Hoover Hits Warren Report On FBI Role

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Daily News yesterday said FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has accused the Warren Commission of an unfair report on the FBI.

The News said Hoover was particularly angered by a portion of the commission's report on President Kennedy's assassination in which the FBI was reported as failing to notify the Secret Service that Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, was in Dallas.

"It is a classic example of Monday morning quarterbacking," Hoover was quoted as saying.

In a Washington dispatch, the News said Hoover described as "entirely unwarranted and untrue" a

Carlson Execution Delayed

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—The execution of Paul Carlson, U.S. medical missionary, has been postponed until Monday pending further negotiations with the United States, rebel leader Christophe Gbenye announced in Stanleyville.

A broadcast from the left-rebel city in the North-east Congo said that meanwhile it was up to Washington to find a suitable basis for negotiations over the 60 Americans in rebel hands.

The doctor, 36, from Rolling Hills, Calif., was due to die last Monday for spying, a charge vehemently denied by the United States.

Kenyatta Helps

Gbenye addressed his message to Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, who on Tuesday at the request of the United States, urged Gbenye to spare Carlson for humanitarian reasons. Kenyatta is chairman of a special commission set up by the Organization of African Unity to try to end the civil conflict in the Congo.

Gbenye said that in view of Kenyatta's message, Carlson's execution had been postponed.

President Maurice Yameogo of Upper Volta added his voice to the appeal for mercy for Carlson. His office sent a message to Kenyatta saying Carlson was a civilian who had rendered important service in caring for sick Congolese. It said his execution would only complicate a settlement of the Congo problem.

Lovenstein Discusses Pope John's Encyclicals

Dr. Meno Lovenstein

Dr. Meno Lovenstein, professor of Economics, presented "A non-Catholic Viewpoint on Pope John's Encyclicals" at Newman Hall last night.

Lovenstein expressed deep affection and respect for the spirit of Pope John XXIII and for the two encyclicals written by the Pope.

He said it was wrong to read the encyclicals individually. One should go back through the years and read other expressions which came out of the papacy.

"You cannot see the intense debate or the vitality of the debate by reading only a few," he said, adding that one must consider the trends of encyclicals down through the years.

He raised a question about the clarity of the analysis of private property and adequacy of the definition of the social philosophies which these encyclicals contained.

A fault of the pronouncements, he said, is that they have tended to lag behind political and social developments.

Lovenstein said that when Pope John's pronouncements were made, the stimulant to conscious and high moral life invigorated not only Catholicism, but also the spiritual life of those who belonged to all other religions.

"Pope John's own spirit is bigger than anything he had ever written down," Lovenstein said.

Delta Gamma Janet Reisland helps blind student Jim Tobin with his homework in a typical study session.

Blind Student Helped By Eyes of Sorority

By SUE TRAUSSCH

Many students with 20-20 vision never get a 3.6 point hour. Jim Tobin did it last spring, and he's been blind since birth.

"What else could I do with 100 girls helping me," Tobin said.

His study partners are the members of the Delta Gamma sorority. Roberta Richards, chairman of the project, explained that a girl reads class notes and books to him Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and evenings and on Saturday mornings.

"I have to listen to notes about three or four times before I remember them," Tobin said.

Tobin's major is animal science, and he hopes to go into genetics. This quarter his courses include Biology 509, English 510, Animal Science 502, and Chemistry 647, a total of 18 hours.

Tobin's overall average is 2.71.

Having five per cent of normal vision in his left eye, he said he takes his own notes in every class except chemistry. "I can't read the formulas on the board," he said. He can see well enough to walk to classes by himself.

Members of Delta Gamma whose charity project is helping the blind have been reading to Tobin since he was a freshman. An instructor in the department of education for the handicapped directed him to Delta Gamma when he asked for study help two years ago.

Rhodes Says Agriculture May Solve Unemployment

By MARY LARKIN

The creation of new jobs through expanded agricultural industry may solve the unemployment issue in Ohio, Governor James A. Rhodes said last night.

Speaking before the first annual Grand Champion Steer Banquet, Rhodes told over 200 agricultural experts that Ohio could easily become the food processing center of the world in the next ten years.

"Right now there are nine different corporations wanting to move into Ohio to process food," Rhodes said.

"Ohio has the richest fields in the nation and over 70 per cent of the population lies within reach of Ohio making it possible for these firms to compete without paying high shipping costs."

Mean Jobs

Rhodes said the production and sales of Ohio canned products means more jobs for Ohio citizens.

"We are going to promote, project and organize. There's no reason why every citizen of Ohio can't participate in the full economic growth of this state," he said.

Rhodes said that Ohio presently lacks agricultural research and development centers. He named the Ohio Experimental Station as one of the finest in the nation, but added that Ohio needs at least two or three more such centers.

"At the present time, there are 52 counties in Ohio that you can't get a two-engine airplane into," Rhodes said. "We are going to put an airport in every county in Ohio. The only way to get industry is to compete," he said.

WSGA Divides Action On Coed 'Night Problem'

The solution to the coed "night problem" was divided into two areas by the Women's Self-Government Association last night.

Loren Keith, chairman of the "night problem" committee, said WSGA would be working through personal contact and on general conditions.

Mrs. Jean Bray, Columbus policewoman, was invited to speak on "It Could Happen to You" on Dec. 2.

"We hope to make pamphlets available to all women students on methods of protecting oneself," Miss Keith said.

A proposal was made to establish a committee composed of all interested organizations.

CSA Doesn't Want Student Court; New Program Outlined

By RICHARD STELLING

The Council on Student Affairs apparently isn't going to buy the proposal shifting authority for the Student Court to CSA from the Student Senate.

An entirely new proposal suggesting the formation of a commission whose sole function would be to administer the court was heard at last night's CSA meeting.

This new body would be composed of members of the Student Senate, Women's Self-Government Association and the Council of Graduate Students. The number from each has not yet been worked out.

Favorable Reaction

Initial reaction to this proposal was generally favorable by CSA members, although many of the details are yet to be worked out.

CSA is expected to discuss the practicality of forming a new body at its next meeting in two weeks.

Student Body Vice President Samuel McGavran said last night: "Half (the representatives) would have to be Senate members in order for me to accept it."

McGavran has been the most outspoken senator against removing authority from Student Senate.

Bomb Injures 18 Americans In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP)—A Communist terrorist bomb, planted in what was supposed to be a military security area at Saigon Airport, exploded yesterday wounding 18 Americans and several Viet-four U.S. servicemen and Tight security was in force at the airport after a Viet Cong mortar attack on the supposedly militarily secure air base at Biet Hoa, 15 miles northeast of Saigon on Nov. 1. That attack from inside the security zone killed four U.S. servicemen and destroyed or damaged 27 U.S. combat planes.

"New Airports Needed"

"At the present time, there are 52 counties in Ohio that you can't get a two-engine airplane into," Rhodes said. "We are going to put an airport in every county in Ohio. The only way to get industry is to compete," he said.

Rhodes said that Ohio presently lacks agricultural research and development centers. He named the Ohio Experimental Station as one of the finest in the nation, but added that Ohio needs at least two or three more such centers.

Stresses Change

Editor Zaiden Speaks

The importance of the "why" over the "how" in news presentation was stressed yesterday in a talk by Abe Zaiden, editor of The Commentator.

His talk, "The Press — What Every Good Reader Should Know," in the Law Auditorium, was sponsored by the Student Senate.

"The press should pre-condition people for social change," he said. "This sometimes means printing things people don't like to hear, but then is the press going to be a leader or a follower of public opinion?"

Changes Mentioned

Some "changes" Zaiden mentioned specifically were metropolitan government eventually replacing county officials, public education geared to the individual student, and complete integration.

"The complexion of society is changing," Zaiden said. "The question of civil rights is no longer whether we like it, but how we are going to live with it."

According to Zaiden, the day of the titillating, puffy feature that says nothing is over.

McGavran also said he would favor some system by which graduate students would be brought back to the fold of Student Senate.

Controversy

Much controversy has been raging over the question of transferring authority since it was proposed in a report to CSA two weeks ago. The report examined the whole Student Judicial System, making recommendations for changes.

Opponents of the change felt that it would centralize student executive, judicial and legislative functions under CSA.

Proponents argue that CSA control would be more representative since CSA has representatives from the Graduate School and Student Senate does not.

A Compromise?

The new proposal appears to be an attempt to find a compromise. It would represent the three major student governing bodies on campus and be an all-student organization.

The positions of student prosecutor and defender would be retained under the new system, with the commission making the selections.

Pentagon Closes 95 More Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon will disclose today 95 more military bases which will be closed down. Included will be the long-awaited selection of some big shipyards to be eliminated.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told a news conference yesterday the bases, Army and Air Force as well as Navy shipyards, will be closed gradually over a period of years, as were 574 others ordered reduced or eliminated since 1961.

McNamara said they can all be eliminated "without in any way reducing our military strength or combat readiness." His words obviously were couched to forestall expected protests, especially in the case of the shipyards.

33 States Affected

The defense chief would not identify the bases before today. He said he wanted to allow time for notifying "those who should receive" the information, including members of Congress in the 33 states affected.

McNamara provided figures, however, which indicate the closings will include some of the largest bases shut down so far. He estimated the total savings at $500 million a year and said this would bring the figure for all bases closed since 1961 to over $1 billion saved annually.

The Secretary said 63,000 job positions, both military and civilian, will be wiped out by the new closings. This approaches the 85,834 job positions affected by the 574 previous bases shut-downs.

Author of 'None Dare' Is Coming

The Conservative Club plans to invite John Stormer, author of "None Dare Call It Treason," to speak on campus sometime in January.

According to James P. Takas, president, the club will ask Mr. Stormer to present an edition of his book to the Ohio Union.

The book, in paperback form, previously had been placed in the Union browsing library by the club, but was removed by Union directors on October 26.

Teamwork Is Key Word To Linebacker Success

Woody Hayes says that Tom Bugel and Dwight Kelley make up the best set of linebackers that he has had in his 14 years as head coach at Ohio State.

Teamwork is a key word to their success. In the Wisconsin game, for instance, the two combined to set up an Ohio State touchdown. With the Badgers deep in their own territory, Bugel shot the gap on fourth down to block a punt. Kelley recovered the loose ball on the 11.

The two were asked if they considered themselves a separate unit, apart from the rest of the defense. "No", they responded together. "The whole defense is the unit. We're just a part of that." And Kelly added, "The defensive plays are set, and we both do our jobs."

Standout Games

Both men have had particular standout games over the season. Kelley's came against Illinois, where his performance earned him United Press International's Lineman of the Week award.

Bugel got his moment in the spotlight in the Wisconsin game, after which he was named UPI's Midwestern Lineman of the Week.

Kelley, "Ike" as he is mostly known, played his high school ball at Bremen High School, where he earned all-state honors. He was also state champion in the shot-put, and runner-up in the discus.

Ike was offered over twenty college scholarships. To Woody's pleasure he chose Ohio State, logging 346 minutes last year as a sophomore. This year, after eight games, he has totaled 218½ minutes, the reduction due to the advent of the platoon system. Like Bugel, Ike is a marketing major, in the College of Commerce.

Converted Wingback

Bugel, who calls the Bucks' defensive signals, was converted to linebacker, after playing wingback in high school in Pittsburgh, Pa. He was selected to the All-Western Pennsylvania team in his senior year. This year, as a junior, he has seen 196½ minutes of playing time.

Both are looking forward to getting their hands on Michigan's highly-touted quarterback, Bob Timberlake, in the season's showdown game, this Saturday.

Ike Kelley

Tom Bugel

The two Buckeyes seem to form a mutual admiration society different than most. "Bugel's the best man out there," Kelley said. "No, Kelley is," Bugel countered.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY'S EXPERIMENTAL GAS TURBINE SUPERHIGHWAY TRUCK ANTICIPATES THE NATIONAL HIGHWAY NETWORK OF THE 1970's.

A new era in trucking is almost here. When the 41,000-mile national highway network is completed it will be possible for the first time to schedule coast to coast, big payload hauling. Ford Motor Company's answer to the challenge is this experimental tractor-trailer combination. A tandem axle drive tractor, powered by a 600 hp gas turbine engine permits a cruising speed of 70 miles per hour, a non-stop range of 600 miles. Designed for long-distance, non-stop operation, the two-man cab includes sleeping facilities, fold-away table, lavatory, toilet, oven, refrigerator and TV for the co-driver—with over 6'3" of headroom. Because of its cruising speed, the truck will be compatible with the normal passenger car flowrate of traffic. Other unique features are its odorless exhaust and extremely quiet operation.

Anticipating the opportunities and needs of the future is standard practice at Ford Motor Company. That's why it's such an exciting place to work. Look to Ford Motor Company for a career with growth potential and satisfaction—from pure science to manufacturing . . . marketing to labor relations.

Watching and listening to a lecture on burns in the Aptodidactic Laboratory is medical student Lana Mallo. The tape on top of the machine plays the lecture through her earphones and automatically changes lecture slides projected on the machine's front screen.

Self-Help Machines Aid Medical Students

By DAVE JONES

The Ohio State College of Medicine has a new laboratory that teaches, not only that, it telescopes time.

John Bybee, the laboratory's creator, says it is designed to help students obtain information that is not usually available to them, or which could only be gained through years of clinical experience.

Bybee has tagged his creation an "auto-didactic" or "self-learning" laboratory. He says the project is the only one of its kind in use in any medical school in the country.

"Portable TV's" At the heart of the auto-didactic laboratory, still in the developmental stages, are four small blue machines that resemble portable television sets.

The student places a tape on a playback mechanism on top of the machine and puts a set of slides in the machine's side.

He turns on a switch and listens to a recorded lecture through earphones while he watches duplicates, of slides originally shown at the lecture, on a screen in front of the machine. The slides change automatically as the lecture progresses.

Lectures Recorded

All major lectures given at the medical college are recorded for use in the laboratory. Closed circuit radio lectures are also recorded on tape for medical students' use. The laboratory, started last November, now has a library of over one hundred tapes.

The laboratory, according to Dr. Bybee, fills a vital need in the medical student's education.

"Medical classes average 150 students," Dr. Bybee says. "These are so large that instructors cannot counsel all students who need help. The laboratory offers a chance for self help to these students. They can hear as much information in an hour as they could find in a week of library research."

Machine Plays Heartbeats Students also have access to a machine that plays heartbeats recorded through a stethoscope. By using this machine, students can quickly gain a proficiency at diagnosing heart ailments that could previously be gained only through years of clinical practice.

Bybee sees a bright future for the laboratory, which has already built up a number of regular medical school users.

"When the new medical center is built," he says, "we hope to have a new laboratory containing 20 to 25 machines."

The laboratory is financed with the aid of grants from the American Heart Association and the National Institute of Health.

Club Out to Win Bets

By SALLY ACREE

Jerome Cabnet, Temple University student, may soon have a theme song: "Double your pleasure, double your fun, double your money and join the double-good twin double club."

Cabnet feels that a multi-wagering system may eventually beat the twin double, a horse race bet in which the winning ticket bears the names of the winners in four consecutive races.

Cabnet will hold monthly club meetings during which members will give suggestions on how to improve their chances of hitting the twin double.

Fast for Freedom
Collegiate Press Service reports that President Johnson has given his endorsement to the Thanksgiving Fast for Freedom, in which students on over 150 American college campuses will participate today.

The fast, which is sponsored by the United States National Student Association, the Northern Student Movement and the United States Youth Council, is designed to raise money to aid underprivileged Negroes in the South.

Students will not eat one meal today, and the money saved will be used to buy food.

Flying Feathers

With heads ducking, pillows swinging, and feathers flying, more than 300 students "fought it out" on the lawn of a men's dorm at Colorado State University. The pillow fight originally started among residents of the dorm and quickly spread to other dorms. After the lawn was completely covered with feathers, Edwin Trebbe, head of one of the dorms, locked the boys in their rooms. Later in the evening, Trebbe was hanged in effigy.

Dance Attracts Interest

Purdue's newspaper, The Purdue Exponent, reports that an IBM dance being sponsored by the Junior Class Council, has "become an object of national interest, as ABC and CBS television networks complete plans to film the dance and other preliminary activities for a nation-wide broadcast."

Hal Fisher, field producer for CBS television, said, "You people are computer-oriented. Your whole life is controlled by a machine; it selects your academic schedule, figures out your grades, even matches rushes and sororities in formal rush."

Fisher said CBS is interested in getting films of student reactions when they meet the date the computer has selected.

Tardy Coed Fills Front Row Nicely

A shapely coed rushed in late for class one day last week. Huffing and puffing, she sat down in her seat in the front row.

Overheard in the hallowed halls of Ohio State: "Now class, when I assign a theme on natural bodies, I don't mean the HUMAN body."

Plea for Matrimony

Students have been known to plead for many things: grades, money, old final examinations—even dates. Then there was the frustrated male who tried to run an ad in the Lantern pleading for someone to be his wife.

Intellectual Indigestion

A coed was sitting in class eating her lunch, taking notes, and occasionally adding comments to the discussion.

The teacher asserted that she was feeding her stomach and brain at the same time—and getting indigestion from both!

Joshings

A coed is like a candy bar—half sweetness, half nuts.

The reason why God didn't create woman first, is because He didn't need any advice on how to create man.

CREEPING...

Whole pages have been given to the editorial page throughout the quarter, with one exception. The exception will become the rule, however, for two days.

Today we yield to news. Creeping factualism.

Tomorrow, we will give in to football previews, Creeping pigskinism.

But, the real cause behind this newsman's dilemma may be advertising. Creeping capitalism.

Chuck says
he paid 300 bucks

You really know how to hurt a guy

"Chuck's a swinger," says she. "His Coronet is quick and clean, with a lean and hungry look. It's equipped with a 426 cubic inch mill that will mock your turtle at the strip or on the street. He's got four-on-the-floor, buckets, belts, carpets, console, spinners, and a padded dash. And he said that everything but the four-speed stick and the 426 was standard." Then she broke his back by asking, "Didn't you pay extra for some of that jazz?"

Don't let the truth hurt you. Better see the all-new, hot new Dodge Coronet before you buy a (cuckoo), a (cuckoo-cuckoo), or even a (cuckoo-cuckoo-cuckoo).

How to enjoy two Londons on one visit

Lively London offers you new sounds, new sights and new ideas. Traditional London still abounds with treasures.

IN LIVELY London, bright new things are happening. Writers and painters are turning out important new work (you can mix with them in their favorite haunts for the price of a coffee or a beer). Sounds of a kind you've never heard come beating out of jazz clubs. (Membership starts as low as 70¢.) The theatre and ballet are full of vitality (theatre seats start at 70¢). Two weeks' membership in a nightclub with a famous satirical floor show will cost you only $1.50.

The other London is still there, taking no notice. Westminster Abbey, the Houses of Parliament, the Tower of London, Changing the Guard at Buckingham Palace. The splendid museums, the great art galleries. You can enjoy most of this London absolutely free.

Want to Be a Corporation President Someday?

A new booklet, published by a non-profit educational foundation, tells how the chief executive officers of many large corporations got their start. Regular price, 25¢. Sent free to college students.

A survey by a Chicago consulting firm shows that men whose major experience has been in marketing are most likely to climb to the top of the corporate ladder. "Marketing" includes all forms of selling a company's products or services. Said an official of U.S. Steel: "I would rather own a market than a mill." Here are a few of the thousands of presidents who started as salesmen:

RAY EPPERT, President Burroughs Corporation
 LEWIS GRUBER, President P. Lorillard Company
 FRANK R. ARMOUR, JR., Pres. H. J. Heinz Company
 ROY J. SUND, President American Can Company
 COURTLAND S. GROSS, Pres. Lockheed Aircraft Corporation
 J. WARD KEENER, President B. F. Goodrich Company

Write today for the booklet that tells which career field produces more top corporation presidents than any other — which career field offers 100,000 new openings every year — what starting salary you can expect. Just send this ad with your name and address and the fact-filled, 24-page booklet, "Opportunities in Selling," will be mailed to you without cost or obligation. This booklet was paid for by a non-profit educational foundation as a service to college students and guidance counselors. Send for your free copy now. Address: Council on Opportunities, 550 Fifth Avenue, New York 36, N. Y., OSU-11-16.

6 H.M.S. Pinafore Sails Full Speed at Mershon

"H.M.S. Pinafore" provided a pleasant voyage for the audience at Mershon last night.

The Gilbert and Sullivan light opera was first performed several decades ago, and at this date parts of the Pinafore are understandably rusty.

But Gilbert and Sullivan devotees hardly noticed, and Tyrone Guthrie's stylish production kept the appreciation of even the uninitiated afloat.

There is unashamed naivete in W. S. Gilbert's book and lyrics, and the music, by Arthur Sullivan, is warmly melodious. It is perhaps especially pleasing to ears over-used to some of the strident compositions of modern musical comedy.

The Stratford Festival Company performs with exuberance and polish, right down to the last sailor.

Stephanie Augustine, William Greene, Grahame Laver and Irene Byatt are adroitly cast in leading roles.

Much of the credit for the success of this production is due to Sir Tyrone Guthrie, the director. Guthrie's work is brightly inventive and keeps the production sailing.

Ecumenical Council Prepares For Religious Freedom Vote

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council will vote in the next two days on two of its most controversial issues—Jews and religious liberty.

The 2,000 prelates were given a revised declaration on Jews at their meeting in St. Peter's Basilica yesterday and told it would be put to a vote Friday.

The council was told that "certain council fathers" petitioned for extra time to study and reflect on the religious liberty declaration. The declaration upholds man's freedom of conscience in following a religion and says that practice of religion should be free from unnecessary state interference.

The document on the Jews, now entitled "On the Relation of the Roman Catholic Church to Non-Christian Religions," contains statements demanded by U.S. bishops and others early in the session that the Jewish people must never be considered cursed or be given special blame for the crucifixion.

The declarations have not been previously through any voting. First voting invariably produces qualified votes in which some prelates suggest further amendments, which a commission must then work into the document or reject.

The declaration on Jews specifically says, according to a summary released today: "The Jewish people should never be presented as ones rejected, cursed or guilty of deicide. What happened to Christ in his passion cannot be attributed to the whole people then alive, much less to that (people) of today."

Many progressive prelates reportedly would like to see at least the first vote taken before the recess Saturday. Even if this vote results in qualified approval, it would mean the document could be redrafted during the recess and be ready for a final vote at the next session.

Docs Ask: Hold Medicare Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized physicians of the nation's capital yesterday urged the American Medical Association to modify its opposition to proposed federal health care for the aged under a tax-supported program.

The medical society of the District of Columbia, whose members are all members of the AMA, called on the national organization to ask Congress to develop "a realistic senior citizens' health care program," patterned on the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program already in existence.

versity of Dayton, 1,269-1,202.

Editor Tells Of Changes

"We must let the public know the facts and why and how these facts affect the public," he said.

"Today, with broadcast competition," he asked, "is the role of the press to inform or to entertain?"

"Papers are trying to meet the challenge by increasing entertainment sections when they should be giving more depth to news presentation.

"Broadcast media, in turn, have been making more and more serious news presentations which have profound effects on the viewers."

Zaiden had several suggestions for newspaper improvement: "Get rid of needless details—concentrate more on the 'why.' The press must have trained reporters and it must reach outside its ranks to get articles from clergymen, educators, and the press must also demand more specialized reporters."

City Gets New Look

Take a good look at Columbus, for it is changing quickly.

Progress was convincingly illustrated this week.

Today, a series of ribbon-cutting ceremonies were slated along a 79-mile strip of Interstate 71 from Columbus to Cincinnati.

Yesterday morning, the final section of the Columbus Innerbelt was opened.

Monday, a different kind of traffic problem was alleviated when the $6.6 million, 1,205-car parking garage under the statehouse was opened.

Although only 630 persons used the garage during its first day of operation, about 2,000 to 2,500 are expected to utilize the three-level structure once a normal operating level is reached.

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner's $24.2 million budget for 1965 proposes even more local facelifting.

The proposed budget, which would be about $1 million more than the 1964 estimate, includes $29,000 for increasing park maintenance, $18,000 for hiring of more city planners, $15,000 for repair of Columbus Zoo buildings and $12,000 to expand sidewalk inspection to contribute to sidewalk repair.

Taking another ho-hum vacation because you think traveling is expensive?

Cut it out.

Belafonte sings what every man feels

In his latest album, "Ballads, Blues and Boosters," Belafonte brings to mind the words of an old spiritual, "...sometimes I'm up, sometimes I'm down..." With a wide variety of songs, he expresses the moods that every man (and woman) experiences at one time or another. Boosters like "Tone the Bell Easy" and "Back of the Bus," find Belafonte in a satisfied and expansive mood while blues such as "Blue Willow Moan" are for everyone who has ever known trouble. And, of course, ballads like "Four Strong Winds" find Harry right at home in his musical element. A dynamic performance in Dynagroove sound!
