

NEITHER COULD SCORE

Hale's Men Together at Last—Illinois Surprised

The Visitors Ran Against an Invincible Defence

The reorganized team which Coach Hale sent on to the field against Illinois last Saturday, furnished the friends of Ohio State with a surprise, to describe which the word pleasant seems small and tame. The most sanguine of our friends scarcely hoped for a smaller score than 30 and the tie of 0 to 0 fairly took away our breath.

It was the Michigan game of 1900 over again. From the very first play, when Thrower threw Diener for a loss, it was apparent that Ohio's lamentable weakness on the ends had at last been remedied. The trial of Elder on the other end served only to strengthen the belief. A trial at center showed that the new arrangement there had by no means weakened the line, while the backs were fully equal to any work they were called upon to do.

From the first we knew that no large score would be run up against us, but as the end of the game drew nearer and nearer, and the mighty Illini were still far away from the line, the excitement became so intense that the spectators were shivering as with cold, and watched the plays with an eagerness which allowed of no petty conversation. When, at last, the referee signalled to stop the play the crowd surged over the railings and carried the heroes off the field. It was the finest game ever seen on University Field, and has only been surpassed in our history by the one at Michigan two years ago.

The Illinois team was all that had been promised. Heavy, fast and experienced, they did work of the very highest order. The one flaw in their playing was the fumbling. Their backs were seldom able to handle Lincoln's punts, and so it was that kicks which in reality were only 25 or 30 yards, amounted finally to as much as 45 or 50. The whole Illinois team was fully up to the standard required of a member of the Big Nine. Little can be said for any one player more than another, except the wonderful Stahl. On defence almost invincible, on offence he was the only man who could be sure of a gain. He was a veritable engine on his tackle bucks.

On our team, the work of the ends attracted attention, probably because of the lack of any exhibition in these positions previously. Thrower did splendid work, more especially as it was his first game at end. Elder, in spite of his crippled condition, fully equaled his great work of last year, and made the spectators wonder why he was kept so long at full. Both Coover and Marker took good care of their famous opponents, while Fay had no trouble at all with Wilson. Case and Diltz, although in their first game as regulars, qualified for their positions, and will probably finish the season there. McLaren, Hill and Foss in the back field were all that could be asked, while Lincoln at full again won golden opinions for himself by the great way in which he backed up the line. His punting was good, and he always got the ball off, but his kicks are dangerously low, and will surely result in a disastrous block if he does not manage to get them over the heads of the line men.

HOW IT WAS DONE.

Coover won the toss and elected to receive the ball. Captain Stahl's kick-off went over the line, and Lincoln brought the ball to the 25-yard and kicked it to the center of the field, McKinley taking it back to Ohio's 30-yard line. The Illinois quarter thought that Ohio's ends were weak, but it seemed that "the boy guessed wrong the very first time," for Thrower downed Diener before he was fairly started. Coover also told Parker to go back and sit down, and then the famous Stahl took a hand. It was third down and 4 to go, and he dropped back for a fake kick. Thrower had heard of such things, however, and the great captain was downed just 12 yards back of the starting point.

It was Ohio's ball on her 40-yard line, and things looked encouraging. McLaren made 5 on the first play, Lincoln 2, Hill 1 and Lincoln another. Ohio was not going to repeat her mistake of last Saturday, and Lincoln punted to McKinley, whom Thrower downed on the spot on Illinois' 33-yard line. After three plays in which Ohio was twice penalized for off-side playing, Bronson broke away for a 38-yard gain before Foss got him. Diener and Bronson made 3 apiece, Parker tried Fay for a few and Diener got through the line for another 15, but he couldn't hold the ball and McLaren got it on Ohio's 8-yard line. Lincoln punted 30 and McKinley was downed on the 26-yard line. Parker fumbled this time and Marker got the ball. Lincoln sent the ball 30 yards further out of danger. Illinois couldn't gain as rapidly as they had hoped, and Stahl punted 40, Foss being downed on Ohio's 15-yard line. Once more Lincoln put it out of danger. After four plays Illinois was forced to kick, and Cook tried a drop. The ball went into goal, and Lincoln punted from the 25-yard line to Stahl at the center. Cook soon favored us with a fumble, and Ohio got the ball on her own 35-yard line.

Lincoln punted to Parker, but the ends missed him, and the ball was brought back nearly to the point of the scrimmage. Stahl found there was nothing doing through Coover, and Cook again missed a try at goal. Foss being downed with the ball on the 20-yard line. Mac and Hill failed to gain, and Lincoln punted to Illinois' 50-yard line. On the second play Bronson fumbled, and the ever-present "Mac" got the ball. Fay passed the ball over Lincoln's head, but the fullback recovered it on Ohio's 34-yard line. Next time he kicked, to McKinley, who was downed on Ohio's 40-yard line. Some hard playing by Illinois took the ball to Ohio's 5-yard line, where the Buckeyes held for downs. Lincoln punted 30 and out of danger. Cook was immediately forced to try for another field goal. For the third time he missed, and it was a touch-back. Lincoln

ACADEMY OF SCIENCE

Of the Buckeye State Will Meet at O. S. U.

Program—University Scientists to be Prominent

Below is given the program of the twelfth annual meeting of the Ohio State Academy of Science, to be held at Columbus, November 29 and 29, 1902.

The sessions will be held in the lecture room on the first floor of the Biological Building, Ohio State University.

FRIDAY.

9:30 a. m., Business Meeting—10 a. m., Reading of Papers.

1. Opportunities for faunal studies at the Lake Laboratory at Sandusky, 10 min., Herbert Osborn.

2. A list of Protozoa observed during the summer of 1902, 10 min., F. L. Landacre.

3. Ohio Batrachians and Reptiles, 3 min., Max Morse.

4. A note on the significance of the size of nerve fibres in fishes, 10 min., C. Judson Herrick.

5. Report on the development of the bones in the legs of our domestic animals, 15 min., W. F. Mercer.

6. The Tabanidae of Ohio, 5 min., Jas. S. Hine.

7. A list of Ohio Syrphidae, 3 min., Jas. S. Hine.

8. Remarks on the occurrence of Periodical Cicada in Ohio in 1902, 8 min., Herbert Osborn.

9. Note on the occurrence of the Cigarette Beetle in Columbus, 5 min., Herbert Osborn.

10. Unusual abundance of a Myriopod, 5 min., Max Morse.

1:30 p. m.

President's address—The Dietetic Value of Fruit, William R. Lazenby.

11. New Heliconias from Guatemala and elsewhere, 15 min., Robert F. Griggs.

12. Further notes on Smut Experiments, 5 min., Otto E. Jennings.

13. The life history problem of the Heteroecious Rusts, 12 min., W. A. Kellerman.

14. Eleven new species of fossil plants, 15 min., H. Herzer.

15. Eome Algae from Sandusky Bay, 3 min., Lumina C. Riddle.

16. The three forms of Prickly Lettuce in Ohio, 6 min., W. A. Kellerman.

17. Annual report on the State Herbarium and plants new to the State List, 4 min., W. A. Kellerman.

18. Additions and corrections to the Sandusky Flora, 8 min., E. L. Mosely.

19. The Flora of Chicken Island, 5 min., John H. Schaffner.

20. Ohio Stations for Myriostoma, 3 min., John H. Schaffner.

7:30 p. m.

21. New Discoveries at the Baum prehistoric village site, Ross County, Ohio; 10 min., Wm. C. Mills.

22. The Gartner Mound, 10 min., Wm. C. Mills.

23. Two botanizing trips in the mountains of West Virginia, 10 min., W. A. Kellerman.

24. The Clinton rock, the source of the natural gas of Central Ohio, 5 min., J. A. Bownocker.

25. Ripple marks on the anti-clinical, 5 min., Lowell Roubush.

26. Two fishes from the Upper Helderberg group, 10 min., H. Herzer.

27. The Darnell Matodon, 5 min., W. C. Mills.

28. General climatic conditions of Ohio, 10 min., Otto E. Jennings.

29. Some problems in Montana forestry, 5 min., Thos. Bonser.

30. Three interesting tropical plants, 15 min., Robert F. Griggs.

SATURDAY.

8:30 a. m., Business Meeting—9 a. m., Reading of Papers.

31. An ecological study of West Mansfield Swamp—preliminary report, 8 min., W. A. Kellerman.

32. Final report on Big Spring Prairie, 3 min., Thos. Bonser.

33. Microscopic life forms in Brush Lake, 8 min., Lumina C. Riddle.

34. Preliminary report on the plant ecology of Brush Lake, 10 min., John H. Schaffner.

35. Identification of flint from the prehistoric flint quarries of Licking County, Ohio, 10 min., Wm. C. Mills.

36. Currents in Sandusky Bay, 8 min., E. L. Mosely.

37. The Ohio Erysiphaceae—Keys and Distribution, 6 min., W. A. Kellerman and J. G. Sanders.

38. Additions to the Cuyahoga County Flora, 8 min., Leslie D. Stair.

39. Additions to the State Flora, 5 min., Leslie D. Stair.

40. Trees and shrubs on the Ohio State University campus with dendrological notes, 5 min., Otto E. Jennings.

41. The meteor of September 15th, 5 min., E. L. Mosely.

42. Preliminary report on the life of Philotria canadensis, 3 min., Lumina C. Riddle.

43. Report of progress on the plant ecology of Ohio, 3 min., John H. Schaffner.

OTHER TOPICS FOR DISCUSSION.

1. Shall we hold a summer meeting next year?

2. How can we increase the membership and efficiency of the Academy?

3. The importance of timber reserves for the preservation of our native flora and fauna.

4. What legislation is most vitally needed in the interest of science?

A SAD MISFORTUNE

Student's Father Becomes Insane—Kills Storekeeper

Friends of F. W. Hugger, '05, will be grieved to hear of a misfortune which befell his home last week. His father, in a fit of insanity, walked into a business place next door to his own in Iron-ton and shot the proprietor twice, inflicting injuries which, it is anticipated, can scarcely escape being fatal. Mr. Hugger, Sr., was normally a man of good disposition and is well spoken of by all who know him.

Fred returned home at once upon hearing of the misfortune. He was in Columbus again Sunday, arranging his affairs for leaving school. He intends, however, to return to the University next term, if possible.

WHAT IS WORTH WHILE

Subject of Earnest Address by Dr. Thompson

Some Words Worthy of Consideration by Students

President Thompson spoke at chapel Wednesday morning on "What is Worth While." He professed to approach the subject not as a pessimist, who thinks that nothing is worth while, nor as an optimist, who thinks that everything is worth while, but as an earnest student who recognizes that some things are of little worth and some are of great worth. Most pessimists are old men; there seems to be a tendency to grow sour with years.

Some things are of such great worth that nothing is a temptation to put a price upon these priceless things.

Growth is worth while. If one is growing intellectually, morally, and physically in college, it is worth while to spend the time there; but if, after four years, one is no more efficient, it was time wasted. He who makes no growth is soon a failure, whether he be a doctor, professor, lawyer, or whatever vocation he follows. Choosing between particular studies is not such an important matter, for anything which gives growth is justified from an educational point of view.

Excellence is worth while. In college, business, political or any sort of life, the person is the excellent person. He who appreciates excellence is apt to strive for it, and so to become the excellent and growing student. But excellence should never be the enemy of the best. We should never be content with mere excellence, for in that case we would come to a standstill, but we shall strive for the best.

Efficiency is worth while. If a man is not efficient as a student he gives little promise of being so elsewhere, while if he proves that he can do one thing well, he can be trusted to do another thing well. There can be no objection to a student changing his course if he has done good work heretofore; but if he has done poor work in the one course he is liable to the same in the other. The efficient man may be recommended for anything.

Knowledge is worth while and the power to acquire knowledge is of great value. The cultured men and women must know something. They must know among other things, books, people and manners. The education that does not bring information is of no use. Thus, the college graduate is supposed to know something, otherwise his education was worthless. The tendency to put a commercial value upon knowledge is a temptation and a snare. Knowledge, manhood, character and efficiency are things that have no commercial value, and they are the things for which we should strive.

EACH OTHER'S SCALPS

Eagerly Sought by Wesleyan and O. S. U.—Weights

When the referee's whistle announced the end of the Wesleyan-Case game last Saturday, Ohio State's last hope of a claim on the championship went glimmering. Case is now the undisputed champion of Ohio for 1902. The only thing now remaining for Ohio State is to wind up the season by a good, big score over Delaware, and by sending Indiana back to their Hoosier friends, defeated at least as badly as they defeated us last year. There seems little doubt now that we will be able to do this. The first part comes next Saturday at Delaware. There we can win for ourselves second place, even if we did fail of the championship.

The game will be a splendid one. Delaware has all the attributes of a winning team—speed, experience and fairly good weight. The chief reason they did not win from Case was that they went to Cleveland with a badly developed case of "swelled head," and with the usual fatal result. This will be well taken out of them before next Saturday, and it behooves Ohio State to see that no such affliction fastens itself upon the wearers of the scarlet and gray.

The rate to Delaware will be very cheap, and at least a thousand rooters should go up to help cheer the team on to victory.

As will be seen from the following tables, O. S. U. has a considerable advantage in weight, but the Methodists have a great superiority in the matter of experience:

BASE BALL CAPTAINCY.

At a meeting of last year's players last Monday evening, they selected Mr. J. B. Atkinson, of Pataskala, as their choice for captain of the team. Mr. Atkinson's nomination will be acted upon by the Athletic Board at its next meeting, and will probably be approved.

SOPHOMORES WINNERS

Freshies Vanquished on Grid-iron Above Ground

The class of 1905, which already has so many victories to its credit, last Saturday added on more scalp to its collection by defeating the Freshies by a score of 12 to 0. The game was closely fought, and the plucky Freshmen made some splendid stands against their heavier and more experienced opponents. The '06's were much troubled by the fumbling habit, and were seldom able to keep the ball more than a few downs at a time. For the Sophs Ricketts, who played on the 'Varsity last year, was the chief ground gainer, although Jacobi and Bebout were also in the race. At the ends, Bellows and Jeannot, a former Case player, put up a splendid game. The Freshman backs had little opportunity to show what they could do, although Yeagle and Richards got away for one or two runs. Bobb, at full, did some fine bucking, but was not able to hold the ball. Heekin, on the end, played the best game of the morning, showing up in form fully equal, if not better than that of several of the 'Varsity ends.

OFFICIALS AT DELAWARE.

Ralph Hoagland, who has already officiated very acceptably at several of our games this season, has been chosen as umpire next Saturday. The referee has not yet been agreed upon, but will probably be a man who is already known to both sides.

"No, sah," said the referee, "ah dunno who won de game. 'Cordin' to de result of de fight at de end of de contest de Blackville Giants were de victors, but 'cordin' to de number of points scored de Rag-time Pushers won. Howsomever, de Giants won't allow de score, 'cause when Eph Jackson made de winning touchdown he hid de ball in his mouf an' de Giants say dat ain't 'cordin' to Hoyle. Ah dunno."—C. G.

kicked out, and Fairweather fell on the ball on Ohio's 47-yard line.

Captain Stahl now came to the front and in one run carried the ball to Ohio's 10-yard line before Foss got him. There it stopped. Diener, Parker and Diener again made four yards, and it was Ohio's ball. Lincoln's punt was on the bum, and went out of bounds on the 17-yard line. The Ohio line was not at all discouraged, however, and again came to the rescue. Diener, Parker and Stahl made 3 among them, and it was Ohio's ball on her 15-yard line. Lincoln's punt netted 15 yards. Two downs found the ball one yard back of the starting point, and Cook tried a goal from placement. Lincoln was downed with the ball on Ohio's 20-yard line.

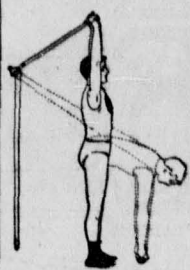

Ohio clipped off some distance to the following tune: McLaren 6, Hill 2, Marker 3, Coover 3, Mac 1, Lincoln 6, Mac 4, Hill 3. Things were going merrily when Umpire Reinhardt saw an off-side play, and his penalty made it necessary to punt. Lincoln's first try was blocked, but Foss got the ball. Next time Lincoln got the ball off for 35. Stahl tried a punt, but it was blocked, and Hill got the ball on Illinois' 42-yard line. Hill then tore things loose around Cook's end for 20 yards. McLaren tried a drop kick for goal, but it fell short. Stahl punted out of bounds on his own 30-yard line. Time was called after two more plays, with the ball in Ohio's possession on Illinois' 30-yard line.

SECOND HALF.

The only change was that Huntton took Diener's place at left half. Foss' trick kick-off went out of bounds, and Fay then kicked to Fairweather, who was downed on his 30-yard line. Stahl had to punt to Foss on Ohio's 30-yard line. Marker side-stepped Stahl enough to let Lincoln through for 6 and McLaren for 7. Lincoln was then forced to punt. After four plays Stahl had to do the same. Lincoln immediately repeated. At this point Parker replaced McKinley at quarter, while McKnight took the place of the former. McKnight made a yard, and McLaren was replaced by Walker. Stahl punted 40 yards, and Lincoln, after two plays, had to do the same. Stahl again booted, and Foss was downed on Illinois' 45-yard line. Elder for Illinois replaced Fairweather. Lincoln punted, and the ball rolled over the line for a touchdown.

Stahl kicked out to Thrower on Ohio's 45-yard line, who was downed on Illinois' 45-yard line. Lincoln soon punted, and after three plays, McKnight fumbled and Elder fell on the ball. Lincoln was hurt and Marquardt took his place. Hill tried a punt, but fumbled the snap, and Illinois got the ball on downs for the first time during the game. Illinois got together and walked the ball from her 40-yard line to Ohio's 20-yard line. Things were looking very serious for the scarlet and gray, but Bronson saved the day by giving another exhibition of butter fingers and Hill got the ball on his 17-yard line. Elder quickly punted 30 yards and out of danger. Clark replaced Case at guard. Once more Illinois loomed up dangerously, and it was not until the ball was on Ohio's 12-yard line that Bronson repeated his trick with the ball, entitled, "Now you have it, and now you haven't."

Hill went outside Bundy for 3, and Marquardt got through center for 15. Marker rang up 5 more. Marquardt bobbed up with three, but Walker couldn't keep up the good work, and Elder punted 40. The ball was on Illinois' 45-yard line and there was one minute to play. The strain was terrible. Stahl tried his old fake kick and succeeded in getting around Thrower for 42 yards, but Foss was

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Wahoo!
What did you think of it, Delaware?

The first touchdown was made in no time.

Wharton, the old guard, who was on the side lines, said that it was the Michigan game of 1900 over again.

Did you notice how the croaker on the Dispatch came down off his perch?

Those Illinois fumbles reminded one of Ohio State's performance of the previous Saturday.

The lesson of the Case game had been well learned, and the ball was only once lost on downs.

"Scrubby" Ireland's company of 100 appeared on the field between the halves in their weakly performance of the farce-comedy entitled, "The Rooters." Mr. Ireland in the title role made the hit of the afternoon, and was warmly applauded by the audience.

The touch-back article in the rules was well worked Saturday and enabled us to keep the ball out of danger in several instances.

The old "off-side" trick was worked successfully by Illinois and several times caught Ohio napping. They soon learned the lesson, however, and kept their eagerness within bounds.

OUT OF BOUNDS.

Co-eds! foot ball!! college spirit! victory.

Out at Stanford University the rooters all wear red hats, which serve as a pass to admit them to a special reserved "rooters' section" of the bleachers.

At Minnesota they have a band of fifty men, armed with megaphones. These men all sit together. When their team has the ball they make the air ring with "Touchdown! Touchdown!" and when the opponents have it, their line men are encouraged by the cheerful cry of "Stone wall! Stone wall!"

The other day a Minnesota spy was caught watching the practice of the Wisconsin team. He was taken in charge by several of the substitutes, who cooled his ardor very materially by a good ducking. According to the News, of the University of Cincinnati, "Red" Walker, who has been playing such a splendid game at half, was known while in attendance at that school by the appellation of "Downie." Come to think of it, he is a "downie bird," isn't he? We are very sorry to hear that Walker finds that foot ball is taking too much of his time, and that he will have to give it up.

He says that Saturday was his last day. Here's hoping he will reconsider it.

One of the features of the Thanksgiving game will be the souvenir which J. C. Steward is getting out. It will contain pictures of both teams and of a number of the players, being somewhat like the one gotten out for the Michigan game of last year.

SCARLET AND GRAY SONGS.

With the revival of things of a musical interest about the university, students will do well to remember that we have a college song book. This book was the result of combined work of the members of the Glee Club of 1900, and especially it was the work of C. W. Gayman, '00, musical director of the club, '98-'00, assisted by Dudley Scott, '00, and Harry Porter Weld, '00.

The book contains one hundred and two songs, forty-two belonging distinctly to the O. S. U., which is an unusually large number of Alma Mater songs in such works, and twelve of these are published for the first time in this collection. These, with a few of the national songs, and some typical college songs, with which every college student is familiar, complete the volume, and all are bound in an artistically printed book, with title page and cover in the colors of the university.

The books are on sale at all the music stores in the city and at Kiler's and Bradshaw's. The price of the books is one dollar, and in no way can that same amount be expended to bring a greater satisfaction to the loyal student. In the years to come the "Songs of the Scarlet and Gray" will, in the words of its editor, be "a means of enlivening and ennobling the college spirit which prevails among hundreds of students who proudly affirm their allegiance to the Scarlet and Gray." Let every one buy a song book.

Every student at Yale is expected to pay $8.00 per year to athletics.

NO CAPS AND GOWNS

Senior Class Refuses to Wear Them—Other News

At the meeting of the Senior Class Monday evening the reports of the different committees were heard. The first was that of the tower clock committee. Propositions from prominent tower clock companies were placed before the class.

Dr. Thompson spoke on the desirability of a college memorial. He spoke of the mistake that graduates make in deserting their college, and the evil effects upon the college. State universities labor under difficulties that other institutions do not. People never think that they are called upon to do anything for a state university, whereas there is nothing so bad for a college as to be deserted by its alumni. All the eastern colleges, and also those in our own state, have very strong support from their graduates. O. S. U. contemplates getting out a memorial to contain names of all who matriculated at the institution since its founding. It is a very difficult matter to get these names, because a great many alumni seem to have forgotten all about us and don't even know what O. S. U. is. A college memorial tends to strengthen ties between alumni and the university.

Dr. Thompson suggested that a tower clock would make a fitting memorial, and said a great deal in favor of it. He said that the trustee had not yet considered the matter, but assured the class that they would be willing to help them with any reasonable amount.

Captain Cope also spoke upon the desirability of the clock as a memorial. He suggested that it be connected with the bell-ringing apparatus. A great many classes have talked about leaving memorials, but none have ever done it. A clock would be better than '92's stone.

There seemed to be some indefiniteness existing among the members of the class in regard to the cost and the kinds of tower clocks, so that the matter was laid on the table until the next meeting.

The question of caps and gowns was again brought up, but was lost.

At the next meeting the social committee will probably have a report and there will also be a further report from the tower clock committee and further action will be taken on the question of a memorial at that time.

JUNIOR INFORMAL.

The first class hop of the year will be given by the Junior Class next Monday evening, at Smith's Fourth and Long Street hall. The number of tickets is limited to 35, which will insure a comfortable crowd. The committee has spared no pains to make this the best, as well as the first of the class dances. Admission $1. Next Monday, the 24th, at Smith's Fourth and Long Street hall, newspaper statements to the contrary notwithstanding.

GO TO DELAWARE.

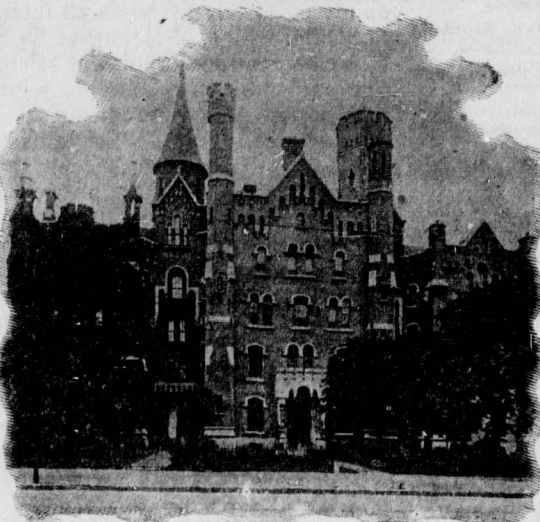

Arrangements have been made for an excursion to Delaware next Saturday to see the game. A special train will leave the Union Depot at 12:30 p. m., making the run to Delaware in 30 minutes. Fare for the round trip 60 cents. The returning train will leave Delaware not earlier than 6 p. m. Tickets will be on sale at the Chemical Supply Store, and will also be in the hands of several of the students.

With this rate, at least a thousand rooters should go to Delaware, and should paint the town red. We are going to win, come and see it.

THE FALLEN MIGHTY.

One short half of strenuous and scientific football on the Case gridiron Saturday turned Wesleyan's rosy championship dreams to a dark shade of blue. The story of the defeat was a sad one, and Ohio State can heartily sympathize with the fallen mighty, but it is a matter of regret that Green should have been permitted to make a fake-kick touchdown after the heartbreaking example of Ohio State and Oberlin's downfall upon that same play. Incidentally, this defeat also illustrates the fallability of human wisdom. Only a few weeks ago this paper reprinted an extract from the Delaware Transcript to the effect that "only overconfidence or a bad series of accidents can now prevent us from winning the State championship." Which was it?

UNIVERSITY LECTURES.

The action of the General Faculty in providing for a course of really valuable lectures is a progressive step which is a genuine pleasure to everyone in the institution who is interested in anything of an educational nature. As is announced in another column, the speakers will be of the best in the country. When the arrangements are completed, it is to be hoped that the student body will so support the course as to show that they are not provincial and to grant it in some degree the appreciation which such courses are accorded in the large universities of the country.

When Illinois first got the ball Saturday and tried our line without results, then attacked the ends and made no gain, a great cheer went up from bleachers and grandstand, for it began to dawn on Ohio State supporters even then that our team had "gotten together" at last. The game was a satisfaction from all standpoints. Not only the best, but the cleanest football of the year was played, and the enthusiastic demonstrations of the spectators did justice to the occasion.

When the score of the Case-Wesleyan game was circulated in the evening, there was one word on everyone's lips, "If that brace-up had come one week sooner."

While that is a circumstance to be regretted, but at the same time it should be remembered that everyone has been doing his best, and that no one is to blame.

The Delaware Transcript of last week, in a very fair and gentlemanly editorial, disclaims all intention of arousing ill-feeling at O. S. U. by its comment upon the Michigan game, which comment, it further states, was only meant as a good-natured "jolly." Students of the State University accept this statement gladly and are pleased at the desire it expresses for continued friendly relations between the two colleges. At the same time it is scarcely possible to subscribe to the statement that no offense on our part was unwarranted. The terms used by the Transcript were, although unintentionally, far too strong to be taken as an innocent "jolly" by a team and student body smarting under a serious defeat.

Revenge! Saturday! Delaware!

The natural passion for seeing ones name in print is well illustrated in the case of a certain O. S. U. student, who, purchasing a directory and finding his name omitted, promptly returned the book and demanded his money! Think of the vast pleasure to 1500 students of beholding their names in the directory!

The game of next Saturday will probably be the fiercest battle of the year in Ohio football. It will be a fight to the death between two disappointed teams, both longing for revenge. Try to go up and help our boys do what you want them to. Depend upon it, you will be proud of them.

Coach Boyle expressed an opinion after our Michigan game that O. S. U. and O. W. U. would fight it out at the finish. This sentence is recommended to all teachers of composition as an excellent example of the ambiguity of pronouns in the English language.

Aha, there! Illinois, Aha!

The Illinois team and their Coach were sportsmen, and refrained from "holding," or saying that we got more than we deserved.

The Student Directory appeared this week. It is complete, accurate and neat in form. The Y. M. C. A. is to be complimented upon it.

Stray Beams.

"Do you know, Mrs. Brown, I'm simply worried to death about my boy. He's absolutely crazy to go up to the University and play football. Terrible, isn't it?"

"Shocking! Indeed, Mrs. Smith, you have my sympathy."

"Yes; I haven't any idea in the world what to do. It's such a brutal game."

"And so dangerous."

"Yes, and bloodthirsty."

"Why, all they try to do is to injure the other players,—break their arms and kick them on the head and such."

"They're often injured for life."

"Barbarous game."

"Inhuman, too."

"Oh, it's awful! Did you ever see a game, Mrs. Smith?"

"Mercy me, no! Why, you couldn't hire me to look at a game for a minute. No, indeed!"

"Nor me either. I do believe Mrs. Jones is wearing a last winter's dress, trimmed over."

THE MASCOT.

The young tiger which officiates as mascot for the Princeton eleven recently went out for an airing with the captain of the team and a friend. The latter carelessly flicked some hot cigarette ashes upon the cub's tail, with the result that its ordinary good humor was temporarily cast aside and for a few minutes the beast gave an exhibition of real jungle tactics. Then the animal recovered its usual composure.

But the mischief has been done. The mascot had been offended and a hoodoo cast over the team. It was only to be expected, therefore, that in the next game defeat was its portion.

There is a lesson in this incident. For a winning team, there may be some need of material, and a competent coach is also useful. There should be, too, some college spirit, and the players should be willing to practice occasionally and to pose repeatedly in their fiercest attitudes for the illustrated daily photographers. All of this helps, but most important of all is the mascot. Unless all is well with the mascot, victory is but an accident.

A MOMENTOUS QUESTION.

He sat at his study table with his face buried in his hands. For a long time he had said nothing, and it was plainly evident that he was deeply perplexed. Finally his roommate broke the silence.

"Cheer up, fellow," he said, "what's the matter with you?"

More silence.

"I say, what's worrying you, anyhow?"

"I can't decide," was the reply, "whether I ought to cut the cake out of my pipe."

MAKING PROGRESS.

When to college he came
His language was tame,
As pure as that used by the best of 'em.

But soon he could swear
And in slang well compare With George Ade, Peter Dunne
and the rest of 'em.

MORE LUCRATIVE.

"What has become of the English professor?"

"The university couldn't afford to pay him the salary he asked, so he resigned, and is now with a milling company inventing names for breakfast foods."

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT.

O what a tangled web we weave
When first we practice to deceive!
We need a little practice, then
We learn to crib with the best of men.

After a hard tackle the football star often discovers that he is not the only variety of stellar phenomena.

"Any luck hunting?"

"Oh, yes. I shot a quail, two crows and the other fellow."

BY THE WAY.
The Idler's Chronicle and Comment

Apropos of the topic of state football championships, won't the man who does the "Point of View" in the Oberlin Review put his little hand in that of The Idler and give it a long, sympathetic, convulsive clasp? But did he, O, did he, observe that Illinois score?

The man who has never beheld a well-organized "night-shirt parade" has missed one of the sweets of life. About 8 o'clock last Saturday evening, after the Illinois-O. S. U. game, the amazed throngs on High street stared astonished at a long, careering line of startlingly clad figures that zigzagged swiftly down the thoroughfare, three or four hundred of them, four abreast, with locked arms, and all venting their enthusiasm in wild yells for the college and the team. There was every variety of costume from the conventional white through the checked flannel up to the delicate pink pajama; and one man waved a forlorn and distressed garment from the end of a stick. On they went, now in steady rhythmic march, now in frantic bursts of running, until they vanished amid the cars and carriages and crowds, a unique and entertaining spectacle.

The average crowd of "supes" in a theatrical performance requiring mobs, armies and the like is the limit of hopelessness when it comes to producing an intelligent effect. The throngs of citizens and soldiers in Mansfield's "Julius Caesar," afforded a pleasant contrast to what we have come to expect, and certainly my interest in the performance increased materially with my discovery that the mob which roared and growled and waved its arms and waxed wroth or cowardly at Brutus and Antony, was made up almost wholly of university fellows who, for the fun of the thing, had donned mismatched suits of armor and tunics of astonishing fit, and turned themselves for the nonce into noble Romans. People all over the house were commenting upon the intelligence and enthusiasm with which they did their parts, and I am told that the great actor himself said that he almost feared bodily harm from the indignant citizens at one or two points in the play.

This town is theatre crazy. Here are four large houses, three of which give daily matinee performances, and all of which are crowded day and night. The fact that no small proportion of those who attend regularly is made up of university students leads me to ask just what part the theatre ought to play in the interest of those who are supposed to be doing average college work. I assume that attendance at the theatre may be made a legitimate element in one's education and his acquirement of culture, but I believe that as conditions are, for the average student, the theatre is an almost unmitigated evil. Perhaps that puts it very strongly, but let us see. What of the play as a mere consumer of time? There are scores of university men who go to the theatre two and three times a week, straight through the season. The whole evening is used up, from 8 to 12. No man can do that and keep up his work. And what do we crowd to see? So-called comic opera and melo-drama. Relaxation, we cry, we must have from our strenuous work, and comedy is what we need. So we jam in to hear the same old comedians crack the same old jokes, to see the same old soubrettes kick the same old heels, to listen to music as flat and insipid as ditch-water, sung by ill-trained choruses and principals who haven't voice enough to give them a situation in a well-directed frog pond. Isn't it true? Excepting possibly one performance, what have we had this fall that would not justify these remarks? Comedy, if I am to judge by recent examples, consists in painting one's face as the clowns of our infancy used to paint, and doing an average vaudeville contortion act; whereat we all crack our ribs with laughter! And a show with four or even six of these comedians is the limit of excellence. May the managers some day send us a comic opera in which some real music will be really sung! If there were nothing else to be said against the kind of theatre-going prevalent here, one thing alone should condemn it for the student. It is almost fatal to serious study and the study habit. There is nothing so distracting as constant attendance upon and recollection of the play; it obtrudes itself upon one's working hours and destroys his power of regular and concentrated study. But regarded from a reasonable, moderate and judicious point of view, the theatre may become delightful and helpful in the extreme.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY

An Interesting and Well Pre-pared Program Given

An exceptionally interesting meeting of the society was held Friday evening in the home of the society, room 10, University Hall. The meeting was called to order by President Burrell. The society then proceeded immediately to the following program:

1. "The Construction of Asphalt Pavement," R. H. Rice.
2. "A Novel Incandescent Lamp," E. M. Gorrell.
3. "Current Events—Electrical," C. F. Kettering.
4. "Current Events—Mechanic-al," W. W. Hackney.

Mr. Rice's paper on "Asphalt Pavement," gave a very able dis-cussion of the subject, from the crude asphalt to the finished prod-uct. The paper was declared by all to be an especially good and comprehensive one. A lively dis-cussion followed.

Mr. Gorrell's subject of "Incan-descent Lamps," treated of a new lamp giving uniform efficiency in all directions. Here also a lively discussion followed.

Both papers on "Current Events" were of unusual interest. Mr. Hackney showed good taste in se-lectin gand arranging his subjects.

Mr. Kettering's paper included several very interesting items. He developed the subject of the new automatic telephone central station in an exceedingly clear and fas-cinating manner. He illustrated the talk from beginning to end by blackboard diagrams. A spirited discussion showed the interest taken by his hearers.

A few impromptus were then re-sponded to with more or less ability.

In the business part of the meet-ing some more applications for membership were received.

The following were elected to the program committee: R. H. Rice, C. E.; C. H. Kerr, E. M.; E. D. Williams, M. E., and C. F. Ketter-ing, E. E.

Alumni.

The following item with regard to an alumnus of the class of '93 is taken from the "Electrical World":

"Mr. W. K. Palmer, consulting engineer, 401 New York Life Building, Kansas City, Mo., has been retained as consulting engineer for the American Carbolite Company, which has recently been organized for the purpose of building a plant at Constantine, Mich., for the manufacture of calcium carbide by a new process. Mr.
 Palmer and assistants are now in Chicago engaged in designing the electrical furnaces and special machinery required in the plant, and preparing plans for the arrangement of the equipment and for the steel building. The plant embodies many novel features—electrical, mechanical and structural—because of the unusual character of the process. Electrical power will be employed throughout the works."

A committee or alumni met at the University on last Monday to consider the best means for raising between six and seven hundred dollars for the purpose of placing a man in the field to collect material for a directory, which will contain the names of all alumni of this institution, and will include also information concerning them on points of residence, business, etc.
 The need of such a general directory here at the University has long been keenly felt. The advantages of such a directory are many and obvious, and in taking steps toward compiling one, we are but falling in line with what has already been done in most of the large universities, east and west.
 This action on part of the alumni shows that they are still interested in their alma mater, and are willing to do something material for her welfare.

Word was received in this city Tuesday morning of the death at Phoenix, Ariz., of Edwin Flickinger, brother of Mrs. E. S. De-Miller, 149 West Tenth avenue, on Monday evening. The deceased was 23 years of age and had been for a couple of years a student at the Ohio State University. He was in attendance here up to last year, being a member of Phi Gamma Delta. He was afflicted with consumption and left the city early in September for Arizona in the hope of recovery. It was in vain, however, as he grew steadily worse until the end came Monday evening.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been made as yet, but it is certain that the body will be brought back and will be buried at Elyria, O., the former home of the deceased.

ALUMNI SAW GAME.

A party of members of the Pittsburg O. S. U. Alumni Association came to Columbus Saturday forenoon to attend the O. S. U.-Illinois foot ball game, and "root" for the "scarlet and gray." The party consisted of the following alumni:

Harry Beck, H. E. Cameron, H.
 E. Culbertson, R. S. Feicht, W. M.
 Fickes, E. R. Ganson, Arthur J.
 Jones, P. M. Lincoln, R. C. Miller,
 U. H. Myers, A. Petterson, J. D.
 Riggs, E. C. Sargent, J. K. Shewman, Charles Skinner, C. M.
 Sprague, H. M. Urban and Brice.

The body of Hugh McCabe, who died at Sewickley, Pa., was brought here last Thursday for burial. The funeral was held at St. Paul's Episcopal Church last Thursday morning. Interment was in Greenlawn.
 Mr. McCabe was a son of D. T.
 McCabe, Traffic Manager of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg. He was an old O. S. U.
 man, and a member of Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity. Many student friends and fraternity brothers were present at the funeral exercises.

A letter has been received recently from Wm. C. Bryant, '02, who is acting as assistant to the treasurer at Singayen, Province of Pangasinan, P. I. In it he mentions the great pleasure he had in meeting Captain Sigerfoos, '91, and how royally entertained he was by him.

H. F. Wharton, who played one of the guard positions on the team of '99 and '00, was present at the game Saturday.

J. A. Stocker, '02, who is with the Hocking Valley Railway at Charleston, W. Va., spent Sunday in Columbus.

Ralph Miller, '01, was over from Pittsburgh to see the game and visit friends in the city.

John S. Martin was visiting the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity last Saturday.

 ware.

ABOUT MAJOR BURNS.

Major James H. Burns, U. S.
 army, retired, on duty at the West Virginia University at Morgantown, W. Va., is accorded high praise for his conduct of the military department at that institution.
 He has taken a keen interest in the work of the cadets and is anxious to increase the corps to 250 and to have a new gymnasium erected. The Morgantown Evening Post says: "Never in the history of the university has the cadet corps been as good as it is today.
 The discipline is almost perfect.
 Officers and men vie with each other in that prompt performance of all duties required of them."—

FENCERS ORGANIZE.

The organization of the O. S. U.
 Fencing Club was completed last Friday afternoon. The club will begin the season with about twenty members and the following officers:

Mr. B. C. Poston, President.
 Mr. Lindenberg.
 Mr. G. G. McIlvoy.
 Mr. J. H. Wilson, Secretary.

The club will hold regular meetings every Friday at 4 p. m. All students of the university are eligible to membership.

The initiation fee is $1 and the monthly dues 25 cents.

On and after Friday, the 14th, there will be several sets of masks and foils at the gym for the use of the members.

UNIVERSITY LECTURES
Changes in Thanksgiving and Christmas Vacations

At the General Faculty meeting held on Wednesday, November 12, a readjustment was made in the dates for the beginning of the Thanksgiving and Christmas recesses. The faculty voted that the Thanksgiving recess should begin at noon on Wednesday, November 26, and extend to Saturday noon, November 29. As regards the Christmas vacation, it was voted that all final examinations should close by Tuesday afternoon, December 23. The second term will begin as scheduled in the Catalogue, Tuesday, January 6.

The report of the Registrar showed the present enrollment of the various colleges to be:

	1901	1902
Arts	422	485
Engineering	580	659
Agriculture and Do- mestic Science	145	190
Law	175	159

Veterinary Medicine...	64	87
	1426	1618
Names counted twice..	11	15

Total1415 1603

The most important action taken by the faculty and one that will be of general benefit to the student body and the public was in providing for a university lecture course, through the creation of a standing committee to arrange for a high-grade course to be given by some of the most distinguished scholars and presidents of our leading universities. The committee as created consists of President Thompson, Professor Siebert, Secretary of the General Faculty, and Professor Denney. It is expected that the course will include five lectures, to be given one a month from January to May, inclusive.

As soon as arrangements are completed, course tickets at a reasonable price will be placed on sale, and further announcements made.

DAIRYMEN TO MEET
State Association Decides upon
Dates and Places

The local meetings of the Ohio State Dairymen's Association have been settled upon. They will be held as follows: Windham, Portage county, November 25; Waynesville, Warren county, December 1; Mt. Carmel, Clermont county, December 2; New Vienna, Clinton county, December 29;
Rock Creek, Ashtabula county,
December 30; Middlefield, Geauga county, December 31; Garrettsville, Portage county, January 1;
Delta, Fulton county, January 2.

The speakers at the meetings will be President L. P. Bailey of Tacoma, Professors C. S. Plumm and J. W. Decker of Ohio State University, A. J. Slaughter of Ravenna, Professor H. J. Noyes of Muscodia, Wisconsin. These meetings will not duplicate the farmers' institutes, but will be conducted according to strictly dairy interests. Demonstrations in the testing of milk, the making of cheese and butter and the judging of dairy cattle will be given. A model dairymen's library will be on exhibition.

GEOLOGICAL TRIPS.

The academic students under Prof. Bownocker made a geological trip last Saturday to the glens north of Worthington. The engineering students and Pro. Prosser went to Newark the same day, where the upper Waverly formations and coal-measure conglom-erate were studied. The party climbed the steep cliff of the Black Hand formation south of the Licking river, then visited the Havens quarries in the freestone of this formation to the southeast of Newark, and finally made a rapid trip to the top of Bald Hill, which is capped by the Lower Mercer limestone. It was a clear, beautiful day and a magnificent view of the surrounding country was obtained from the summit of this prominent hill.

AFFIRMATIVE CHOSEN
Ohio Wesleyan Takes Her
Stand—Hard Work Begins

A letter received yesterday morning by the local Debate and Oratory Council announces that Wesleyan will champion the affirmative in the coming debate between that institution and Ohio State.
The question proposed by O. S. U.
was, it will be remembered, "Resolved, That the concentration of municipal administrative power in the mayor is preferable to its distribution among elective officers or boards. It is this proposition that the Wesleyan debaters have chosen to attempt to prove.

It cannot be too strongly urged upon all who have debating proclivities of any sort to study this question and enter the preliminaries which will take place early in December. The fact that anyone is not confident of his ability to make good should cause no hesitation. It will be a valuable training for each one who tries. Each one who tries will also be assisting the cause, for nothing creates such enthusiasm as vigorous competition.

Now that our side of the question is settled, the hardest kind of work will begin at once. Most of the big western colleges have already chosen their debaters for coming contests.

JUST AS WE DO.

A student at Berkeley contributes the following: Many ludicrious mistakes are made by foreigners in grasping the meaning of some of our common English expressions. A young German attending the State University translated, "The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak," into "The ghost is willing, but the meat is not able."
And a Filipino youth fairly set the class in an uproar by the statement that "Out of sight, out of mind," meant, "The invisible is insane."

Debate: Resolved, That compulsory arbitration of disputes between capital and labor would be a desirable element in our economic system."

Affirmative, Myers; negative, Rosenblatt.

The affirmative was sustained by the votes of both the judges and the society.

In business meeting, Hahn and Harshman were appointed a committee on an Inter-Lit. hop.

Waight, McCleary Downing, Eberly, and Osterman were initiated. After the call to order following the observance of the sacred rites, the society entered into a vigorous discussion of the constitutional and legal statutes of initiates, which developed a considerable amount of acidity on both sides, and was prolonged until 11 o'clock.

HORTON.

The following program was had on last Friday night:

Music Rankin

Declamation Loomis

Story Dickey

Extempores.

Essay Frost

Visitors are always welcome and are invited to be present on Friday night the 24th of November.

ATHENAEAN.

The meeting last Friday evening was well attended and a good program rendered. Coates opened the program with a piano solo, after which Mitchell, in a very able manner, discussed the subject, "Behind the Scenes." The debate proved to be very interesting on the question, "Resolved, That the U. S. and England should establish free trade relations between the U. S. and Canada." Mark and Hommon supported the affirmative, while Hengst and Stiver had the negative. The decision of the judges was in favor of the negative.

All members are requested to be present next Friday evening, as important business is to be transacted.

HUNTER.

Hunter Literary Society held the most rousing meeting last Friday night that they have held this year.

The following new members were voted in: John Oldham, P. L. Wilkins, S. N. Marshall, John Downing, John L. Daganhardt, T. S. Jones, C. V. Jones, C. H. Bates.

The following new names were proposed: Messrs. Nash, Strayer, Harrison.

Program rendered:
Talk, Juniper, "The Passing of the Old School Lawyer."

Debate, subject: "Resolved, That strikes are a hopeful aspect of civilization." Affirmative, Doty, Radabaugh; negative, Wolf, Sherman.

After a very able and general discussion by both affirmative and negative, the debate was thrown open for general discussion, which was very lively and heated.

Look out for Hon. E. O. Randall first Friday after Thanksgiving.

General program next Friday. Room 14, University Hall. Everybody come.

TOWNSHEND

Townshend's meeting on Friday evening was the best that has been held this year. The attendance both of members and visitors was large.

The program consisted of Current Events, by Fast; a Reading, by Porter Elliott; Solo, by Hamilton; Talks, by Poston, Eichelberger, Palmer and Hamilton.

In the debate: Resolved, That the Beal local option law is a good one, the affirmative was presented by McClintock and the negative by Ditto.

In the general debate the question was discussed with a great deal of enthusiasm.

The report of the judges was unanimous for the affirmative.

DR. HAGERTY SPEAKSOn Department Stores Before Political Science Club

The Political Science Club held its regular meeting last Wednesday evening in Orton Hall. The major paper was presented, in an informal talk, by Dr. Hagerty. He spoke of the department store as an economic factor in our modern life. He tried to show how it is a natural result of present-day conditions, and would have been impossible fifty years ago. He pointed out its advantages and disadvantages, and summed it up as, on the whole, a decided advantage to the consumer, and a disadvantage to the single-line shop-keeper.

The minor paper was omitted, on account of the illness of Mr. Laylin, who should have presented it. Current events were ably reviewed by Mr. Cockley.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday evening, November 19, as the regular date, November 26, would bring it the night before Thanksgiving.

At the next meeting Mr. Hahn will read the major paper, and Mr. Hagenbach the minor, while current events will be reviewed by Mr. Corkery.

BROWNING.

Browning Literary Society held a very interesting meeting Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The program was:

Fiction of last year criticised from a literary standpoint.

Miss Sheets

Remarks on the same subject,

Miss Sproat

Current Events. Miss Huntington

The paper by Miss Sheets was especially good. It gave evidence of careful preparation and was thoroughly enjoyed by the society. Miss Sproat's talk was very entertaining, and the current events by Miss Huntington were interesting.

It was decided to hold the next meeting on Thursday, owing to the Twilight Concert in the Chapel on Friday. And hereafter when there is to be a Twilight Concert on Friday the meetings will be held the evening before. It is hoped that all the members will endeavor to be present next Thursday.

PHILOMATHEAN.

The program for Philomathean Literary Society Friday afternoon was as follows:

Review of "The Last of the Mohicans" Mrs. Raudebaugh
Recitation—"The Damsel of Peru" Miss Harbarger
Reading from Hawthorn,

Miss Redrow

On account of the Twilight Concert next Friday evening it was decided to have the meeting for this week on Wednesday evening at 4.
