

Stand Up To Red Danger, Mrs. F.D.R. Urges In Talk

By Phyllis Cashman and Judy McCluskey

"In order to combat Khrushchev and the Russians, who are trying to get a Communist dominated world, every individual has to give the very best he has to offer; not horde his resources, but give them freely."

This comment was offered by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt last night during her speech in Mer-

"WE HAVE HAD democracy and socialism. Khrushchev believes very intensely that the law of the future is communism, and Russia is now working toward perfect communism—Marxism. He meant that, this being the law of the future, our system, whatever we believe, will be buried."

Mrs. Roosevelt said that she believes that our policy is not correct with Red China in respect to the United Nations. "If we ever want total disarmament, we must have total membership in the U.N." she said, "and we can't secure peace without disarmament."

"This is the moment to begin disarmament," Mrs. Roosevelt emphasized. "These moments may not come back in history—now is the time to act."

VOICING HER political views, Mrs. Roosevelt said, "I think we should choose the best candidate we can. The next president is going to face some very serious problems."

However, Mrs. Roosevelt declined to name the candidate she would support. "I will make my decision at the next convention," she said.

Mrs. Roosevelt held a press conference on the campus yesterday morning, for reporters and photographers from the LANTERN and other Columbus papers.

No Decision Reached On Sailing Club

By Vern Frame

A student court yesterday spent two and a half hours hashing over charges against the OSU Sailing Club, but reached no decision.

THE CLUB is being accused by Student Senate's Executive Council of holding an illegal intercollegiate regatta on Oct. 24. The event allegedly took place at the Leatherlips Yacht Club on the Scioto River.

Dr. Robert Platt, the club's faculty advisor, has denied the charges.

The commission looked over a report from the Dean of Men and Dean of Women offices, and one from the executive council. It decided to hear the case on Monday before it reached a verdict.

GEORGE J. CARONIS, assistant dean of men, said that the commission had to define the charges and evidence farther before it could release anything solid to the press.

The "sailing club affair" started when the Council on Student Affairs supported a last-spring ruling by the Student Commission. The Council forbid the club in an 11-1 vote to hold a planned regatta two days before it was to take place.

18 Seniors To Bow Here Tomorrow

By Bernie Karsko

When the final gun sounds in the game against the Hawkeyes tomorrow it will mark the finale, as far as playing in the Ohio Stadium is concerned, for 18 of Woody's Warriors.

Heading the list of the "to be gone but not forgotten's" are numbers 33 and 84, belonging to All Americans Bob White and Jim Houston.

MENTION IOWA and the thing that immediately pops into mind is the 211 pound read head from Covington, Kentucky.

In his three years at fullback, White has gained over a mile, 1-816 yards, with most of it coming three yards at a clip and not infrequently with two or three defenders hanging on for the ride. Sixty-six of those yards in the "57" Iowa classic, were worth a twenty-five hundred mile trip to the Rose Bowl.

White, who with Birtho Arnold and Jim Houston comprise the three seniors who earned letters in both their sophomore and junior years, has played 1,148.5 minutes in 26 games.

WE'LL BID THEM FAREWELL—Jim Houston and Bob White, two of the eighteen seniors who will be playing their last home game tomorrow.

BULLETINS

WASHINGTON — (UPI) —The Supreme Court is expected to decide soon, possibly Monday, whether to consider a case which may determine the future employment of 100,000 Negro school teachers. Eleven teachers who took the case to the high court said the issue is: what will happen to Negro teachers when schools in the 17 border and Southern states become fully integrated?

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said Red China "is wholly in the wrong" in using force in its border dispute with India. But he refused to take sides on the legal aspects of the fight.

WASHINGTON — (UPI)—Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell said today that efforts to settle the long steel dispute have been hampered by "an orgy of name calling" on both side that smacks of politics.

HELENA, Mont. — (UPI)—A record-breaking blizzard paralyzed Helena under 21.5 inches of snow and raged eastward into the great plains and Middle West with a cargo of death and suffering. The raging blizzard had claimed at least 14 lives.

NEW DELHI, India —(UPI)—India's controversial defense minister V. K. Krishna Menon arrived home from the United Nations yesterday in the midst of the dispute with Communist China over the country's Himalayan border.

Snow, rain, and sleet are forecast for today. Friday night's low temperature was to dip to 32 with a high of 38 expected today.

Virus Cases Mount In Neil

The number of flu cases in Neil Hall has risen to 204. The number Wednesday was 150.

A quarantine placed on the dorm early Tuesday has not been removed. It has been renewed each day. The nurses will not know until after 10 a.m. today if it will be lifted.

THE DORM holds 278 residents, most of who are connected in some way with the University Health Center.

Tests are currently being made to identify the virus. The results will not be available for two weeks. At present it is thought to be some type of non-bacterial gastroenteritis disease.

A Step Backward

Fraternity hazing has again hit the headlines in collegiate papers.

Last Saturday night, at Michigan State University, two pledges of a national fraternity were kidnapped, stripped of their shirts, covered with paint and shellac, bound with tape and left stranded a few miles from the Michigan State campus.

The Michigan State police were finally notified and they picked up the students and took them to the hospital. Doctors treated the pledges for exposure and reported them in good condition.

The Michigan State News reported that the incident was a "retaliatory action for a similar incident earlier in the week, when these pledges took an active for a ride..."

However, fraternity officers said that the action was not a retaliation. They added that if they had known about it before hand, they would have stopped the hazing. Other fraternity members called it a "prank," "an unfortunate incident," but said that it was not premeditated.

Ohio State has recently added fuel to the already blazing fire. Last week, a fraternity active was stopped by the Franklin County Sheriff's department for speeding—90 mph. When he was stopped, the deputy discovered that the fleeing driver was handcuffed.

The fraternity man explained the incident by saying that it was a fraternity prank, and he was escaping from his "captors."

These incidents cannot be passed off as merely "pranks." They endanger the lives of the fraternity man, and in the Ohio State case, other drivers on the highway.

They explain them by saying they didn't think of the outcome of the situation. Why didn't they stop to realize what may have happened? Why didn't they remember the death that occurred in California as a result of a fraternity hazing?

College men should be past the time when they have to play tricks for entertainment. Social activities, education facilities and fraternal brotherhood are available for all these men. Most of them take advantage of the opportunities. Why don't the rest of the fraternity members?

We would like to suggest to the national organizations and to the individual fraternities that they evaluate the recent activities closely. Deal with the men in the way they have shown they deserve—not just as little boys, showing off.

If necessary, make examples of these activities. Show these men that they no longer can ignore serious results when they start to take part in their escapades.

The men involved in these incidents have not thought of their brothers across the nation, who are striving to make a better fraternity system. They have not stopped to consider that the system has recently been praised for the efforts shown during recent Initiation Weeks to raise fraternity standards.

Other members of the fraternity system are going to suffer for their brothers. Some of these men work hard to build up a good reputation for the system. Then some unthinking show-offs come up with stunts like these.

These men should now think of their inconsiderate activities and realize that they have caused a serious step—backward. They have certainly blackened any efforts of others who are striving toward a better fraternity system.

Discrimination Is A Student Problem

To the Editor:

Thousands of words have been written recently about the apparent dilemma of invidious distinctions being made in the rental of off-campus rooms to University students. It seems strange that no one has given the complete story. From the current letters it appears that those wicked old landlords have really been in the wrong, in fact they have been the cause of all the trouble to date. Both students and faculty members have been calling for immediate action to stop these invidious distinctions.

Perhaps it is time for us to do some soul-searching of our own pure white souls. How many of you would be willing to live with anyone regardless of race, creed, color, or religion? Can you truthfully say that you would live in a house with mixed races? If so, then you may be able to justify the current stand that has been taken in your letters to the editors.

I FIND IT HARD to believe that the blame can be placed entirely upon the landlords. I wonder if the biggest share of the discrimination doesn't exist within the student body. In many instances it is the students who refuse to have the landlady rent to folk of a different race. Joe College Student says, "If you rent to that guy I'll move, and not only that, the rest of the fellows in your house will move too. Go ahead and rent to him if you want to have a house full of vacant rooms."

Now who is at fault? Let us not cloud the picture by blowing it clear out of perspective and fail to recognize the faults that exist within the student body. Indeed the problem is crucial, but it is not so crucial that it cannot be looked upon with reason. Would it be asking too much to consider all the factors involved instead of taking one small part of it and harping about it until it has exemplified itself way out of proportion? Individual rights and privileges might be one of the factors that is tossed back into the milieu.

It may be well to remember that prohibition didn't solve drinking problems. A ban on racial discrimination in rooming houses will not solve the present problem either until student racial biases diminish.

Lowell Rothert, Grad.

Reader Deplores University Stand

To the Editor:

The University Administration's attitude on racial discrimination in off-campus housing, leaves me feeling very disappointed. In their naive statement on the subject, there was something about landlords gradually coming around to the official unsegregated dorm policy. Boycotts or wishing aren't apt to make this happen. Only a ruling by the University along the lines proposed by several groups will break down the barrier, because no landlord wants to be first—and friendless.

I'm rather tired of hearing about the sacred right of choice of everybody but the minority groups, who may choose in a very limited section.

The University's attitude on the landlords seems to boil down to, "We know they're wrong, but we need them."

Dee Wills Michener, '54.

All Buddhists Not Necessarily 'Beat'

To the Editor:

After having been exposed to all that fine rhetoric about discrimination, I was surprised by a statement in your editorial called "The Living End." The comment was made that "Beatniks may range from the effeminate flowery type, who contemplate deeply on Zen Buddhism..."

Does not this smack of religious bigotry? I did not know that Buddhists were necessarily effeminate. Besides, I would be willing to bet that the beatniks can claim more Southern Presbyterians than Buddhists. In fact, I suspect that on'e religion is not a function of how beat he is. Furthermore, is it possible that some genuinely religious people "contemplate deeply on Zen Buddhism?"

Student Favors Prexy Election

To the Editor:

I read in the issue of Nov. 5, that the new Indegreek political party has come out in favor of the direct election of the Student Senate president. I was very surprised to find out that the president is not elected. It seems incredible that the one person who represents us is not elected by us. This seems alien to the democratic procedures that we are supposed to live under. We, of America, hold up to the world our right to select our own leaders but we, the student, are not to be trusted with this right.

Those who say that by giving this right to us that we will elect him on a popularity basis are insulting us where it hurts. We have come to college to become more rounded citizens and to be able to take our place in the social and political world of our parents. By saying that we are not mature is insulting our

Cites Errors In Article on Van Doren

To the Editor:

The appearance of my article in the Ohio State Morning LANTERN of Nov. 12, 1959 has left me with feelings of deep frustration.

The published version of the article contains serious errors which obscure completely some of the ideas I wished to convey. My remark about fiction is garbled. The paragraph on the mission of educational institutions has been weakened by the unfortunate substitution of a preposition. The final paragraph of my text, which ends on a positive note, has been omitted. And, there are other mistakes.

Further, the biographical data are inaccurate and out-of-date, but this does not bother me nearly as much as your mangling of the text.

The big question in my mind involves the extent to which the writer and the reader can rely on you and your staff. I hope you understand that mere publication of this letter does not exculpate your journalistic sins.

Howard J. Pincus,

Professor of Geology.

P.S.—As I write this, I cannot help but wonder what it will look like after you have "processed" it.

The Lantern deeply regrets the errors referred to in the letter from Dr. Pincus. Actually, his column was not "edited" and all of the errors occurred in composition. These should, of course, have been caught in proof reading. In one case a word, in another a line and in another an entire paragraph were omitted thus garbling the text—EDITOR.

The correct version of the paragraphs referred to follow:

"But Van Doren is not the sole irresolute character in the drama. The network heads clearly displayed lack of positive purpose in their testimony. The producers and directors who prostituted contestants gave testimony which could be described charitably as reflecting tangled purposes; their jabberings about using the make-believe of entertainment as justification for deceit indicate no appreciation for integrity as an end in itself, and they might just as well plead that fiction justifies forgery."

PARAGRAPH in which preposition was changed: "Our educational institutions, especially at the university level, have the mission of helping young minds to grow so that each emerging citizen can acquire his own sense of purpose by recognizing challenges, understanding the principles by which society expects him to live, and assessing the aids afforded and the burdens imposed by his resources, tastes and traditions. . . ."

Final paragraph omitted: "The pause for thought about our purposes is perhaps the only benefit we should expect. Courses of action growing from such thought are very much within the custody of the institutions which interpret our culture."

minds. I hope this is not resorted to.

SINCE ONLY 13 per cent of the students voted in the last election, it will be argued by the status quo groups that since students show no interest in the elections why let them vote for this important office of president. This is putting the cart before the horse if examined more closely.

I ask how can students show interest in an election in which they can elect only 21 of the 42 senators. If the student senators would only give us this right of selecting our own president then I would predict that the number of students voting would double in the next election alone. The reason is that the political parties would be sure there is a big turnout if the presidency itself is at stake.

This would be a big step forward in knocking out the apathy of our student elections. For these reasons I am for the direct election of the president of Student Senate.

ton who has put in over 22 hours of official game time at his post on the line.

Everyone will admit Houston is a stalwart on defense and has done more than his share to clear the field for the Scarlet and Grey offensive machine. But few realize that he has a great pair of hands for pass snatching.

HAYES HAS tabbed him as "the greatest end I have ever coached and without question the best in the country." Esco Sarkkinen called him a fine receiver last year and added, "it's too bad we don't pass more because the All-American ends are picked on how many passes they caught."

Dave Kilgore will never be able to boast about how much time he was credited with, because it's less than eight minutes, but in his case it was the quality, not the quantity. He still tops the Bucks in scoring with his 18 point total.

NUMBER 70, Dick Michael, has seemingly saved his best for the last year, making this season by far his best ever.

Graduation will also claim two Bucks, Dick Anders and Bill Wentz, who rose from relative obscurity last year to starters positions at some point this season. Though small, 180 pounds, Anders proved a big man at center and Wentz served testimony to the old adage that some of your best men are warming the bench.

Birtho Arnold, though not the fastest man on the team, obliterated the whole side of the defensive line on at least three occasions, and could serve as the 11th and 12th man when the defense found the going rough.

ALSO MISSED will be 185 pound Wareham, Mass., product, Leonard Fontes, and Terry Hansley, 6 footer from Cleveland, for the relief they gave to the mainstays in the backfield.

These are the Bucks that you know about who will be bowing out Saturday. But there are others, some of whom have been on

Close Games Marked Iowa-Buck Battles

Since 1952, the Iowa-Ohio State football game has been marked by close games—ten points or less separating the final score.

Iowa claimed victories in 1952 and 1956 by respective scores of 8-0 and 6-0. Ohio State won in 1954 by 20-14; in 1955 by 20-10; in 1957, 17-13, and last year it was 38-28 in the only loss suffered by the Hawkeyes. The teams did not meet in 1953.

FOR ALL-AMERICANS Jim Houston and Bob White, this game will mark their final appearance in the Ohio Stadium.

Injuries may retard the Buckeyes a bit, the most serious being halfback Bill Wentz who might not see action due to a sprained ankle.

Tackle Dick Michael has a muscle injury in his left leg. Guard Don Young is out for the season with torn knee ligaments and has submitted to an operation.

QUARTERBACK Tom Matte has a muscle injury in his left arm but is expected to start Saturday. Jim Herbstreit and Paul Martin will work at right halfback this week in Wentz's place. George Tolford will divide left tackle with Michael.

Can Bob White Do It Again?

Whenever Ohio State meets Iowa, football fans expect plenty of excitement, and they usually don't go home disappointed.

The last two Buckeye-Hawkeye clashes, in particular, have generated many thrills as any two or three other games combined.

ONE MAN RESPONSIBLE for a good many of these thrills has been a quiet, studious, bespectled redhead named Robert L. White. Bob, as he is more commonly known, has manhandled the Iowa defenses almost single-handedly in his last two outings against them.

Two years ago in Ohio Stadium, White put on a performance in front of 83,000 fans that still brings back memories to many people.

IN THAT GAME, for you fans who have short memories, the Bucks dumped the Hawks 17-13, and as a result, won the Big Ten title and a bid to the Rose Bowl.

With 7.51 to go in the game, and Iowa leading 13-10, the Bucks took over on their own 31-yard line. In succession, bulldozing White gained four, nine, and twenty-seven yards to carry the ball to the Iowa 29.

DICK LeBEAU then carried for two, and White took over again. White blasted through the Hawkeye defense for nine, eight, eight, three, and finally the last five yards to paydirt.

On the 68-yard march to the Rose Bowl, White carried seven of eight times, picked up 66 of the 68 yards. For the game, he racked up 157 yards in 22 carries.

Last year, in another thrill-packed football classic, White again went on the rampage.

THE BUCKS WENT into the game as a definite underdog. Iowa practically had its bags packed for a trip to the West Coast but the Bucks quickly spoiled these plans, led by blockbusting White.

The big redhead carried 33 times for a total of 209 yards and three touchdowns. One of his TD gallops was a 71 yarder, the longest run of his collegiate career.

White wound up last season by copping All-America honors. He carried the ball 218 times last year to set an Ohio State record. He gained 859 total yards and did not lose a single yard. White scored 12 of the Buckeyes' 26 touchdowns last season.

WHITE DID ALL this despite getting only a minimum of resting time from action. He played a total of 490 out of 540 minutes, including two 60-minute stints. In the last five games, he missed only 7½ minutes.

This year, White has been slow in getting started. He has had only one real good game, and that was against Purdue. Injuries have been the major factor in his off-form showing. Another factor is that the defenses have "wised up" a little bit, and they are laying for him more than they did in previous seasons.

It is recommended that Chapter 50.00 be repealed and that the following Chapter be inserted in place thereof:

50.00. STUDENT AFFAIRS

51.00. University Discipline

51.01. General Discipline.
Section 1. The President shall have the final responsibility and authority for the discipline of all students of the University. This responsibility and authority may be delegated by the President to the Executive Dean, Student Relations. (See Rule 11-1105.)

Section 2. The Deans of Colleges and of the Graduate School, the Directors of Schools, and the Chairmen of Departments, respectively, are responsible to the President through regular disciplinary channels for the discipline of all students in the activities of their respective Colleges, Schools, and Departments.

53.00. Student Activities

53.01. Organized Activities.
The Executive Dean, Student Relations, shall promulgate rules governing organized activities which are University connected and in which students or the wives of students participate. For initiation into a fraternity or sorority these rules shall include a requirement that the student have been in residence in this University for a minimum of two quarters, have earned at least 30 quarter credit hours, and have a cumulative point-hour ratio of at least 2.30 if he has earned less than 40 quarter credit hours. The rules governing initiation into fraternities or sororities by students with advanced standing shall require that the student have at least 40 quarter credit hours of which at least 15 shall have been earned at the University with a cumulative point-hour ratio of at least 2.00.

Section 2. The Executive Dean, Student Relations, shall have the authority to define "major activity." This definition of major activity shall include, but not necessarily be limited to: holding an office in any organization, membership in a fraternity or sorority, membership in student governmental bodies; holding a staff position on any student publication; taking part in any non-departmental musical, dramatic or similar production; and participating in intramural athletics.

53.05. Promulgation of Rules; Recommendation of Council on Student Affairs.
Before promulgating the rules authorized under Rules 53.01 and 53.03 and before amending such rules after they have been promulgated, the Executive Dean, Student Relations, shall obtain the recommendation

The powers of the Women's Self Government Association may be delegated by it to any group or committee of the Association.

53.09. Use of University Buildings.

The rooms of any University student organization which are located in the University buildings shall not be used for purposes other than the usual activities of such organizations unless permission of the Executive Dean, Special Services, has been obtained in advance.

No student or group of students shall arrange for or announce a meeting of any kind to be held on the campus or in any of the University buildings unless permission to use the building has been obtained in advance from the Executive Dean, Special Services.

The Executive Dean, Special Services, shall consider requests for rooms for lecturers from off-campus and for the showing of films only after approval by the Adviser. (See Rule 21.09.) Forms for this purpose are available at the Office of the Executive Dean, Special Services.

Section 3. Meetings of recognized organizations which are primarily of a business nature and which do not continue beyond 9:30 p.m. shall not be considered as social functions.

The foregoing changes in the Rules for the University Faculty require the following amendments to the By-Laws of the Board of Trustees and the Rules for the University Faculty. It is therefore recommended:

Students On TV Sunday

A team of four top-ranking undergraduates will represent Ohio State on the CBS Network's "General Electric College Bowl" program Sunday afternoon, Nov. 15, in the role of challenger.

Team members, including three scholarship holders and representing three of the University's five undergraduate colleges, are: Mrs. Elizabeth Towne Norton, 21, Arts 4, undergraduate research scholar in comparative literature; Miss Molly Kay Reynolds, 20, Ed-3, in English and mathematics; Gerald Lyman Soliday, 19, a junior and Merhson Scholar in history and German; Jon Mikal Townsley, 21, Comm-4, a Merhson scholar and accounting major.

THE WINNING team on the quiz program each week receives a $1,500 donation to the scholarship fund of its university and the losing team receives $500 for the same purpose. The winning team faces a new challenging team each week until it is defeated.

Ohio State's possible opponent will be one of the following: Oregon, Loyola of Los Angeles, University of Colorado, Southern Methodist, Swarthmore, Holy Cross, or Sarah Lawrence.

NOMINATIONS to the Ohio State team were received from the Dean's Office of each of the five undergraduate colleges. Members selected represent a wide range of interests and information, with backgrounds in art, literature, music, mathematics, science, government, sports, and other fields.

The team will be accompanied to New York by Assistant Dean of Arts and Sciences, Mr. G. Robert Holsinger, Jr., and his wife.

WASHINGTON — (UPI)—Russia yesterday accused the United States, Britain and France of trying to fan up the cold war with a plan to set up a West German radio station in the Allied sector of Berlin. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter promptly labeled the Soviet protest as premature. He said there was no certainty the proposal ever would be approved by the German Parliament since a number of German states opposed it.

Humanist To Talk To Dissent Forum

Erich Kahler, distinguished German humanist and visiting Merhson lecturer at Ohio State this year, will speak at a meeting of the Dissent Forum at 8 p.m. tonight in the Ohio Union Conference Theater.

At Ohio State, Professor Kahler is conducting inter-disciplinary seminars for faculty members in the historiography of culture.

ALL ARE WELCOME to attend the Dissent Forum meeting. There will be no admission charge. Professor Kahler will speak on "Why Socialism and Which Socialist?"

Professor Kahler, a native of Prague, Czechoslovakia, studied philosophy, history, sociology, and literature in German universities.

Thomas Mann said of him, "Of all the minds at work today, his is one of the cleverest, finest and richest."

KAHLER CAME to the U.S. in 1938 and has taught at the New School, Princeton, and Cornell.

Dr. Johnson turns another elegant phrase:

*Sir, if it hasn't got it there,
it hasn't got it!*

Old Dr. Sam has done it again—brought his dictionary up to date in terms of modern Winston usage.

Winston (win'ston), n. A cigarette with Filter-Blend on one end and a wise man on the other.

Taste (tāst), n. What decorators argue about and Winston smokers enjoy.

Filter-Blend (fil'tēr-blēnd), n. A happy marriage of art and science. Light, mild, flavorful tobaccos are artfully selected, then scientifically processed for filter smoking.

Slogan (slō'gān), n. (e.g., Winston tastes good like a cigarette should). A statement of disputed grammar but unquestioned fact.

Front (frūnt), n. (used in conjunction with the preposition "up"). The section of a filter cigarette where if it hasn't got it, it hasn't got it. Also, the section that counts, the section where exclusive Filter-Blend is to be found.

Boswell (bōz'wēl). Nickname for a guy who is always hanging around to cadge Winstons from you.

"There is nothing which has yet been contrived by man by which so much happiness is produced . . ."

LANGUAGE MADE SIMPLE: NO. 1

In this day of swift international communications, like radio, television, and the raft, it becomes more and more important to be solidly grounded in foreign languages. Accordingly, I have asked the makers of Philip Morris whether I might not occasionally forego levity in this column and instead use it for a lesson in language.

"Of course, silly!" chuckled the makers of Philip Morris, tousling my yellow locks. Oh, grand men they are, just as full of natural goodness as the cigarettes they make, just as clean and fresh, just as friendly, just as agreeable to have along in all times and climes and places. "Of course, fond boy," laughed the makers and tossed me up and down in a blanket until, giddy with giggling, I bade them desist, and then we all had basins of farina and smoked Philip Morris and sang songs until the campfire had turned to embers.

For our first lesson in language we will take up French. We will approach French in the modern manner—ignoring the tedious rules of grammar and concentrating instead on idiom. After all, when we go to France, what does it matter if we can parse and conjugate? What matters is that we should be able to speak idiomatic conversational French.

So, for the first exercise, translate the following real, true-to-life dialogue between two real, true-to-life Frenchmen named Claude (pronounced Clohd) and Pierre (also pronounced Clohd).

CLAUDE: Good morning, sir. Can you direct me to the nearest monk?

PIERRE: I have regret, but I am a stranger here myself.

CLAUDE: Is it that you come from the France?

PIERRE: You have right.

CLAUDE: I also. Come, let us mount the airplane and return ourselves to the France.

PIERRE: We must defend from smoking until the airplane elevates itself.

CLAUDE: Ah, now it has elevated itself. Will you have a Philippe Maurice?

PIERRE: Mercy.

CLAUDE: How many years has the small gray cat of the sick admiral?

PIERRE: She has four years, but the tall brown dog of the short blacksmith has only three.

CLAUDE: In the garden of my aunt it makes warm in the summer and cold in the winter.

PIERRE: What a coincidence! In the garden of my aunt too!

CLAUDE: Ah, we are landing. Regard how the airplane depresses itself.

PIERRE: What shall you do in the France?

CLAUDE: I shall make a promenade and see various sights of cultural significance, like the Louvre, the Tomb of Napoleon, and the Eiffel Tower . . . What shall you do?

PIERRE: I shall try to pick up the stewardess.

CLAUDE: Long live the France!
