Fraternity Point-Hours Announced

Delta Sigma Pi Led
Greeks In Fall Quarter
With 2.674 Average

Top honors for fraternity scholarship during the Autumn Quarter were taken by Delta Sigma Pi with a chapter point-hour average of 2.674, the dean of men's office announced today. Alpha Zeta ranked second with 2.67, and Alpha Gamma Sigma was third with 2.6. All three chapters have a membership below 50.

Zeta Beta Tau with 2.48 led the chapters having more than 100 members. Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta followed with ratios of 2.397 and 2.380, respectively. Zeta Beta Tau is the only chapter in the second group with a ratio higher than the all-men's average of 2.4.

In five places on the dean of men's rating list, the pledges surpassed the actives of their chapters. They are the pledges of Alpha Gamma Rho, Phi Sigma Kappa, Sigma Pi, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Theta Tau.

The other chapters of the 10 highest in order of rank are Delta Theta Sigma, Phi Sigma Delta, Zeta Beta Tau, Tau Epsilon Phi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Rho Chi, and Alpha Epsilon Pi.

The fraternity at the bottom of the list has a chapter average of 2.034. The fraternity men's (active) average is 2.384.

Alpha Zeta, Delta Sigma Pi, and Alpha Gamma Sigma hold the top three places in the three-quarter average.

New Fraternity To Issue History Of Functions

Lambda Alpha Gamma, interracial fraternity recently recognized on campus, plans to publish the organization's history explaining its purpose, functions, and structure.

Donald E. LaRue, Ed-4, president, said today that the fraternity is open to any male student, regardless of race, color, or creed. "We believe, as Gertrude Stein so ably put it, that if he is a good guy, he's a good guy," LaRue said.

The fraternity received recognition on November 21, 1947. The present membership includes 12 charter members and 12 pledges. Meetings are held Monday evenings in the First Unitarian Church, 175 W. Eleventh Avenue.

Four Students To Be In Play

Four Ohio State students will appear in the forthcoming Winter production of the Worthington Players Club. Also appearing in the cast is Prof. Robert O. Chadeayne, School of Fine Arts. The play, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," will be presented in the Worthington school auditorium Friday and Saturday.

The students appearing in the cast are James A. Grissinger, A-4, Fredricka Brake, Ed-1, Harold J. Daumler Jr., Eng-2, and Patricia Ann Leady, Dent-1.

'Negro' To Be Panel Topic

"The Negro and American Democracy" will be discussed at 4:30 p. m. Sunday on this week's University Forum over WOSU. Dr. William E. Utterback, of the speech department, will be the moderator.

YWCA To Celebrate 75th Year

75th Anniversary Of Student YWCA In U. S. To Be Celebrated This Week

The University YWCA is celebrating the 75th anniversary of the student YW in the United States this week. The first university YW was organized at Illinois State Normal University in Normal, Ill.

During this week all regular meetings of the YW are open to alumnae, faculty members and interested students. Universal military training, the policy of labor unions on race relations, and life in Russia will be discussed at three of the meetings.

Gen. Gerow To Inspect ROTC Installations

Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, who recently assumed command of the Second Army, will visit Ohio State Wednesday during his tour of Army installations in the Columbus area.

While here General Gerow will call on President Bevis and will inspect the ROTC installations.

Social Board, Bevis To Meet On Gym Subsidy

The Social Board will meet with President Bevis this week for consideration of a proposal to have the Social Board or the administration pay service charges on the Men's Gym for all-campus dances, William A. Yardley, assistant to the dean of men, said today.

The board believes that organizations will be encouraged to hold dances on the campus if the University will assume the service charges, which average $160. "There seems to be a trend for organizations to schedule campus-wide dances down town," Mr. Yardley said.

At the Social Board meeting Saturday, dates for two Spring Quarter dances were approved. They are April 10 for the Military Ball, and May 1 for the Junior-Senior Prom. Name bands are being considered for both dances.

A committee to review University social regulations and recommend changes was appointed.

*training, the policy of labor unions on race relations, and life in Russia will be discussed at three of the meetings.

The celebration will be concluded Monday with a jubilee party from 4 to 6 p. m., in the grand lounge of Pomerene Hall.

The main feature of the party will be a skit portraying the progress of the University YW since its origin. Most of this information was taken from letters received from former board members telling of their experiences in the organization.

A new program for the remainder of the year will be dedicated at the jubilee. The project is to help in the rebuilding of the YWCA group in Kyoto, Japan. Members chose this project because a former member of the University YWCA, Jean Hill Grant, is director of the organization in Kyoto.

The campus YWCA began in 1884 as a small Bible class known as King's Daughters. This group met with the YMCA for several years, and then in 1900 the name was changed to YWCA.

From a group of four the organization has grown to include a membership of 400 women today. The YWCA is open to all women students, regardless of their race or creed.

Through the years the organization has changed its emphasis from program to individual concerns. In the early 1900's the program consisted of the committees on social, financial, missionary, devotional, membership and Bible study.

Since that time the organization (Continued on Page Eight)

State Fair To Oust Them

A co-operative trailer camp near the University's River Road project, with facilities for 120 students families, was the plan proposed today by students now living in trailers at the State Fairgrounds.

The group, composed of approximately 100 interested trailer owners, already has elected a board of directors. An initial membership fee will cover part of the cost, while the remainder may be made up by the issuance of bonds.

The plan is to pay for the camp over a period of four years, Robert Taft, Grad, a member of the board, said. The students plan to work on the camp project between quarters.

An earlier plan for a permanent University trailer camp on University property was drawn up by a camp council last quarter and presented to the Board of Trustees, Taft said. The Board has not taken action on the plan.

The present temporary site at the State Fairgrounds prevents the installation of permanent year-round facilities.

Unless the new camp is established by Summer the student families will have to move their trailers when the State Fair begins. They will have to find another spot for their trailers or leave them and move into residence halls or other available housing for the duration of the fair.

The rent cost at the Fairgrounds trailer camp is $33 for each trailer family per quarter. The co-operative trailer camp rent will run a little more than that, Taft said.

A poll taken by the camp council last Fall at the Fairgrounds camp of all families living there, showed that 85 per cent of them would prefer living in their trailers even if apartments were available.

Health Service Lists Precautions To Avoid Carbon Monoxide

Precautions to prevent carbon monoxide poisoning in student living quarters and steps to take in case of such poisoning were outlined today by the University Health Service.

Observe these precautions, Health Service officials said, to avoid danger of carbon monoxide:

(1) DO NOT PERMIT FLAMES TO IMPINGE (strike) ON SOLID SURFACES. In a radiant heater a flame that is too high may impinge (strike) on surrounding surfaces to produce carbon monoxide.

(2) PROVIDE FACILITIES TO CARRY OFF FUMES FROM A FIRE. Care must be used to avoid backdrafts which might fan poisonous gases back into the room.

(3) BE SURE THERE IS ADEQUATE VENTILATION OF THE ROOM. Proper ventilation means not only ventilating vitiated air, but also an ample supply of fresh air.

In case of carbon monoxide poisoning:

(1) REMOVE THE VICTIM from the poisonous air immediately.

(2) APPLY ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION if breathing has stopped.

(3) CALL INHALATOR SQUAD or

(4) TAKE THE PATIENT to the nearest hospital.

Plan $110,000 Development Fund For '48

General Projects Will Receive $85,000; War Memorial Fund $25,000

If the University's Development Fund 1948 campaign quota of $110,000 is met, the University will be assured of at least $100,000 for 1949, Kenyon S. Campbell, Fund field director, said today.

The Development Fund is seeking $85,000 in "unrestricted money" for research, general projects, and student aids, and $25,000 for the University War Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Covering a host of fields from "research on elementary school furniture and equipment" to "research on multiple disintegration," this year's fund objective list has been broken down into 32 distinct categories and 19 subdivisions.

Of the $110,000 being sought, $63,000 is slated for research in the radiation laboratory and 21 other research projects. Approximately $13,600 will be used on "general projects," including the President's emergency fund and a Law College publication. In addition $8,400 will go to the dean of men's emergency fund and four other subdivisions in the student aids section of the fund.

A total endowment goal of $100,000 has been set for the War Memorial Scholarship Fund, Mr. Campbell said. Approximately $67,000 has been turned over to this project to date.

The Development Fund, founded in 1933, received an all-time record total of $306,337 in donations during the 1947 campaign year. This total included "special projects" for which the donor designated the project that he wished to aid.

Arts Council Considers Data On Instruction

"Student-Faculty Relations" was discussed by members of the Arts College Council Monday.

The council considered the requirements of good instructorship, which were divided into three groups: first the instructor's knowledge of the subject, second the techniques of teaching, and lastly the attitude of the instructor.

The meeting was part of a program to improve the quality of instruction on the campus. "The Student's Attitude Toward Study" will be discussed at the next meeting. Any Arts College student may attend.

Stay In Bed; Early Schedule Lineups Are Not Practical, College Officials Say

It is not practical for students to line up early in the morning to get schedules in. This was the general opinion expressed by officials of various colleges Monday, after considerable early morning confusion in schedule lines led in several cases to near riots.

In commenting on the schedule situation, Junior Dean Charles W. Reeder, College of Commerce, said that most students believe schedules are final when they are returned from the registrar's office. "They can be changed," Dean Reeder explained.

"The College of Commerce has experienced very little difficulty in adjusting the schedules of those who are working." In support of this statement, the dean brought out a survey on course changes last quarter. The survey showed that a majority of more than 1200 applications were granted. Only in isolated cases were requests refused.

Dean Reeder said that of 5500 students in the college, 4100 had been pre-registered and had their schedules approved. He added that this was done to speed up the lines when schedule cards were handed in.

Dean Reeder declared, "The College of Commerce staff makes every effort to adjust classes if adequate reasons are offered."

Therapist To Speak

Mrs. Helen Buchanan, occupational therapist at Nightingale Cottage, will speak on the treatment program for children with rheumatic heart disease at the meeting of the Student Occupational Therapy Association at 7 p. m. Thursday in the University School.

Orchesis To Hear Talk

Miss Phyllis Krumm, School of Fine Arts, will speak to Orchesis at 7 tonight in the Pomerene Hall dancing room. She will discuss dancing and fine arts.

Howard L. Hamilton, secretary of the Arts College, said that more responsibility has been placed on the student so that "he can take care of his own schedule. Students are expected to know what their requirements are and discuss their problems with an advisor before filling out their schedule cards." He added that it was not practical for the students to line up as early as they do.

The College of Agriculture is using a new system. The plan was suggested by students in the Agricultural Survey class last quarter. Junior Dean Wilbur B. Wood said the best suggestions received were used in the system.

This system permits juniors and seniors to turn in their schedule cards early. Last Friday was schedule card day for the juniors and seniors in the Agriculture College.

Dean Wood said that the experiment worked very well and that "the schedule cards received this quarter were in better condition than they have ever been so far as completeness, accuracy, and neatness were concerned."

Dean Wood added that he was awaiting comments from the students following this quarter's scheduling. "Any suggestions for the improvement of the system will be accepted," the Dean added.

Junior Dean Leston L. Love of the College of Education said he believed scheduling went smoothly. The dean said education students formed two lines to speed up the scheduling process.

Dr. J. E. Pollard To Preside At Newspaper Show

Dr. James E. Pollard, director of the School of Journalism, will preside at the Osman C. Hooper newspaper show during the two-day convention of the Ohio Newspaper Association Thursday and Friday in the Deshler-Wallick Hotel.

Harold K. Schellenger, former director of the Bureau of Public Relations, and now associated with Byer & Bowman Advertising Agency, will conduct a round-table discussion.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, director of plans and operations for the Army's general staff, and Governor Herbert will be the speakers Thursday night at the association's annual banquet.

Chest Drive To Collect In Classes

The campus Community Chest drive was under way today with full steam ahead. John J. Tipic, executive secretary of the Chest board, was confident the $20,000 goal would be reached. Classroom solicitations will begin at 8 a. m. Wednesday and will continue through Friday.

Forms, called pledge cards, were distributed to solicitors who will contact prospective contributors. The pledge cards will make it possible for students to donate cash or pledge a certain amount to the Community Chest. Although the pledge cards are payable by June 5, returns have been coming in regularly, Tipic said.

All of the campus fraternities and sororities participated in solicitations over the week end and Monday. The dormitories will be covered today and faculty returns are expected Thursday and Friday.

The thermometer placed on the Oval to register Community Chest returns was painted by Walter J. Dubas, Ed-4, and James E. Mitchell, Ed-4.

Two kick-off meetings were held Monday in the Social Administration auditorium to instruct solicitors. A picture, "Seeds of Destiny," was shown depicting the need of students and faculties overseas. William Kauffman, executive secretary of the Columbus Council of Social Agencies, spoke.

Tipic said over 1,200 volunteer students are participating in the Chest drive.

Bucks Drop Top-Riding Wolves, 70-66

Donham, Burkholder Lead Sensational Upset Victory

By Don Mathews

After staying in front throughout a hard-fought contest, Ohio State's varsity cagers clung bitterly to a narrow lead in the closing moments of play to edge Michigan, 70-66, at the Coliseum Monday night.

The Bucks fought off two Michigan rallies in the second half and held a 67-66 lead with two minutes to go. The entire crowd of 3,997 was tense with excitement as the Wolverines took several wild shots, but finally Buckeye Guard Bob Burkholder got possession of the ball.

He was fouled by Michigan's captain, Bob Harrison, and made good the free throw to put the Bucks two points ahead. Then with the Wolverines pressing, trying to intercept the ball in the final few seconds of the game, Bob Donham saw an opening and dribbled in for a lay-up shot just before the final gun sounded.

The defeat knocked the Michigan quintet out of the conference leadership and ended a string of four league losses for the Buckeyes. They now jump ahead of the Northwestern Wildcats who lost to Iowa Monday night.

The Bucks held a ten-point margin with but six minutes gone in the second half of Monday night's game, but the Wolves threatened with a rally that brought the score to 54-49 at the ten-minute mark of the period. Tippy Dye's cagers regained their composure and held a 67-60 advantage as the clock showed a little over three minutes left.

At this point the Scarlet squad still led, 67-60, but with Harrison tossing five points to pace the Wolverines, they spurred to cut the Buck lead to 67-66 and set the stage for the final hectic two minutes.

The contest was close and evenly fought in the early part of the first half with the Maize and Blue holding an 18-12 lead after 13 minutes of play. Then in a wild five minutes of scoring the Bucks forged ahead and led at intermission, 36-27.

Donham led the Buckeye scoring parade with 19 points, but by no means stole the spotlight. Burkholder, who apparently was not able to play after spraining his ankle, played a good game both offensively and defensively and was runnerup with a total of 15 points. Following those two were Gene Brown and Dick Schnitker with 12 apiece.

Earlier in the day it had been doubtful whether Schnitker would be able to start because of a bad cold, but the crowd showed its satisfaction with his performance with a tremendous ovation when he left the game late in the final period.

Harrison, as usual, was the high point man for the Michigan quintet with 20 markers, but he was closely followed by Pete Elliot with 17. Lanky Don MacIntosh had 13 points for his evening's total but 12 of these came when Michigan rallied in the second half.

Notre Dame Edges Buck Swordsmen

The Fencing Team was defeated by Notre Dame Monday night, 15½-11½. This was the second defeat in three days for the luckless Bucks. Ohio State lost a match to Michigan State by one point last Saturday.

Ross Saye, team captain for Ohio State, remained undefeated in the sabre event. He has won eight bouts to date this year. Coach Herb Melton of Notre Dame thought Saye to be "one of the finest fencers I have seen for some time."

Coach Deladrier will have the problem of finding new strength for the foil before the Bucks launch their bid for the Big Nine title here Saturday against Northwestern. Statistics show that this is the only weapon in which Ohio State has lost more bouts than it has won.

Game time Saturday will be at 2:30 p. m. and as usual admission is free.

Honeydrippers Take Close Game In Intramurals

In the independent cage loop Monday night, the Honeydrippers defeated a game Hucksters quintet, 26-17. The Honeydrippers, runners-up in the same tournament last year, won their league crown.

Keith Longnecker captured individual scoring honors for the night, while the Hucksters' scoring was evenly distributed among the entire team.

Minus the services of Fred Taylor, star center, the Honeydrippers found rough going until the final four minutes of the game. Their smooth floor work and uncanny accuracy at the hoop in the last half proved the deciding factors in downing the Hucksters.

J-Vs Drub Michigan, 58-42; Chuck Worthley Nets 16

By Dick Freuler

Ohio State's J-Vs racked up their third win in four starts Monday night as they defeated a slow-starting reserve squad from the University of Michigan, 58-42. The fray was a preliminary to the varsity game and was played at the Coliseum.

The Bucks were never in danger as they scored first on a free throw and field goal by Forward Chuck Worthley. Michigan then encountered with a basket, but the J-Vs led, 3-2, and they never relinquished their lead. At the end of the first quarter Ohio State held a 24-6 advantage, and led 34-18 at half-time.

The Michiganders came back with a terrific drive, however, to close the gap to 36-30 in the first few minutes of the second half. The Wolverines displayed a remarkably tight man-to-man defense at this stage of the game, but Dick Kempthorn and Al Topping, Michigan guards, soon left the game via the personal foul route and the Bucks continued on their scoring ways.

The Michigan coach, Bert Katzenmeyer, cleared the bench of substitutes in an effort to stem the Scarlet and Gray tide, but Jack Graf's J-Vs were too far ahead by that time.

For the fourth straight time, Worthley took scoring honors for the evening with four field goals and eight free throws for a total of 16 points. Ed Klum, Michigan guard, followed with an 11-point total, and Mario Giacomelli, Buck center, and Joe Stottlebower, Wolverine center, each parted the nets for 10 markers.

The Buck Junior Varsity will travel to Indianapolis this week end in an attempt to avenge its lone setback at the hands of the Butler University Reserves. The Butlerites triumphed in a previous battle this season, 49-47, in an overtime affair.

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a woman. Synonymous with legs, tears, and gold. But necessary. Fragile. An independent dependent. Knows what she wants and how to get it. Always turns arguments around to whether you love her or not.

2. This is a "Manhattan" Lasher Shirt. Very necessary too. Has slick long collar points so popular now. Distinctive "Manhattan" tailoring. Residual shrinkage less than 1%. Study this and other fine "Manhattans" here today!

Gandhi's Power

Only the fact that Mohandas Gandhi's assassin was, like Gandhi, a Hindu and not a Moslem seems to have saved India from mass murder in the few days since the Mahatma's death.

Although reprisals have already been taken against the extremist Hindu sect of which the killer was a member, we must wait for the fearful future to determine the full effects of the loss of Gandhi's great influence in the never-ending battle between Moslem and Hindu brothers of India.

The tragedy of Gandhi's death is that there no longer seems to be an effective restraining force in India against the bloodshed that sweeps across that stricken sub-continent like an Asiatic typhoon—devastating in its force, seemingly impossible to halt by the puny power of man.

Gandhi alone had the power. It is incomprehensible to us Westerners how his recent five-day fast could bring into immediate agreement the otherwise irreconcilable religious and political leaders of Moslem Pakistan and Hindu India.

In view of recent history, nothing short of the miracle of Gandhi can prevent a recurrence of the blind hatred which results in terror and death for millions upon millions of the most hapless, poverty-stricken people on earth.

We can think of few men since Christ who held such a power as Gandhi over the minds of men. He was more than a leader of Indian independence, more than an organizer of civil disobedience, more than a symbol of the Hindu religion.

Gandhi was a personification of brotherhood among men, of the importance of striving toward peace as a goal above petty prejudice for religions or systems of government. His ascetic purity of body was a triumph for the spiritual over the material.

Gandhi's teachings embraced all religions and all political creeds, taking the best from each. The power of his personality may yet unite the people of India in his memory. It will continue to be a lesson to all people everywhere that their only salvation lies in the truth of the Sermon on the Mount which a pagan Hindu best exemplified in this modern world.

It is through such men as Mohandas Gandhi that the miracles of spirit which separate mankind from the lower forms of life from which we evolved are achieved.

The Best Memorial

It is the practice of our modern civilization to assign the credit for great inventions to one or two men, ignoring the work of the hundreds of scientists who contributed the knowledge which made the final result possible. Such was the case with Marconi's wireless, Edison's electric light—and the Wright brothers' airplane.

Still, the death of Orville Wright gives us pause to recognize the genius that gave the world the first practical demonstration of heavier-than-air flight and to consider the transformation of civilization that the airplane has produced.

Although the airplane has bound the world into closer communication, the tremendous destructive power it has made available in war shows all too clearly the evil that can result from inventions which could produce so much good.

The best memorial to Orville Wright is to work to obliterate the institution of war which enables the Wrights' "wonderful flying machine" to obliterate us.

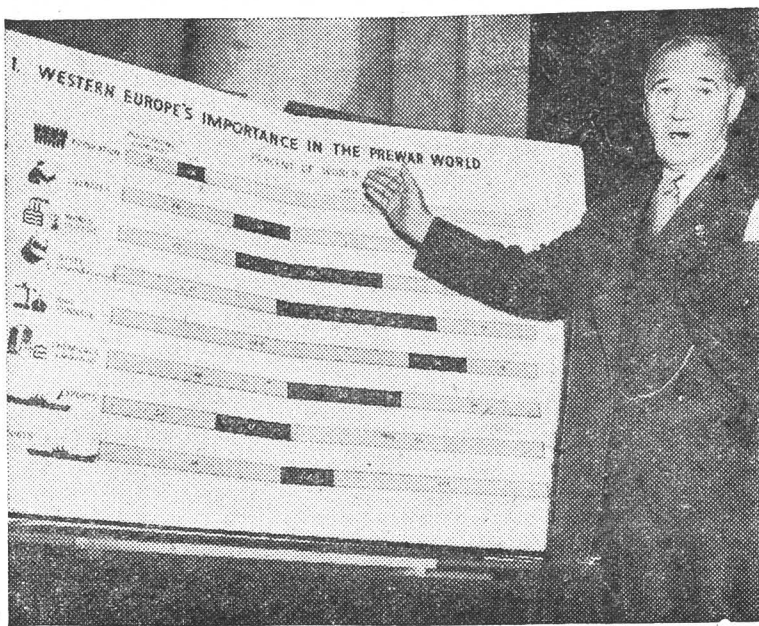

The Logical Thing To Do

The agreement to locate the new state fairgrounds near the University bodes nothing but good for Ohio State, so far as we can see.

Combining the primarily agricultural activities of the fair with the facilities of our great College of Agriculture and making the fairgrounds otherwise available for University use was the logical thing to do. The people of Ohio have been well served by the decision.

The first professor of physics at Ohio State lived with his wife and one-year-old son in rooms on the second floor of University Hall.

ERP Explained With Charts

Lewis Douglas, U. S. ambassador to Great Britain, came bearing charts to Congress to warn the legislators that timidity and reluctance to face facts on European aid may lead to "incalculable consequences" for America. Appearing before the senate foreign relations committee, he gave the group the state department's statistical background supporting the four-year European recovery plan.

Abe Lincoln Would Be Unpopular President Now

By Phil Kaplansky

In a national magazine last week, the weekly "People's Forum" featured the interesting question, "What Would Lincoln Do If He Were President?" The answers given by several Lincoln "scholars and experts," as the magazine termed the men interviewed, were vague and much too general.

James W. Ballinger, an Iowa judge, gave this ambiguous opinion: "Lincoln is just what we need today. His ambition was to do what was right, what was proper and live by the Golden Rule. That's what we need." Two other "experts" stated that the Great Emancipator "would continue to serve the measures of the good of the many and not the few."

What would Honest Abe do in the White House today? Would his fireside education suffice in the complex economy that faces the nation in 1948? Could Lincoln cope with the criticism which would prevail if he brought his 19th century ideas into an atomic age of international unrest and domestic instability?

Judge Ballinger's vague statement of Lincoln's doing what "was right and proper" was purely a reflection of his admiration for a great man. The problem of determining what is right and proper for a president will be left to the American people this year in selecting a chief executive from three distinct candidates, representing three parties, each with its own ideas as to what is right and proper.

Looking into our own crystal ball, we venture to predict just what the lanky, bewhiskered Illinois hero would do on Capitol Hill today. Lincoln was for the good of the masses, seeking the policies which would aid the many rather than the few. We are safe, therefore, in assuming that the stain of socialism would be splashed on a Lincoln administration today, if not some blotches of deeper red.

Wall Street and Lincoln would be in separate camps. Lincoln would definitely be pro-Labor and would attempt to carry out his humanitarian ideas internationally, calling for better relations with the Kremlin.

Honest Abe would be fighting his own party, the Republicans, over the Marshall Plan. If he were to continue his 1865 thinking, Lincoln would be in favor of immediate, full aid to Europe.

We might go so far as to visualize the cries of "Red," "Communist," and other favorite alarms which would greet Lincoln's pro-

River Road Housing Priorities For Vets Hit

Editor, the LANTERN:

In regard to the announcement (page 1, Jan. 28) of priority consideration for married veterans in the River Road project, we read: "For instance, a veteran whose wife is now living with him here in Columbus will be given less consideration than one whose wife is living in Cleveland."

Many veterans' wives are going through a period of almost hell on earth so that they can be where they ought to be—with their husbands. But now the wife who is "existing" in a shack or a one-room basement "apartment" is to be penalized for her love and her courage, while some silly skirt who couldn't bear to leave mama's fire-side and pop's paycheck (in Cleveland) gets the nod for a desired apartment. Doesn't make sense to me.

Reader Says Attention To Pledge System Needed

Editor, the LANTERN:

I am pleased to see that in your Friday editorial you called attention to the pledge system of Ohio State fraternities. Sufficient evidence of this was furnished this past quarter . . .

Also, how can you make a positive statement that "Henry Wallace is NOT a Communist?" Can you prove that he is not a Communist any better than I can prove that he is?

—Maurice E. Garber, Ag-4.

Editor's Note: We believe we can.

posals. His fervent belief in the common man and the minority groups, and his efforts to keep the Negro from being denied his civil rights by restrictive covenants, would lead Lincoln into the lion's den of present-day feelings already aroused by U. S. politics.

The charm and grace which Lincoln maintains in the historical thinking of Americans are right. But we doubt if "Honest Abe" would stand much chance of being a presidential candidate in 1948.

Radio Group Has Active, Versatile Members

Anyone up and around by 3:30 p. m., Saturdays, can be treated to good entertainment without leaving that snug, warm room. At that time, the Alpha Epsilon Rho Playhouse presents outstanding plays over WOSU, featuring campus talent. Saturday the group gave a good dramatization of the Louisa May Alcott novel, "Little Women," which was adapted for radio by Emerson Evans, department of English.

Organized in 1943, this honorary radio fraternity now has a membership of 26 actives and pledges, headed by Charles Schiappacasse, A-4. The group has been associated with WOSU since its beginning. Emphasizing action, they continually work for new program ideas, of both commercial and educational value, and are making much progress in that direction.

Membership in the group, limited to those who have had several quarters in radio work and who show definite talent and interest, calls for active participation by all, and provides valuable radio experience for the members. Most of the versatile students can serve equally well as actors, announcers, producers, or writers. The group is primarily interested in discovering and promoting new talent, especially in the script writing field.

While Saturday's performance was not on a par with professionals, it was certainly far from being "amateurish." Members of the cast, in spite of a few tendencies to overact, gave effective and appealing performances.

The original one-act play, "Mr. Edwards' House," by Sundial editor Sam Hanna, was given a fair performance at the Strollers' mass meeting Wednesday night. The plot concerned the efforts of a scheming, corrupt politician to evict the elderly, sentimental Mr. Edwards from his home, which stands on the site of a proposed housing project. A young newspaperman wins the confidence of the aged man, and defeats the purposes of the politician.

While the play suffered generally from over-sentimentality and weakness of plot, there was some fair dialogue and a few lighter moments. The pace of action was uneven, and members of the cast seemed uncertain at times in their characterizations. Ronald B. Egar gave an exceptional performance of Mr. Edwards.

Athletic Books Don't Give As Much As Advertised

By Hal Dakin

Trying to bolster sales of Winter-Spring athletic books—only 1700 have been sold so far—the Student Senate last week mailed out thousands of form letters urging students to buy books. The letters repeated the erroneous announcement of the athletic department that the books are good for "31 athletic contests for $4," plus cheap seats at swimming meets.

A count of events included in the books shows that they are good for only 28 meets, plus the swimming reduction. Comparing schedules, student book owners find that they can't possibly attend more than 25 of these meets (and the swimming events) without being in two places at once, since on three dates there are two meets scheduled at the same hour.

Also, nine of the 14 baseball games are on Tuesdays and Fridays, and although the starting time has been set at 4 p. m., to

FASHION FANTASIES . . .

By Pat Koken

Jewelry, to fit all occasions, has become an essential member of every female wardrobe. The coed is unusual who does not wear a bracelet, a ring, or a strand of pearls to class. And in the evening, silver, gold, rhinestones, and precious stones adorn dresses and formals. No class wear or evening wear is complete without the added touch of jewelry, expensive or inexpensive, according to taste.

Jewelry prices, as all others, have steadily increased, especially with the present-day luxury taxes. So, it is now even more important to be careful of precious jewelry. Keeping it clean and neat looking is of foremost importance. A cleaner, in powder form, may be purchased at any jewelry store. It is mixed with boiling water and jewelry placed in this solution will once more have that important "sparkling" look.

Large pins, bracelets, and chokers which are worn only on special occasions should be wrapped in soft paper. This keeps them from becoming tarnished or dull looking. A satin-lined jewelry box is always the best place to keep precious jewelry.

Jewelry Tips:

Along the line of costume jewelry is the Pixie Platter bracelet. Instead of the usual charms there are eight miniature record albums dangling from a link chain of silver. Also fine for classroom wear is the durable silver coin bracelet from Mexico. The slim silver chain boasts 20 south-of-the-border coins. Gold finished rope-chain chokers in a single or double strand look stunning with sweaters and plain blouses. The six- and eight-strand pearl necklace adds evening elegance to your favorite black dress. The tear-drop earring, designed in rhinestones and pearls, from the days of grandmother, has once again reached the height of fashion.

Fashion Finds:

For cold and chilly weather, an out-size stole—98 inches of knitted black wool to wear folded double, or full-length. This is designed to wear with a day or evening dress as a handsome accessory for extra warmth and new chic. An oblong of nylon net—a black, misty addition for evening. It is almost six feet long, and just right to wrap in a fichon, to throw over your shoulders and tie at the back.

University Dames To Hold 'Model' Initiation Service

The University Dames will hold a "model" initiation ceremony at 8 tonight in Pomerene Hall. Since there are more than 300 new members, a small group has been selected to represent the initiates of each of the organization's nine interest groups.

The program will also feature a demonstration talk on "Modern Painting in Relation to the Past," by Charles Csuri, of the School of Fine Arts. Mr. Csuri, a former football star, teaches classes in elementary drawing and is advisor to a group of student teachers. He is working on his doctor's degree.

Panhellenic Holds Tea

The Women's Junior Panhellenic held a tea Monday in the grand lounge of Pomerene Hall. Presidents and deans of each sorority were guests. The purpose of the tea was to instruct members in soliciting funds for the Campus Chest drive Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week.

Friday the 13th comes twice during 1948—in February and August.

Stadium Clubs Hold Talent Show; Crown Member King Of Dorms

Acts in the Stadium Dorms' Talent Show ran the gamut of talents from impersonations and skits to singing and music, Saturday night, in the Stadium recreation hall.

Participants played to a capacity crowd with Al Trizzino, A-4, as master of ceremonies.

'Dream Girl' Presented At Formal

Marjorie A. Erskine, Ed-3, 1948 "Dream Girl" of Phi Delta Theta, was introduced at the fraternity's Winter formal Saturday evening at the Knights of Columbus hall.

The blue-eyed blonde in an off-shoulder gown of green velvet, was escorted by Richard T. Lasko, president of Phi Delta Theta. Miss Erskine was presented with an engraved cup and flowers.

Music for the dance was provided by Don Crawford and his orchestra. During intermission a Phi Delta octette entertained with "I Dream of You," "Dry Bones," and "Mood Indigo." Dance favors were in the form of miniature trophies inscribed with the Greek letters of Phi Delta Theta.

Many gowns, both floor and ballerina length, lent color to the occasion. A white moire dress with long sleeves and lace inset at the shoulder was worn by Jeretta Murphy, while Bette Young appeared in a gown with striped taffeta top of aqua, grey, and chartreuse, and a skirt of black crepe. Pat Vlas-kamp wore a period gown of pink satin appliqued at the neckline with seed pearls.

Mothers' Club Honors Director

The Sigma Chi Mothers' Club will honor Mrs. Katherine Bowen, Sigma Chi house director, with a reception from 3 to 5 p. m. Sunday at the chapter house, 260 Fifteenth Ave.

Invitations have been sent to parents of the active chapter and alumni, representatives of the Sigma Chi corporation, officers of the city alumni association, chapter corporation officers, University faculty and administrative officers, and the head resident and representative of the campus fraternities.

Chimes Members To Hold Recognition Dessert

Chimes will have its Freshman Recognition Dessert from 3 to 5 p. m. Sunday in Pomerene Hall grand lounge.

The dessert is held for 125 freshman women who have been outstanding in scholastic work and activities. Mrs. Christine Y. Conaway, dean of women, will give a short recognition speech. The main entertainment will be a skit, "March of Chimes," by Chimes members.

Home Ec. Club Learns Art Of Making Corsages

By Virginia Johnson

Have you ever had the desire to learn to make a corsage? Thirty-two people are spending two hours every Tuesday night until Feb. 17 in Campbell Hall doing just that.

The class, sponsored by the Home Economics Club, is composed of 29 women, most of whom are Home Economics majors, and three men who are majoring in floriculture.

The instructor, Miss Mary Jane Sells, of Underwood's Flowers, Inc., spends the first hour each week demonstrating how to twist flowers attached to wires into imaginative shoulder corsages, waist and hair arrangements, chatelaines, wristlets, and even replicas of "Bo-Bo," the clown.

Miss Sells said that the purpose of the course was to create an awareness of flowers, and to enable the members of the group to know the pleasure of working with their own hands, when they are on their own to create a corsage from flowers, wire, tape, and sequins.

Judy Tate, H Ec-1, said, "I hope to be able to work in a flower shop when I'm through with the course."

Each week a different type of flower is used. The group has worked on chrysanthemums and carnations. Six orchids are also given out to be made up.

According to Miss Sells, the latest thing in corsages is the use of sequins and glitter powder for decoration instead of ribbon.

Some of the completed corsages looked almost professional. The ones who did them have mastered the knack of knowing just how to give the right twist of the wrist. Those who were not as successful Those who were not as successful

Pomerene Tea Scheduled

The speech department is holding a tea this afternoon from 4 to 5 in the grand lounge of Pomerene Hall. The tea is being held under the supervision of Mrs. Mary Whiteford Graham, a graduate assistant in the speech department. The tea is being held for speech students.

Hi-Jinx Show Postponed Until April 9

The Hi-Jinx show, sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association, originally scheduled for Feb. 25, has been postponed to April 9, in University Hall chapel.

Tryouts will be held in Hagerty Hall auditorium on Feb. 24-25. Dress rehearsal will be held on April 6. Sixteen entries have already been received, and individuals or organizations may still sign up in Room 300, Pomerene Hall.

The poster contest advertising the talent show will end March 5. Cash awards of $10 will be made to the winners. Posters, using the Hi-Jinx theme, may be entered by either individuals or groups.

Jean Peters' Film Coming

Jean Peters, who won a "Miss Ohio State" contest two years ago, will make her film debut in "The Captain From Castile" scheduled to open in Columbus Feb. 12. Miss Peters is featured with Tyrone Power in this technicolor version of Dr. Samuel Shellabarger's novel.

The crowning of Eugene F. Pierce, Phar-3, of the Stadium Club as "King of the Dormitories" was the highlight of the evening. Gene has dark brown, wavy hair and brown eyes. He weighs 185 pounds and is 5 feet 11 inches tall.

Gene was selected by a panel of judges from among six finalists, each sponsored by one of the clubs. This event was held during an intermission of the Talent Show. The judges were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Daniel F. Walker, Maj. and Mrs. Herbert M. Campbell, and Miss Schar, a model from Lazarus.

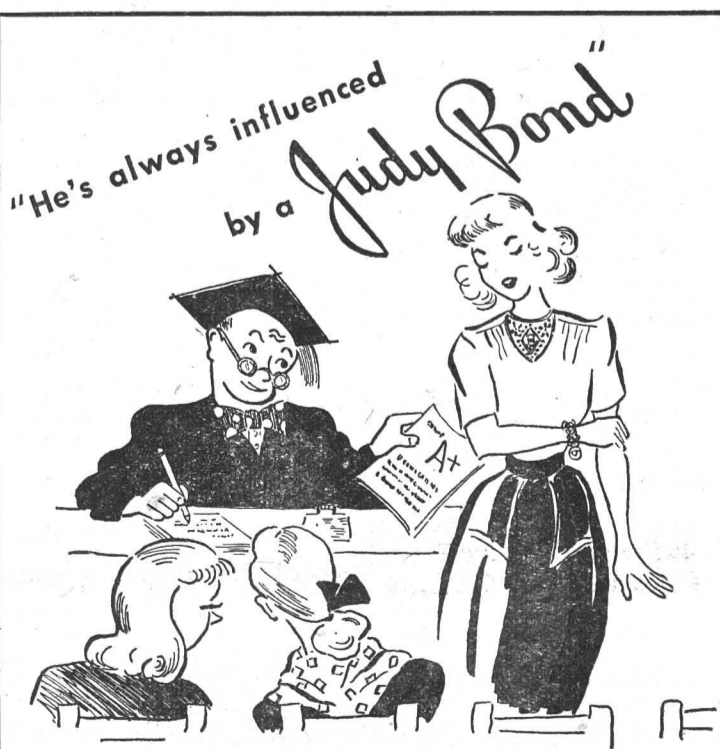

Thomas Vigan and Charles V. Miller, both of the Stadium Club, walked off with the first prize of $10 in the Talent Show. Amid bursts of laughter, they presented a skit mimicking Lowell A. Wrigley, superintendent of the Stadium Dormitories, and one of his student assistants.

Jess E. Riggle, of the Ohio Club, took the second prize of $5 with a "Golden Earrings Act." Vivid make-up, grapefruit, long earrings, and a turban transformed him into a gypsy.

"The Joy Boys," composed of 10 members of the Stadium Club, received third prize with their rendition of "I'm My Own Grandpa."

Indians Should Minimize Religious Differences, Says Graduate Student

The fast pace of living in America is very confusing, or so finds J. K. Fakir Sab, graduate engineering student from India. Fakir, a graduate of Central College of India, comes from Mysore, India. He plans to remain at Ohio State for his Ph.D., then to return to India to do factory or research work.

Fakir claims to "dislike politics," but he did not hesitate to give his views on Indian politics. He is a Moslem, who, never the less, believes that India should be united. This can be accomplished only if both the Hindu and the Moslems put less emphasis on religion and more on unity, Fakir pointed out.

"Gandhi was a balancing force in India," Fakir declared, "but he was betrayed by some of his most trusted followers who used his influence for personal gain." The Indian student believes the death of Gandhi will bring the Communists and Socialists of India into the open.

When asked how Hindu and Moslem students get along on the campus, Fakir responded, "We never have any difficulty because we don't allow religious differences to become prominent."

New Quarterlies Get Approval From University

A new quarterly magazine for students in the department of horticulture has been approved by the University Committee on Student Publications, Wayne V. Harsha, publications adviser, said today.

Publication of a quarterly, to be called the Speculum, for Veterinary Medicine College students has also received the committee's stamp of approval. The magazine is a continuation of a publication formerly issued by Omega Tau Sigma.

Purchase of several new typewriters for the Makio, Sundial and BMOC, and a new desk for the Sundial business manager, has also been authorized by the committee.

Sundial Artists Hold Showing During February

Several Sundial staff artists are holding a showing of their work covering many phases of magazine art in the Southern Hotel gallery all this month.

Most of the students represented in the show are war veterans who have had experience in illustrating. As Sundial staff members, they hope to follow the path which led James Thurber, Milton Caniff, Dudley Fisher, and others to success.

Stadium Hot Water Cut

Stadium dormitory residents shaved in cold water this morning when the hot water pipes froze. Paul H. Only a limited supply of hot water is getting through to the shivering club members now.

Tooth Decay Reduced 50 Per Cent, Clinic Fluorine Research Shows

The University dental clinic, in co-operation with the United States Public Health Service, has taken an active part in experimenting with the uses and effects of fluorine on tooth decay.

The results of the research, which was done principally in Ohio and Illinois, show that the presence of fluorine in water reduced tooth decay by 50 per cent, according to Dr. Hamilton Robinson, College of Dentistry.

The teeth must be thoroughly cleaned before the treatments. Fluorine is then applied four times to the teeth within a period of one or two months. The solution is harmless when applied by a capable person, and it works only to prevent decay.

According to Dr. Robinson, fluorine treatments are no longer in the experimental stage. However, they have not been fairly tested on adults. Plans have been made to administer applications to children of the second grade. When the children who have received treatments at this age are in the fifth grade, applications should be repeated, Dr. Robinson said.

Feb. 15 Is Set For Student Day Of Prayer

The Student Religious Council announced today that the World Student Day of Prayer will be observed at the Indianola Presbyterian Church at 5:30 p. m. Feb. 15.

"This is the one day when students in universities around the world meet in prayer for their fellow students in other lands," said Betty Jane Southard, student chairman of the World Day of Prayer. "This year as in other years, the students at Ohio State will join in the four-continent Day of Prayer. We are anxious to have as many students as possible share in this experience," she added.

A fellowship hour will be held from 5:30 to 6 p. m. Supper will be at 6 p. m. and the services at 7 p. m. Pei-wen Yu, a Chinese graduate student at Miami University at Oxford, will be guest speaker.

Convention Will Show University School Display

The University School will tell its curriculum story in text and photographs at the Winter meeting of the National Education Association in Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 21-25.

The display will consist of pictures, taken at the University School, mounted on large plywood panels with a short explanatory text. The material will be exhibited in the Haddon Hall Hotel, in Atlantic City, during the convention.

Students In Field Of Salesmanship To Have Greater Opportunities

"Opportunities for well-trained students in the field of salesmanship are greater now than ever before," Dr. Paul L. Brown, department of business organization, said today.

Dr. Brown pointed out that there has been a new attitude toward salesmanship as a career during the past few years. Previously, it was a common acceptance that "a good salesman was born, not made," he explained. Now the trend is toward a realization that good salesmanship is only acquired through hard, conscientious work.

Classes in salesmanship have tripled and quadrupled in size during the past few years. Dr. Brown said this was due to a return of a buyers' market in which goods must be sold by efficient, capable salesmen. "The days of easy selling opportunities following the war-time scarcity of consumers' goods is nearing an end," he predicted.

Dr. Brown said that statistics show that there are approximately 500,000 fewer salesmen today than there were in 1939. The problem now is not so much one of production, but rather one of distribution, he explained.

Trio Discusses Foreign Policies At Town Meeting

The United States and Russia, in controlling the destinies of Europe, are trying to build a co-operative world government, Dr. Walter L. Dorn, department of history, told the Columbus Town Meeting Sunday. They are trying to safeguard themselves against failure by the use of power politics which may lead to World War III, Dr. Dorn said.

Dr. Dorn, Prof. Alwyn W. Freeman, College of Law, and Russell Weisman, chief editorial writer and economic columnist of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, made up the trio which discussed the question "Is Our Foreign Policy Leading to Peace or War?"

Dr. Freeman said the United States can either send troops to Western Europe to strengthen our position, or withdraw and let the Russians take over.

Seniors Narrow Memorial To Three Possibilities

Plans for the senior class memorial were being prepared today by the memorial committee, a branch of the senior class cabinet. Raymond A. Cowperthwaite, Com-4, chairman, said that after consulting faculty members and alumni, and checking memorials left to the University by other classes, the committee made six suggestions to the cabinet.

The cabinet has narrowed the suggestions to three and they will be presented at a special meeting of the class for final selection.

The special meeting will be held at 11 a. m., Wednesday, Feb. 11, in University Hall chapel, and all students graduating in 1948 will be excused from classes to attend. Special lantern slides prepared from the architectural drawings by Russel S. Fling, Engr-4, of the three-proposed gifts will be shown to the seniors before the final selection is made by vote.

The three suggested memorials selected by the cabinet are: (1) A 55-foot flag pole to be placed on a concrete "island" at the east end of the Oval. (2) A shelter house, similar to those on the University golf courses, to be built at the picnic area on the banks of the Olentangy River west of the Stadium. (3) An open fireplace in the alumni lounge of the new Ohio Union. It has been proposed to have a perpetual fire in the fireplace as a symbol of the University's hospitality.

The memorial selected will bear a bronze plaque as a permanent reminder of the class of '48.

Cowperthwaite said that the fireplace is the committee's own choice. They believe it will help promote the new Union and symbolize a feeling of welcome for all returning alumni.

Financing of the memorial will be discussed at the special meeting. The class members will vote a sum to be subscribed by all seniors, after the committee has suggested a sum that will cover the cost of building the selected memorial.

Athletic officials have said that their decision to reserve all swimming seats at $1.50, or 25 cents for student book holders, was prompted by the necessity of holding the swimming crowds down to the limited capacity of the Natatorium. This step has been successful. There were plenty of empty seats at the opening meet with LaSalle Saturday.

PCC Elects Chairman

James M. Early, of the department of electrical engineering, was elected chairman of the Progressives Citizens' Committee at a meeting in Page Hall, Monday evening. Mr. Early replaces Jerome Green, A-3, who has held the position since July, 1947, soon after the organization's founding. Early is currently enrolled in the Graduate School.

Other officers elected were: Gladys N. Clark, Grad, vice-chairman; Felice Bolotin, A-3, corresponding secretary; Marjorie Kochman, Com-3, recording secretary; and Roselyn Schwartz, Com-3, treasurer.

Before the elections, the retiring chairman, Jerome Green, announced that the current active membership of the group is approximately 140 members.

Green said that, "Since our group's origin last May, we have

Student Vocalist Wins Semi-finals In Monroe's Show

The way William J. Eyssen, Ag-2, sang "The Way You Look Tonight," was good enough for him to win the first night of semi-finals in the "Sing a Song With Vaughn" contest at a downtown theater Monday night.

Eyssen is a pledge of the Alpha Zeta fraternity and of the music honorary, Phi Mu Alpha. He is majoring in pomology.

The first elimination contest was held Jan. 25 for 290 entrants. The second trial came last Thursday with 20 contestants. Eight were selected to sing in the semi-finals Monday night and tonight. Four will sing each evening, and the winner from each of these last two trials will compete in the finals Wednesday night.

Vaughn Monroe Here For Finals Of Vocal Contest

By Pat Ensminger

"Song is a neglected art with the coming of radio," Vaughn Monroe, band-leader, told a LANTERN reporter Monday in a dressing-room interview. His band is billed through Wednesday at a downtown theater.

"We really need new singers, and I feel that two weeks at the Neil House is a good springboard for any young singer," continued Vaughn, referring to the WBNS "Sing a Song With Vaughn" contest.

Among the eight winners in the contest's semifinal auditions are four Ohio State students. They are Patti L. Cooper, A-3; William J. Eyssen, Ag-2; Jack D. Feinstein, A-3, and Janice E. Murray, Ed-3.

One of the eight aspirants will receive Wednesday, as first prize, $100 in cash and a two-week engagement at the Town and Country Room of the Neil House.

Vaughn's baritone voice, popularly described as a voice with "hair on its chest," helped pay his way through Carnegie Tech.

Turning his back on concert singing and engineering, Vaughn joined Austin Wiley's band in 1931, then moved to Larry Funk's band. But it was Jack Marshard, his third boss, who insisted upon Vaughn's becoming a band-leader.

His trumpeter-vocalist disagreed and went to work in a railroad roundhouse until the "band bug" bit him. Vaughn then accepted Marshard's offer, and two years later was one of the 10 top band-leaders.

Billboard's "Music Record Poll" lists Monroe's band as 1947's top seller over the record counters. Vaughn's "Ballerina" record is listed as the record most played on the air and on juke boxes.
