

Anti-CSA Leaflets Flood Campus

By Bill Bowden

Since Tuesday night, when the Council of Student Affairs declared the May 8 election invalid, and that a new one should be held Tuesday, the campus has been sparkling with political huddles, special meetings, and propaganda.

Wednesday morning, as students were heading for their 8 o'clock classes, they found on the ground many slips of paper reading, "Government of the students, for the students, but by CSA."

This was cause for conversation for awhile, but yesterday morning a more direct slam was headed at CSA. This paper read, "In the beginning 'CSA-BPP?' decreed heaven, earth and a new election. Vote." This piece of work was also scattered about so that students would be able to find it, while going to their 8 o'clock classes.

Yesterday was a big one for the "spreaders of the word," for another mimeographed paper was distributed. This one was entitled, "A Letter to the Students."

The letter, anonymously signed Milton Amasis, deals with the power of CSA and calls itself "a lesson on democracy."

The method in which the students connected with the election were interviewed and the decision of CSA on the election were the main points of the letter.

Senators Debate Final HR Report

By Fritz Nothacker, Lantern Senate Reporter

The Student Senate last night wound up preliminary discussion on the final six areas of its 12-area Human Relations report setting the stage for final action on the entire campus discrimination document at next week's final Senate session.

The controversial Human Relations report emerged from debate filled Senate chambers at 10:15 in its original text after solons struggled for nearly three hours in a thorough discussion of the document.

Discussion on the final six areas covering campus housing and boarding, off-campus housing and boarding, health facilities, physical education, recreation, and restrictive clauses in social organizations moved surprisingly rapid.

THE SENATE had arranged an 11th hour curfew with the administration in the event that proceedings in Page Hall would bog down over the more explosive areas of the discrimination report.

Discussion bogged down from the outset on the area of campus housing and boarding. The question which aroused an hour and a half of debate was whether to accept the committee's majority or minority reports.

The minority reports felt that discrimination was being practiced in sending application blanks to women students requesting them to answer questions regarding race and religion.

AN AMENDMENT submitted by John Moore, A-3, whose chief spokesmen included Jo Ann Snyder and Russell Jones, compiler of the Human Relations Committee minority report, recommended this information not be included on the initial application blank.

Spokesman for the majority report, Stu Summit, Roger Staehle, Karen Myers and Dean of Women Christine Y. Conaway, intimated that this request, sent all women students applying for housing, was discriminatory.

However, they explained that the practice is used not to discriminate but in the interests of accommodating students for off-campus housing.

"Many of the landlords with whom the dean of women deal,"

Anderson Elected FCC President

Dick Anderson

Dick Anderson, A-1, was elected president of the Freshman Class Council Tuesday evening at the last official business meeting of the year.

Other officers are: Bill Peteet, Engr-1, vice-president; Nancy Hull, Ed-1, secretary; and Carleen LeBold, Nurs-1, treasurer.

Panhel Officers Discuss Pledge Rushing Problem

New sorority officers will discuss problems common to all sororities at the Panhellenic workshop tomorrow from 9 to 12 noon, in room 329, Ohio Union.

Retired officers and alumnae will lead the discussions which include the problem of establishing harmony between actives and pledges, and actives and alumnae. Integrated rushing and subordination of pledges will be other topics considered.

The groups will also discuss ways of encouraging high scholarship among sorority members and of stimulating interest in social events.

Also on the workshop program is a skit showing the worries of a sorority executive council.

Warmer Weekend Says Weatherman

The weather outlook for the week end calls for clouds and a somewhat warmer temperature range.

Today's high will reach 70 with an expected low tonight of 50 degrees.

Tomorrow will be a little warmer, but still cloudy, with a high reading of 80.

Scattered showers are predicted for Sunday and it will be a little warmer with the temperature expected to reach 84 degrees. Sunday's low will be 58.

Pre-Law Club Hears Judge At Banquet

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court will address the men of the newly-organized Pre-Law Club at a banquet at 6:30 p. m. Monday in rooms 331-ABC of the Ohio Union.

"As Viewed From the Bench" will be Justice Weygandt's topic of delivery, according to Dick Stoner, A-2, publications chairman.

Pioneering the organization of this new club were Ron Galip, L-2, and John Hoskins, L-2, present members of the Student Bar Association. The purpose of this younger group of law aspirants is very broad and was designed mainly to familiarize them in the realm and practice of law.

Membership is open to any undergraduate students interested in law and is not limited to strictly pre-law students.

Robert Witherspoon, A-2, was elected president of the group and Prof. Paul Craig, of the economics department, serves as adviser.

TALK SLATED

"Thickness Measurement of Coating in Vacuum" will be the subject of a lecture sponsored by the department of physics and astronomy.

Prof. A. C. van Heel, of Technical University in Delft, Netherlands, will present the lecture at 4 p. m. Tuesday in room 110, New Physics Building.

CSA Announces Election Re-Vote Set For Tuesday

By Sharon Moloney, Lantern Managing Editor

The re-vote for election of class officers and Student Senators, set for Tuesday, will see a crack-down on previously haphazard election and voting procedures, the Council on Student Affairs announced yesterday.

CSA, meeting jointly with the Senate Elections Committee, recommended numerous* safety measures to prevent the "irregularities" of the May 8 vote.

MUSTERING its decreased four-member forces, the Elections Committee assured Council members that all ballots will be lettered and numbered. Ballot letters will correspond with letters assigned to each voting booth.

Each booth will be allotted a certain number of ballots, within a designated numerical range. Letters and numbers will be recorded on a master sheet, enabling officials to know to which booth a ballot was assigned and at which booth it was deposited.

Any irregularities could be immediately detected since letters and numbers on deposited ballots must correspond with letters and numbers assigned each voting booth.

A REDUCTION in the number of voting booths from 24 to 10 will insure more adequate supervision of voting polls, Council members felt. Booths will be open from 9:30

Visiting Faculty Member Dies Of Heart Attack

Prof. Harold A. Stueland, on leave of absence from the University of Minnesota, died of a heart attack in his apartment at Veterans Village last night.

The 42-year-old man was a professor of fine arts at the University of Minnesota and was currently working on his doctor's degree at Ohio State.

Professor Stueland suffered the heart attack around 6 p. m. yesterday and was reported dead on arrival of the emergency squad.

The funeral will be in Duluth, Minn., on Monday.

Candidates Favor New Vote

Editor's Note: Two candidates for junior class senator were interviewed by a Lantern reporter as to their views of having a new campus election. The following opinions were expressed by the candidates.

SCOTT PENCE, A-2, recent BPP candidate for junior class senator, thinks that "the only fair thing to do is to have the elections over again. It is up to the students now as to how the voting goes."

Pence thinks that the booth officials were not very well informed, since they didn't seem to know what was required of them or the voter.

"I can't see any sense in having political parties if the same procedure is to be used in every election," he stated.

The BPP candidate thinks the charges against OSPA were found to be true. "Now I'm inclined to think that the party which wins will have an 80 per cent majority. A few from the

Senior Class Votes Buying New Marker

Entrance markers, similar to those at Fifteenth and High, will be erected as the 1956 senior class memorial.

.. This was decided by the approximately 75 people who attended the senior class mass meeting yesterday afternoon.

The markers will cost from $2,000 to $3,000 for each pillar, Roger Wilson, A-4, a member of the class cabinet told seniors.

Class president Roger Staehle, Engr-4, said that they would probably have at their disposal "some place between $1500 and $2000." He said that about $1400 has already been contributed.

The markers will probably be placed at the N. Neil Ave. entrance to the campus. Wilson said that the administration would like to have markers at all entrances to the campus, and will eventually buy them if they are not contributed as class memorials.

The money contributed by this year's class may be enough for only one pillar. "Quite often these little things cost a lot more than we think they do," Staehle said. "Some projects planned by other classes fell almost $40,000 short."

Drinking fountains for the Oval was the memorial in runner-up position, but the entrance markers won by a large margin, Wilson said.

U. S. WARNS 'STRONG ARMS'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States has told Communist "come-back-home" campaigners that strong arm tactics will not be tolerated on refugees in this country.

DICK SMITH, Com-2, OSPA candidate for junior class senator, asks of the forthcoming election, "Why did the BPP wait until after the ballots were counted and the election results were released to start claiming fraud?"

Smith feels that if they were as moral and righteous as they claim to be, they would have claimed fraud at the time it was supposed to have taken place and not when it would be to their advantage.

"Supposedly, student government is set up so that a court system similar to the U. S. system is present at Ohio State. This system is supposedly for the protection of the student against the human errors which

New Election Brings Mail Bag Reaction

Dear Sir:

I was very much misquoted and misinterpreted in today's LANTERN write-up of the Buckeye meeting. I attribute it to a poor job of reporting, however, and not LANTERN policy.

There is one point, though, that I would like to clear up. That is the point concerning the Human Relations Report as a Buckeye project.

At the meeting, I explained the report and its contents, along with its inception. I answered questions about the report, and entertained a motion directing my support of the report on the Senate floor. Up to this time the name of our party was never mentioned.

Someone then asked if the LANTERN, who has blamed all of Senate's shortcomings on BPP would give us any credit for this. My answer was, "probably not." When questioned further, I stated that a majority of the students on the committee were Buckeyes, which is unquestionably the case.

Any special praise or commendation which was made was done in regards to the committee as a whole, and most of this was given long before anyone implied Buckeye's participation.

I was paraphrased as saying most of the work was done by Stu Summit. To point out how out of line this is, I would like to say that when I was naming the committee (from memory), I accidentally omitted Stu's name and had to back-track to mention him at all.

The Buckeyes on the committee did a terrific job, as did Stu in the capacity of chairman, and the whole party is proud of this accomplishment. But in no way did their work overshadow that of the other committee members.

I feel bad that all the wonderful things that I had to say about the entire committee were left from the write-up as were other pertinent things such as our nominees for BPP officers.

In reading the article, I noticed that the time of the meeting was stated exactly right. As for the rest of the article I had a tough time correlating the points to what actually happened.

Respectfully,
Ron Cohen, President.

(Editor's note — We sincerely regret any inaccuracies or misquotes which appear in our news columns. However, we feel obliged to point out that the Lantern has not blamed "all of Senate's shortcomings" on Buckeye Political Party.

Any criticism of Student Senate has been aimed at Senate as a whole and not to the ruling political party. Experience has taught us that which party is in power has little bearing on the effectiveness of our student government.)

To the Editor:

Concerning the new election we have a few questions we would like to pose.

1. If voting for officers, senators, Union Board, Social Board and May Queen are all done on the same ballot, how can part of the election be valid and not the rest?

2. Could it be possible that since the objecting party, who has a majority in Student Senate, and several members on CSA won a majority of Social Board, Union Board and also May Queen there have been no irregularities found here?

3. We would like to know if in the editor's opinion it is fair for defeated candidates to sit on Student Court and CSA on this issue?

Since we are independents it makes little difference to us which political party gains power. We are interested only in good student government.

It appears to us that the investigation of the election has quite a few irregularities in it too.

A Sad Tale

Students will go to the polls again Tuesday to elect their class officers and student senators. And it's a sad tale in more than one way.

A new election is being staged because the May Week voting was so rotten the odor still lingers, more than two weeks later.

About everything that could go wrong did. The administrative machinery went haywire. So did the students' ethics.

First, there was the departure from the customary preferential balloting for senators—without letting the voters in on the change. The polls were ineptly manned. Clusters of bystanders clogged up the booth areas.

Set against this background of administrative breakdown, the ethical disintegration came easy.

It is not public knowledge what went on behind the closed doors of the eight-hour Council on Student Affairs hearings.

But witnesses were called and apparently enough evidence of ballot box stuffing, duplicate voting and other irregularities was found to satisfy CSA that the election wasn't exactly cricket.

And thereby hangs another chapter of this sad tale—the failure of student government. Student Senate and its election committee failed in one of its most crucial functions, conduct of elections.

So CSA had to step in. We have harped long and loud about such exercise of power by the Council.

Still, what else can CSA do when Senate refuses to live up to its responsibility? This is a question which will bring just one answer so long as student government fails to measure up to that responsibility.

We Choose A Memorial

To some, class memorials are a silly anachronism which should have gone out with the horse and buggy. Others look upon such class gifts as a fitting monument to bequeath their alma mater.

A fair share of seniors will chip in their three bucks for a class gift. And a few of them will even help decide what memorial should be given.

But mostly seniors don't really much care. They apparently never have cared much here—and human nature being what it is, they probably won't ever.

They didn't yesterday. About 80 members of the graduating class showed up in University Hall Chapel yesterday to vote on this year's gift.

Entrance markers got the nod, so one of these days a stone pillar will be erected at a campus entrance. It will bear the inscription, "Class of 1956."

It might better be changed to read, "3 per cent of the Class of 1956." That's about how many participated in the selection.

But we suppose the important thing is that the memorial was chosen. The 80 seniors who selected it were interested, and the other 1,700 or so had the opportunity to be there if they liked.

Before we forget the episode, however, one group deserves mention. We are referring to the Senior Class Cabinet which plans the memorial selection and other activities related to graduation.

These are rather thankless tasks and the cabinet deserves the gratitude of the class it has served.

Pertinent or Impertinent Views of the News

Well, it's just about commencement time here and elsewhere around the world and millions of young people, who have perspired through four of five years of study, will be obliged to sit for several hours, listening to the voices of Ghosts, Past, Present and Future.

Commencement speakers all seem to have the same line . . . "Go out into that cold, cruel world and make something of yourself." Just what it is that one should make of oneself appears a bit undecided and just what degree of personal temperature it takes to thaw a cold world is not readily told.

But these Masters of Platitudes continue to show up on that last day with their verbal salves for the wounds of the world. What they say is more than likely lost before the last echo of it swallows itself in the great amphitheater.

But then let's not be too harsh on these Verbose Wonderworkers. After all, they too must have gone through some similar ordeal, nay, rather let us listen to what they have to say. Oh yes, with tongue in cheek and a smug sophomoric look, but listen anyway, for some day we too may be summoned forward to inspire the throng of perspiring seniors to "better things."

We often wonder on these days of caps and gowns and sheepskins what the various recipients are thinking of as the droning speaker enlightens the air.

The fellow who cribbed his way through four years of proms, parties and football games—does he see the light?—Is he remorseful that his academic existence lacked an ethical base?—Does he snicker to himself when he hears the Pontifical Speaker say—"Go out into the world and apply yourselves as you have here at this great University."

Or the guy who never quite made the dean's list but gave it that Algerie Try, while working himself through school—Is he sorry now that he did not follow in the footsteps of his laboring father?—After all, starting salaries in his field are somewhat below the journeyman wage of the tradesman.

But commencement speakers will survive all obstacles—will continue to give the rose-colored cineramic ending to it all reassuring the timid, and making the brave more courageous.

Deft-a-nition: Graduation—that time in a student's life when it doesn't seem so bad, after all, but he'd rather not go through it again.

Eastman Kodak Gives Fellowship

A fellowship from the Eastman Kodak Company providing at least $1,400 to the recipient for advanced study in physics, chemistry and chemical engineering will be awarded to an Ohio State student for the academic year 1956-57.

The purpose of the fellowship is to encourage research training of promising young scientists and engineers studying for their Ph.D. degree.

THE CAMPUS VOICE

Question: "What do you think the outcome of the new campus elections will be?"

Stan Vinocur, Com-1:

"I do not think there is any doubt that the students who have already elected the OSPA officers once will elect them again."

"The margin of victory in the May 8 election were great enough to nullify any charged irregularities and they should certainly win again."

Class Visits State School

Psychology students were introduced to the work of the Columbus State School in training the feeble-minded recently. About 60 students and instructors attended the open house and toured the school.

Dr. Judith Rettig, director of the female division of the school, spoke to the group about the causes and types of feeble-mindedness and presented representatives of these types from among the patients of the institution. Dr. Rettig is the wife of Solomon Rettig, of the department of psychology.

After the lecture and discussion, a tour was made of the school building which was completed in January. Besides classrooms the school has modern facilities for home economics, art and music classes and a large library.

The building is used for daytime school programs for those patients between the ages of 6 and 18 and for those older students who can benefit from the special training.

Besides the classroom work the school also provides job training, special workshops and religious education.

Nat'l Committee Initiates Campus Stevenson Group

A "Students-for-Stevenson" Club has been initiated at the University by the National "Stevenson-for-President" Committee.

The organization, whose purpose is to publicize the Stevenson campaign, is the seventh group of its kind to be formed in Ohio colleges.

At an organizational meeting Wednesday night, plans were made to begin a campaign for funds and services next week. The group hopes to continue its activities Fall Quarter.

Byron Kennard, A-1, and Larry Alpert, A-3, are co-chairmen of the organization. Dorothy Cronheim, assistant to the dean of women, is the adviser.

Students Enrolled From 52 Nations

Fifty-two nations are represented by the 307 international students enrolled at the University this quarter, according to a report from the office of Vice-President Bland L. Stradley.

Fifty-nine of the students from foreign countries are women and 248 men.

Nations having the largest student representations are India, 33; Korea, 29; Canada, 28, and China, 27. Also enrolled are 22 students from the U. S. territory of Hawaii, six from Guam and three from Puerto Rico.

Robbi Blatt, Ed-2:

"Just as much a farce as the first ones. Maybe they will show the campus that the students do not run the University. The job is done by the Board of Trustees and that is as it should be."

John Stimmel, Ag-2:

"The main issue facing both parties is getting the independent voters interested enough to come out and vote. We will be informing them again through communications and the LANTERN. It will be a close fought campaign."

Jack Singers, Arch-3:

"It depends how the students took the last election. I think most of the independents will be the deciding factor."

Ruthann Stanfield, Ed-2:

"I feel the elections will prove to be a very close race between the two opposing parties. It is difficult to predict election results due to the unusual circumstances. My only desire is that it be a fair one."

Ray Bergman, Com-2:

"It is my belief that good student government will not again be suppressed and the re-election of the OSPA slate by the student body will again go to prove the concerted effort they had demonstrated in the May 8 election."

"Their same views and confidences they had placed in the candidates will again be demonstrated in the forthcoming election."

Jim Bean, Engr-1:

"OSPA will probably get the most offices, but Buckeye will come in with a few candidates. It will be nothing like a clean sweep election again."

Ron Cohen, Com-4:

"I think Buckeye will win because of the superior quality of their candidates."

Don Shoemaker, A-1:

"OSPA will win, and I think this, because people will realize that if the election was irregular, it was irregular on both sides. They won once and they can do it again."

Douglas Williams, Ed-2:

"I think Buckeye will get in a few candidates, and the other party will get the rest. Buckeye has a few good candidates that most probably will win; not because of the political party they represent, but because they are good candidates."

Entomological Society Will Present Forman Lecture

Dr. Jonathan Forman, editor of the Ohio State Medical Journal, will give the last lecture of the year sponsored by the Columbus Entomological Society.

The lecture is open to the public and refreshments will be served.

$100 A Semester . . .

Town Youth Schooled Free

By Ruthann Stanfield

For seven years, the country town of Lithopolis, O. (pop. 300), has been sending all its young people to college for free!

The small village has two restaurants, four churches and an undertaker but is void of a most needed firm—a bank to house the town's astounding inheritance of $2,565,788. The money was donated in 1948 by the village's one wealthy resident, and the huge sum is still going strong today.

THE DICTIONARY publisher, Adam Wagnalls, was born in Lithopolis in 1843. When his daughter, Mabel Wagnalls Jones, died she left most of her estate to the little town. The money wasn't actually left to the citizens themselves but to the Wagnalls' Memorial—a huge stone mansion located in the center of town. It serves as a combination library, movie theater and a recreation center for the town residents.

But the main part of the Wagnalls fortune was bequeathed the young people of the town. The Memorial's six trustees were authorized to award scholarships of $100 a semester to every Lithopolis (or Bloom Township) boy or girl who wanted to go to college, regardless of grades or promise.

THAT NEITHER the town nor the township was large enough to support a high school (local boys and girls were farmed out to neighboring schools) is rather ironic. Nevertheless, this did not hinder the lucky fortune bestowed upon Lithopolis.

But don't all you hopeful readers suddenly decide to move to Lithopolis. The awards are limited to permanent residents.

Iowa Twin Bill Closes Buck Season

Soter, Rutecki Face Eighth-Place Hawks

By Rich Moore

The Buckeye baseballers are host to Iowa in a Big Ten twin bill tomorrow, which will be the last regular season games for both teams. The Hawkeyes, with a 4-7 record, are holding down eighth place in the league.

Buck coach Marty Karow will send righthander Bill

Soter to the mound in the first* game, and either Jim Rutecki or Al Lindop for the nightcap. Whether or not Rutecki gets the nod depends on whether he is used for relief today in the contest with Minnesota.

SOTER, WITH a 5-2 record for the season and 2-1 in the Conference, is second only to Galen Cisco on the Buckeye pitching roster, but his ERA of 2.05 is tops.

Rutecki's primary job all season has been that of a relief pitcher, but he has also started two games and has picked up a record of 1-1.

Lindop, although appearing in seven contests, still retains the modest mark of 1-0. His last start was the game lost to Northwestern but he did not receive credit for the loss because the winning run came off a relief chucker.

BUCKEYE BATTING averages are undergoing more changes, with the most notable difference showing up in Frank Howard's rapidly rising mark. Hitting at the rate of just below and just above the .300 point for a while, his recent accumulation of safeties, everything from singles to homers, has brought his average up to .319.

Howard is also leading the squad in round trippers. Two against the Illini and one in the Purdue doubleheader brought his total up to five and helped to boost his number of RBI's to 26 for the lead in that department.

Don Kelley still leads the regulars with the stick, even though his mark has dropped to a still respectable .324, along with two circuit clouts, two triples and two doubles.

HOWARD'S .319 is second best and a long skid down to .304 finds Capt. Chuck Ellis in third, tied with Dick Burkley for the most doubles, each with five.

Howard Cassady and Jack Purvis are not too far off the .300

Zeisler, Keller Pace Stickmen Against Frosh

Ken Zeisler and Fred Keller paced the Ohio State lacrosse varsity to a 16-2 victory yesterday in the annual varsity-freshman lacrosse contest.

Both Zeisler and Keller hit for the hat trick and scored three goals as the varsity proved that old adage, "experience is the best teacher." Though the frosh provided a hustling outfit, the varsity's experience and poise in stick handling and passing were too much for the novice stickmen.

Charlie Stoup joined Zeisler and Keller in the scoring parade as he netted a double score. The three varsity stickers earned eight goals between them.

Tracksters Guy Beretich, Jack Blackburn Practice Daily With 1960 Olympics In Mind

By Bill Rush

Two Ohio State athletes practice long hours each day at Ohio Stadium preparing for the 1960 Olympic trials.

One is a graduate student running only for enjoyment while the other is a sophomore struggling to regain scholastic eligibility on the Scarlet varsity track squad. The former is Guy Beretich and the latter, Jack Blackburn.

THE AMBITION of both the youthful runners is to represent the United States in the 10,000-meter run in the 1960 Olympics. Though both will be competing in this year's Olympic tryouts, they confess doing so only for experience and that the 1960 Games are their real goal.

The marathon is the only Olympic event that is longer and more gruelling than the 10,000-meter run. 10,000 meters equals about six miles. The Marathon is over 26 miles long.

Neither Beretich or Blackburn foresee much hope this year in defeating the likes of Southern California's Max Truex, Fred Dwyer or FBI agent Fred Wilt. This trials trip is just part of a plan that might land both Ohioans on the 1960 United States squad.

THE HARD WORK done by the two athletes each night should easily put them in the category of the athlete who is "made," not born.

While they differ slightly in training techniques, both run between six and 12 miles daily. Beretich states jokingly, "Jack is a better runner than I. He only has to run six miles every night to keep in shape. I have to run 12."

The difference in their training methods may be traced to their track ideals. Beretich follows the lead of the Czechoslovakian distance king, Emil Zatopek, while Blackburn looks to the four-minute mile master, Roger Bannister.

ZATPEK'S STYLE of training consists of interval running, which means running at high speed for short distance several times with only short break between sprints for recovery.

Blackburn, like Bannister, runs for just the pure "joy" of feeling energy released through the efforts of rhythmic running and follows

20 Years Without Title . . .

Minnesota Badgers Seek To Clinch Big Ten Title

CHICAGO, ILL. — Poised on the threshold of its first Conference championship since 1935, Minnesota dominates team and individual statistics in Big Ten baseball play. The Gophers, with a record of 11 wins and one loss, need only to turn back Ohio State in their meeting this Friday or win one of a pair with Indiana Saturday to clinch the title.

And they appear to have the weapons, both offensive and defensive, to do it.

AS A TEAM, the Gophers are hitting .331 and fielding .977 to lead the league in both departments. They have made 127 hits for 210 bases, and scored 85 runs. In individual statistics they have collected 14 double plays in the field.

In individual statistics they have the two leading hitters and the leading pitcher.

Third baseman John McCartan continues to lead individual hitters although his average slipped from .577 to .472 last weekend. Shortstop Jerry Kindall has moved in behind him with an average of .457, topping the .452 posted by Michigan State's Jim Sack. Bill Thurston of Michigan is the nominal leader among Conference hitters with an average of .533, but does not figure in season's rankings with only 15 times at bat.

ALTHOUGH HELD to only two hits in three games over the weekend, McCartan continues to show a phenomenal slugging record, with 39 bases on 17 hits. One of his two hits in last week's play was a homer, his sixth of the season and enough to tie an all-time Conference mark set by Vic Petreshene of Illinois last year. McCartan also has driven in 17 runs in 12 games.

Jerry Thomas, ace of the Gopher mound crew, added two victories last weekend for a total of five, just short of the all-time Conference record.

MICHIGAN, defending champions, and indoor titleholders Iowa and Indiana figure to dominate the 56th annual Big Ten track championships at Minnesota this weekend on the basis of a compilation of best 1956 performances by Conference athletes.

Buck Golfers In Big Ten Competition

By Jerry Jeanguenat

The Buckeye golf team is in Evanston, Ill., today for the two-day 72-hole Big Ten meet, determined to better last year's runner-up spot.

Beginning this morning with 36 holes, the teams will play the same tomorrow on the Northwestern course.

LAST YEAR, the Scarlet squad finished in the number two position behind champion Purdue, and thus far in pre-tournament matches here, at Lafayette, Ind., and in Ann Arbor, Mich., they have beaten the Boilermakers once, losing twice.

Wisconsin, who finished third last year, is rated a definite threat again this year.

AS OHIO STATE has found out already this spring, Michigan is a team that will have to be reckoned with in this meet.

Iowa and Purdue round out the contending squads.

Coach Bob Kepler is not making any predictions as far as his boys are concerned, but he is very optimistic about their chances. "The boys have been looking forward to this meet all season, they're going to be tough to beat."

diana in two. Illinois and Minnesota each have one best of the season to date.

2 Holdovers On Diamond I-M All-Stars

By Fred Sennet

Second baseman Chuck McLean of the NROTC nine and catcher Adrian Achtermann of the Abnormal 9 proved to be the only holdovers on the Independent All-Star team from last season, while the Fraternity stars lists all new faces.

Last season, McLean, performing for the same outfit, was selected to the first squad, and Achtermann, then with the YMCA's was on the second team. This season, Achtermann, on the strength of his standout backstopping for the Abnormal 9, jumped one notch to the first squad.

For the independents the honors were evenly divided. MPEA, with two on the first team and one on the second copped individual honors. AIIE was close on their heels with one on the first and two on the second team. Both teams received four honorable mentions.

Kappa Sigma and Omega Tau Sigma topped the fraternity listings, both having two men on the first squad and one on the second. Delta Sigma Delta grabbed five honorable mentions and a second team placing. No other fraternity came up with more than a single man in the first two lineups. Alpha Epsilon Pi had one second team man and three honorable mentions.

Junior Varsity Tackles Hawks In Season Finale

The last game of the season for the Junior Varsity ball club will take them to Dayton tomorrow for a single tilt with Hawks of Wright-Patterson Air Base.

After last Saturday's loss to Ohio University, the "Little Bucks" will enter this fray with a record of three wins and five defeats.

THE TEAM has been hampered all season by bad weather, thus losing much valuable practice time; so their record doesn't actually show the accurate strength of the club.

Coach Dick Hayes will start Glen Oltmann on the mound tomorrow. Oltmann has been with the varsity all season and has compiled a 2-2 pitching slate for Marty Karow's men.

THE LINEUP for the Hawk game will be the same lineup that has performed for Hayes all year. Dwight McVickers will catch, Roger Dressler is on first, Connie Weber at second, Morty Wolf on short and Ed Farber will play third.

In the outfield Ed Ripp, after a short stay with the varsity, will play left field; Will Saddler is in center and the team's leading hitter, Norm Martin, will play right.

Netters In League Tourney

A battle-scarred Ohio State tennis squad today is fighting for a respectable position in the Big Ten tournament in Minneapolis.

The three-day affair opened yesterday and will wind up sometime tomorrow afternoon. Number one man Fritz Haring leads the Buckeye squad which won only one match during the regular season. Haring is the only member of the squad who made the trip to the Conference meet last year.

Others on the four-day swing which started in Evanston, Wednesday, are Chuck Carey, Bob Williams, Bill Wadsworth, Howard Hirsch and Chuck Neustadt.

Buckeye Coach Herman Wirthwein rates Northwestern, Indiana, and Michigan State.

No Changes in Final Examination Schedule

Several inquiries have come concerning the giving of final examinations before Final Examination week. The week of June 4 to June 8 inclusive is to be used for the final examination and no final examinations are to be given except to seniors graduating on June 8 and in survey courses before this week.

An examination is to be given during examination week according to the examination schedule for each class taught during the quarter.

Senior Reports Due May 31:

International Business Machine cards containing the names of seniors who are candidates for a degree at the Spring Quarter Convocation have been sent to the department offices.

The grades of seniors should be filed in the Registrar's Office by noon on Thursday, May 31. Under the rules of the University Faculty, each instructor may arrange for the time and the mode of examination in accordance with his best judgment.

The course card sent to the instructor at the opening of the Spring Quarter is the correct card to grade and return to the Registrar on Thursday, May 31.

Instructors are requested not to put their report cards in the campus mail on the morning of Thursday, May 31, but to bring them or send them to the Registrar's Office.

RONALD B. THOMPSON,
Registrar.

Rhodes Scholarships

Students who wish to enter the 1956 Rhodes Scholarship competition should consult with Prof. Royall Snow (office hours, 2 p. m. daily, room 113, Derby Hall) this quarter. Candidates must have completed at least two years of their college course, be unmarried, and have high scholastic qualifications plus breadth of interest.

These scholarships are tenable for two years, and may be extended for a third year, depending on the work in progress. The scholarships are worth 600 pounds a year which, allowing for foreign exchange difference, purchasing prices and so forth, is equal to something probably well above $1, 800. The scholarships, however, give something more than cash. Quite aside from the prestige involved, they make possible the contact of superior American students with the real life of a great foreign university in a way that is unique.

As to military service: Local draft boards, of course, have the final decision, but last December every elected scholar was able to take up residence. In case an elected scholar is called into service he will, subject to available space, be accepted at Oxford after his release.

Excused from Class Attendance:

The following members of the Varsity Track Team may be excused from classes on Friday and Saturday, May 25 and 26, to participate in the Western Conference Track Meet, at Minneapolis, Minnesota:

Glenn A. Davis, Fletcher A. Gilders, Roger P. Hauck, Norman E. Jackson, Stanley G. Lyons, John E. McClain, Jr., Richard M. Moyer, E. Thomas Walker (manager), James G. Weaver, Robert A. Webb, George L. Wigton (trainer).

The following members of the Varsity Baseball Team may be excused from classes on Friday, May 25, and Saturday, May 26, to participate in games here with the University of Minnesota and Iowa State University:

Sallie Dykman

It was 65 years ago that the class of 1891 voted to contribute a lasting donation to their alma mater. They planted five elm trees, named the Five Brothers, which still stand just off the center of the Oval. Since then practically every class has donated a memorial to the University.

Classes have frequently contributed toward the same memorial, depending on the expense. Usually a class donates enough to begin construction.

It took nine years for the graduating classes of '06 to '14 to buy the chimes that toll from Orton Hall. In 1926, with the money from the classes of 1919 and 1926, electric strikers were installed, replacing the human musician.

The classes of '23, '25 and '26 presented a bronze statue of University President William Oxley Thompson for the front of the Main Library.

Often a single contribution is sufficient to create a landmark on the campus. The graduates of 1892 deserve credit for the Memorial Stone, the sprawling rock in front of the Administration Building. University Hall's tower was provided with a clock by the class of 1903, while the class of 1924 awarded students an educational endowment policy.

The contribution of the classes of '37 and '38 was an organ for WOSU.

In the years following World War II, no memorials were donated although several plans were formulated. The money has been held over from year to year. In recent years the policy has been revived.

Frosh Camp Counselors Instructed

The 40 Freshman Camp counselors, chosen from student leaders in each campus organization, met Tuesday evening.

Instructions were issued for camp, which begins Friday, Sept. 23. Counselors will greet the freshmen and get acquainted with them.

During the three-day period at Camp Mary Orton, they will hear talks by vice-president Bland L. Stradley and the deans of men and women.

Camp time is allotted for recreation, skit-planning for the freshman variety show and religious worship. Five of the freshmen will participate in a panel which will be questioning a panel of upper classmen, moderated by Don Jones, Com-4.

PROF. ALVIN E. COONS, of the department of economics, will address the students on "Vocations or Vacations." In his address Professor Coons will tell how college life differs from high school, and verify or discredit the many rumors they've heard about college.

Advisers to the Freshman Camp planning committee are Genevieve Dilts, executive director of the YWCA; the Rev. Russell M. Jones, executive secretary of the YMCA, and the Rev. Alan C. Herman, associate secretary of the YMCA.

Alpha Gamma Rho Present Faculty Reception Sunday

Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity will hold its annual reception for the faculty of the College of Agriculture at 3 p. m., Sunday, in the chapter house.

The reception will be held in honor of Dean Leo L. Rummell, of the College of Agriculture and his wife. Kelly J. Hoskins, Ag-3, is in charge of the arrangements for the reception.

Morals, Habits Studied By Psych Class

The morals and habits of Ohio State students are influenced a great deal by where they live.

A survey of over 160 students, a Psychology 407 class project, shows that there are almost six times as many changes in the habits of students who live in fraternity houses and dormitories as those who live with their parents.

The four students who made the survey, John Taylor, Ed-1, Lillian Lathouse Ed-1, Joy Solomon, Ed-1, and Dee Eversull, Ed-1, found that it was difficult to decide whether morals had become higher or lower.

They did find that the smoking and drinking habits of the women had changed a great deal more than those of the men since high school.

About three times as many women as men changed their political views and vocations after they came to college.

Attendance at Minnesota's Itasca State Park, the source of the Mississippi River, totalled 450,000 in 1955.

15 Inducted By Mershon Top Honorary

Mershon Honorary inducted 15 Army ROTC cadet officers and honored Miss Edith Cockins, registrar emerita, at a banquet in Pomerene Hall last night.

Mershon, the top military honorary for Army cadet officers, is named in honor of the late Col. Ralph D. Mershon, alumnus of the University and one of its greatest financial benefactors.

Cadets are selected by a Board of Review, consisting of the active officers and the faculty adviser, Capt. Richard A. Littlestone, U. S. Army. Selection is based on outstanding military contribution, scholarship and campus activities. Enrollment at no time will exceed 15 per cent of the officers in the advance corps.

Miss Cockins, the guest of honor, was honored for having just completed a biography on Colonel Mershon. Miss Cockins was commissioned by President Howard L. Bevis to write the biography, since she was better acquainted with Colonel Mershon than anyone presently at the University.

Election Re-Vote . . .

a. m. to 5 p. m. Tuesday in the following places:

Ohio Union, Derby, Hagerty, and University Halls, McPherson Chemical Lab., Bradley-Paterson-Canfield, Mack-Oxley, 15th and High St., 16th and High St., and on Neil Ave. near the Botany and Zoology Building.

Booths were placed in areas recording the heaviest vote in past elections, the Elections Committee said.

SCHEDULE cards will still be required to vote, but since cards were punched after voting in the last election, the card will be stamped with a special mark on both front and back. Fee cards can't be used, election officials said, because they do not list the student's class rank.

Although ultra-violet hand stamps will be used again, the old ink will be replaced with a different type.

CSA also recommended that voters sign their names in election ledgers after voting, thus accounting for each ballot cast and safeguarding possible multiple voting.

POLITICAL party affiliations of election booth workers, always a touchy problem, is even more so now because of heated feeling generated by charges of irregularities leading to the re-vote.

When asked if voting booth officials would represent both parties, election spokesmen told CSA that it was virtually impossible to guarantee that one member of each party would be at each booth all day.

Officials work for an hour or so between classes, then leave and must be replaced. The Elections Committee said that there wasn't time to hunt around for a qualified official from a certain party.

AS AN ALTERNATIVE, the Council moved to allow each political party to send one official observer to each election booth to watch proceedings. These observers must be registered with the Student Senate and will be given official certification.

If the observer sees anything out of order at the booth, he may challenge the procedure and call the Senate office immediately. At that time, an election official will go to the booth and audit the claim.

Since the IBM method of counting votes cannot be perfectly aligned with the preferential system of voting customary for Senate elections, the old ballots of previous years will be used.

DIFFERENT colored ballots for each class will list candidates and may be marked by the voter numerically from one to ten, according to preference. The ballots will be counted by hand by election officials.

This action complies with the Student Court decree for preferential Senate elections. The Court, later upheld by CSA, declared the Student Senate elections invalid because ballots were not marked or counted by preferential method, as announced before the election.

Other safeguards voted by the Council and the Elections Committee and approved last night by the Student Senate, were the counting of ballots in the dean of men's office, rather than in the Union or other campus buildings. The Elections Committee, Student Senate officers, election advisers and a representative of the LANTERN will be the only ones present.

RESULTS will be announced by the Elections Committee as soon as the election is validated.

In a short conference after the joint CSA meeting, the Elections Committee ruled that there was to be "no campaigning whatsoever." This rules out the "verbal campaigning" allowance made by CSA last Tuesday.

"This is not a new election," Jack Kessler, Com-2, secretary of elections committee, said, "it is merely a re-vote."

Kessler also announced that all fines levied on persons or parties during the May 8 election would be removed, permitting all candidates to begin with a clean slate.

Senators . . .

said the majority informational reports, "have set up discrimination requirements for their houses. In order to house women students off campus, this information must be obtained by the Dean of Women's Office."

IT WAS FELT by the majority spokesmen if this were removed, the off-campus housing situation would become "impracticable" and it would hurt the students and the University housing program more than it would help it by abolishing discrimination.

Roger Staehle, Engr-4, said, "The minority report would be feasible if we had the housing. We are still a growing university and still have a lot of procedural problems. We would be hurting a lot more students if we accepted the minority report."

Dean Conaway pointed out that since there was an early July deadline in which to set up the Fall Quarter housing assignments for women, her office would not have time to send a second letter to students.

THE MAJORITY REPORT accepted by the Senate stated: "All positive effort shall be made to eliminate from information blanks sent prior to admission to a residence hall, any reference to race, creed, color, religion, or national origin."

The "all-positive effort clause" which has drawn a great deal of concern and questioning from senators will be implemented by a Senate policy committee. The committee will make regular reports to the Senate concerning the progress of eliminating all phases of discrimination on the campus.

WSGA Approves Guide; Abolishes Point System

By June Hairston

Women's Self Government Association approved a "Guide to Extra Curricular Activity" Wednesday night.

The guide will replace the point system which was abolished last quarter. Under the point system, a student could hold a maximum of four points based on the importance and work requirements of his particular extracurricular activities.

THE GUIDE classifies campus offices according to the responsibility of offices and suggests how many a woman should hold. A student who wants to hold more offices than the guide recommends should ask the advice of the committee on extra curricular activity.

However, Barbara Booth, A-2, secretary of WSGA, stressed, "the Guide is merely a guide, and the choice will be left to the maturity of the person concerned."

Standards Commissions recommended to WSGA that all women in housing units who have not been called before Standards for lateness be given an extra one-half hour at the end of the quarter.

THE MOVE WAS defeated by WSGA Board members who said that women will not look forward to a one-half hour in Spring Quarter; therefore, the move would not discourage lateness.

Other members said that a reward is needless because it is the responsibility of all women students to observe hours.

S. 'n G. Review Roaring 20's Via Slides

How Mom and Dad "lived it up" during their college days is often overlooked by today's younger generation.

During the flapper era, in particular, Ohio State was by no means a stagnant campus. The women of Scarlet 'n Gray, a semi-honorary service organization, have taken advantage of this fact by taking a glimpse into the past and future of the Ohio State campus.

Taken as their source of material were the pictorial slides, "This Is Your University—Past, Present and Future." Three short dramas have been organized depicting the campus from the "Roaring 20's" to present day.

THE GROUP will work in close coordination with the high school panel committee and will tour high schools, campus organizations, church and alum groups.

The slides include rather unusual sights of days gone by such as scenes of University Hall as the first and only campus building, a shot of the first graduating class—10 in all, and several pictures of University agricultural students plowing the ground where familiar campus buildings now stand.

THE MOVIES shift to present-day scenes and follow through with a typical tour of the campus plus a commentary on some of the traditional and legendary notes that have lasted until 1956.

Dr. Marvin Fox Awarded E. C. Howald Fellowship

Dr. Marvin Fox, assistant professor of philosophy, has been awarded the University's Elizabeth Clay Howald Fellowship for post-doctoral study in 1956-57.

On a year's leave from his teaching duties, starting Oct. 1, Professor Fox will do research in the philosophy of Maimonides, a major Jewish philosopher of the Middle Ages.

opposite party will get in office, though," he averred.

He is also blaming the elections committee for not sufficiently informing the candidates. "The senators weren't clear as to the procedure and if the voting was to be preferential or not," he declared.

Pence feels that in the coming election, everyone should know why the election was invalidated and why they should vote for the people they want in office again. "Too many times the uninformed must decide," he opined.

Army Says Czech Patrols Fired On U. S. Reporters

HEIDELBERG, Germany—(AP)

—The U. S. Army says one of its border patrols was fired on from Czechoslovakia when two American reporters turned their field glasses on a Czech border tower.

An Army spokesman said five rifle or carbine bullets ripped into the area around the patrol, one striking within five feet of the lead vehicle. No one was injured.

The Americans said they did not shoot back.

are possible in that decisions made in error can be appealed," he stated.

He went on to say that the "CSA Court" was not in the capacity of an appellate court. New evidence was brought in so that instead of CSA being a court of appeals, CSA became a court of original jurisdiction.

He feels that the new election will be favorable to OSPA if the students are aware of the situation. They should also keep in mind that during the elections, every booth where there was an OSPA member, a Buckeye member was present also.

"Before you vote, know the whole story, he stated. "Don't be hoodwinked."

Smith says, "I am not speaking for the party and this is my own personal opinion."
