Security Council Gets Berlin Powder Keg

World Peace On Trial Before UN

PARIS, Sept. 30—(AP)—The United Nations Security Council on Monday takes up the most explosive issue of its three-year history—the Western charge that Russia threatens the peace of the world by her blockade of Berlin.

The Council announced today chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin will be in the chair as the president when the session opens in October. However, the U. S. delegation expects Austin to step down when the case comes up and surrender the chairmanship to Argentina, next in line for it.

If the Russians try to bar the Berlin case from the agenda, Austin is reported planning to remain as chairman until the procedural battle is over. Seven votes are required to approve admission of an item, and the Big-Power veto does not apply.

The Council's announcement came shortly after the East-West dispute on atomic controls went before the 58-nation Political Committee of the Assembly. Austin, in a speech to the committee, reaffirmed United States' readiness to submit its atomic energy production to international control.

Austin said it was Russia's fault that international control of atomic weapons never came into being. He urged Big-Power co-operation on the atom and reasserted American support of the much debated Baruch plan for controls.

Members of the winning dairy cattle team were Charles Burton, Louis Dietrich, and John Dietrich, with Nathan Sechheimer as alternate. Harold E. Kaeser of the department of dairy husbandry, coached the team.

On the dairy products judging team were William E. Shiffermiller, John N. Lewis, and Richard E. Lewis. Coach of the team is Walter L. Slatter of the department of dairy technology.

Audition Call Sounds At WOSU; Search For On-Off Campus Talent

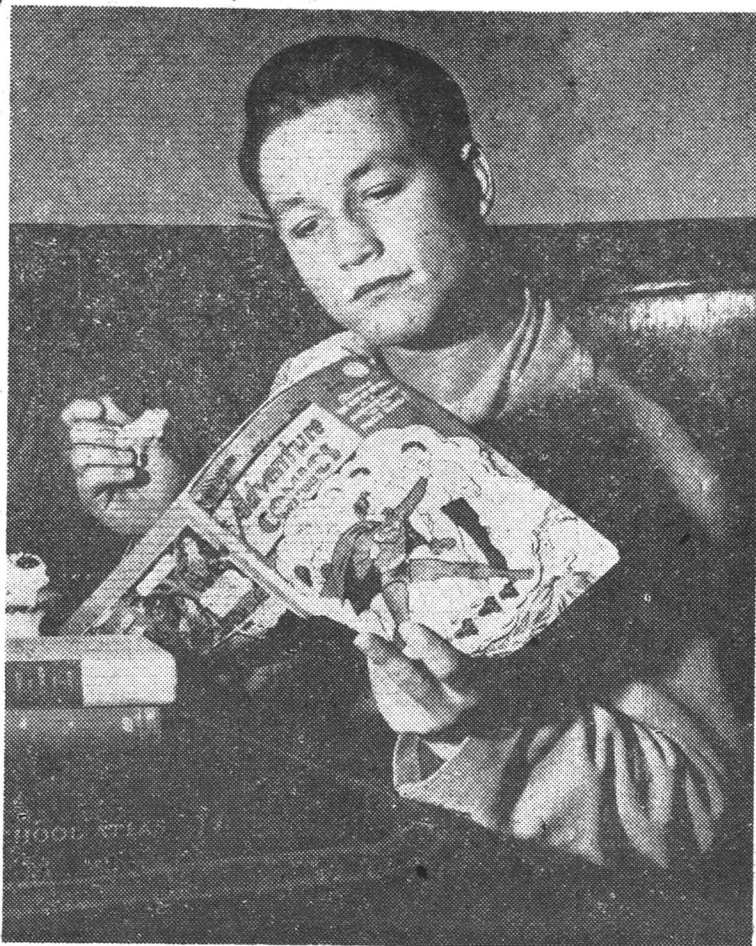

Do you get tired of being yourself? Can you be someone else? Can you sound like a rumpled dowager, an east side tough or even a penguin? Or can you even read—intelligently, that is?

WOSU auditions for radio actors are now in progress from 3 to 5 p. m. in Studio "A" of the station, in the Communications Building. Friday is your last chance.

Upperclassmen passing the auditions may receive college credits for their efforts. Freshmen and sophomores get the personal satisfaction of doing a job for their University as well as gaining invaluable experience. Who knows, you may be another Bob Hope or a Joan Davis.

Robert Norris, assistant program supervisor at WOSU, stressed the fact that participation in the station's broadcasting activities is not restricted to members of the student body. Faculty personnel and interested residents of the Columbus area are invited to attend the

Enrollment Of 23,383 Nears Last Year's Total

The business office announced today that 23,383 students were enrolled by 4 p. m. Wednesday.

This figure is below the enrollment at the same date last year, but is above the total enrollment of 23,000 predicted by University Registrar Ronald B. Thompson at the start of the quarter.

When making his prediction, Dr. Thompson explained the difficulty of making an early guess. The still climbing enrollment figure bears out Dr. Thompson's statement.

The 1948 Fall Quarter figure is only 812 less than last year's final total, and threatens to equal last year's mark of 24,195. Jacob B. Taylor, University business manager stated that the total quoted for Wednesday is still incomplete.

Pettegrew To Air Football Games On Ohio Network

C. W. (Wib) Pettegrew will give play-by-play descriptions of all Ohio State football games this fall for WOSU and an all-Ohio network of six to 11 stations.

This year will mark Pettegrew's thirteenth season of football broadcasting.

Working with Pettegrew for the first time will be Joe Olson, managing editor of the Ohio State Monthly, who will give the pregame and half-time color.

Fair Weather For Tomorrow

The sun may be shining now, but don't let it fool you. The weatherman says that there will be a few scattered showers today, so you'd better drag your raincoat along to classes.

Friday, however, the outlook is more cheerful, with fair weather and little change in temperature predicted.

Parking Is Still Campus Headache

1,500 Tickets Already Issued; Student Parking Areas Are Announced

Numerous parking violation tickets were decorating student's autos again today as campus police continued their quarterly reminder of where and how to park. To date approximately 1,500 pink slips have been placed under windshield wipers.

One of the most abundant areas was in the Stadium Dormitory's west-side parking lot where students were ignoring parking lines and violating regulations to place their cars somewhere near their living quarters. The lot has been jammed since school opened, Lowell A. Wrigley, superintendent, said.

Special parking permits will be issued if a check currently being made revealed that not all of the cars belonged to students in the dorms, he explained.

Wrigley said he thought the situation would probably be eased by next week, because new students would be returning temporarily borrowed family cars.

Other campus parking lots were also jammed and students desiring to chance a ticket by parking illegally elsewhere.

Meanwhile, Service Director Paul H. Elleman clarified permissible parking areas to cut down on future ticket giving.

Sailing Club Launches Sloop Rigged Dinghy In Mirror Lake To Lure New Members

By Bernard Bigler

Now we have a three ocean navy. The latest addition was launched in Mirror Lake last night and stood out from the shore to await further action by the crew. No provision has yet been made for armaments, but who can tell what it may lead to.

Amid nervous shouts of "don't scrape the bottom," and "be careful you don't scuttle her," the Ohio State Sailing Club launched one of its two new sloop-rigged dinghies.

The launching opened the Sailing Club's fall drive for new members. The club was organized last fall by sail boat enthusiasts of the University to teach interested students to sail for their own enjoyment, and to put Ohio State in intercollegiate racing competition.

In the past year the thirty-odd members have entered several regattas, and one of the faculty advisors, Dr. Harry D. Spangenberg, Jr., placed in the national championship race for the Thistle Class.

During the summer, the club obtained two new boats, and established itself permanently at the Leather Lips Yacht Club at O'Shaunessy Dam. It entered two regattas during the summer and is planning a regatta for the week end of Oct. 2-3.

Commodore Warren Foster of the club has called the first fall meeting for 7 p. m., Thursday, Sept. 30, in room 105-A, Derby Hall. Dick Schluederberg, past commodore of the Club, and one of the better sailors in the Midwest, won the last regatta for Ohio State.

The club's immediate goal is to increase its membership, and try to get University subsidization so it can better represent the University in sectional and national sailing meets.

Hopes Of Buck Grid Win Dampened By Injuries

By Ben Sunbury

That old nightmare—the injury jinx—lingers with Wes Fesler's Bucks. It is here in even greater proportions since the Scarlet went through a heavy scrimmage in the rain Wednesday. Within two offensive plays against the JayVee's, two Buck starters were forced to the sidelines.

Alex Verdova, who had just been given the go ahead from the doctors after recovering from a groin injury, is now on the shelf with a "charley horse." End Tom Watson, in and out of practice all season with a bad knee, is out again after re-injuring his knee Wednesday.

Fesler has been forced to take a "wait and see Saturday" attitude when he ponders over the starting lineup. The situation is most critical at the wingback spot where Mike Cannavino has been declared definitely out and Verdova is again on the doubtful list.

This moves Halfbacks Bob Demmel and Dick Elwood up to relieve the injured wingbacks.

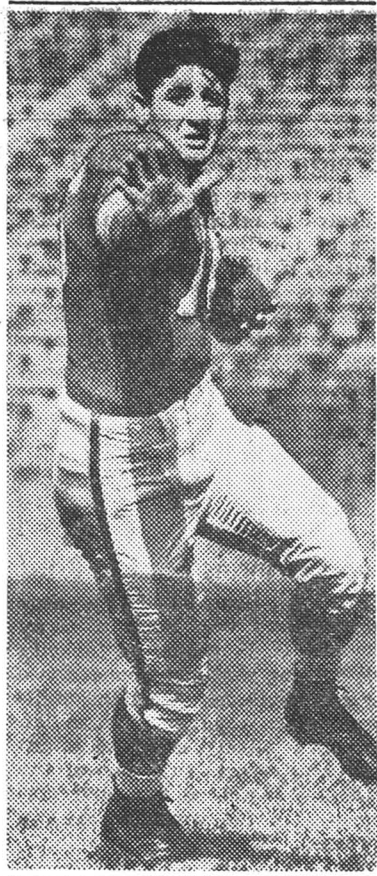

An important role will be that of Fullback Curley Morrison Saturday, if Joe Whisler has not fully recovered from his head injury by that time. Although Whisler's headaches have let up somewhat, he probably will not be ready to go all out, since he has missed too much practice through the week.

Rounding out the list of backfield injuries are Halfback Rodney Swinehart and Quarterback Pete Perini. Swinehart is still out with a foot injury and Perini has a bad ankle sprain. Swinehart can be considered out of the Southern Cal tilt, while Perini is termed "doubtful."

Tackle Jack Jennings was the only serious casualty from the Bucks' inner defense. Jennings suffered a bad elbow injury during the brief exchange with the JayVee's.

Buckeye Banter

By John Fisher

The first round of competition by Big Nine gridiron teams indicates that the pre-season forecasting was erroneous in more than one case.

Indiana, picked by most experts to occupy the Western Conference cellar, surprised everyone by whipping "dark-horse" Wisconsin 35-7. Defending champion Michigan was anything but impressive in beating Michigan State 13-7.

We can't help but feel that Purdue is the team to beat in the Big Nine race. Northwestern is another threat, but a rough schedule troubles the Wildcats.

Minnesota has been touted by many as the new champion. The Gophers, however, play seven games and we can't see how they can possibly win more than five of them. Lack of a strong passing attack should slow down the Minnesota offense and offset its fine defensive team.

Thus we feel that Purdue and Northwestern should be the top two teams, with Minnesota and Michigan trailing closely behind. After that, anything can happen among the other five clubs.

Red Sox, Yanks Must Win To Stay In Race

By Ralph Roden,
Associated Press Sports Writer

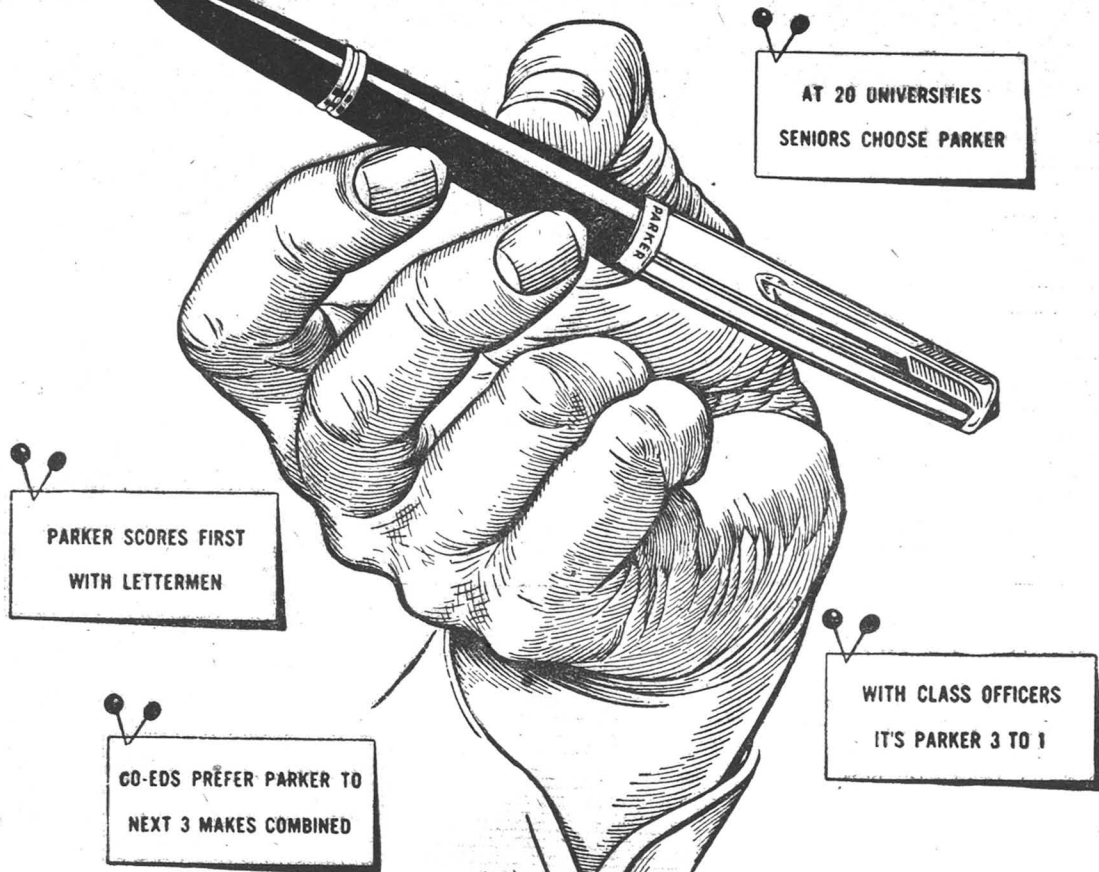

Victory is a must today for the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees. They have to win in order to keep alive their slim mathematical chances of overhauling the front-running Cleveland Indians in the American League pennant race.

The Indians, two games ahead of the Red Sox and Yanks, are idle today. New York and Boston defeats would assure the Tribe of no worse than a tie for the crown. Should both the Yanks and Red Sox bow the Indians can clinch their first flag since 1920 by beating the Detroit Tigers Friday.

Purdue-Northwestern Top Big Nine Contests

By Don Mathews

The Big Nine football spotlight turns this Saturday to Evanston, Ill., where the highly rated Purdue Boilermakers meet Northwestern. Coach Stu Holcomb's team lived up to pre-season predictions in last week's 28-27 loss to ever-powerful Notre Dame and definitely established its rating as one of the best in the conference.

The Wildcats, on the other hand, have been mentioned as a dark horse in the battle to represent the Western Conference in the Rose Bowl and a victory over the Boilermakers would be a big step toward such a goal. Coach Bob Voigts is trying to play down the 19-0 win over UCLA.

In another league tilt the Indiana Hoosiers, on the basis of their 35-7 trouncing of a supposedly strong Wisconsin eleven, should win handily over an Iowa team which had a narrow squeeze in a rough game with Marquette. The Hoosiers, with a bruising line and an outstanding back in George Taliaferro, could be a surprise in the Big Nine race.

The third conference battle takes place at Champaign, Ill., between the Badgers and the Illini. Despite last week's deflation, Wisconsin will still rate a very slight favorite against an Illinois squad which romped to a 40-0 victory in a breather against Kansas State.

While the injured Bucks are meeting Southern California, Michigan and Minnesota are also meeting non-conference opponents. If there is any improvement in West Coast football it will be shown at Ann Arbor where Oregon faces the defending Big Nine champs.

A former Ohio high-school coach, Jimmy Aiken, now in his second year at the helm at Oregon, has a team considered as a co-favorite with California for the West Coast title. The scare the Wolverines got from Michigan State Saturday should help deflate their ego just enough to put them in a good frame of mind for the contest. This makes another victory for the Big Nine seem likely.

The Minnesota Gophers meanwhile have what seems to be an easy opponent in the Nebraska Cornhuskers of the Big Six.

Campus Scene: Wider Streets, Painted Buildings

While thousands of Ohio State students vacationed during the Summer, the University moved a few steps nearer the "educational institution for an atomic age," visualized by its officials.

Campus drivers returned to find the traffic problem eased by a $22,000 street improvement program rapidly nearing completion.

Seventeenth Ave. between Sherman Ave. and N. High St. has been widened to a modern fender-saving distance and resurfaced. N. College Rd. has been extended to Woodruff Ave., adding a fifth and convenient entrance to the University.

Arps Hall professors now have parking space in front of the building and the traffic load on Neil Ave. has been lessened somewhat.

Fife Rd., located on the west side of the horse barns and handling considerable traffic off Lane Ave., has been resurfaced.

Stadium Dormitory car owners are no longer plagued by a narrow chuck-holed approach to their living quarters on the west side. The road there has been paved and parking space outlined. The area directly south of the Stadium also sports a new black-top.

Students were quick to notice that the University's annual maintenance program is going strong. Outside portions of University Hall and other buildings have been repainted. Hayes and Derby Hall are being repainted inside.

The Women's Field House is being reshingled. And numerous repairs to sewers and power lines have been made.

Fourteen hundred new seats were added to the Stadium seating capacity by filling in the aisles directly behind each portal on A deck. The official seating total, counting the south end bleachers, is 76,676.

Beneath the Stadium on the west side, preliminary preparations have begun on the new $20,000 indoor training center for football, baseball and track. A new fence with a removable canvas covering surrounds the football practice field.

These expenditures are small compared to the huge over-all modernization and expansion program. But all the changes were definitely needed and will contribute their share in Ohio State's push to the top.

Waugh's Grisly Satire Dissects Aloof Film Colony, Burial Rites

"The Loved One," by Evelyn Waugh. Little, Brown, New York.

Once upon a time, Evelyn Waugh, noted English satirist, visited Hollywood and therein had a nightmare. That nightmare is now retelling in book form as "The Loved One." The squeamish are advised to forego its grisly contents.

Mr. Joyboy, senior mortician, and Aimee Theanatongeos, his assistant, conduct their romance amid the embalming rooms of Whispering Glades, glorified Hollywood crematorium. The cadavers (a word forbidden at Whispering Glades, where all lifeless bodies are referred to as Loved Ones) register the course of their romance: when the lovers quarrel, the corpses wear reproachful expressions; when love is unhampered, the corpses wear the "radiant childhood smile," courtesy of Mr. Joyboy's handiwork.

The eternal triangle is not missing even in this unsprightly atmosphere. Dennis Barlow, a British poet employed in the neighboring funeral parlor for cats and dogs, The Happier Hunting Grounds, woos Aimee with the Oxford Book of English Verse.

Mr. Waugh dissects with razor-edged precision the noblesse oblige aloofness of the British film colony; the ruthless, perpetual Hollywood search for the "gimmick"; Americans' efforts to disguise death.

Waugh's satire is of a cold perfection and brilliance. He has no sympathy for the superficial, bewildered, misguided people in his book.

Many will consider "The Loved One," one of Evelyn Waugh's best bright novels; others will merely gasp at the bland presentation of its morbid contents.

The reader is left with the choice of being greatly amused or frankly appalled.—M.J.

Educator Says Graduate Schools Not Effective

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.—(IP)—"Graduate schools are doing practically nothing in the way of specifically training college teachers for classroom service," according to Dr. C. F. Marshall of the social science department of Southeast Missouri State Teachers College.

Dr. Marshall stated that the only preparation the prospective college teacher can get, is through a graduate teaching assistantship, but even in such a job he has to learn mostly through trial and error, as there is no formal supervision of his teaching.

At least one graduate school, however, he points out, has taken note of this situation. As a result of replies to some 400 inquiries sent college administrators, the University of Chicago recently called a conference on desirable curricular changes.

Dean Selected To Head School For Air Force

DAYTON—(IP)—The U. S. Air Force has selected Dr. William H. Crew, formerly assistant dean of students at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., to serve as dean of the College of Engineering Sciences at the new Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright Field.

Described as the Air Force's "new educational venture" and established as a part of the Air Materiel Command for the training of officers, the ultimate aim of the Air Force Institute of Technology is said to be to conduct its instruction beyond the undergraduate level.

It has been located at the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base of the Air Materiel Command.

"...seems like yesterday

In the Telephone business ...for 21 years!

"It may seem like a long time to you . . . but to me it's just like yesterday that I started.

"Guess that's because it's always been interesting . . . always so many phases of the business to learn . . . always something different and vital to do.

"Right now I'm one of 125,000 men and women who have been in telephony for 21 years or more. They call us the 'Telephone Pioneers of America.'

"I've seen the telephone industry come a long way—improving methods, developing new means of communications, constantly growing. But in many fields we've hardly scratched the surface; we're still pioneering. The future is full of challenges, and opportunities!"

Vets Still Able To Reinstate Lapsed Policies

World War II veterans, who can still pass a physical examination, still may reinstate their National Service Life Insurance, Veterans Administration branch officials in Columbus explained today.

The deadline for reinstating NSLI without a physical examination was July 31, 1948, VA explained. Prior to the deadline, a veteran could reinstate lapsed insurance by certifying that his health was as good as it was when the policy lapsed. If the policy has lapsed less than three months, it still may be reinstated without taking a physical examination.

Fire Prevention Confab Starts In U. Hall Today

The Governor's second annual Fire Safety Conference convened in University Hall at 9:30 a. m. today.

Invitations were extended by Governor Herbert to some 3,000 fire chiefs, mayors, business men, labor leaders, officials of organizations of veterans, farmers, Boy Scouts, Chambers of Commerce and other public service groups.

The Ohio Fire Safety Committee is the direct result of President Truman's appeal to the various states to create fire prevention organizations, to arouse citizens to the eternal presence of fire hazards and mobilize action to combat them.

Unusual Trio Join Forces

New Educational Plan Aids Labor, Management

The University has joined forces with a labor union, and an industrial firm in a new educational plan designed to tell the inside story of labor-management relationships to Commerce College students.

Co-operating with the University in developing the training program are Akron's Local 3158 of the United Steel Workers of America, and the McNeil Machine & Engineering Co. of Akron.

Under the new plan, Prof. H. H. Maynard, chairman of the business organization department, will select a student of personnel work each month to observe an entire day's operations of the Akron firm's personnel department.

Officials of the College of Commerce believe the training will help prepare men and women for positions of responsibility in either labor unions or in company industrial relations departments. They term the program "experimental."

All University chess players are invited to a tournament being held at 7 p. m. Tuesday in Room 11, Ohio Union, to determine who will win a free trip to a Chicago match.

Knee Injury Prevents Cicylest's Assault On Cross-Country Record

A torn cartilage in the right knee prevented Eugene V. McPherson, A-3, from possibly setting a new cross-country bicycle speed record.

A finalist in Olympic tryouts, McPherson planned to try to break the 27 days Los Angeles to New York record during the September vacation. "I was going to try to make it in 20 days," the disappointed cyclist said. "I had everything ready: cross-country traffic clearance, AP news coverage, and sanction of the Bicycle League of America."

But two days before his departure for the coast by train, McPherson was injured in a fall.

Barring ill luck, however, the undaunted McPherson will try again next September.

Of Mares And Money . . .

Hospital Price Tag Shows Building Costs Increase

Eight million dollars is a lot of money even in these days of inflation, but like the old gray mare, it "ain't what it used to be . . . many long years ago."

To appreciate the value of the American dollar today, one need only look at the estimated cost of the new hospital being built on the southern edge of the campus. The cost—eight million of those shiny, crisp one-buck silver certificates.

What would a similar outlay of moola have purchased in the "good old days"? To find out, it is merely necessary to look at the cost of 62 other buildings and additions erected on the campus by the end of 1925.

That $8,000,000 would have paid for the Main Library, Pomerene Hall, Starling-Loving Hospital, Administration Building, Engineering Experiment Station, Chemistry Building, Brown Hall, Ohio Union, Archaeological Museum, President's Residence, Journalism Building, and 50 other structures—ivy and all.

The cost of the Recitation Building would have paid for Orton Hall, Ohio Union, Pomerene Hall, Main Library, and Brown Hall — with more than $40,000 left over for "no parking" signs.

Just to play around with a few more millions of dollars, the planned $2,500,000 addition to the Main Library will cost more than eight times more than the original building.

Time marches on, the University grows bigger and bigger, and the dollar buys less and less. If the trend continues, Ohio State may have a billion dollar campus — without even trying.

Ex-GIs Urged To Notify VA Of New Status

Student veterans whose dependency status changed during the Summer vacation are reminded by Veterans Administration to submit proof of additional dependency as soon as possible to the appropriate VA regional office in which their records are filed.

Veterans with dependents, who are studying full or part-time in schools and colleges under the GI Bill, are eligible for additional subsistence payments because of the dependents.

However, legal proof, such as certified copies of public records of birth, baptism, marriage, divorce or other evidence, must be in their VA training file in order to qualify.
