GOVERNOR J. M. COX AND PREXY HEAD JUBILEE PROGRAM

"Old-timers" to Be Entertained With Sings, Class Reunions, Football Game and Stunts.

Coupled With These Features, Strollers, Sphinx and Other Societies Plan Get-togethers.

Prominent speakers, processions, music, sings, stunts, class reunions and a football game will be on the program for the semicentennial celebration of the University, held October 13, 14, 15 and 16. The celebration will begin Wednesday, October 13, at 8 p. m., in the Chapel, when Governor James M. Cox will give a welcome in behalf of the state, and President William O. Thompson will give the welcoming address. This will be followed by a reception, given in the Library, to the delegates, alumni and friends.

Thursday, October 14, at 9:30 a. m., the academic procession will be held. An address and music will be given following this procession. At 2:30 p. m. the presentation and reception of congratulatory messages will occur. College education in Ohio will also be discussed at this meeting. A banquet will be held at 7 p. m., and from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m. some good speakers will hold sway.

Former President to Speak

University and Alumni Day will be celebrated on Friday. At 9:30 a. m. addresses will be given by Dr. W. H. Scott, a former president of the University; Dr. T. C. Mendenhall and Attorney L. F. Sater '95, all on the general subject, "The History and Development of the University, Showing Its Contribution to Public Welfare, and a Report of Progress and Stewardship."

In the afternoon a pageant will be held. This is to be a costume procession and will contain displays, exhibits, stunts, etc., by the various organizations and classes. After the procession the glee clubs and other musical organizations will lead in a sing. An exhibit of educational and historical nature will be open to visitors at all times.

Organizations Plan Reunions

In the evening an opportunity will be given for the various classes to hold reunions and dinners so that old-time college-day experiences may be talked over. Saturday morning, October 16, the final day of the celebration, college and departmental reunions, reunions of college organizations and societies, such as the Strollers, Sphinx, glee clubs, Lantern staff, Bucket and Dipper, etc., will be held. At 10 a. m. all the alumni and ex-students are to meet, at which time medical and dental certificates will be conferred on those who were graduated before these colleges were consolidated with Ohio State.

Part of those student organizations that are to have a part in the celebration will hold a meeting to lay preliminary plans, Friday noon, in Page Hall, room 100. Professor Joseph S. Myers and Professor M. Blakemore Evans will explain to the representatives their part in the publicity and in the pageant.

The closing of the program will be a football game between Ohio State and Purdue, on Ohio Field.

SENIOR ARCHITECTS PLAN PICNIC AND RECEPTION

A picnic will be given in honor of the graduating seniors of the department of architecture, at Beechwood, Wednesday, May 26.

Plans were also made at the meeting Wednesday evening for the reception of present and alumni members of the local chapter of the American Institute of Architecture on Monday, May 31. The reception will be held at 7:30 p. m. in Brown Hall, where refreshments will be served, to be followed by a program which is now being prepared.

About 30 members were present at the meeting and heard Professor Charles St. John Chubb's lecture upon "The American Institute of Architecture," which followed the business meeting of the evening.

JOURNALISTS GIVEN ONE MORE CHANCE TO AIR KNOWLEDGE

If the saying "Sweets to the sweet" is true, would it follow that "nut" tests are handed to the— Well, we won't say it, for the "nut" test which was given the journalism students Thursday at 4 p. m. was looked upon as a special honor by the members of that department.

That it is a mark of distinction to be selected as a group to show how much knowledge one can produce on a second's notice is not to be doubted.

However, it's a source of satisfaction to be assured that the results of these privileged tests are to be kept in absolute confidence. We will admit that those who took this test have somewhat of an advantage over those who had the first one inflicted on them, in that they have had due time to look up all the well-known cook-book authors and to find out how many legs all such animals as the Hottentots possess.

It's all in a life, anyway, and one more test more or less— Why fret?

HORSE SHOW ENTRY LIST OFFERED TO 21 CLASSES

Saddle and Sirloin Club Has Arranged to Hold Annual Event at Coliseum on Fair Grounds.

A horse show will be held at the Coliseum, on the Fair Grounds, on the afternoon and evening of May 29. The show is being conducted by the Saddle and Sirloin Club of the University and the Columbus Riding Club and will take the place of the horse show given annually on the campus by the Saddle and Sirloin Club in the past.

There are 21 entry classes, which include the various-gaited saddlers for women, men and officers, polo mounts, hunters, jumpers, roadsters, drafters, single and in pairs, and ponies. The department of animal husbandry is making 15 entries in the draft classes.

Silver cups will be given for first prizes and ribbons for second and third. Special features of both afternoon and evening shows will be a parade in the Coliseum and a musical-chair contest with horses and riders. The Saddle and Sirloin Club is represented on the committee by Professor Donald J. Kays of the department of animal husbandry and Donald C. Drake, Ag-4.

MRS. CONVERSE RELATES EXPERIENCES IN LETTER

A letter telling about the recent experiences of Colonel and Mrs. George L. Converse in Indianapolis, where Colonel Converse is assigned as recruiting officer of the U. S. Army, was received from Mrs. Converse Wednesday in the Y. W. C. A. offices. Colonel Converse enjoyed an exciting airplane ride from Indianapolis to Kokomo and back a few days ago, the entire trip being made in one hour. Last Saturday the American Legion held its May Day Fete, which Colonel Converse and General Glenn attended.

Mrs. Converse complimented the same attitude the women of Ohio State have taken in resolving to wear their old clothes. She says the women here show up in favorable contrast with the women at Illinois State, who, she says, have gone "dress mad."

DENISON COMMANDANT HERE

Captain Leonard and Major Clark Confer on Methods of Instruction.

Major S. P. Clark, military commandant, Denison University, visited Ohio State Wednesday to observe the method of military instruction in effect here and to confer with Captain Charles F. Leonard, commandant of the cadet corps, on military matters.

A number of officers from the cadet regiments will be selected by Captain Leonard to give talks in the Columbus grade schools on patriotism and military topics. These talks will be in connection with the Memorial Day programs which are to be held in all the city schools.

An illustrated lecture on map reading was given by the military department, in the Chapel Tuesday at 4 p. m.

The company rifle teams of each regiment are now competing for the first place on the regiment teams. The first team of each regiment will then compete for the championship.

GRACES OF SEASONS TO BE FEATURE OF ANNUAL MAY FETE

Plot of Pageant Centers Around Presentation of Seasons' Daughters to "King Year."

Many University Girls Will Take Part in Dancing Groups and Other Attractions.

Snowflakes and sunbeams! Butterflies and jack-o'-lanterns! These and many other daughters of the Seasons will take parts in the annual May Fete to be held Friday, May 28, at 4 p. m., in the hollow east of Mirror Lake.

Pageant to Be Elaborate

King Year (Christina W. Anderson) is to choose a queen at this time, when all four Seasons present their daughters before His Majesty, which will form the plot of the pageant, which promises to be one of the most elaborate ever given, much of the effort being placed in the costume designing and the coaching of the dances.

Although most of the groups will be dancers, other attractions will give variety to the occasion. The daughters of November will wear the loose, flowing Grecian robes, and as they represent the Season of the Harvest bearing the offerings of fruits, wheat and pumpkins, their natural dancing will give a Grecian frieze effect.

Twenty-two in Group

Margaret I. Williams, Ed-4, has charge of the costumes for this group, which is composed of 22 girls. Marion E. Worcester will take the part of the Spirit of Harvest. Those bearing the corn will be Elizabeth Richards, Hazel C. Knight, Mary L. Elgin and Margaret Gerold. Six golden pumpkins will be carried by Ada Bess Kahler, Iris Finch, Gracewood Pickering, Helen Vail, Helen Ferguson and Ruth W. Homeier.

Sheaves of wheat will be carried by the Maidens of the Field, which include Ruth Slemmons, Genevieve Taylor, Enid Plotner, Elizabeth Miller and Margaret Merickel. The other harvest group will carry the trays bearing all kinds of fruit, those taking part being Dorothy L. Haynes, Adeline Seifried, Grace Seifried, Dorothy M. Seibert, M. Thelma Kilgore and Marie Scheldt.

To Typify Yuletide Spirit

The Daughters of December, garbed in the robes of the Yuletide, will present an old English episode. Costumes are to be arranged by Margaret M. Walker, Marcella Summer and Ethel Beard. George A. Backus will represent the Spirit of Christmas and her attendants will be Evelyn A. Winters, Mary E. Winters, Carman A. Hambleton, Elizabeth C. Bodell, Alice Hughes, Ethel M. Beck, Helen A. Jones, Clara J. Singrey, Beatrice N. Babb, Marjorie

MOVEMENT OF PLANET RECORDED BY MECHANISM

In order to "keep tab" on the time and the movement of the earth, the department of astronomy has a small clock which runs the "universe."

On top of the clock is a small globe of the world. As the minutes and hours pass, the movement of the clock moves the globe in exact relation to the movement of the earth. The globe is slanted on the same angle as the earth is in relation to the sun. This enables a person to see at first glance the reason for the change in seasons.

The mechanism is placed in such a position as to receive the sun's rays, which enables one to see what parts of the earth are lighted in relation to the time here.

CROXTON ADDRESSES MEETING OF CAMPUS SOCIOLOGY CLUB

Fred C. Croxton, former federal food administrator, spoke at the second meeting of the Sociology Club for this semester, held Wednesday in the form of a dinner at Ohio Union. Following Mr. Croxton's speech, the amusement committee offered a short program.

Temporary officers were elected to take charge of the club until the first meeting of next semester. Lloyd Wilcox, CJ-4, was elected president, and Henrietta Hassel, CJ-3, was chosen secretary.

MUSEUM CONTAINS UNIQUE SPECIMENS FROM ARCTIC REGION

From the land of ice and snow there have been brought to the Ohio State campus a bit of Northern life, showing how the Eskimo tames the wild beasts of his frozen home and through them manages to eke out a bare existence under the shadow of the Arctic night.

How the haughty sealion has been brought to submission and turned into an implement of service may be seen from the little boat made solely from his skin and bones. This skiff is one of the Eskimos' favored means of transit over the chilled waters.

Not until the coming of the white man did the frozen North hear the sharp report of the firearm. Yet centuries before this day the Eskimo learned to kill his game by the use of a bow and arrow made from the bones of the whale. One of these old bows with its string of whale gut is on exhibit.

A throwing stick made from whale bone and gut is another one of the Eskimos' "firearms." Several other similar specimens of Eskimo life are also on exhibit.

All of the specimens are from Kodiak Island in the Mt. Katmai district of the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes and are on display at the Museum, to which institution they were recently presented by Professor Robert F. Griggs.

BENEFITS TO BE GAINED BY HISTORICAL EVENTS

Professor Joseph A. Leighton Shows Relation of History to Philosophy, in Talk.

"People do not profit by the experiences of others shown in history," said Professor Joseph A. Leighton, in his talk before the Philosophy Club in room 101, Page Hall, Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. "All the primary and fundamental facts of history are individual centers of experiences. History is philosophy and philosophy is history, and it is only valuable in the development of human personalities and individualities. Philosophy is to enrich your own experiences in life."

Margaret Guy read a paper on "Hegel's Philosophy of History," which had been prepared by Fred Harold, who was unable to attend. "Criteria of Progress" was the topic of another paper prepared by Eva M. Culp. The topic for the next program of the club is to be "Free Will and Determination." It will be in charge of Oliver L. Reiser, who is the author of a book on philosophy.

The yearbook for the Philosophy Club has gone to press and 300 copies will be placed on sale on the campus on May 26 at 35 cents each. The cover of the book is to be on a cobalt-blue paper, with the title, "Reflections of the Philosophy Club of Ohio State University." The book will contain about three times as much matter as the first issue of the Campanile.

CAPTAINS FOR TUG OF WAR TO BE CHOSEN THURSDAY

Captains for the freshman and sophomore tug-of-war teams will be elected at meetings of the members of the two teams Thursday night. The tug of war will be held Friday at 5 p. m. at Mirror Lake. At the present time Donald Wiper, sophomore class president, is aiding Director Ohlson in his work with the second-year men. Robert Dudley, yearling president, is assisting Gymnasium Director Cobb in whipping the freshmen into shape. The sophomore team will have some of last season's football stars on its team, and the freshman team will include several members of the frosh gridiron aggregation. The two teams will average about 190 pounds. Admission price will be 15 cents.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB MEETS

Professor and Mrs. Henry R. Spencer entertained the Political Science Club at their home, 518 East Broad Street, Wednesday, at which meeting Merrill E. Fortney, CJ-3, spoke on "Railroad Labor." The next meeting will be held in Page Hall, Wednesday, May 19. Officers for the first semester of next year will be elected at this meeting.

BULLETINS FOR 1920-21 SOON TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Students Requested to Wait Until Publications Are Issued Before Making Out Schedules.

Bulletins for the year 1920-1921 are now in the hands of the printers and it is expected that those for the Colleges of Arts, Education and Agriculture will be ready for distribution before the end of this semester. Class cards will also be ready at this time.

Secretaries of the various colleges are insisting that the students do not make out their schedules before the bulletins are issued, as some decided changes have been made. Military science classes will be scheduled throughout the entire day. All morning classes in mathematics, all four-hour language courses and some of the three-hour courses will meet Saturdays. Classes will not be assigned for Saturday afternoons, nor will any of the newly scheduled 12-o'clock classes be held on this day.

The schedule committee believes this arrangement of classes for the coming year will greatly benefit the student body. Heretofore, students would not voluntarily schedule Saturday classes, but since the new system will necessitate Saturday classes for nearly every one, students will probably schedule more than one class for Saturday morning. Students who wish to do work outside of the University will not have their Saturdays free, but they will have more time during the afternoons of the week.

NEW OFFICIALS SELECTED BY STROLLERS FOR 1920-21

William E. Linch, E-3, was elected Stroller president at the meeting of the Strollers Tuesday; Eloise Fromme, Ed-3, vice-president; James Griffith, A-3, secretary and treasurer; Margaret Welch, A-3, historian; Daniel G. Sanor, M-3, student representative to Stroller board, and Walter Chamblin, A12, representative to Boost Ohio Committee.

Professor Louis A. Cooper's resignation from the Stroller board was accepted, and Professor George A. Washburne was elected to take his place. Frank Hunter was re-elected for two years as alumni member of the board.

The Strollers have decided to create a building fund, toward which 25 percent of the net profits each year is to be given. All over $1000 in the treasury at any time is to go to this fund also.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO HOLD PICNIC

Members and Families to Meet at the Spring Saturday.

The University Woman's Club will hold a picnic Saturday at 5:30 p. m., at the University spring, for all club members and their families. In case of rain the picnic will be held in the Armory.

The singing at the picnic will be led by Karl H. Hoenig. All members are asked to be present.

LEAVES FOR SOUTHERN TRIP

Professor Charles S. Plumb of the department of animal husbandry, has left for a 10-day trip through the South. He will spend the greater part of the time in Texas, making an inspection of farm lands and livestock in certain sections of that state.

NEW INSTRUCTORS ARE APPOINTED AT TRUSTEES' MEETING

Robert F. Webb Will Take Place of Professor Thomas M. Hills in Department of Geology.

Fellowship Prize Is Awarded to Ora L. Hoover of Department of Chemistry.

Resignations from several members of the University's teaching staff and appointments to fill vacancies were acted upon by the board of trustees in its May meeting Tuesday.

Robert F. Webb was appointed an instructor in the department of geology to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Professor Thomas M. Hills, who will leave Ohio State to fill the departmental chair in the geology department at Vassar College. Mr. Webb is a graduate of Harvard and expects to receive his M.A. degree in June, 1921. He has received experience in teaching from being a member of the Radcliff High School faculty.

Appoint New Instructors

Other appointments were: Eugene K. Roseboom as an instructor in the department of American history, and Montgomery Pike as instructor in the department of economics and sociology.

Resignations accepted by the board were: J. B. Lane, instructor in the department of agricultural education; Ralph H. Schreiber, instructor in the same department; Elizabeth Baines, instructor in the department of home economics; D. A. Woodbury, instructor in the department of physics; Edward Mack, assistant professor in the department of chemistry.

Fellowship Is Granted

Upon the recommendation of President Thompson, the fellowship of $750 awarded by the E. I. DuPont de Nemours Co. was granted to Ora L. Hoover, to become effective September 1. This fellowship was held by Charleton E. Curran, who receives his doctor's degree next month. Hoover expects to receive his doctor's

EXTENSION CONFERENCE CONVENES HERE THIS WEEK

The semiannual conference of the home economics extension specialists and the home demonstration agents is being held at the University this week. The work of the home demonstration agents consists in discussing the problems of housekeeping with the housewives in their assigned territory, such as cooking, washing, sewing, care of children, health, etc., and in giving practical suggestions as to how the work of the housewife may be made easier and more efficiently conducted. This work is carried on mostly in rural districts.

Twice a year these home demonstration agents meet together, at which conferences extension specialists scientifically discuss and advise about the problems that the home demonstration agents find arising during their activities afield, and lay plans for more effective campaigns in the future.

SCIENTISTS MEET THIS WEEK

Twenty-one members of Ohio State University faculty will speak at the thirtieth annual meeting of the Ohio Academy of Science, which will be held at the University Friday and Saturday. The program will begin Friday with a business session in the Botany and Zoology Building. This will be followed by a luncheon in Ohio Union, after which there will be a general session in the Botany and Zoology Building. There will be both a business meet and general session Saturday morning.

DR. OSTRAM TO ADDRESS CLUB

Dr. J. C. Ostram, recently returned from Japan, will talk before the World Fellowship Club, which will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Dr. William Houston, 54 Fifteenth Avenue. Dr. Ostram will arrive in Columbus Thursday afternoon from Oberlin. His talk will be on Japan. Plans for the fellowship picnic, to take place some time next week, will also be discussed during this meeting.

THE SEMICENTENNIAL

The fiftieth anniversary of the selection of the site for Ohio State University is to be celebrated on the campus October 13-16, 1920. Various committees are exerting every effort to make this celebration go down in Ohio State history as one of her red-letter events.

The success of this occasion does not lie wholly with those in authority, for it is the response of the alumni by their attendance or nonattendance upon the gathering which will make it a success or a failure. It is easy for those who are on the campus to catch the spirit of the event and lend their support. The duty of the student, however, does not end here.

Each person as he leaves the University for the summer months must become a living advertisement for the celebration. In order to properly inform those alumni with whom he comes in contact, it is necessary for every person enrolled in the University to familiarize himself with the purpose, aims and attractions of the celebration, so that such a spirit and sentiment will be created among the University alumni that we shall be able to witness a homecoming that is bigger and better than any we have ever experienced.

During the remaining weeks of this year those in charge of the publicity for the celebration are making an effort to solicit the interest and cooperation of every organization and individual on the campus. The Lantern and other publications are endeavoring to put before the student body all the information obtainable regarding the event. Make use of every opportunity to learn all that can be learned before you go home for your vacation, and then do your bit. Advertise—someone has said—it pays.

THE WEARER OF THE '20

Over 700 seniors are to be graduated from Ohio State University next month. Yet it is safe to say that out of all that number no one person knows as many as one-seventh of his fellow-classmates.

The class of '20 has gone on record as being the first class to sign up as a body to become members of the Ohio State University Association. This act speaks well for the attitude of the class toward the welfare of the University as a whole. But what of the interest between classmates?

Some time ago when the committee for the collection of class dues was putting on its campaign, each class member received as a receipt for the payment of dues a 1920 button. These buttons not only served the purpose of stimulating the payment of the money, but acted as recognition buttons among the members of the class.

No wearer of the button could pass another possessor of the '20 without feeling a distinct interest in the hitherto unknown and unrecognized fellow-classmate. But gradually the badges passed out of sight, perhaps with the passing of the winter coat, until now they are no longer to be seen.

There are still a few weeks before the seniors may appear in their caps and gowns, and it isn't too late now to dig around among the mothballs where that winter coat has gone to its well-deserved resting place, rescue that '20 button and stick it on your lapel. Then follow up the good work by speaking to everyone you pass who has followed the same suggestion. Every little bit helps to stimulate that class spirit of which we have all dreamed.

THE LAST LAP

The last lap of this school year is upon us. The time of reckoning has come, when we must look back over the past months and see what we have done.

To some, such a review brings a sense of satisfaction, for their efforts have brought them the fruits of their desires—they have met with success.

To others, such a backward glance brings a tinge of disappointment. The year has not meant to them what they had expected it to mean.

For either group the last lap offers a final chance: to the student of the first class, a chance for failure even with his success; to the student of the second class, the chance of success even with his apparent failure.

In other words, success is a sweet cup which often leads to overestimation of self—pride, or snobbishness, to use a campus term. Such a reaction cannot but result in the ultimate downfall of the individual so affected. Failure, on the other hand, a sense of disappointment with one's self, often brings with it a lesson by which the individual may reap the surest profit. Just as through our mistakes we learn, so through our disappointments we may be unconsciously heading toward the road to success.

Therefore, with the last lap well upon us, may the successful not be too triumphant nor the unfortunate too downhearted.

Latest reports from Paris state that the "poker stare" is all the rage there. It's a safe bet that this latest fad was originated by a group of women who couldn't muster anything more than a blank expression.

Today's poem:
 Sprinkle, sprinkle little rain,
 How we wonder when you'll wane,
 We do wish you would refrain
 And never, never come again.

The real Beau Brummel is the man who can appear on the campus after an all-day rain with a knife-edge crease in his trousers.

The University student who is drinking 20 pints of milk daily will certainly be able to set up a "pint" system of his own.

Most males so thoroughly detest carrying an umbrella that they will even forget the pleasure of a date on a rainy day.

According to the newspaper photographs, the only people who enjoy honeymoons are millionaires and their wives.

The street car is an excellent place to observe those who are continually working themselves forward.

Soon co-eds should be classified into those that know how to beat the H. C. L. and those that don't.

Wonder how often the co-ed runners will have to stop to take cinders out of their shoes?

THE CHAPOS COP

Some Bird

The girls had a period to spare and were crossing the fields down to the river. One of them was airing her newly acquired knowledge. "That," she announced importantly, "is a wood thrush." A few feet further on she called their attention to a barn swallow, not noticing the disgusted looks she received from her companions.

Suddenly a train passed at the right and as the whistle shrieked loudly, one of them turned to her with the sarcasm of silent suffering: "And now please tell us," she asked, "what kind of a bird was that?"

AN ASPIRATION

I'd rather be a Could-be,
 If I could not be an Are,
 For a Could-be is a May-be
 With a chance of touching par.
 I'd rather be a Has-been
 Than a Might-have-been, by far,
 For a Might-have-been has never been,
 But a Has-been sometimes Are.
 —The Exponent.

KANSAS HAS PARTY SYSTEM

After one of the hottest political campaigns in the University of Kansas since its organization, the reconstruction ticket for Student Council won out over the Crimson and Blue, getting 15 out of 28 seats on the council. Independents seated two men on the council and 1546 votes were cast in all. This election is of interest throughout the college world as an example of the efficacy of the party system in college elections.

Friends

"I don't see why that girl is so popular," fretted Alice Louise. "She isn't a bit good-looking, doesn't dress very well, and I don't think she has much money to spend. But I know she has more friends on the campus—real, honest-to-goodness friends, not just speaking acquaintances—than a dozen of us put together. I've never heard one word against her, either. I wish I knew how she did it. Really, it's almost abnormal."

Aunt Sarah sat patiently through her niece's petulant words until they were finally ended. "No, my dear," she remonstrated, "I would call that situation normal, the way in which we were intended to live, and the usual modern way abnormal. When I was in school I had a roommate who was just like the girl you described. Everyone seemed to be her friend. But I found after a time that they didn't all come to her voluntarily—she showed herself interested in them first and gradually a friendship developed."

"In addition to that, I never heard her speak of anyone spitefully or slightly. She didn't talk about one person to the next one she met. Everyone soon found out she could be trusted. And that is the great secret in having friends. She was always willing to do little things for her friends, often unasked, as far as she could, without taxing her time and strength."

Alice Louise sat silent. Suddenly the telephone jangled shrilly and she ran to answer it.

"Yes? What? Oh, why I'm sorry, Katherine, I don't believe I can go over those notes with you this afternoon. I know I promised, but—" She stopped short. What had her aunt just said about being friends? And she certainly didn't have any good excuse.

"Listen, Katherine: I guess I can come over and help you with them. I'll be there in about half an hour. You've had hard luck, missing so many classes. I know how it goes."

Aunt Sarah smiled approvingly as her niece re-entered the room. "I'm glad you changed your mind, Alice Louise, or I would have felt my admirable little sermonette was all for nothing, and you know at my age that would be quite disappointing. Anyway, just remember that you have to take a lot of initiative yourself in making friends. One of the writers has said that the only way to have friends is to be one, and that is the great truth of the whole problem."

"All right, auntie," returned the girl cheerfully, as she picked up her jaunty green sport hat from the stand. "I'm suiting the action to the word, or some such phrase as that. See you at dinner. Goodbye."

THE UNFORESEEN

If I could but know what the future holds for me,
 What joy or sorrow 'tis my fate to feel or see;
 What man would be my friend and who my foe;
 If I could see the path o'er which I needs must go;

How happily would I strive to reach the worthy height,
 To serve my fellow-man, and help him to the light;
 How gladly would I tread the bright and shining road,
 And gladly would I heal the sick and lift the load.

But if, perchance, the path o'er which I needs must tread,
 Should lead me through the valley, dark, and dim, and dread;
 How could I live the life that God hath meant for me,
 And be the man that He would have me be?

So as I walk, 'tis best that I should ne'er foreknow
 Aught of the mystic vale through which my feet must go;
 But that I strive to live the best that I can live
 And give my fellow-man the best that I can give.

—SCOTT WHITFORD FREED.

CORPSES SCARCE NOWADAYS

A shortage of "stiffs" for medical colleges of the country has been noted since the coming of prohibition by Dr. William Kirler of the department of anatomy, University of Texas. This has been caused by the decrease in pauperism and the ability of nearly everyone to pay for six feet of sod, it is believed.

There are a lot of advertising media that loom larger and fill more space, but the real result—the capture of the buyer—is to be found in the publication which belongs to the class which your prospective buyer reads.

University students are primarily interested in their own newspaper. They want to know exactly what is going on around the campus.

The Daily Ohio State Lantern is the only official daily publication on the campus. Its energies are concentrated, localized, focused upon the object of getting news service to the reader.

Therefore, it is accomplishing large results for those advertisers who, realizing the power of this media, have steadily and intelligently made use of its pages.

Merchants can score direct hits on over 6000 buyers by properly using the Lantern. These buyers are spending over $5,000,000 in the city of Columbus every year. Are you getting your share?

OHIO STATE'S NINE GOES FOR TWO-DAY JAUNT IN INDIANA

Ohio State's Varsity baseball squad, accompanied by Coach St. John and Manager Greenberg, will leave Thursday at 6 p. m. for Lafayette, Ind., where it will meet the Purdue nine for the second time within a week. This is the first road trip of the season for the Scarlet and Gray nine and the first game to be played on rival territory. From Lafayette the Buckeyes will go to Bloomington to meet the Hoosiers on Saturday afternoon. Thirteen players will make the trip, including Captain Fogle, Huffman, Deutsch, Dolezal, Slyker, McGee, Fenner, Fick, McMillan, McNulty, Kime, Fish and Miller.

"Lefty" Kime will probably be used against the Boilermakers, giving him a three-day rest for the Illinois game on the following Monday. In that case, Fish will be called to do the hurling against the Hoosiers, with Miller ready to go in if necessary.

Huffman and Deutsch will each work one game, the latter probably going behind the bat at Purdue. Dolezal may alternate with Slyker on first, with "Bill" working in left one game. Fish may be called to take a turn in the left garden, demonstrating in the Purdue game here that he was capable of holding down that position. McGee on second, Fenner, feared by all opposing pitchers, at short and McMillan on third, complete the infield. Fogle, McNulty and Slyker or Fish, all sure and hard hitters, will occupy the outfield.

The Boilermakers have been holding intensive practice daily with a hope that the tables may be turned on the powerful Buckeye team, now traveling at a fast clip. Barnaby is beginning to show old-time form at short and is improving in his batting. Captain McConnell is playing a great game on third. Hiser and Strubbe will handle first and second, respectively.

In White, Faucett and Stanwood, Coach Lambert has an excellent group of outfielders. "Lefty" Wallace will probably be sent to the mound against the Buckeyes, with Roberts on the receiving end.

ENTRIES FOR MEET CLOSED

Intramural Board Receives 625 Blanks for Annual Outdoor Event.

When the entries for the annual outdoor meet to be held Saturday were closed, 625 blanks had been handed in to the intramural board. Ribbons will be given for second, third, fourth and fifth places in each event. Bronze medals will be given for first place. For the intercollegiate relay and the interfraternity relay, silver cups will be awarded.

College champions will receive a large silver cup. Winners in the interboarding-club relay will receive a plaque instead of the usual silver cup. For the highest individual score a silver cup will be awarded.

TUG-OF-WAR NOTICE

All members of the sophomore tug-of-war team are asked to assemble at the trophy room of the Armory Friday at 3:45 p. m. A captain will be elected at this time.

Keep enlightened on University news by reading The Lantern.

ENTRIES ARE BEING MADE FOR BIG SIX TRACK MEET

Entries are coming in for the Big Six track meet to be held Friday and Saturday, May 21 and 22. Up until Wednesday night there were but four Ohio colleges entered in the annual field event, while only seven high schools have signified their intention of entering. It is expected that late entries will swell the list to its size in other years.

The colleges which are already listed are Miami University of Oxford, Case and Western Reserve of Cleveland, while Ohio State makes the fourth entry.

High schools which are ready are Green Centralized School, Farmdale, Franklin, Warren, Pioner, Salem and McKinley of Canton.

FOUR TEAMS LOOK LIKE BIG SCORERS IN DISTANCE RUNS

NOTE—This is the third of a series of articles on the Big Six track meet.

In the distance runs the points should be pretty well distributed between Wooster, Cincinnati, Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio State. These four teams were looked upon as the main contenders last year, but Chesney of Case upset the dope. This splendid runner is gone this year and no one seems capable of breaking in much on the "big four" in the longer jaunts.

The half-mile should be a near-record-breaker for speed, and the winner will have to go a trifle under two minutes to be sure of a win. Campbell of Wooster has gone closer to this mark so far and so is picked to ride in front of Steinhilber of the Buckeyes and Mittendorf of Cincinnati. Stevenson and Francis of Wesleyan are good choices for the next two places, though the former may go up a bit higher. If Coach Castleman decides to run Ferguson in this race, Ohio State should get some more points. It will be Campbell's second race of the day and he may be unable to withstand Steinhilber.

Ferguson should cop the mile in about 4:30 or better. He has stood the test all year and is the best in the section. Mittendorf will be his chief rival, but the Queen City runner is picked for no better than second. Campbell of Wooster, third; Todd of Ohio State, next, and then Knappen of Wooster, are the next choices. If Brumbaugh shows his old form for Wesleyan he will break in on the combination, but he has not been able to come back so far this year.

Ohio State should come close to taking the first two places in the two-mile with Dickson and Anderson, but Kemp of Cincinnati is highly touted in his section, where good distance runners are common, and he may squeeze into second-place finish. Sisson of Wesleyan and Dietrich of Oberlin, or Knappen of Wooster are next best. The Wooster man has the capabilities, but like Brumbaugh, has not rounded into form as yet.

Adding these new points, the score now stands: Ohio State 52, Cincinnati 24, Ohio Wesleyan 21, Miami 14, Wooster 13, Oberlin 11 and Case 3.

EVEN COMPETITION PROMISED AS OHIO MEETS INDIANA

Indiana will present a fairly even competition to Ohio State track men in the first outdoor track meet of the Western Conference, to start at 2:30 p. m. Saturday on Ohio Field.

As a sprinter and jumper, the visitors have Keeling, whose mark in the broad jump is 22 feet 7 inches. While as a sprinter he steps to the time of :10.1-5, Kenrad, a new man for the Hoosiers, beat Keeling last week in the 100.

In the broad jump Keeling is supported by two excellent men, Purcell and Phillips. Phillips also does the high jump. He stars further as a shot-putter and javelin man. Last year he gave Griffith a scare in the javelin event.

Williams is probably Indiana's best man, being a versatile athlete, excelling in high jumps, runs, both hurdles and has a record of 41 feet 2½ inches in the shot put.

Indiana will bring three quarter-milers—Loomis, Langdon and Greer. Hobbe is a fair man in the 880. Two weeks ago he gave Furnace a hard battle in a half-mile, which was run in 2:02.

For the half-mile, Shirley and Powell will run against the Ohio State men and should be handled without difficulty. Bullock vaulted 11 feet 3 inches last week, which is a good record.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB LAUDED BY PAPERS IN OTHER PLACES

Quartet Composed of Zint, Ford, Budd and Brokaw to Feature Saturday's Performance.

Election of New Officers Will Take Place at Banquet Held Within Next Two Weeks.

Newspapers in those places where the Men's Glee Club has given concerts this year have been unanimous in their praise, and in nearly every instance have pronounced it the best college organization to pay a visit in many years. This despite the absence of the quartet, which will be a feature of the home concert in the Chapel Saturday at 8:15 p. m.

With Glover T. Keen, bass and monologist, developing a sudden attack of throat trouble and the second tenor being declared ineligible, the quartet was disbanded, but has now been revived with the following men: Frederick J. Zint, first tenor; Glen Ford, second tenor; Nelson H. Budd, baritone; Charles R. Brokaw, bass. They will sing the "Chimney Song" and "The City Choir," both by Parks.

Sandusky Paper Comments
Additional comment on the concert in Sandusky recently, from the Sandusky Star-Journal, follows: "With the enthusiasm and 'pep' which has always characterized the college man, the glee club of Ohio State University Friday evening presented a program at the High Auditorium which was of an unusually high standard."

"The chorus was well balanced and the voices showed excellent training. The numbers which expressed the University spirit were given with a fine appreciation, which stirred the audience to encores."

Sextet Meets Approval
"The string sextet met with instant approval and 'jazzed' until all feet were set a-dancing. A feature of the evening was the splendid piano work of Philip M. Foote, who played accompaniments for the glee club and also the sextet. Mr. Foote is an artist, and a solo from him would have been most acceptable."

"The familiar 'Sextet from Lucia' was used by the entire club with patriotic words and was heartily applauded. Closing with 'Carmen Ohio,' the University song, the men terminated a program which breathed the enthusiasm of youth."

Tickets Going Fast
Tickets have been selling rapidly at Hennick's and the Jolly Gargoyle and indications are that a capacity audience will greet the singers. It will also mark the first home appearance of the club under the direction of Karl H. Hoenig. In his selection of songs and in his training, Mr. Hoenig has emphasized the point that a glee club is fundamentally a formal singing organization, not a musical-comedy or burlesque company.

Election of new officers will be held at a banquet within the next two weeks. Manager Daniel G. Sanor is also hoping to award a distinctive pin to each member, as has been done several times in the past.

President Thompson also recommended that Percy W. Ott, instructor in the department of mechanics, be made an instructor in mechanics and mine engineering.

Grant Additional Degrees
The persons recommended to the board of trustees by the University faculty in March and April were acted upon, the board, upon motion, granting the degrees as recommended. Arthur Michael McGory and Valerio R. Sosa were granted certificates of pharmaceutical chemists, while Harold G. Billingsley and Harold M. Eswine were given degrees of bachelors of science in business administration.

The degree of bachelor of science in social service was granted to Marian L. Morrison. Freeman H. Hoff, A.B. Ohio Northern University, and Alice Martha Zuck, B.A. Lebanon Valley College were given the degree of bachelor of science in education.
