

OHIO UNION BOARD INVITES 4,000 STUDENTS TO BIG OPEN HOUSE AND GET TOGETHER PARTY SATURDAY

MEET YOUR CLASSMATES IS SLOGAN OF AFFAIR

From Dr. Thompson down to the most obscure student, everyone connected with the university is invited to attend the Open Night at Ohio Union, Saturday, October 25. Faculty members and students, men and women—all are urged to attend.

From cellar to garret, the building will be thrown open to inspection. The amusements will be free, the program will be free. The board of overseers in deciding on the plan of an open night, did so that everyone in the university might have an opportunity to get acquainted with the men's building.

Program Will Be Short.

The program of speakers will be short, and the men will be limited to five minute talks. Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the university, Captain George L. Converse, commandant of cadets, and H. S. Warwick, secretary of the Alumni association, will speak.

As the musical clubs have given their promise to take part in the evening, an interesting program is assured in addition to the speakers. Dancing will be held on the third floor all evening.

The girls are invited as well as the men. Miss Caroline Freyfogel, Miss McKinley, and Miss Matthews will come with the girls. The members of the faculty will bring their wives. Mrs. Carl E. Steeb, Mrs. Morrey, Mrs. W. O. Thompson and Mrs. Osborne will act as hostesses.

Will Act as Guides.

Members of the Y. M. C. A. will act as guides to those who wish to be shown through the building. The dining room and the kitchen will be thrown open for inspection. The kitchen is always open for inspection.

"We want to get at those fellows that need the building and do not use it," said E. S. Drake, in speaking of the open night plan. "There are a lot of men about the university who never come into the building. We want them to realize that they are the fellows we want to meet. The fellows with few friends and acquaintances will have to get acquainted if they will come over to open night."

Plan to Have Several.

"It will be something the students do not want to miss," he continued. "The faculty members will be there, and the fellow-students. We want the open night to be a get together affair."

If the open night is well attended, the plan of the overseers is to hold an open night each month. The building will be thrown open to the student body. The plan was first suggested after an editorial in the Lantern stating that dances were the only form of amusement that the students had to get together.

Punch and small cakes will be served in the main lobby, where the program will be given. The Pan Hellenic Association at their last meeting passed a motion favoring the open night, and the members agreed to co-operate in their chapters to make the reception a success.

MANY LOSE OFFICES IF RULE IS ENFORCED

President Thompson Will Investigate Before Changes Will Be Made.

Exceptions May Be Made to Prevent Injustice to Students Now in Office.

In order not to throw out indiscriminately officers of student organizations, under the student activities rule, who acted in good faith when elected, Pres. W. O. Thompson has under advisability all cases where a person was eligible when elected and has since become ineligible. His decision will be given next week.

Miss Edith Cockins, university registrar, has sent out letters requesting all organizations to file with her a list of their officers for examination as to their eligibility. No action will be taken by President Thompson until all information is in the hands of Miss Cockins.

There are more than 500 officers in 90 different societies on the campus, many of whom, it is understood, would be adversely affected by the faculty eligibility rules.

These cases arise due to the fact that students were elected last spring before final examinations. At that time they were eligible. Since the examinations many have been burdened with conditions and failures.

The question is whether all officers in this predicament shall be excluded from office or shall exceptions be made? President Thompson promises that no more hardships than are necessary will be worked.

Eligibility rules have thinned the ranks of many organizations around school, notably the musical and theatrical clubs, especially due to freshman ineligibility.

FRESHMEN MAY GET CAPTURED HEADGEAR

Hats Taken in Raid Two Weeks Ago to be Returned to Owners on Identification.

Sophomore Class President Has Eighteen Caps Taken From First Year Men.

Eighteen hats are awaiting as many doughty freshmen if they will call at 26 W. Tenth avenue within the next week. The hats are those which were taken by the sophomores in the recent raid. They are in the possession of L. E. Bechtel, president of the sophomore class.

There were 30 hats in the original consignment, but most of these have been reclaimed. The majority of the first-year men who claimed their headgear stated that they had purchased freshman caps at the beginning of the year, but just happened not to be wearing them on that particular morning.

Bechtel is anxious to get rid of the caps as he states that they are in his way. They will be returned willingly upon identification. The hats in this collection, however, are only a part of those taken by the sophomores.

APPROPRIATION MADE FOR NEW INSTRUCTORS

State Emergency Board Grants Money Necessary to Secure Additional Assistance.

New Laboratory to be Equipped in Hayes Hall for Department of Home Economics.

In response to the request of President Thompson, who says Ohio State is like a growing boy whose trousers are never large enough, the state emergency board granted an appropriation of $13,272 to the university last Tuesday.

The larger part of the appropriation will be used in securing additional instructors in the colleges of arts, engineering and agriculture. Arts college will receive $4,500 which will be used for additional instructors in the departments of American and European history, English, German and French.

Agriculture Gets Bonus.

Two appropriations were made to the college of agriculture. The appropriation of $5,172 for the regular course will be used for additional equipment and appointment of new fellows and students in the different departments.

Of the $2,300 granted for the short course in agriculture, $1,500 will be spent in equipping the dairy building at the state fair grounds and in obtaining special lecturers and additional instruction. The remaining sum will be used to equip a new laboratory for the department of home economics in Hayes Hall.

The appropriation to the College of Engineering of $1300 will be used to secure additional instruction in the department of chemistry.

HAVE NEW FORESTRY PROFESSOR

Norman W. Scherer, a Graduate of Michigan, is Added to Department.

As assistant professor of Forestry, Norman W. Scherer, a graduate of University of Michigan, has been appointed to the Department of Forestry. He will teach elementary Forestry, Protection, Mensuration and Silviculture.

YELPING CANINES DISTURB CAMPUS CALM

English Temple Rings With Strange Music

"How can one concentrate on the aesthetic with those dogs howling in the Veterinary building?" Various earnest souls in the English Temple are asking this question with much annoyance.

It was quite sufficient, they say, when the engines rumbling past and the noise of concrete mixers broke in on their meditations. Now they are to punctuate their literary efforts with the moans of the doleful doggies.

Pestiferous tom cats can be successfully eliminated with alarm clocks, flat irons and hot water. Can anybody suggest a way of getting back to peace and quiet in the English Temple?

TANGO IS PERMITTED BY AMUSEMENT BOARD

Dean Breyfogel Discusses Social Life Before Girls Pan Hellenic Mass Meeting.

Proposition to Have Professional Danseuse to Teach Four of New Dances.

"Social Life Within the University" was the subject of Dean Breyfogel's talk to the girls Pan-Hellenic mass meeting at the Women's Union Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Breyfogel divided her subject into two heads, social life within the fraternity and social life without. She took up three phases of life within the fraternities, entertainments, chaperones, and dances.

She discussed the new dances and said that they would not be prohibited by the amusement committee. She also discussed the advisability of instituting a professional danseuse who would teach the correct way of dancing the new dances. "I am told they are very stately when danced correctly," said Miss Breyfogel.

There were only thirty members present owing to the unfavorable condition of the weather.

AT CO-ED'S DANCE MEN WILL NOT PRANCE

No College Boys to Taste of Joys

Bacon and eggs, parsnips and peas came together in the nature of things and dances are supposed to be built for a man and a maid—both—but here comes a dancing party with all girls. See? All girls and no men in evidence.

Dean Breyfogel gives a dance in Orton Hall, Friday from 3 to 5:30 to which all the girls of the University are invited. Miss Breyfogel has not decided whether she will continue the plan of Friday afternoon parties in the Women's Union which she originated last year. "There are so many parties to be given in the building in the future that I want to avoid conflicts in dates," said Miss Breyfogel when asked if the Friday afternoon parties would be taken up this year.

FACULTY WILL REVISE THE SUMMER COURSE

Meeting This Afternoon to Decide Changes in Curriculum of Summer School.

New Board in Charge of Summer Session Will be Appointed at This Time.

Special meeting of the Arts College faculty will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock to take up the matter of revising the rules concerning summer session and the summer courses.

Changes have been necessary from time to time in the administration of the summer session, and the special meeting is being held to revise and bring up to date the rules concerning the work.

Will Appoint Committees.

Six standing committees, which have not been appointed, will be appointed at this time by the president. The new board in charge of the summer session is one of the boards that have not been appointed. The other five boards to be appointed are the committee on instruction, on registration, the schedule committee, the entrance board and the board of co-operation with colleges.

L. E. Wolfe has been appointed as secretary of the entrance board and is now in charge, but the other members of the board have not been appointed. These committees will not be given in the new directory, owing to the lateness in being appointed. The standing committees are given in the directory on sale today.

WILEY SPECIALIZED AT PURDUE

Took all Courses in Animal Husbandry While in College.

All the courses in animal husbandry, at Purdue University, were taken by James R. Wiley, the new assistant in animal husbandry at Ohio State. In addition, a year's work in dairy husbandry was completed.

His vacations, while he was going to school, were spent at stock farms through Indiana. He graduated at Purdue in 1913.

DR. THOMPSON SPEAKS ON FINER THINGS OF LIFE

The Differences Between Education and Refinement are Made by Speaker at Convocation Talk.

"We can have refinement without education or wealth," said President W. O. Thompson in convocation last Wednesday.

The subject of his address was "Are the Finer Things in Life Worth While?" He said in part, "The laboring man, the merchant, the professional man and the student only go so far out of the range of their necessities as they are forced to. Although the area of necessities is constantly growing, the finer things in life will not interfere with these necessities. Politeness and the appreciation of others cost little in time, money or brains."

"It has been said that college students do not practice the finer things of life. We should study to adorn the doctrine of education."

PREXY AND STATE OFFICIALS WILL MAKE WEEK TRIP

Party to Visit Universities of Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois.

PURPOSE TO BETTER STATE

Atty. Gen. Hogan, Lieut. Gov. Greenlund, Cowan of House Finance Committee to go.

With the ultimate good of Ohio State in view, President W. O. Thompson, with a party of state officials, including Attorney-General T. S. Hogan, Lieutenant-Governor W. A. Greenlund and John Cowan, chairman of the house finance committee, will tour middle western state universities next week.

Of the faculty, J. N. Bradford, university architect, and Carl E. Steeb, secretary of the board of trustees, will accompany the party. As many of the trustees as are able will also go.

The schools included in the itinerary are the Universities of Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois. Monday will be spent at Ann Arbor, Madison will be visited Tuesday and Wednesday, and the party will finish at Champaign on Thursday and Friday.

Buildings, classes, grounds and general methods will be objects of study. Especially will the method of financing be observed. All these institutions receive larger appropriations from their respective states than does Ohio state.

Due to these large appropriations they are enabled to do research work, have better facilities, never become overcrowded, nor hampered by lack of funds. The work of these schools, especially Wisconsin, is nation-wide in character.

State officials have expressed a willingness to aid Ohio State and under the present administration have gone farther than preceding ones in letting State broaden to meet its ever-increasing needs. It is expected that Chairman Cowan will bring back good reports to the house finance committee.

FACULTY TO CONSIDER NOON CLASS PROPOSAL

Prof. Lord Presents Plan for Consideration at Last Meeting to Aid Congestion.

Referred to Committee on Rules Composed of President and Deans of Colleges.

Classes from 12 to 1 p. m. is the latest proposal to the faculty. At the last meeting, Professor H. C. Lord presented the matter of noon classes as the solution of congestion in classrooms and at the eating places.

The proposal was referred to the committee on rules, which consists of the president and the deans of the colleges. When asked concerning the noon classes, Professor Lord stated that the matter was not impracticable. The day's schedule would be nine hours instead of eight.

Students would have less difficulty arranging their work, he stated. The buildings and the classrooms would be less crowded. Also the eating places would be less crowded, and the change would react to the benefit of all concerned.

A special faculty meeting is being held this afternoon, and the matter of noon classes may come up. The opinion of the rules committee was not learned.

APPLES ARE YEAR OLD BUT GOOD

SENDS HOME DIARY INSTEAD OF LETTERS

Professor Griggs Unable to Get Letters to United States But Once a Month.

Believes Alaskan Kelp Fields Will Not be Worked—Are Not Valuable Commercially.

Sending home every month a book of his own impressions was the unique method of correspondence which Prof. Robert F. Griggs, of the Botany Department used during his Alaskan trip last summer. After leaving Seattle, May 1, for a governmental survey of the Alaskan kelp fields, he had communication with the United States only once a month until August 11. Three extensive diaries form a complete record of his trip.

Concerning the results of the survey, Mr. Griggs states that the kelp of Alaska will probably not be so profitable for commerce as that of the southern fields, and at least for the present the Alaskan fields will not be worked. The commercial value of dried kelp as a fertilizer is principally due to the potash which it contains.

Duies in the Botany Department since Mr. Griggs has returned have made it impossible for him to prepare an account of his trip for publication.

OBERLIN HOLDS STATE TO 0-0 TIE

MORRISSEY GOES OVER; SCORE DOES NOT COUNT

By LEROY BRADFORD.

For the third time in four years Ohio State and Oberlin battled to a scoreless tie, when the Scarlet and Gray, after 60 minutes of grueling play, were unable to successfully cross the goal line of the Congregationalists. If Good Dame Fortune had not followed Coach Metcalf's proteges so ardently, Ohio State would have won the game by at least one touchdown.

Shortly after the opening of the first quarter, four minutes to be exact, Halfback Eddie Morrissey intercepted one of Fisher's forward passes on his forty yard line and ran sixty yards for a touchdown. Unfortunately, one of "Cy" Snyder's fingers happened to be offside and the quick eye of Headlinesman Ingersoll detected it, thus robbing State of its only score.

Several times after this Ohio State was within scoring distance, but the extra punch was lacking or an inopportune penalty prevented them from placing the pigskin behind the bar. Time after time Ohio State would advance the ball down the field, only to lose it when within striking distance of the goal.

Only once was the Scarlet and Gray in danger, and that immediately after Morrissey's touchdown failed to count. Oberlin secured the ball on an interchange of punts in mid-field and started operations. Two forward passes, Fisher to Forbush to Henderson, placed the ball within twelve yards of Ohio's goal. At end run by Henderson was stopped by Schad and Willaman, then three unsuccessful attempts at forward passes gave the ball to Ohio State on their ten yard line. After that Oberlin was never in a very good position to score.

The 400 rooters that followed the team to Oberlin were rewarded by seeing a team that fought to the end. No team that ever represented the Scarlet and Gray worked harder and displayed more fight than did the team Saturday, but it seemed that the breaks all went the Oberlin way. Great credit should be given to the loyal band of Ohio State cohorts who gave up six months' tobacco money to follow the team. Led by "Pink" Tenney, they did themselves proud, never stopping their cheers until the referee's whistle put an end to the contest.

Fullback "Honus" Graf, as acting captain, led the team like a master. His line plunging was wonderful, and in addition he was a "bear" on the defense. Time and again, with three or four yards to go on the fourth down, Quarterback Pickrel would call on him, and it was seldom that he failed to get the needed yards.

Ohio State failed to successfully carry out the forward pass, only once did it result in a material gain, when End Rush Cherry received one on his forty yard line, getting way for twenty five yards before being fumbled.

Quarterback Pickrel had the toughest job of any in trying to handle Fisher's punts. The Oberlin leader had a knack of placing the ball just out of "Pick's" reach, and in this way the Congregationalists annexed many extra yards. However, Pickrel came back strong on the offense, as his way of hurling himself over the line of scrimmage gained many yards for Ohio State.

To Captain Fisher belongs a large share of credit in the manner which Oberlin played. He was the life of the Congregationalist team, instilling most of the ginger, in addition to doing practically all the ground gaining and punting for his team. However, in the last few minutes of the game, he was ejected for rough work and his team penalized half the distance to their goal. Thellar at end played a nice game, considering that his regular position has been at tackle.

The places of last year's ends, Pyle and Young, have not been filled, and it will take considerable work on the part of Coach Metcalf to whip anyone into shape who can come anywhere near filling their places.

NORTHWESTERN AGAIN BEATEN BY BIG SCORE

Emulating the biblical adage, Northwestern, after being soundly thrashed by Purdue last week, gently turned her other cheek to the ferocious Illinois squad Saturday and received another slap in the nature of a 37 to 0 defeat.

Coach Zuppke's men were not forced to exert themselves to overwhelm the Conference goats, but will have their fists full when they meet Coach Sheldon's crew next Saturday.

Lafayette, Ind., boasts of a real team this year for Andy Smith's Purdue fighters held Wisconsin to a 7-7 draw Saturday. This was the first critical game of the Conference season and when the dopest-singers begin plying their trade the Boiler-makers will be right in the running for Conference leadership.

The big surprise of Saturday's melee was the defeat of the Gophers by the Nebraska Corn-Huskers. One touchdown did the work but Minnesota stock fell low with their unexpected demise. Iowa was decisively whipped by the Windy City squad 23-0, but Coach Stag's moleskinaires did not have to open up to turn the victory.

Important contests will be staged next Saturday when Purdue and Chicago cross swords on Marshall field, and Illinois meets Indiana at Indianapolis.

FRESHMEN SEND BAND TO OBERLIN

Money is Raised in Record-breaking Time by First Year Men.

Within ten minutes the freshmen last Thursday afternoon in chapel raised the sum of $117.50 to send the band to Oberlin. "Pink" Tenney, the cheerleader, asked the first year men to contribute.

This was the first time in the history of the University that so large a sum was raised within so short a time. A number of the first year men who did not make their contributions Thursday afternoon did so at the rally Thursday night. At that time, the fund was increased to $160, a sufficient amount to send a band of 45 pieces to the game.

PIGSKIN PUNTS AND PASSES

Saturday's game was the third tie the two teams have played in the last four years and the scores in all were the same, 0-0.

Thirty-eight comprised the party which left Columbus via the Big Four Friday noon. In addition to 30 players, Head Coach Wilce, Director St. John, Treasurer Royer, Trainer Brady, Assistant Managers Kimball, Steuve and Watt and Tony Angelo, made the trip. The party went to Grafton and from there by special traction to Elyria where a short practice session was held in the afternoon. The team left dressed for the fray Saturday just a few minutes before 2 o'clock, arriving in Oberlin a little before game time.

As the Columbus and Cleveland papers state it, it was a very technical technicality that robbed Ohio of a touchdown and a 7-0 victory during the early part of the first quarter.

Graf was acting captain in place of Captain Geissman who was unable to get in the game because of injuries sustained in the Western Reserve game the week before. Geissman was in a suit on the sidelines, however, and had a brace on his knee which would have allowed him to play had his presence been vitally necessary.

Oberlin and Cleveland supporters were greatly disappointed after the game. They had figured that Oberlin with a team stronger than any the institution had ever boasted of would practically wipe Ohio off the map.

That run of Eddie Morrissey's down the sidelines past six Oberlin players was a clever piece of work in which several of the team shared through the interference they gave in cutting down the would-be Oberlin tacklers. It was with a heavy heart that the team lined up after hearing Head Linesman Ingersoll's thirteenth-hour decision.

Jimmy Dunn of Wisconsin, end on the same team of which Head Coach Wilce was captain in his football days, was on hand to scout the game for the Badgers. He said after he witnessed the contest that he wasn't so sure the Conference champs could take things easy with the Babes.

Not a touchdown was recorded during the entire game. A record which is seldom recorded in a championship game.

Oberlin as was expected was unable to gain through Ohio's line. Their only substantial gains were through forward passes, of which they worked seven for a total of 65 yards. Nine of their open work passes were either blocked or fell short. Ohio worked two passes for a total of 30 yards and had 12 of her forward passes fail.

The rival cheering at Oberlin was the best that has been heard there in years according to several of the old regulars at the championship contests.

Twenty gallons of Columbus water were carried along by the team for drinking purposes. It was figured that a change might work some harm to the team.

A special car was chartered each way and on the way back a diner was attached to the train from Cleveland to Gallon for the sole use of the team. The squad was treated to a chicken dinner that made them forget for the time being all about their bruises and hurts.

OLD TIMERS RETURN TO PLAY FOOTBALL

With grey in their pompadours, more fat on their waist-lines, less wind in their lungs but with the old do-or-die Ohio State spirit, the "Old Timers" will tackle the "Ineligibles" next Saturday on Ohio Field while the varsity is enjoying an open date.

"Hub" Atkinson stands sponsor for his team of battle-scarred veterans of the early days of football activities around Ohio State and according to "Hub," he has gathered a bunch of real "Old Timers," who in all probability will not last ten minutes but who are backed by a second team of younger grads who will put up a battle royal.

"Rastus" Lloyd, throwing aside his senatorial toga, will head the list of "Old Timers" at right end. "Rastus" formerly captained a State team and will start in Saturday a little over weight, at 220 pounds. Right next to him will be "Jim" Marker, state road commissioner, tipping the beams at only 200 pounds. Guards will present more beef than Ohio Field has seen in many a moon, "Fat" Tillton and "Runt" Gillie between them weighing 615 pounds. In the center of the line will be placed "Big" Van Buskirk, whose 320 pounds are depended upon to stop any center rushes that the "Ineligibles" may try.

"Rink" to Run Team.

"Jim" Lincoln, with 225 pounds of lymph and tissue, and "Fat" Hoyer, weighing 215 pounds, round out the left side of the line. Rink Barrington will bring back the freshman days of the present-day seniors by running the team. Rink is the lightest man with the G. A. R., having increased his avoirdupois up to 180 pounds. "Boss" Kittle, "Fat" Dunsford and "Rube" Schory will attempt to imitate their palmy back-field days when Ohio Field was a corn field.

Second String Men.

To act as first aids to the injured, "Hub" has garnered the following

"Pete" Boli to Lead Cheers.

"Al" Herrstein will desert his hardware store at Chillicothe to help "Doc" Eckstorm coach the old men. "Mother" Ewing, assisted by "Pete" Boli, will create the noise for the grads, but have guaranteed no flip-flops.

To oppose these husky gladiators of former days, a likely bunch of "Ineligibles" has been gathered together. They will be directed by "Whitey" Foss at quarter, George Little, "Bugs" Raymond, drafted from the "Old Timers"; Patton, a former Ohio Wesleyan captain, and Cable, former Kenyon captain, will help fill up the line. "Lizzie" Whitehouse, star footballer at Case last year, will be one of the main attractions of the "Ineligibles." They started practice last evening with all positions filled up and several subs ready to fill in when some of the 300-pound linemen of the "Old Timers" sit down on them.

Old-timers to Attend.

Letters received by "Hub" Atkinson indicate that this will be a banner day for the old-timers and that they are coming back en masse to watch their favorites of a decade ago romp around on the green once more.

All members of the athletic association will be charged 10 cents admission and others 25 cents. The gate receipts will be used to start a fund for the recreative sports on the campus. So far the athletic department has been handicapped in providing for soccer and tennis, as there has been no fund with which to run these sports as they should be in a school the size of Ohio State.

RULES FOR GRADUATION PUBLISHED IN BULLETIN

Matters of Interest to Seniors Contained in Rules and Regulations Booklet Just Published.

Special rules for the conduct of seniors in reference to graduation are contained in the new rules and regulation booklets that have been published.

Although the University editor wants to place the booklets in the hands of all the seniors, there is no method of distribution that could be used. The matters are of such interest to seniors that all seniors are urged to obtain the booklets at the office of the University editor.

The requirement of the graduation fee from students is one of the matters that has in the past led to misunderstandings. All seniors are required to be present at the baccalaureate sermon and the commencement exercises, unless excused by the president.

152 HIT THE TRAIL FOR OBERLIN TRIP

Coach Wilce is Chief Speaker at Rally Last Thursday Evening and Converts are Many.

Rousing Speeches Bring Out True Ohio State Spirit—Tribute is Paid to "Pink" Tenney.

With the words of Coach Wilce ringing in their ears, 152 Ohio State students surged on the chapel stage and signed their names to the list of those who would go to Oberlin, at the football rally last Thursday evening. The rally took on the appearance of a Billy Sunday meeting. The audience needed no second invitation to buy their tickets for the game.

The meeting was opened with a selection by the band. Prof. T. E. French, president of the athletic board, was the first speaker, and was followed by "Doc" Welsh. "Doc" raised the enthusiasm of the audience to the highest pitch with his statement, "I hate Oberlin from the ground up."

Coach Wilce Talks.

Coach Wilce was the next speaker, and spoke straight from the shoulder. The students were talked to in a manner in which they had never been talked to before. They were convinced that the team could have no chance of winning unless they knew that they were being supported by the school. "If the school sends one less than 150 men to Oberlin, I'll be ashamed of you," were his closing words.

At the conclusion of the coach's remarks, the students were asked to come to the stage and sign a paper pledging them to go and root for the team at the Oberlin game. The band struck up a lively air while the boys marched up to the stage to sign their names.

Pay Tribute to "Pink."

"Dave" Warwick, former Ohio State cheer leader, was the fourth speaker. In speaking of the rally Friday, Mr. Warwick said: "I have attended practically all of the rallies at Ohio State during the past ten years, and I can safely say that this is the first at which I have seen any 'pep' or 'ginger' or a proper willingness to pitch in and support the team."

All the speakers paid tribute to the recently elected cheer leader, "Pink" Tenney. He was characterized by Coach Wilce as "the liveliest and most energetic man in school."

Help Send Band Away.

Just before the meeting closed, donations were asked to the fund begun in the afternoon by the freshmen for sending the band to Oberlin. Forty-three dollars was collected, a hat full of dollar bills being contributed by the team. The players were given an ovation on leaving the hall.

"Pink" Tenney was the last speaker. He assured the boys that they would not be asked for contributions at the next rally, which will be held the Friday preceding the Indiana game.

MUSICIANS ARE STRANDED IN WELLINGTON

Wellington came near having a band concert Saturday night, when the 35 piece State band arrived in that burg and found their financial aide-de-camp had hied over to Norwalk on a visit. On the way up the tickets were given into the care of Lute Laylin. He managed to hold down his job until after the game when in the excitement of the occasion he boarded a car for the neighboring town.

On his arrival at Norwalk he telephoned the ticket agent at Wellington of the circumstances. The band was notified and immediately started on a hunt for some one to finance them back to Columbus.

Royce Saves the Day.
R. M. Royce, treasurer of the Athletic Association, was at the station awaiting the arrival of the team on the train from Grafton. When informed of the dilemma he loaned the band enough money to get back. The Big Four will redeem the tickets which were carried away by the absent-minded business manager.

The special left Wellington on the return trip almost two hours late and did not arrive in Columbus until after midnight. All reported a good time, however, and no accidents occurred to mar the trip.

OHIO STATE ALUMNI MEET IN PITTSBURGH

Sixty Old Grads of Pittsburgh Association Review Old Times Saturday Night.

Organization Plans Large Meeting to be Held on Ohio State Day November 29.

Sixty Ohio State alumni ranging in classes from among the first to the last gathered in the Dutch room of the Fort Pitt hotel in Pittsburgh Saturday night and went over old times. Plans were also formulated for a monster meeting to be held there on Ohio State day, November 29.

N. W. Storer, president of the Ohio State Alumni association, presided at the gathering. Speeches were made by Dave Warwick, alumni secretary, J. W. Spielman, C. L. Johnson, N. W. Storer and others. President Storer in his talk outlined several plans which he thought would be of great benefit to the associations.

Meeting Day Proposed.

A common meeting day at which Ohio State men all over the country would gather together for lunch was one of the plans proposed. In this way it would be possible for the traveling men to meet with their Ohio State college mates and would form a closer bond among the different associations.

In his talk, President Storer said in part: "The alumni body as a whole will look to the Pittsburgh association to be up and doing all the time and it is necessary that we show them that we are capable of doing this and a whole lot more besides. This Pittsburgh association should be three times as great as it is and if every member present will do his part we will have one of the largest associations in the country by the time Ohio State day is here." Quite a bit of enthusiasm was evidenced at the gathering and no little pleasure was evinced when the returns came in from the Oberlin game announcing that Ohio had tied with Oberlin and that she should have been credited with a victory through a touchdown which the officials refused to allow.

PROF. MCKENZIE GOES TO INDIAN CONFERENCE

Prof. F. A. McKenzie Addresses the Third Annual Conference of American Indians in Denver.

Request for a law defining the status of the Indian and opening the court of claims to him, and a protest against the national Indian school system were the chief planks in the platform adopted by the third annual conference of the Society of the American Indian at Denver last week. Prof. F. A. McKenzie attended the conference and delivered an address on "The Duty of the Indian and the White Man Toward Each Other."

"The conference was attended by a larger number than were present here," said Professor McKenzie, "but the quality of the work done was not much superior. The meetings were more informal and extemporaneous. Denver did not give as much aid in attendance as Columbus offered."

EXPECT BLOODHOUNDS TO DECREASE THEFTS

Veterinary Clinic Will Have Two Bloodhounds Added to Stock to Check Thievery.

Dean White Thinks Possession of Hounds Will Prevent Repetition of Butchery.

Bloodhounds are to be added to the list of animals kept by the Clinic Department of Ohio State. For several years, thefts have been committed about the University grounds, and in most instances the thieves have remained undiscovered.

The most serious of these thefts have been the butchering of live stock on the University farm. Last year a cow and a hog were killed. Two weeks ago a hog, valued at $50, was butchered.

In the belief that bloodhounds might be of use in such cases as these, Dean White, of the Veterinary College, has decided to purchase two of them.

"Also," said Professor White, "the moral effect which the knowledge that we are keeping bloodhounds will have, should greatly lessen the chances of such crimes being committed."

POULTRY STUDENTS ERECT CHICKEN HOUSE ON FARM

Combine Theory With Practice and Follow Out Principles Laid Down in Class Room.

Combining theory with practice, the students of poultry husbandry are building a chicken house on the poultry plant. Prof. F. S. Jacoby planned the house and it is being erected under his direction.

Each student of the class of thirty-five reports at every laboratory period and has certain work assigned to him as regards the construction of the house and for this work he is held responsible. "It is an excellent method," said Professor Jacoby, "to acquaint the students with the fundamentals of good poultry house construction which can not be obtained from a text-book."

EXPLAINS VOLUNTEER MOVEMENT

Speaker at Weekly Meeting of Y. W. C. A. Tells Object of Student Band.

"Ohio State has a live, wide-awake band of Student Volunteers," said Caroline Langworthy at the weekly Y. W. C. A. meeting last Tuesday. Dr. S. S. Palmer, of the Broad Street Presbyterian church, was scheduled to speak, but was unable to be present. "The Student Volunteer movement is established in almost all of the large colleges of the United States, and has spread to many foreign countries," continued Miss Langworthy. "Its purpose is not to supply or train missionaries, but to give students a missionary spirit, not only for the foreign field, but at home and in colleges."

MEN FROM KENTUCKY INSPECT UNIVERSITY

Committee From Neighboring State Visit Campus Last Monday.

Praise Systems in Use by Bursar and Registrar at Ohio State.

Ohio State was inspected last Monday by four men from the University of Kentucky. The systems of registration, of receiving and handling supplies, the methods of carrying on the financial affairs and of operating the University were examined at length by the visitors.

The party consisted of Henry S. Garker, president; Hywell Davis, business manager and a member of the board of trustees; Prof. E. L. Gillis, registrar, and Charles H. Dietrick, a graduate of 1878 at Ohio State.

The departments were studied by the men interested in the several phases, and the methods were discussed with the men and women in charge here.

Committee Praise System.

Professor Gillis, the registrar at Kentucky, examined the system in the registrar's office at Ohio State, and afterwards said in part: "The system is the best in the United States. We need go no farther. We have seen the best. Ohio State was recommended to us before we came, and it has justified the claims."

The other members of the party were enthusiastic, and were high in their praise. The party left Monday evening for Cincinnati for the return trip to Kentucky.

Another inspection party will visit Ohio State this week to examine the methods in the bursar's and registrar's offices. They will come here from the University of Iowa.

STUDENT FOR OCTOBER HAS MANY FEATURES

Article on Scotland's Stock Shows Compares American and Foreign Methods.

The History of the Experiment Station and Its Work is Given By Director Thorne.

Two articles on the history and work of the Ohio Experiment Station appear in the October issue of the Agricultural Student. Other articles on Scotland's stock shows, the country agricultural adviser, the threshing industry, and the futurity principle are unusual and make the number of the Student unusually interesting.

One article on the experiment station work is by Charles E. Thorne, director of the station, and is on the subject, "Should the Station in Ohio be Moved?" The article tells of the removal of the station from the University to the present location near Wooster. Reasons for the moving of the station are given, and a consideration of the present situation arrives at the conclusion that the station should not be moved.

The October number contains many illustrations of local scenes and stock, and of celebrated prize-winning stock throughout the world. Prof. T. N. Carver, director of the rural organization service, at Washington, has an article on his work in rural communities. An article by Tom L. Smith, 1914, tells of the lure of the autumn days and scenes.

FAIR GROUNDS WILL BE SECURED FOR SHORT AGS

State Agricultural Commission Unofficially Express Themselves Favorable to Plan for Winter Course.

That the fair grounds will be secured for the short course in Agriculture this winter is now practically assured. Although the state agricultural commission has not yet taken action on the matter, members of the commission have unofficially expressed themselves in favor of opening the buildings on the fair grounds to the short ags.

The recent appropriation of the emergency board to the University has made a provision of $2300 to be used for the winter course. This money will be used in equipping a dairy building at the state fair grounds and for securing additional instructors and special lecturers.

SOPHS WILL LISTEN TO RAINY DAY TALKS

Captain G. L. Converse Will Deliver a Course of Lectures to Rookie Regiment.

Addresses Will Deal With Ohio State Spirit in Civil and Military Organizations.

"No drill today—By Order." This notice will no longer appear on the bulletin boards to thrill the sophomores on rainy days.

Beginning last Monday, and on every bad day following, Captain Converse will deliver a series of rainy day talks in the band room.

The talks will cover not only military subjects but other general topics as well.

Monday Captain Converse talked to the men on the subject of Ohio State spirit in athletics, student activities and military organization.

Urges Discipline.

He said: "Discipline is the secret of school spirit of all sorts. From an enrollment of 600 men at West Point they pick each year one of the best football teams in the country. There is no reason why Ohio State can't do just as big things as this. If every student insists on discipline we'll have it."

The sophomores were urged to set a standard for the freshmen class. Its your first chance to show them where your training counts.

PORTO RICAN ENTERS S. O. M. C.

Walks to Columbus From New York Via Chicago to Take Dentistry.

Jose R. Becerra, a native of Porto Rico, has entered Starling-Ohio, after walking from New York to Chicago and then back to Columbus. With two countrymen as companions, Becerra left New York, July 17. The others did not finish the trip, but the medical student reached Chicago, August 19, and then returned to Columbus.

When the student began the trip, he intended to enter the University of Illinois, but decided to return to Ohio. He has studied for two years in a dental school in New York. He continued through to Chicago, as he had first intended in order to deliver a message to Mayor Harrison, from Mayor Gaynor, said to be the last message of the kind between the two. By working at odd jobs along the way and lecturing on Porto Rico, Becerra made the expenses of the trip and reached here with more money than when he started. He intends to study dentistry here, and then return to Porto Rico.

WANT MORE CANDIDATES TO TRYOUT FOR SOCCER

Series of Games With Ohio Wesleyan in Infant Sport Are Being Arranged

More candidates are wanted for State's cosmopolitan soccer team. Twenty-five men have been chasing and kicking the spheroid under the direction of Professor Hisslop, but more men are needed for the various positions before a Scarlet and Grey team can be picked to cope successfully with other schools.

Negotiations are under way for a series of games with Ohio Wesleyan and according to Mr. St. John, the first game will probably be played on November 8th. All new candidates are requested to report to Mr. Castleman at the athletic house.

Cane Rush is Abolished.

The annual cane rush between freshmen and sophomores in the University of Indiana has been abolished by the student council of that institution. President William L. Bryan expressed the wish that the event be discontinued because of the recent fatality in the tank scrap at Purdue. The fight at the Indiana University had for a number of years been characterized by its violence.

In the future the sack scrap will take the place of the rush. Ten sacks filled with straw are placed in the middle of the field and the class carrying the most sacks to its goal line wins the contest. This scrap is used at the Universities of Wisconsin and Colorado.

NEW MOTTO IS STUDENT SPEAKERS

Natural History Society Will in Future Have Only Student Speakers.

Speeches by students only is the motto of the Natural History Society, which announces its next meeting for Monday evening, October 27, in room 4, Orton Hall.

Blanche McAvoy, newly elected president, will speak, and Earl Reed, graduate student in zoology, will also talk. All lovers of outdoor life are especially welcome.

Election of officers for the club, October 13, resulted as follows: President, Blanche McAvoy; vice president, J. L. King; secretary, Lillian E. Humphrey.

JUNIORS WIN FIRST INTER-CLASS MEET

Cross-Country Run Results in Easy Victory For Third Year Men.

Annual Track Meet Will be Held Next Saturday, Expect Many Surprises.

The first of the series of intra-mural contests was inaugurated last Friday when the juniors captured the cross-country run with the seniors right at their heels. Contrary to expectations the freshman athletes finished a poor last with the sophomores finishing a few points in front of them. The scores tallied by the teams were as follows: Juniors 42, seniors 43, Sophomores 62, and Freshmen 90.

Flying the colors of the victorious third year team were Dawson, Hall, Robinson, Rittler and Zhenbery. Their time for the five-mile course was very slow, although a vast improvement over last week's form. Coach Castleman is pleased at the improved showing of the runners but is far from satisfied at the seasons outlook. Next Saturday while the old-timers are hunting for their lost wind the second intra-mural affair will be pulled off in the shape of the annual inter-class track meet. All the teams are in fairly good shape and some hot competition will be on the boards.

The subject of admitting co-eds to the membership of the club will probably be settled at this meeting. At the last meeting an application for membership was made, but the matter was referred to the next meeting.

Dr. H. S. Wingert, head of the Department of Physical Education, has nearly 1100 men under his supervision this year. To date 1068 men have registered in the gymnasium classes. Although the active floor work has started, the physical exams are not yet completed. The examinations will be continued until every man in the department has had a personal examination.

All classes attend one lecture each week. Dr. Wingert delivers three lectures in person in the band room. In plain non-professional terms, the men are told how to care for themselves; how to get well when sick and how to stay well; what and when to eat; how to bathe, and various other information in regards to good health.

PRaises GERMAN PEOPLE

Says Germans Greatest People Pleased With European Roads.

"The Germans are the greatest people on earth," said Prof. Duncan of the English department, speaking of his recent trip abroad. They are neat and thorough in everything they do, and much thriftier than we Americans. "He spent several weeks in Germany, visiting most of the important cities there."

Professor Duncan visited the principal cities of Italy, France, Holland and England. Much of the journey through England and Scotland was made afoot in company with another American. "The people over there are accustomed to walking distances that we Americans insist on making by motor or trolley," said Professor Duncan. "The roads are excellent and the distances between places of interest are short."

HUNTER IN THE AVE

Students Must Study. President Hill of the University of Missouri said in his annual address: "It is the students' business to study, and I believe the faculty will enforce that rule. I am sure that most of the freshmen have not yet learned to study, but you will be taught to do that this year. Students must learn to think. It is the ideal of the faculty to perfect our methods of teaching you to assimilate and to think."

GOLDFISH REPLACE CARP IN MIRROR LAKE DEPTHS

Fed Daily in Summer on Crumbs—They Can Live for Months in Winter on Scanty Lake Food.

If you are away from home over Sunday and forget to tell Mary to be sure and feed the goldfish every morning, they will probably still be alive when you get home. "Goldfish," says Forrest B. H. Brown, University florist, "require very little food. Although the fish in Mirror Lake are fed a daily ration of bread crumbs during the summer, in the winter they can easily live for a month or two on the very scanty food which they find at the bottom of the lake."

Thousands of goldfish now replace the German carp which were put in Mirror Lake to eat the vegetation which destroys its beauty. The carp are impracticable, according to Mr. Brown, because they eat other varieties of smaller fish. Goldfish are just as valuable in destroying vegetation and are not so particular about being "the only fish in the pond."

They multiply rapidly. The first few months after they are hatched they are very small and black. They change during the summer to the golden colored fish with which every one is familiar.

CONSTITUTION WILL BE PUBLISHED BY COUNCIL

By-Laws as Amended Last Year Put Up in Booklet Form—Contain Faculty Rules.

Council to Open Office in Ohio Union Next Monday—Have Daily Office Hours.

Five hundred copies of the constitution and by-laws of the student council will be distributed within a few days. The booklet will contain the amendments adopted by the classes at the election last May. In it will also be incorporated the faculty regulations governing local elections, eligibility and the Big Nine conference rulings.

Considerable trouble was caused at the last election because of the unfamiliarity of the students with the faculty requirements. By the publication of these rules in a concise form it is thought that this confusion will be done away with.

After next Monday, university students may meet student council members in their office every day. The room donated to the council by the board of overseers of Ohio Union has been furnished and work will be taken up there at the above date.

The office has been provided in order to bring the council in closer touch with the student body. In this way a student may petition the council or have a bill considered without attending the meetings. The office will be open every day except Saturday from 12:30 to 2 o'clock.

FRESHMAN LAWYERS ARE TO BANQUET NOVEMBER 5

Faculty Will Be Guests of Honor—Prepare for Annual Football Game Tomorrow on Ohio Field.

Provided the faculty committee on school functions is willing, freshman lawyers will banquet Wednesday evening, November 5, in Ohio Union. Judge E. B. Dillon will be asked to act as toastmaster. The law faculty will be guests of honor.

L. W. St. John, director of athletics, and George Little, assistant football coach, have been secured to referee and umpire the freshman-junior law football game tomorrow morning at ten o'clock on Ohio Field.

The toast list at the freshman banquet will include those professors having freshman classes. They are Dean J. J. Adams, Professor G. W. Rightmire, W. B. Cockley, A. H. Tuttle and C. E. Blanchard. A committee composed of Fred G. Carpenter, Francis J. Wright, A. Throckmorton, and the two freshman representatives of the law council, Chas. D. Brown and Huntley Dupre, is completing plans for the banquet.

AGS INCREASE 1000 IN NUMBER IN SIX YEARS

"Formerly We Had to Drag Them in; Now We Can't Keep Them Out," says Professor.

Need of Additional Instructors For Department of Agriculture Keenly Felt.

From 282 students to more than 1200, exclusive of the winter course, marks the course of the Department of Agriculture in six years. "Formerly we had to drag them in, but now we can't keep them out," says one of the instructors of the department.

It is this rapid growth that has made it impossible to accommodate in the buildings of the department the 500 short ags that are expected this winter.

The need of additional instructors in the department has been keenly felt for several years, and about half of the appropriation of $172 granted by the emergency board to the four years' course will be used for this purpose.

In 1910, with an enrollment of 665 students, there was a faculty of 27 professors, assistants, and instructors. Last year, although the department enrolled 1046 students, an increase of over one-half of the former number, the faculty was not increased.

The sophomore class in agricultural chemistry numbering 190, has been removed from Townshend hall to the veterinary amphitheater. The laboratories in departments of home economics, sophomores, and advanced agricultural chemistry are crowded and are in use nearly every hour of the day.

NO MOVIES TO BE SHOWN ON CAMPUS THIS YEAR

Faculty Puts Ban on Pictures Because They Interfere With Studies. Machine Used in Classes.

Campus fusers cannot sit on the grass and watch university moving pictures this year. Such was the edict issued the latter part of last year by the faculty when it adopted the minority report of Prof. H. C. Lord, prohibiting motion pictures being shown on the campus. This action was taken in the belief that the picture shows interfered with the studies.

Bad weather and small attendance depleted the finances of the picture company. Prof. F. A. McKenzie furnished the funds for the organization of the company. The picture machine was purchased by Prof. Edward Orline, and will be used in his classes in ceramics.

So full that the intensity of thy vibrations
Fire, and thy colors dip. But thou art beautiful.

GEORGE BELLOW'S WILL EXCEL SARGENT IN ART

Says A. H. Lundburg at Meeting of Pen and Pencil Club—Technique Will Increase With Maturity.

George Bellows will be a greater painter than Sargent, was the prophecy of August H. Lundburg, of the Columbus Pen and Pencil club, while speaking of American artists. Mr. Bellows was an Ohio State student in 1905.

His work is rather crude and rough, but it is because his ideas come so fast that he must express one and hurry to let the next one out. When he gets older, his technique will be better, but he will never be as technical as Sargent.

His pictures are hurried. They are not supposed to be detailed pictures, but just impressions and glimpses of every-day city life.

When you paint a beautiful woman you can use perfect, careful brush strokes, but when an ugly, realistic fact is your subject, like Bellows shows, it must be done in an entirely different way, with quick rough strokes. Painting is just like music or literature, an expression of art, and you can't do a tango to a slow waltz, or glide in a waltz to a turkey-trot.

Atmosphere is the whole thing in a picture, and that is what Bellows gets. The subjects of his pictures are recognized and placed instinctively. It is their strength, realism, and impression of power that makes them attractive.

RED-HEAD BOYS BRING MAIDENS JOYS

Auburn Tops Watch Show-Girls Hop

Everybody loves a red-head. Or at least every red-head does. Here's the proof.

Lambda Tau Rho last Saturday night, thanks to the cheerful hue of their auburn locks, displayed their brilliant presence in a perfectly good Keith box, and it didn't cost them a cent.

They were the guests for the evening of the collection of auburn tops who last week had the premier role on the bill. So the bunch stretched their legs, and lolled in the limelight, like a little pool of fire in the surrounding darkness.

Between the two fires, the one on the stage and the one in the box, John McCord fiddled away madly. Even so fiddled Nero in the days of Rome. Outside, Manager Prosser tore up and down the lobby, wondering wildly if his fire insurance was paid up. The panting force of ushers were crouched two by two, at the exit doors, ready to do their duty at the risk of their lives.

Just nine Lambda Tau's there were, and just nine, too, of the bluish-topped demure little maids in the cast. What a remarkable coincidence! It is too bad the boys had to go home right after the show.

GIRLS AWAIT DIRECTORY FOR WORK IN SELF GOV'T.

Proctors and Lodging-House Presidents To Be Selected as Soon as It is Issued, is Verdict.

"Proctors and house presidents for lodging-house girls cannot be appointed until the university directory is completed and the north end of the city sectionalized," said Dean Caroline Breyfogle to Woman's Council girls at their meeting last Wednesday afternoon.

Mary Elliott, Nan Sharples, and Lois Barrington who represent lodging-house girls in the council will assist the dean in choosing girls familiar with the plans of the Woman's Self-Government association to hold these positions.

PROF. LUDWIG LEWISOHN SAYS CULTIVATE POETRY

Tells Class in German Lyric to Cultivate Poetical Taste—Now They Beat Time to Metre.

"Cultivate the shivers that run down your spine when you read poetry. If you have them naturally, so much the better; but by all means don't be so busy looking at the words and trying to tell feet from meters that you can't hear the muse when she sings."

Thus spoke Professor Ludwig Lewisoohn to his class in German lyric. The dutiful class is striving manfully to obey. It is even learning to beat time to the various metres.

Should you see a rapt individual through the halls, muttering to himself and waving the air with one hand, don't send for the patrol. It's only one of the amateur poets licking a bunch of unruly feet into place and trying to find a rhyme for "blaue augen."

FLOWER STORE HAS BEEN OPENED

Block-Crane Floral Co. Will Carry Line of Cut Flowers and Supplies.

Flowers are the latest of the long list of things which can be purchased in the University district. No more are students and faculty members compelled to journey down town for floral supplies. Franklin Block and George Crane, former students at Ohio State, have opened a floral store at Fifteenth avenue and High street.

A stock of cut flowers will be carried on hand, and all kinds of floral designs will be made by experts. The decorating of houses and halls for dances and parties will be a specialty of the new company. At present they are taking orders for halloween goods and decorations.

BE A BOOSTER.

Do you know there's lots o' people
Settin' round in every town,
Growin' like a broody chicken,
Knockin' every good thing down?
Don't be that kind o' fettle,
'Cause they ain't no use on earth,
You just be a booster rooster,
Crowd and boost for all you're worth.

If your state needs boostin', boost her;
Don't hold back and wait to see
If some other fellows 'yillin'—
Sail right in, the country's free.
No one's got a mortgage on it,
It's just yours as much as his,
If your state is shy on boosters,
You get in the boostin' biz.

If things just don't seem to suit you
And the world seem' kinder wrong,
What's the matter with a boostin'
Just to help the things along?
'Cause if things should stop again
We'd be in sorry plight;
You just keep that horn blowin'—
Boost 'er up with all your might.

If you know some feller's fallin',
Just forget 'em, 'cause you know
That same feller's got some good points
Them's the ones you want to show.
'Cast your loaves out on the waters,
They'll come back 's a sayin' true,
Mabbe, too, they'll come back "buttered"
When some feller boosts for you.

Michigan Conference Situation.

Renewed efforts are being made by Michigan on the part of the students to effect a return to the Western Conference. The great majority of the Michigan supporters are in favor of the move.

The Michigan Daily fired the starting gun of the campaign October 11, when in an editorial it was asked in no uncertain terms whose fault it was that the resolutions of last year looking toward reinstatement had not been followed out.

No school in the Conference would wish for the return of the Ann Arbor athletes more than Ohio State. It was our one regret when we severed the Conference that we had to enter relations with Michigan.

By going into the Conference Ohio State indicated her approval of the Conference regulations. Since we have been in the Conference we have found the rules reasonable and fair.

The Big Nine would welcome Michigan back under the regular rules, but for Michigan to attempt to reorganize the Conference by dictating the rules under which she would return would seem to be out of place.

The relations of Ohio State and Michigan have always been most cordial. The Michigan game has in the past been one of our biggest contests. We wish success to the Michigan Daily in its campaign to return Michigan under Conference rules.

Noon Hour Classes.

Classes from 12 to 1 o'clock, during the present noon hour would place the university equipment in use nine hours a day and make it one-eighth more efficient. With the present congestion this would seem a very desirable move.

The question arises whether the student eating at 11 o'clock one day and 2 the next would not become more than one-eighth less efficient. Student life is irregular at best, this rule would simply aggravate matters.

We had hoped that the reform would take the other direction beginning afternoon classes on the half hour, the first at 1:30. At the University of Wisconsin it has been proven that the most efficient work can be done with an hour and one-half for lunch.

The complaint is a common one by professors of the poor attention of one o'clock classes. Every student knows the effort required to keep from dozing through one o'clocks. Three-quarters of an hour of relaxation is none too much for the student brain worker.

The project would be a benefit to the students eating at restaurants and cafeterias. But it would prove a hardship to the vast majority of students who eat at co-operative boarding clubs and fraternities. It would mean that the student clubs would have to pay for the preparation of two meals instead of one.

In the final analysis an educational institution depends upon the efficiency of the student, fully as much, if not more than upon the buildings and equipment.

When the faculty acts upon this rule they should consider fully its reaction upon the student body.

Ohio Union Party.

College life at best is short. We are often told by old grads that we are passing through the most enjoyable period of our lives.

Are you getting your share of that camaraderie and good-fellowship which you should receive as a college student? If not it is because you are selfish and are giving little to your college life.

Saturday night you have the privilege of attending a big get-together meeting at Ohio Union.

It is not only your privilege to be there, but your duty. Not duty to the university, it can get along without you, but duty to yourself. You owe to yourself the broadening influence of this mingling with your fellow students.

Ohio Union is taking the biggest step yet attempted toward democracy and good-feeling at Ohio State. It is not meant for any one group of students, but everyone connected with the institution is invited.

We hope that the union board can make this party a monthly event.

You owe it to yourself to be there.

Sometimes when we recall our acquaintances it takes all fingers of both hands to count our student friends who have an idea a college education is more than a string of Makio titles.

We would be happy if those hog thieves would let the Berkshires alone and go after the kind that ask our girl to go to a dance a half hour before we 'phone.

The difference between our two sundials is that our time-o'-day one shows up when the sun comes out, while our literary specimen comes out and makes the sun show up.

Anyway, men can't laugh at women's millinery "stick-ups" so long as they smoke cigarettes in a four-inch feather-rib holder.

Some fraternity freshmen are like the piggle which thought the fence his world's end.

Sometimes when we read Elbert Hubbard's outpourings we almost wish we were "slightly off," too.

Whoever wrote "There's No Place Like Home," must never have called on a girl at her home.

Keith's every week is about like a thrice-daily diet of boarding-house hash.

The melancholy days have come, but remember the finals and be glad.

LUCKY HORSESHOE IS TAKEN TO OBERLIN

Now Hanging in Athletic House

An iron horseshoe, trimmed with scarlet and gray ribbons, was the symbol taken to Oberlin by the Ohio State rosters. The horseshoe was found by one of the students and was labeled "Oberlin Will Not Score." It occupied a conspicuous place on the train on the way to Wellington and was carried with due pomp in the parade preceding the game.

Just as the special car bearing the Ohio State team from Oberlin pulled out, the horseshoe was presented to Coach Wilce. It was brought back to Columbus by the team and is now hanging in the Athletic house.

WHILE THE TOWER CLOCK TICKS

Monocles.

Once more the University is submerged under a craze which can be explained only on the grounds of feeble-mindedness. This time it is monocles. The monocle was first designed by an Englishman, who could not comprehend all he could see with both eyes. Therefore he invented the monocle, which shut out from his view half the world. The reason that there is only one glass is because a man has to see with the other eye.

The only good thing about a monocle is that it is exclusive. Few people have the nerve to wear them, and others can't make them stick in. As a co-ed once remarked, "I could never love anyone who wore a monocle; they always fall out at the critical moment."

But, after all, there may be some good things about them. If a man takes pleasure in wearing one, it is not for me to deny him that poor boon. I am not heartless enough to snatch from the weeping eye of a monocle lover his one solace and comfort. Who knows what affection may spring up between a kind-hearted imbecile youth and his favorite monocle? What undiscovered romances may exist, hidden from the dull, cold, monocle-less eye of the harsh world?

We often hear of a man dying for love of a dog, or even of a girl, and it is not impossible that these cases in the rush of every-day life may exist among those who are late to classes because they have forgotten their monocles and have to go back home for them.

What a tender thought it is, after all, this mute and mutual affection between two twin souls, the monocle and the monocler!

Unheeding the critical attitude of his friends, unmoved by their taunts and jeers, caring only for his chosen love, he goes on day by day, little recking the busy whirl of the city, as long as he can have his monocle in his left eye, attached to a long black cord. Let us pause for a moment and contemplate this touching scene.

That is why I restrain myself when I see an otherwise human being wearing his life out in a vain attempt to smile with a monocle in his eye. I am often moved to rise up as one man, and, casting my coat off as one might cast off a garment, challenge him to mortal combat, but I refrain. I never did care for mortal combats.

Persons desiring the best results from any mortal combats which they may have on hand need not come to me for co-operation. I will laugh at them in a harsh, cynical manner, and tell them to go away. They need not tell me that mortal combat is a pleasure. I do not believe in giving myself up to pleasure. It makes me carry my arm in a sling, and my nose swell up and turn blue.

CUPID BRINGS FORTH NEW WEAPONS

Velvet Chin Band Latest Plague

Another plague is upon us! The X-ray gown and split skirts have retired in favor of the coquettish thin band of black velvet.

These weapons of Cupid are seen on all kinds and all sizes of maidens. Some look like the "gendarmierie" of France, in them and some look as though they were swathed in chin-reducing straps. A favored few can wear them, and look like the coy little "peace disturbers" they were intended to be.

Have Large Increase.

The University of Buenos Ayres is the largest Latin-American institution in the world. A quarter of a century ago the enrollment reached 500; at the present time the university has an enrollment of over five thousand, comprising students from all parts of the world.

A "Good Fellow" is a pick-pocket in respectable society.

The Good Fellow complacently surveyed his well-groomed reflection in the mirror, then turned to the Altruist, who was tussling with Calc.

"Well, Jack, what d'ya think a me?" said the Good Fellow, as he absently minded appropriated his roommate's pet scarf pin from the dresser.

The Altruist scowled, and said, "Well, if you insist, I must say that you're the jolliest good fellow, the biggest thief, and the colossalist fool in school."

"Why, Jack, dearie!" exclaimed the good fellow, over-solicitously. "Tummy-ache again? Too many crabs for supper?"

"Chubby, you'd amuse me if you didn't disgust me. What you going to do tonight?"

"Oh, just lady-killin'. Fine night for a murder."

"Hump! Thought you were broke."

"I was. But nothing like having a few real, thorough foolishly fatuous friends."

"I'm goin' to give you some advice. Now, I'm a close friend of yours—"

"Yes, Jack. In fact, too close," the other interpolated innocently, looking ruefully at a single half-dollar in his hand.

"Hump!" A moment's silence, then "Spent all your money on that little blonde, and begged some more. Tomorrow you can't go to Oberlin. You're a loyal one, you idiot."

"Yep, both cracked and broke, I guess," assented Chubby, cheerfully. "Honest, I do feel sort o' cheap about that Oberlin deal."

"You wouldn't even do that if you didn't want to go so bad. But look here. Think of poor old dad back home, you gutter-pup. You are going through his coin like a dirge through a graveyard at midnight. Don't bleed him too hard, or he'll develop a confirmed case of monetary anaemia. He made your lucre first, you ought at least to make it last."

"Good old dad. I suppose I have simply sowed and slaughtered some several shilling silver simoleons, but Jumping Jehoshaphat, —ack— Yes, I guess you're right." His face clouded.

"Guess I'm a pretty rum sort."

"No, not so much rum as chicken. But your prospective's on a spree. Why, thought you know well enough that the Y. M. C. A. is doing some thing real here, I suppose you make your funny little jokes about—"

"Wait! Tarry!" The Good Fellow's face lit up as he triumphantly excavated a Y. M. membership card. "I'm not that low, Jack. I'm only the guy that sold exemption from drill to feeble-minded freshies."

The rest of his speech was lost, as he calmly hooked his roommate's slicker and tore out of the house to catch the car.

DID OR DIDN'T THE SMITTEN ONE FORGET

But Finally He Finds Her

A pair of sparkling blue eyes set under a wealth of dark hair sent thrills down the spine of John Norman, junior, at the Y. M.-Y. W. reception the other night and incidentally sent memory scampering and everything else except the picture of the girl.

The young man hadn't been a regular at Oxley Hall up until that time and was just a little fussed when he joined the Sunday night regulars. He managed to ask in a breathless way if he might see Katherine Bretz.

No one had ever heard of Katherine, not even the university directory, but the maid very obligingly looked for the "lady." She wasn't to be found and a very much embarrassed young man grew redder and redder as the minutes loltered by.

Suddenly he had an inspiration. He had known another Oxley Hall girl, though he had never given her serious consideration up until this time. He asked for her and whispered his troubles in her shell-like ear. She couldn't bear to see any human being in such agony, so she hurried to the room-list containing the names of all the girls.

There was one girl named Katherine but alas! her surname was something entirely different. Further search revealed the name of Kathleen. That sounds natural to the youth, so Kathleen was summoned.

She tripped down the stairs to meet the waiting gallant. He sped forward with a smile on his lips.

"These girls tried to make me believe I'd forgotten your name but how could I have telephoned you if I didn't know your name? Uh!"

But he had—really—and the girl knew it; but they had a lovely time.

DANCING CHAIRS GIVE "HESITATION" GLIDE

Solemnity Turns To Jest

Better than any dancing floor in the city is the boast of Dean Caroline Breyfogle, of the new floor of the Woman's Union. But how can one preserve one's dignity and keep one's new fall hat at the right angle if one has to sit on one of those dangerously uncertain chairs, which without warning take a "hesitation" glide and deposit you on the floor?

All solemn occasions not to mention all the meetings held at the women's building are punctuated with bangs and scrambles, and some fair personage finds herself on the floor with her chair on top of her.

AFTER THE BANQUET

IT'S A PLEASURE TO INTRODUCE

Maurice Briggs.

Ever and anon as old Atlas pauses in his juggling, act to light his pipe with the center of the solar system, he gazes fondly at a certain spot in our tiny little world which has done more to bring a glad smile to the face of the Creator than all the remainder of infinity put together. On every second Tuesday of the week I lie awake at night and think beautiful thoughts about the heroism of this wonderful little speck. I am like the Irishman, who—

(Loud laughter and heart-moving recollections.)

And, gentlemen, this marvelous place, this state of happiness as it were, is Kansas. And what has Kansas done to merit this exquisite effusion from my famed pen? Gentlemen, Kansas was the birthplace of Maurice Oskaloosa Briggs! And, gentlemen, Kansas in her dire extremity rose as one man and kicked Maurice delivered out of its environment at the age of two years, and into Portsmouth. Gentlemen, let us pause for a few drinks and pay our tribute to this wonderful spot!

(Pause, while someone suggests that Ohio be sent a Gates Ajar.)

Ah, gentlemen, what a wonderful and euphonious moniker is Briggs! It has in it the flash of rippling water and falling bricks; the appealing odor of burnt incense and onions! Ah, what a name! And the initials: M. O. B.! This of anyone being mobbed at birth, and in continual danger of being mobbed at any minute, all his life! Ah, the romance of it!

The sad thing about Maurice is the fact that he never got a bid to Delmonico. The fellows had him around to the house one day for lunch, and saw the amount he ate. The only things Maurice has done to earn his degree are trifling in the face of this great disappointment.

He made his numerals on the four class teams, and has played Varsity football and down on the Varsity track team for three years. They can't keep him off the track team this year either, since he happens to have been unanimously elected captain.

As a partial recompense for losing out on Delmonico, he has collected pins from Delta Tau Delta, Gamma Phi, Sphinx, Bucket and Dipper, Varsity "O", and is senior class president. But greater than all of these, Maurice is a Cherry Cheer!

Briggs prepped at Staunton and Portsmouth, was a member of all the athletic teams, and played on the best prep school in the state. He is like a flash of lightning on his feet, and for that reason has been unanimously nicknamed "Windy." There is also another reason.

Windy's four ambitions in life are to make Sigma Delta Chi, Phi Beta Kappa, to be happily married, and to become mayor of Portsmouth.

MIRROR CAUSE OF FRESHMAN'S FALL

Freshman Pays the Price of Vanity

Vanity leadeth into many pitfalls—and closets; also freshmen learn by experience. One verdant freshman was on his merry way to the reading-room of the library. As he mounted the stairs, he noticed the big mirror doors, and naturally thinking they were the most attractive, started for them. Gazing rapturously into the mirror, he prepared to make an impressive entrance, swung open the door, bumped his nose into the fire-hose in the foot-deep closet.

Tango Tangles Scribes.

Two students of the University of Kansas have been canned from the University for publishing scurrilous matter about their alma mater. The men, who were correspondents for a Topeka paper, wrote a newspaper article telling of the organization of a proposed tango club at the university.

How 'bout It, Prof?

Editor of the Lantern:

Pro-f-e-s-s-o-r-s of last week's issue has startled the humble and reticent co-ed into speech. She says, "Yes, it was a beautiful plea for dear teacher, but do not condemn the student unheard." H. F. H., did you ever stop to think that maybe the professor created some of the atmosphere which surrounds him. You say don't muffle your admiration. Why, if we told some professors we appreciated their courses they'd say, "Huh, does she think she can merit this course by that method?"

I'm not criticizing the professors for their lack of interest in us. I'm not wildly interested in everybody I meet, and granting professors are human, they cannot be interested in everybody in their classes. We don't want to presume either and think our instructors would be excited over our ambitions and sympathize with us in our disappointments—we might accidentally be "none other than whom" they had never had an opinion and if so what?

If a professor does seem to be human and hasn't forgotten he once needed the advice of his instructor, and at the same time is young and good looking, some observing person never leaves it unsaid, "My how that girl does rush that man." Granted that some girls do get silly over their professors, and don't muffle their admiration, how is the professor to know that we are not "that kind of a girl." Pro-f-e-s-s-o-r-s, think it over.

Look Through Museum.

Editor of the Lantern:

Now that the magnificent new building of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical society is nearing completion, it is to be hoped that Ohio State students will begin to realize its importance to the University as well as to the state.

While the museum and library were in Page Hall, where there was no adequate room or opportunity for display, the few visitors were not surprised. Now that they are in their new and permanent home, just go over and I am sure you will return many times.

The collection is one of the largest of its kind in the world, and scientists come from England and Germany to study it. All kinds of prehistoric relics are gathered there—arrow heads and all kinds of implements, pottery, jewels and their imitations, textiles, skeletons—all of them collected from those numerous mounds in Ohio.

Dr. W. C. Mills, the curator, is a most willing and interesting guide. Pay him a visit and see some of the things really worth while on the campus.

An Amateur Archaeologist.

Why So Serious?

Editor of the Lantern:

Why is everyone so serious this year? Not that I do not believe in studying but there is a time for work and a time for play. And really it seems as though every one is taking life too seriously for this time of year. If it was just before the finals I could understand it better.

Why, when you go into the gab room it is like entering some one's private study. Where is the laughter and fun of last year? Come around to the gab room and wake it up.

NOT A GRIND.

Students Too Curious.

Dear Editor:

Can anything be done to curb the curiosity of certain members of the Agricultural College?

Curiosity is a mighty good thing to have, but when this curiosity interferes with the rights of others, there ought to be some way of restraining it.

The matter which impels me to write this, is the habit which many students of Agriculture have of dropping into the clinic rooms to witness operations which are being performed there by the vets.

Last week there were two or three operations performed which can only be seen once a year. So many ages were present that many of those who were taking veterinary science were unable to see at all. Yet we are held responsible for everything taught by these operations. Is this fair? We feel sure that if they realized they were keeping out those who were entitled to be present, they would stay away.

A Debate Proposition.

Editor of the Lantern:

The recent article in the Lantern concerning debate seemed to me highly significant. Mental contest is relatively every bit as important as physical contest. University spirit is not complete unless it sustains the former as well as the latter. If inter-scholastic debate is to be a matter of university pride and an object of university enthusiasm it is unquestionable that anything which conduces to its welfare and greatness is desirable.

It is a notorious concession that Freshmen, thru the perfectly natural reason of their unfamiliarity with university affairs, are inclined to disregard them to a certain extent, especially in such a matter as debate patronage. A plan which will reduce this disregard to the minimum in the instance noted and which will properly establish the element of debate in Freshman minds, ought to be accorded serious consideration. Then, if this same plan will also enhance the possibilities of the debating teams themselves, affording a broader field of recruits, it should be even more seriously considered.

Here is the plan, briefly, which the writer proposes—that there be organized in the Freshman class, by means of a preliminary sifting, two debating teams; one representative of the Arts students, let us say, and the other representing the combined students of the other courses. The subject could be that selected for the "big" debate, which would make easily feasible the employment of whatever assistance might be needed from Professor Ketcham. A single preliminary ought to suffice for the aspirants from each group, permitting the occurrence of the contest for the class championship some time previous to the occurrence of the inter-scholastic contest.

To repeat, the efficacy of the plan is this. A purely class affair in itself, waged between two especially created factions of the class, a debate for the Freshman championship will unfailingly attract practically the entire Freshman class. In addition to the benefit that is bound to accrue to us, as a class, thru the inevitable enthusiasm in a common interest, is the higher and more potent consideration of its significance in behalf of the university. It will create, as nothing else can, an interest among Freshmen for debate in general and an interest for the inter-scholastic debate that is to follow, in particular.

Further than this, it will be a means of bringing to the front material which will furnish some anticipation for inter-scholastic debate. In this sense the proposition is essentially identical to the annual custom of organizing a Freshman football team. Undoubtedly there are many Freshmen who while they would view the prospect of trying out for the school teams with considerable hesitancy would enter into a class preliminary with immediate willingness. Thus some promising material might be located which would otherwise never manifest itself.

While the proposed plan is in a way an innovation it is not without similarity to an already established custom, embodying the same beneficent results, and moreover, by its simplicity is easily practicable of execution.

A Freshman Who is Interested in Debate.

Thanks, Brother Editor.

Mr. Frank E. Mason, Columbus, O.:

Dear Sir: I wish to compliment you on your very creditable publication, The Ohio State Lantern. I have access to a great many exchanges from universities all over the country, both daily and weekly newspapers. For cleanliness in make-up, cleverness in writing, good features, well-drawn cartoons, and general news interest to undergraduates, I should rank The Ohio State Lantern among the foremost college newspapers of the country. Your editorial staff deserves a great deal of credit.

Very truly yours,
HALE P. DAUGHERTY,
