated. Many observers express belief new demands will be made upon Chiang for a change of policy if the Reds threaten to cross the Yangtze.

Meanwhile, the Army Transport Republic sailed today from Shanghai with 489 Americans, leaving war-torn China for the United States.

Frost Carves His Initials On Wall In Hagerty Hall

By Pearl M. Hewlett

Robert Frost, the distinguished poet, industriously carved his initials on a wall of Hagerty Hall and mud-caked shoes and bruised shins were small fees to pay for them.

Oh yes, he DID carve his initials on the wall. If you don't believe it, go backstage in the auditorium and inspect the left exit. They're there. "RF" with "48" scratched under them.

Mr. Frost was more than a half hour late for his appearance Tuesday night. Hundreds of the popular poet's admirers stood hopefully in the halls and other luckier hundreds waited restlessly in their seats in the auditorium. Meantime, my friend and I were picking our way across the fenced-in excavations behind the auditorium.

There were mud puddles. And there was also a backstage door, theoretically boarded from the inside, but quite ready to open to a hearty pull.

Once backstage, we waited restlessly until Mr. Frost threaded his way through the crowd that had jammed the entrance. Escorted by Dr. Claude M. Simpson of the English department, Mr. Frost made his way to the stage and, there being no stairs, climbed upon the platform.

While he paced in the left exit waiting for the public address system to be hooked up, I introduced myself. He looked at me and said, "Hello. Do you know the janitor?"

For the first time in my life I wanted desperately to know the janitor. He was needed to get the microphone working, but he couldn't be found.

Surveying the smooth, undecorated wall he mused, "I guess I'll carve my initials here." Taking out his pen knife, he busily scratched them in the wall.

You may have your own hallowed opinions about Robert Frost. But from where I was standing, the white-haired poet in a tuxedo was a kindly gentleman who wore a battered grey felt hat with a red feather. He was a whimsical bard who told his audience, "I would as soon write free verse as play tennis with the net down," and a real personality who cut his initials in Hagerty Hall.

Starting Out Young . . .

Babies Born With Teeth; Doctor Not Surprised

Quite a few babies were born in University Hospital during the past six months. That's natural.

But three of them came equipped with teeth. That's somewhat unusual. The stork had already installed a lower front grinder in each of the three tiny mouths.

Calcium in the mothers' diets? No. "Growth stimulus" or "growth disturbance" causes such premature teeth, said Dr. Hamilton B. G. Robinson of the College of Dentistry. He added that it wasn't as rare an occurrence as most people think.

Today Dr. Robinson was to remove the tooth of the most recent baby, a girl. "It's loose and there is danger of her swallowing it," he explained.

The teeth of the other two babies have already been extracted. Sometimes the teeth can safely be left in, Dr. Robinson said.

'Strollaganza' Tryouts

Question Mark Replaces BMOC Miss(ing) April

LANTERN reporters today checked into the "mystery" of the missing April calendar girl in the current issue of BMOC. The magazine which traditionally publishes full-page calendar girls for the new year, printed nothing more than the calendar and a curvaceous question mark for April.

Richard K. Desmond, A-3, BMOC editor, said, "All that can be said is that April was present last year. The omission of April in the calendar girls was a result of a very late decision by non-faculty 'censors'."

"The staff promises that Miss(ing) April will appear in January in all her 'raining' glory—and that a more enlightening explanation for her disappearance will be published soon."

'Ohio State Day' Speakers Travel To Alumni Clubs

Ohio State is sending speakers to out-of-town Ohio State alumni clubs this week in connection with Ohio State Day, Thursday.

President Bevis made an Ohio State Day speech Tuesday at the Allen County Alumni Club in Lima. On behalf of that group, he presented a plaque to Ruth L. Klingler, Ed-4, as the outstanding Ohio State student from Allen County. Miss Klingler has a 3.41 cumulative.

Vice-President Harlan H. Hatcher is making an eastern tour of alumni clubs and will speak this week in Albany, Syracuse, and Buffalo. Coach Fesler will speak to the Akron group Thursday. A number of other faculty members will also make talks throughout the state.
