Newspaperless Town Creates Tricky 'Ads'

By Judy McCluskey
and Rich Moore

Taking advantage of the early spring weather, shoppers turned out in droves yesterday afternoon. But they were shopping without the aid of advertising from the three daily metropolitan newspapers: the Citizen, Dispatch and Journal. Whether the absence of the newspapers, due to the strike of the Web Pressmen's Union, caused any slowdown in business has not yet been determined.

ON SOUTH HIGH ST. many department stores came up with novel ideas to fill the gap. One posted a mimeographed sheet of short news bulletins in its windows to attract passersby.

Dual Service Held Sunday

A dual ceremony was conducted here Sunday honoring Acting Gunnery Sergeant Jack W. Turner, U. S. Marine Corps, for his selection by the Armed Forces Community Relations Council as Serviceman of the Month and for his wife, Acting Gunnery Sergeant Bessie B. Turner, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, upon her retirement from the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve.

Sergeant Turner is the Assistant to the Marine Instructor at the NROTC Unit at Ohio State where he is the coach of the unit Rifle Team, the unit Drill Instructor, and a member of the Athletic Council.

The honor is awarded annually to the Marine in the area who most typifies a military man who is also an outstanding citizen in his community.

U.S. May Back Ike Berlin Vow—McElroy

(Here is a roundup of news as compiled by the LANTERN from its leased wires of Associated Press and United Press International.)

WASHINGTON, Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy reported yesterday the United States may strengthen its military position to back up President Eisenhower's pledge to stand firm against Russia in Berlin.

But he said the United States did not plan a mobilization at home, as proposed by some congressman. He said he did not believe Russia wants a general war at this time despite Moscow's generally unyielding position on Berlin.

WASHINGTON, Sen. Hubert H.

Humphrey urged President Eisenhower today to clean up "shocking mismanagement" in military foreign aid in an effort to save the program from serious trouble when it comes before congress.

Rep. Gordon L. McDonough (R-Calif.) opened a fight today to knock out of the Big Democratic housing bill what he described as a billion-dollar "tax windfall" for the wealthy.

McDonough, top house GOP spokesman on housing legislation, attacked a provision to expand public housing under which rents of

Council To Study ROTC; Decision Up To University

By Myron Belkind

A test reduction in compulsory Air Force ROTC training from two years to one at Ohio State has the approval of the program's national commandant.

Major General Turner C. Rogers, at Maxwell Air Force Base, in Montgomery, Alabama, said he would be interested *in seeing a one year compulsory program tried at Ohio State, on an experimental basis.

GENERAL ROGERS said that such a decision would be up to Ohio State officials.

"If projected increases in college enrollments materialize throughout the country, the Air Force is going to face difficulty in supplying the manpower to operate the present program," General Rogers explained.

Reducing the compulsory program would alleviate the problem, General Rogers said.

The commandant said that starting this year AFROTC units are

WSGA Joins With Senate For Elections

WSGA has joined forces with the Student Senate to hold joint elections Thursday.

Coeds will be electing WSGA class representatives and will also cast their ballots for Goldiggers King. Sixteen women are to be elected to WSGA, according to Ann Zaleski, elections chairman of that group.

Students can vote at the following places: Men and Women's cafeterias, 15th and High streets, main floor of Ohio Union, Hagerty Hall, University Hall, Derby Hall, and Main Library. Voters should bring both fee and schedule cards.

The following is the slate of candidates for the 1959 Class Representatives of WSGA:

Senior: Town, Diane Elliott and Donna Stimson; Out-of-town Linda Capper, Jean Duvall, Micki McAllister, and Peggy Pride.

Juniors: Town, Sue Baber, Sue Burt, Diana Dumaree, Becky Kerr, and Judy Spurgeon; Out-of-town, Barbara Helal, Lynn Hill, Lani Neunzig, Roselyn Sklenicka, and Marie Zaina.

Latin Prexy Visits Here

Prof. Gabriel S. Teixeira de Carvalho, head of the University of Sao Paulo, began a four-day visit here yesterday as the guest of Dr. Walter R. Krim, dean of Ohio State's College of Veterinary Medicine.

The Brazilian educator is in this country as a participant in the Foreign Leaders Program of the U. S. Department of State's International Educational Exchange Service.

While at Ohio State, he will inspect classes, laboratories and research projects in veterinary medicine, will observe veterinary practice on nearby dairy farms, and will study the organization and administration of the university.

In Brazil, Professor Teixeira de Carvalho is responsible for the administration of 18 public educational institutions, with a student body of approximately 3,000, in the State of Sao Paulo.

Saturday Evening Post Article Blasts Ohio State Social Life

By Don Maples

"Are We Making a Playground Out of Education?" This is the title of the forthcoming "Saturday Evening Post" (March 7) article which launches a violent attack against college life in general and certain colleges specifically — one being Ohio State.

The author of this searing article charges that American colleges are becoming marriage mills and fun factories. Indiana University Journalism instructor Jerome Ellison, author of the article, says that there is a national inclination to push education aside whenever it interferes with love, comfort, money, or fun.

"Ohio State," says Ellison in the "Post," has a circus party with real elephants, a Greek Week, a May Week Carnival, a Rose Formal and a Pumpkin Prom . . . Last year, five students got drunk in Kentucky, stole a corpse from an undertaking parlor, transported it a hundred miles and placed it in front of the union building on the Columbus campus. . . .

The article went on to say that Ohio State faculty instructor in German, Gleen H. Goodman, advisor to the Fraternity and Sorority Council for Advancement "has let fly at fraternities for 'picking top men and isolating them in an atmosphere of football, adolescent discussions, dating and drinking'."

This is what Goodman had to say about the use of his quote in the Post story:

"I BELIEVE I made that statement in the fall of 1957. But, I don't think I made it that absolute.

"I probably said: very often picking top men and isolating them in an atmosphere of football, adolescent discussions, dating and drinking."

The purpose of the Fraternity and Sorority Council is "to lift fraternities and sororities intellectually, morally and spiritually." Goodman said that the greatest emphasis is put on lifting them intellectually.

Goodman said that he has been very critical of over-emphasis of fraternities and sororities. Next to the academic side of college life, he feels that fraternities and sororities are the most important.

Ellison's article offers some suggestions for improving the situation. They include abolishing automobiles on the campus, disbanding fraternities and sororities, eliminating plush university housing for married students until the head of the house becomes a senior and a re-entrance examination at the beginning of the junior year.

ELLISON, WHO notes that he is speaking with a background of twenty-five years of editing, writing, teaching and publishing, says the thing that concerns him is an intellectual immorality. The encroachment upon the main business of college of an accumulation of irrelevancies makes up a "Second Curriculum" that often takes precedence over the first.

"The Second Curriculum," he explains, "is that odd mixture of status hunger, voodoo, tradition, lust, stereotyped dissipation, love, solid achievement and plain good fun sometimes called 'college life.'"

THE AUTHOR questions whether we can afford what is happening today. "Communists and free men agree on at least one thing—the abler, better-informed side in this contest is more likely to prevail," he observes. "Higher education will play an increasingly vital role in the struggle. We water it down, it seems to me, at our own great peril. And watering it down we certainly are."

"Pseudo-Intellectuals" Are Victorious

Mystery . . .

To the Editor:

The mystery of the month seems to be the identity of Name Withheld, the unknown critic of Charles M. Schulz. Is he really some poor defenseless undergraduate who has unwittingly evoked the terrible wrath of every Peanut fan on campus, or could he be a clever practical joker who has lit the fuse of the greatest mental hotfoot since Eugene, and is sitting back to watch us dance?

My first thought when I read the infamous letter was that the opinions expressed were of too little consequence to warrant any reprisal. I was quite surprised to see the large number of letters which poured into the LANTERN in defense of the strip.

In neither of the above cases can I see any real purpose to be served by all the letters being written. It seems a great waste of energy for every "pseudo-intellectual" on campus to be up in arms against so unimportant an adversary.

On the other hand, I would hate to have my name listed as one of the pseudo-intellectuals who fell headlong into the hoax that this could possibly be. We should notice that by withholding his name, the mysterious stranger drew signatures from every retaliatory letter.

Richard H. Talbott, Engr-1.

Please . . .

To the Editor:

Concerning the "unhumorous" cartoon series Peanuts we should like to say that there are four and only four current publications in the country which describe man. One is the magazine "Mad." The other three are the cartoon strips "Pogo," "Lil Abner," and "Peanuts." They all serve the same purpose: to point out the absurdities and paradoxes of present day mankind.

TO THE AUTHOR of Tuesday's blasphemous letter about Peanuts, we would like to say that man's greatest achievement is the ability to laugh at himself. We would also like to say that "humor is the only test for gravity. For a subject which cannot bear railery is suspicious," and that "true humor springs not more from the head than from the heart; . . . it issues not in laughter, but in still smiles, which lie far deeper," and that "truth, 'tis supposed, may bear all lights, and one of those principal lights or natural mediums by which things are to be viewed in order to have a thorough recognition is by ridicule itself," but these things have already been said.

We may raise tuitions, raise parking fines, require ROTC, extol Paul Carroll, burn down campus buildings, but Good Grief, don't get rid of Peanuts!

Al Fedoravicius, A-2,
William Vatter, A-4,
Don DeWitt, Ed-3.

Absurd . . .

To the Editor:

Well, again we have another attack upon the "pseudo-intellectuals," this time by way of Peanuts, one of the most original cartoon strips to appear in the last 20 years.

MR. (MISS) Name Withheld on Request (and surely anonymity is a flagrant sign of insecurity) appears to be troubled by the fact that he and his friends do not find the strip amusing.

Disregarding the obvious conclusion that his friends and he possess an extremely limited diversity of interests, he attributes this to its "off-beat, pseudo-intellectual" character. This implication that the Columbus Citizen from which the strip is reprinted is catering to intellectuals, pseudo or otherwise, is absurd.

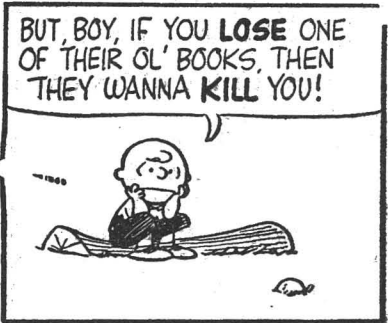

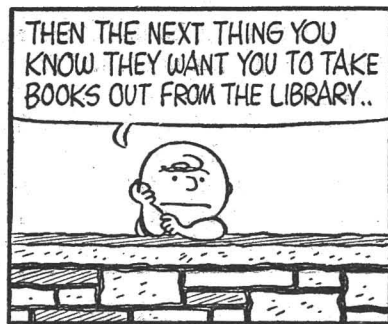

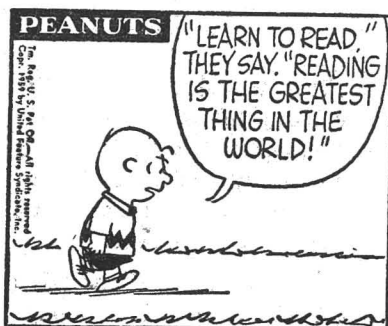

MORE IMPORTANT, however, than his desire for a straw vote (for far be it from the LANTERN to publish anything not approved of by at least 50 percent of its readers) is his attack on intellectuals.

If the intellectuals on campus seem pseudo to him, it is probably because in their attempt to acquire even the rudiments of a liberal education they are laboring under the handicap of an American education.

If NWOR has not seen fit to look beyond the role cut out for him by the Democratizing opponents of the right to fail, then he is simply cheating himself. If he has tried and failed then he can only be referred to as a pseudo-anti-intellectual.

Union Policy Is Questioned . . .

To the Editor:

The Ohio Union director was bothered by the comments I made in my letter of Feb. 17 and asked me in to talk it over.

While I must admit that students do have a differential in prices, it is not great enough to be apparent and does not exist in the cafeteria.

I STILL maintain that there are too many employees, that the cafeteria could be run on a more economical basis, and that the Union could be a little more decent in the handling of its policy.

In reference to the first point of that Feb. 17 letter, the Union policy is that any University organization may use a room free of charge, but if it wants to charge admission it must pay the rent on the room it uses for its function. But in this case, not one penny was to go to the organization—all money was for charity. But the Union was unswerving in its policy on this matter.

THE MEMBERS of the organization thought that perhaps we could use the room free and make our donations elsewhere; however, this idea was abandoned because we felt that since we had already made known the purpose of the party we would be accused of violating this Union policy and have to pay the rent anyway.

Just because a party of the type we were attempting had not been tried before was certainly no reason to fling "Union policy" in our faces. . . .

We are trying to become good citizens and adults, yet we are treated as children. The time is fast approaching when "citizens of tomorrow" is a phrase we will be saying to our children; it no longer has meaning for us.

How can we practice good citizenship when we are not given the chance to show that we know how?

I still feel very deeply that the Union policy on this matter could have been handled in another way, and would have made for less hard feeling on both sides.

Naomi Jeanne Isaacs, Com-3.

Enjoy . . .

To the Editor:

I was amused at the attack upon Charlie Brown and his friends in the LANTERN. I am not so psychologically inclined as to be able to categorize the people who enjoy or do not enjoy Peanuts as drawn by Charles Schulz. I do, however, rank myself among those who do enjoy the strip.

I support my anonymous friend's proposal for a vote on the popularity of Schulz's cartoons. The results at least would prove interesting to me. The Saturday Evening Post, in an article last year about the creator, reported him the highest paid strip cartoonist in the country. I naturally assumed this was because of a somewhat wide reception of his drawings. I could be wrong. The strip can be found daily clipped to the music booth of the Union and on the bulletin boards in conspicuous places about campus, perhaps by Charles Schulz himself.

It might be preferable to some to replace Peanuts with "Grace Mace: Space Ace" or other funnies such as "Private Eye" strips that depict murder, crime, sadism, and other such humorous everyday events. I get many a chuckle out of Charlie Brown, but my world is not shattered because there are people who do not.

I do not personally care whether others enjoy it or not. I only ask that I be allowed to enjoy it; without labels attached.

Maybe someone will soon appear with a proposal to abolish beer because he does not care for it. I, speaking only for myself, cast myself for Peanuts and beer.

Lawrence B. Epstein, Com-4.

Lantern Wastes Space . . .

To the Editor:

Although I have no connection with the LANTERN, other than being an Ohio State student, I feel somewhat justified in offering some constructive criticisms of its policy. In particular I suggest that the Editor's Mail Bag policy be re-examined.

Many of the printed letters are just plain irresponsible, libelous, seditious, and ridiculous. The controversies which are encouraged cannot help but have deleterious effects on young, impressionable minds. . . .

On Feb. 26 a letter appeared which apparently advocated a coup d'etat of the administration.

Personally, I am impressed by how fairly and efficiently a university as large as this is run. Round pegs in square holes always tend to have dangerous thoughts about their environment, but why should the LANTERN waste space on their constant belly-aching? . . .

APhiO Plans Its Annual 'Ugly' Affair

Be on the lookout—it's almost time for that man again!

Alpha Phi Omega announces that its annual campus event—Ugly Man on Campus contest—will be held April 6 through 10.

For the past 10 years, this contest has provided funds which are donated to some needy charity around the community. The funds are used for youth work in the various organizations.

Bill Haskins, UMOC chairman, said that 15 applications have been filed for the contest which promises to be quite an ugly affair.

Alpha Phi Omega is a national service fraternity composed of former Boy Scouts.

During the past fiscal year more than 11½ million children in more than 60,000 schools participated in the national school lunch program.

DEADLINE SET FOR ESSAY CONTEST

The deadline for submitting entries in the $100 William Jennings Bryan Essay contest is May 21.

The prize will be awarded for the best essay on a subject involving "the principles underlying American government." All undergraduates and graduate students at Ohio State, except those holding ranks of instructor or higher, are eligible.

Typed essays, limited to 3500 words, should be submitted to the department of history, Room 211, University Hall.

Entries should not be signed but should be accompanied by a sealed envelope containing the author's name and address.

Further details can be obtained from Laurence J. R. Herson, political science department; Edwin T. Layton, history, or Eric Solomon, English.

Milton B. Trautman of Ohio State last night received the annual award of the Wildlife Society as author of the "outstanding fisheries publication of 1958."

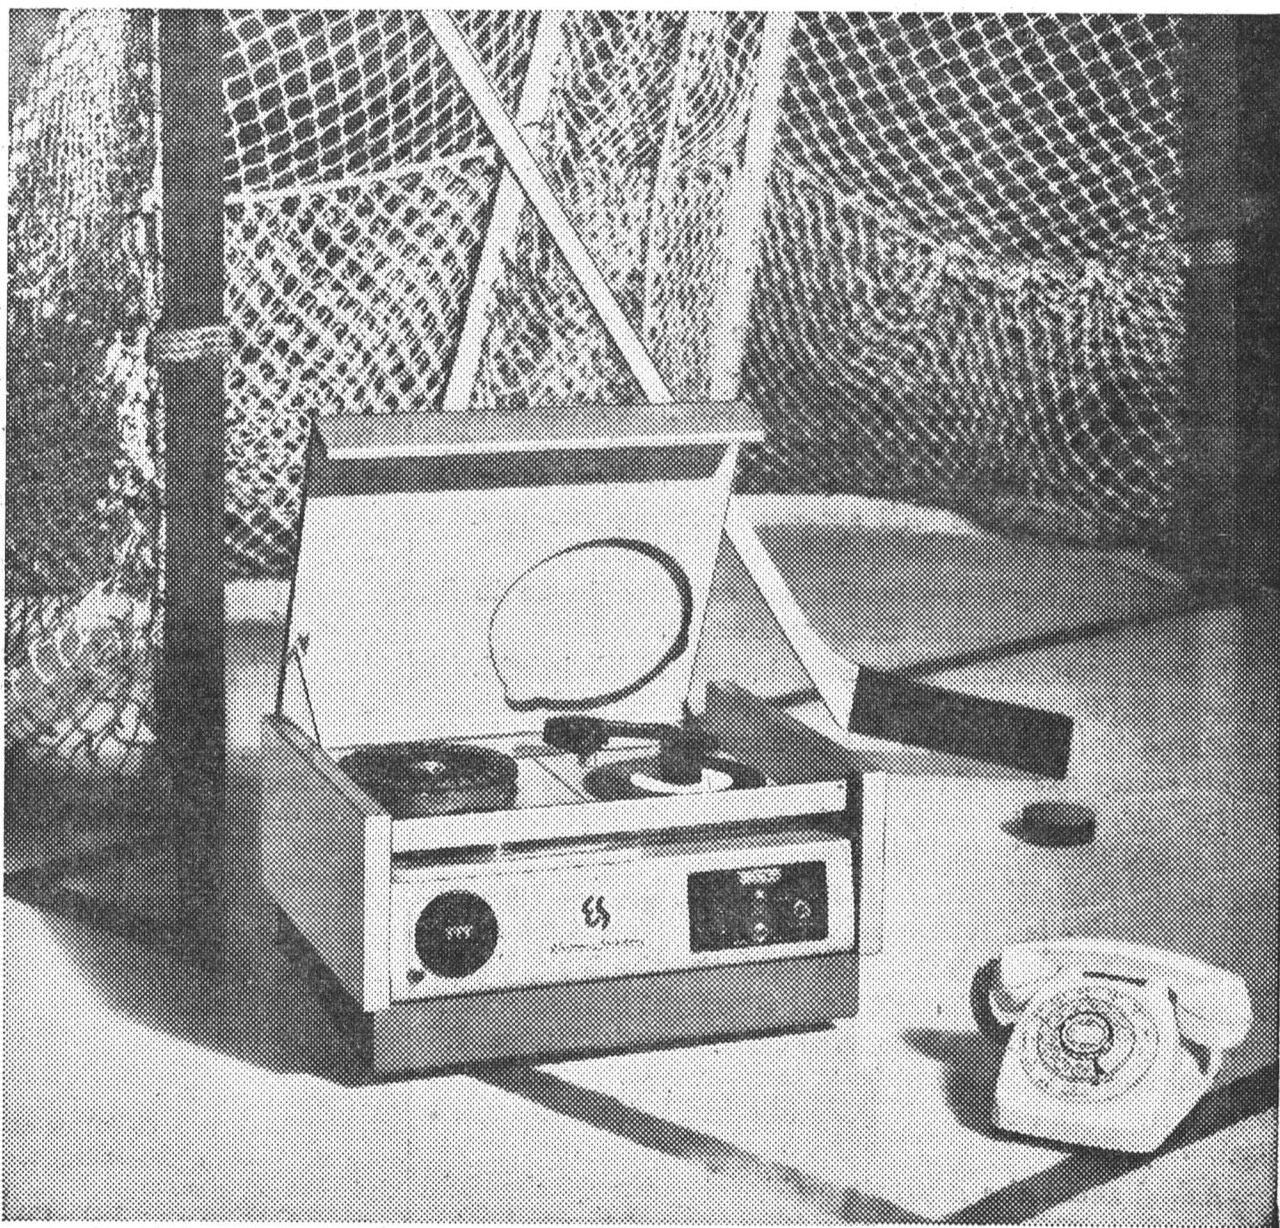

Trautman's 683-page illustrated book, "The Fishes of Ohio," was issued as the first publication of the reorganized University Press.

Books considered for the award were judged on a worldwide basis. A duplicate award went to a British publication.

Prof. Charles A. Dambach, director of Ohio State's Natural Resources Institute and president of the Wildlife Society, made the award presentation at the organization's annual meeting at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in New York City.

Trautman is curator of vertebrate collections in the University's department of zoology and entomology.

The ABC booster division was put on the tourney prize list in 1926.

Scoring big with slick ideas

like the Electronic Secretary® answering unit, product of America's second largest telephone system

Your phone is always "tended" when an Electronic Secretary unit is on your "line." For it answers calls in your absence and takes messages as well!

Here's how it works. When your phone rings, a recorded voice informs the caller that you are out—and invites him to leave his name, number and any information he wishes you to have.

When you return—or when you phone in—all calls are repeated to you word for word. Result: no more "missed" messages, no more lost business, no more worrying about leaving the phone unattended any hour of the day or night.

This is just one of many ways Gen Tel is adding new dimensions to telephone communication. We know that, in an America which is expanding fast on all fronts, it is imperative to expand both telephone service and telephone versatility.

And we're meeting the challenge by developing new products and better methods for bringing more and more people together.

Bucks Climb To 2nd In Big Ten

By Sherry Dinan

Ohio State's hot and cold shooting Buckeyes vaulted into a six way tie for second place in the Big Ten by virtue of their 68-66 win over Minnesota at Minneapolis last night.

The Buckeyes, who trailed 41-36 at halftime, fought back and grabbed a 65-63 lead on Joe Carlson's long set shot with about five minutes left in the game.*

The Gophers fought back to within two points of Ohio State, but substitute guard Marlo Miller missed two free throws with three seconds remaining to take Minnesota out of the contest.

BIG RON JOHNSON, who scored 39 points against Ohio State earlier in the season, tallied 30 last night to take scoring honors for the night.

Larry Siegfried led the Bucks in scoring with 24 counters. Larry Huston added 12, Jim Niehaus contributed 11, and Ritchie Hoyt tossed in nine counters.

Last night's victory gave Ohio State a 7-6 record in Conference play and a record of 11-10 on the season. Minnesota dropped to 5-8 in the Big Ten and 8-13 for the season.

COACH FRED TAYLOR'S squad will close out the season Saturday night against Purdue in the St. John Arena.

It was the Buckeyes' second win over the Gophers this season. Ohio State was also forced to come from behind to win the first game by an 84-80 margin.

In other Big Ten action last night, Michigan upset Illinois 101-95 and the champion Michigan State Spartans downed cellar-dwelling Wisconsin 93-73.

Other teams now tied for second in the Big Ten include Illinois, Purdue, Northwestern, Iowa, and Michigan.

Undefeated Hockey Squad Wins League Championship

By Jack Wittenmeier

Ohio State's undefeated, untied hockey team clinched the Ohio Intercollegiate Hockey Association championship last weekend with a 14-4 win over Dennison University at Athens.

Following the losses of the track and swimming team last weekend, the pucksters stand* as the lone unbeaten athletic team on campus (with the exception of the freshman basketball team).

The Buckeye skaters, unbeaten in six games, close out their 1958-59 season next weekend with a non-league encounter with Ohio University Saturday and a match with last place Ohio Northern the following day.

TWO BUCK icers, Bob Simond and John Kos, came up with the hat trick, scoring three goals apiece. Despite their performances, the scoring was well distributed with five other players driving the puck home for goals.

After a tight first period, the Bucks exploded for seven goals in the second period to put the game "on ice."

In other hockey games over the weekend, Ohio University downed Fenn, 5-1, and Fenn "chilled" Dayton, 7-0.

4 Strikers Win Bowling Tourney

The Four Strikers are the Intramural Bowling Champions for the Winter Quarter. They had a score of 1043 for a two game series. Sharon Dougan, Evelyn Dilley, and Rita and Rosa Diehl share the newly won crown.

The finals were held last Saturday. Bobbie Lipman was the individual high scorer for the day with 170 pins for one game and a total of 319 pins.

Tomorrow and Thursday nights the basketball leagues will end their season. Mack I, Patterson I, Ashes, Siebert Hall, and Oxley Hall will participate in these playoffs.

Next Saturday will be the inter-class bowling tournament. Each quarter the bowling instructors choose the four girls from their classes who have the highest averages, and these girls compete for the championship.

Frank Lane Declares 'War' on N.Y. Yankees

Fearless Frank Lane, the general manager of the Cleveland Indians, officially opened the 1959 baseball season yesterday, declaring war on the New York Yankees.

Calling all American League clubs to join in the anti-Yankee campaign, Lane said, "We should all have one common objective. That is to do everything in our power — on the field, of course — to prevent the Yankees from winning again."

"I feel we can do it," he added, "if we get together and make up our minds to throw only the best pitchers against the Yankees. If we all concentrate on that I'm willing to bet this season will be remembered as the year the Yankees did not win the pennant."

IF UNITED States basketball fans think that the upcoming weeks of tournament activity represent a high concentration of competition for the nation's top cagers, just wait till they see the Pan-American Games operations in Chicago next Aug. 17 to Sept. 7.

Unofficially, but almost surely, it is going to develop that the Pan American program will include 45 basketball games in a single arena in a span of ten days!

BUTLER UNIVERSITY has been added to the National Invitational Tournament which will be played in New York beginning March 12.

The Bulldogs, the ninth team to be selected, finished their regular season with an 18-8 record. The Butler squad, made up of mostly sophomores and juniors, bounced back after losing its first five games this season, including one to Ohio State.

The remaining three berths are expected to go to St. Louis, Bradley and either Utah or Denver.

TEMPERMENTAL Billy Loes has ended his brief hold-out with the Baltimore Orioles. The 29-year-old right hander is believed to have taken a cut of about $3,000. That would put his salary at about $20,000.

He won only three games last year while losing nine. Several times in the past Loes declared that he was not very happy in Baltimore. And again today, he said he would like to be traded to another club.

PROMOTER Bill Rosenshon says that he hopes to announce the site of the heavyweight title fight between champion Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson tomorrow. Rosenshon said Chicago is the favorite right now, with Los Angeles, New York and Minneapolis bunched behind the windy city.

Asked about the law suit seeking to prevent the fight from taking place, Rosenshon said he was not worried.

Heavyweight contender Eddie Machen claims he has a contract for a return fight with Johnansson. Machen is suing for an injunction to prevent the Swedish heavyweight from fighting Patterson until meeting Machen first.

PENN STATE track coach Chick Werner has charged Manhattan coach George Eastman with bad taste in connection with an incident in the I-C-C-A track meet last Saturday night.

Manhattan edged Penn State for the title by less than half a point after Eastman lodged a protest on the order of finish in the 60-yard high hurdles.

Eastman claimed one of his hurdlers finished third instead of fourth as the judges saw it. Almost 2 hours later, Eastman won his argument, and Manhattan was given an extra point — a point that proved to be the difference for victory.

The Penn State coach said several people from Eastman's school told him they were embarrassed at winning the title that way. He said we would take the matter up with the I-C-C-A Commissioner.

SPORTSMAN George Lewis usually names his horses after members of his family. He improvised a little when he name one of thoroughbreds.

Lewis' son Jeff, as a youngster, had the habit of saying "uh, oh" so Lewis named one of his horses "Jeff's Uh Oh."

Scientists Groom Fifth Pioneer For Moon Try

CAPE CNAVERAL, FLA — (UPI) — Army Rocketeers worked in near-gale winds yesterday to secure a cone-shaped moon-sun probe to the tip of a Juno II carrier rocket expected to be launched into the skies soon after midnight last night.

It was to the third try since Saturday. Previously scheduled firings were postponed due to unfavorable weather and technical difficulties.

The four-stage carrier rocket is designed to send the 13.4-pound Pioneer IV payload probing into deep space, skimming past the moon 221,500 miles away and beyond. It would attain a maximum velocity of 25,000 miles per hour in about four and one-half minutes, then push the payload off onto its virtually gravity-free glide into space.

It would then take about 34 hours to reach the vicinity of the moon. The gold-plated, fiberglass package of scientific instruments would measure radiation belts and radio other data on space mysteries back to earth.

Conditions at the ground level were favorable for the third launching attempt. The weather forecast was for clear skies and diminishing winds.

Air Force scientists at Vandenberg Air Force Base in California believe the rocket they launched two days ago went into some kind of orbit, but its radio is not working properly. The scientists say tracking stations have picked up occasional signals, and this tends to confirm that an orbit was attained.

A long, rolling earthquake which alternately swelled and diminished for more than a minute, struck earthquake conscious San Francisco late today.

The tremor hit the city and surrounding areas at 3:29 p.m. (PST). The California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, Calif., said it registered a Richter magnitude of 4.5. The University of California Seismographic office at Berkeley, Calif., said the quake registered a magnitude of 5.5.

Reports of the tremor came from as far south as Salinas, Calif., some 100 miles from San Francisco, and from San Rafael, a suburb 20 miles to the north.

CANTON—A car believed to be the one bought by a bank robber after he landed in airplane at West Lafayette airport has been found abandoned in Canton. The bandit escaped with almost $26,000 from a Hamilton bank Monday morning, drove to Hamilton airport, stole a plane and flew away. Hours later a man and plane answering the general description of the bandit landed at West Lafayette airport, six miles east of Co-shocton. That man paid cash for a used car near the airport and drove away. The F.B.I. believes the bandit is Frank Lawrence Spreng of Akron, one of its most wanted men.

World Scene

The Soviet Union has informed the Western Powers it will take part in a foreign ministers conference on the German problem if the West is not ready for a meeting at the Summit. Notes from the Kremlin suggested that East-West meetings start in April, in either Vienna or Geneva. The notes also asked that Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia take part — as well as both East and West Germany.

The Soviet notes to the United States, Britain, France and West Germany were delivered as British Prime Minister MacMillan wound up his 10-day visit to Russia. He and Premier Khrushchev conferred almost two hours at the Kremlin.

After the final MacMillan-Khrushchev conference, the Soviet Premier said he was pleased by the results. He told the guests at a diplomatic reception that both Britain and Russia are better prepared now for an attempt to end the cold war. In a talk on Soviet television, MacMillan urged that the two countries avoid acts which would disturb their relations.

A major battle is reported between French troops and Algerian nationalists. It is near the Tunisian border.

A Cuban revolutionary tribunal last night acquitted 43 Batista airmen accused of "genocide" for their air missions over Oriente Province during the revolution.

The verdict ended a two-week mass trial during which the prosecution contended that the former Cuban Air Force pilots, gunners and mechanics were guilty of common crimes when they bombed and strafed their objectives, sometimes killing and injuring civilians.

PILOT MAX CONRAD, a father of 10 children and grandfather of two, took from Chicago yesterday in a single engine Piper Comanche plane in a try for a record-breaking flight to Rome.

Conrad, 56-year-old veteran of more than 50 trans-Atlantic hops in small planes, hoped to end his non-stop, 5,220-mile flight to Rome sometime between 7 and 9 p.m. EST tonight.

If he makes it, he will shatter the non-stop distance record for small planes set in 1949, when the late Bill Odom posted a mark of 4,957.24 miles.

Doctors attending GENERAL GEORGE MARSHALL at Fort Bragg, N.C., report he appears a little more alert than he has for the past two or three days. The doctors stress, though, that the general remains in serious condition.

Actress Elizabeth Taylor was in Chicago briefly this morning to attend a ceremony dedicating a headstone at the grave of her late husband, Mike Todd. Miss Taylor flew in from California and left immediately afterward for New York.

HIROSHIMA, JAPAN — Sada-yoshi Tanguchi, 33, died today of an illness blamed by physicians on the Hiroshima atom bombing of 1945. He was listed as the 18th person to die this year of ailments ascribed to the A-blast.

WASHINGTON — Rep. Torbert H. MacDonald (D-Mass.), criticizing a Post Office Department ruling which designates all phonograph records as educational material:

"Putting such immoral rock and roll classics as 'Itchy Twitchy Feeling,' 'Honey Comb,' 'Stagger Lee,' and 'Splish Splash' in the same category as the recordings of Bach, Brahms and Beethoven, et al., is a horrible perversion of the intent of Congress."

Medical Schools Recommend May Admission Test

PRINCETON, N. J.—Candidates for admission to medical school in the fall of 1960 are advised to take the Medical College Admission Test in May, it was announced today by Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the test for the Association of American Medical Colleges. These tests, required of applicants by almost every medical college throughout the country, will be given twice during the current calendar year. Candidates taking the May test, however, will be able to furnish scores to institutions in early fall, when many medical colleges begin the selection of their next entering class.

Candidates may take the MCAT on Saturday, May 2, 1959 and on Saturday, Oct. 31, 1959, at administrations to be held at more than 300 local centers in all parts of the country. The Association of American Medical Colleges recommends that candidates for admission to classes starting in the fall of 1960 take the May test.

The MCAT consists of tests of general scholastic ability, a test on understanding of modern society, and an achievement test in science. According to ETS, no special preparation other than a review of science subjects is necessary. All questions are of the objective type.

Copies of the Bulletin of Information

(with application form bound in), which gives details of registration and administration, as well as sample questions, are available from the Registrar's Office in the Administration Building or directly from Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau St., Princeton, N. J. Completed applications must reach the ETS office by April 18 and Oct. 17, respectively for the May 2 and Oct. 31 administrations.

Professor Wages War Against Radiation Here

By Herb Helling

There is a hot war being waged on the campus—against harmful radiation.

Directing the battle is Francis J. Bradley, superintendent of the Office of Radiation Safety.

"THERE ARE about 40 laboratories on the campus which use radioactive materials," Bradley said. "These labs must be checked periodically, depending upon the extent of their work."

Bradley has a variety of weapons at his disposal. One such weapon is his administrative control of all requests for radioactive substances. "Whether or not a request is approved," he said, "depends upon the experience and facilities of the person or lab applying."

Another safety check which Bradley uses is that of personnel monitoring. Most persons working with radioactive materials wear film badges. These badges use film similar to dental film to indicate the amount of radiation absorbed over a period of time. The films are checked about every four weeks.

FOR FASTER measurement of radioactive levels, Bradley uses a pocket meter, an instrument which looks like a small flashlight. When this meter is held up to the light, the level of radiation can be read from a scale on the lens.

"If large amounts of radio-isotopes are being handled," Bradley said, "sterile techniques similar to those used in surgery are employed. Special protective clothing must be worn and the materials are handled with great care."

"We have had several instances in which radioactive materials have contaminated a lab, but with the application of ordinary cleaning techniques we have been able to clean them up with no trouble," he explained.

MANY NEW safety techniques are being developed. Typical is the new breath sampling technique. If Bradley wants to check the carbon 14 (a radioactive isotope of carbon) level of the body, he asks the subject to blow up a special balloon.

The carbon dioxide in the subject's breath, which may contain carbon 14, is removed from the balloon and tested in a special counter. "The counter used is similar to this one," he said, pointing at a complicated gadget with rows of orange lights that kept winking.

Also in use as a safety check is a portable air sampling device which measures the radioactivity of dust in a room.

MUCH RESEARCH is being done on the campus to find out what types of radiation are emitted by various radioactive isotopes. Bradley explained that gamma radiation, waves of very short length, is the most difficult to shield because of its great penetrating power.

Some isotopes are dangerous because of the way in which they are utilized by the body. Strontium 90, for example, is very dangerous because it acts so much like calcium, affecting the bones and remaining in the body for long periods of time.

CARBON 14, on the other hand, does not remain in the body very long and, at low levels, is not considered to be a threat to human safety.

Bradley has been at Ohio State for six years.

4 Profs Get Fellowship

Four faculty members of Ohio State's College of Commerce and Administration have been awarded Ford Foundation fellowships for the 1959-60 academic year.

Three of the recipients were among 40 persons throughout the country selected under a special program to attend a one-year Institute of Basic Mathematics for Application to Business. They are:

Frank M. Bass, associate professor, business organization; Robert D. Buzzell, assistant professor, business organization; and Paul G. Craig, associate professor, economics.

The fourth Ford fellowship was one of 10 granted annually on a nation-wide basis to faculty members for advanced study. It went to Richard A. Tybout, associate professor, economics.

Professors Bass, Buzzell and Craig will attend the year-long institute at Harvard University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Professor Tybout will be a visiting fellow at the Graduate School of Industrial Administration at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh.

Grad Council Elects Officers

Dick Naskali, botany, was elected president of the Council of Graduate Students, at its meeting last week.

Other new officers are: Peter Sturrock, vice-president; Sue Thornbury, secretary, and Bill Hourigan, treasurer.

Delegates-at-large to the campus-wide Council are Bob Martig, and Hratch Papazian.

RETIRING president Jack Clark presided over the meeting.

Further plans for a campus-wide survey of graduate students were announced by retiring Vice-President Don Pfeiderer. During Spring Quarter, all grads will be polled to get information for planning graduate activities at the University.

It was announced that a half-time fellowship will be awarded to a graduate student to conduct the survey under the direction of the Council and the Graduate School. Applicants for the fellowship are to meet with the Council executive committee today. The fellowship will be award this week.

NEW COMMITTEES and plans for next year will be on the agenda for the April Council meeting. An invitation has been extended to Vice-President Frederic Heimberger to meet with the Council to explain in detail to the graduate students, the over-all University program.

WOSU Begins New Show

WOSU-Radio started its broadcasting day one hour earlier yesterday with a new 7 a.m. program, the "Early Morning Show." The hour-long variety show includes news, weather, music and features. Don Davis is the host for the program, to be broadcast Monday through Saturday.

Group Holds Dinner-Meet

The Ohio State Commons Club, a colony chapter in the American Association of Commons Club, celebrated its first anniversary last weekend with a dinner-meeting at the Ohio Union.

Dr. Robert P. Stuckert, faculty advisor, spoke to the group.

Also, three office vacancies were filled and committees dealing with constitution and by-laws, program, publicity and membership were appointed.

Elected to the offices were Robert Bolyard, vice president; Gene Goeller, corresponding secretary, and Arnold Cohen, pledge trainer.

Guests at the meeting were members of the AACC Dennison chapter.

sign, "Exciting values you missed in today's newspaper."

Still another store came up with a unique system. A platoon of young ladies dressed in red milk-maid dresses passed out television time schedules to those entering the store.

One newsstand had several papers displayed on its racks at 5 p.m.—one was printed in Hebrew and another was an Italian-American newspaper called "Il Progresso Italo-Americano." Several people were waiting for the 5:30 editions of Ohio newspapers to come in. Sunday editions of the New York Daily News were still being sold.

AS FOR THE strike itself, it appears that an agreement will not be reached until later this week, if then. The three newspapers said today that they will pay the wages due for last week to all employees on Wednesday. The pay to strikers will be less one day's wages because the pressmen failed to show up for work on Friday, when the strike started.

ROTC Change Favored

supposed to supply the Air Force with 4000 officers annually.

LAST YEAR, the Air Force quota was about 6000, General Rogers explained, and this goal fell short by about 1000.

General Rogers added that the main purpose of ROTC is to get officers. Good citizenship is only a by-product of the military training, he pointed out.

Request Ideas For Memorial

The 1959 Senior Class Cabinet will be selecting the 1959 Class Memorial and requests the help of the graduating seniors.

The cabinet has chosen a committee of three seniors to look into types of class memorials. They are the education memorial and the traditional memorial. The committee would like suggestions from the seniors graduating in 1959. Members of the committee are Roger Hauck, Denny Lape, and Murray Reichenstein.

A student-sponsored move on campus bases its actions on a belief that eliminating the compulsory requirements of ROTC units would result in a better military program.

Reducing the requirement to one year is a compromise suggestion students have mentioned in lieu of the complete change.

The Student Senate last week approved a resolution favoring the substitution of a military survey course in place of the compulsory training.

This proposal is expected to be discussed at the Council on Student Affairs meeting tomorrow.

MEANWHILE, Student Senate committee members are studying an article by Malcolm M. Willey, vice-president of academic administration at the University of Minnesota.

The article discusses "The Effects of Voluntary ROTC at Minnesota," where compulsory military training was abolished in 1934.

LIKE OHIO State, Minnesota is a land grant university required to offer military courses under the Morrill Act of 1862.

In the article, published in the April, 1955 issue of School & Society, Willey concludes that "the introduction of voluntary ROTC at the University of Minnesota has not resulted in lessened officer output."

Willey also states that officers close to the ROTC programs at Minnesota favor voluntary ROTC and that costs are relatively lower under the voluntary system.

this man is flying an airplane?*

Sure, he is!

Oh, not literally, of course. Actually, he's an expert in aircraft fire control and missile guidance systems. He's part of the research and engineering team of the U. S. Naval Avionics Facility at Indianapolis, Indiana.

His job offers him a new opportunity every day, and he likes it. He enjoys working in diversified programs that challenge his ingenuity. He is given assignments with significant responsibility. He appreciates discussing his problems with colleagues who are recognized authorities in their fields. He knows that he is gaining valuable technical experience with industry's finest professional tools at his disposal.

The Facility has immediate openings for engineers, electronic scientists, physicists and mathematicians. Personnel enjoy competitive salaries, unequalled opportunity for recognition and advancement, professional freedom, liberal vacations, accumulative sick leave, attractive retirement benefits, and advanced educational programs.

The Facility has major responsibility for the Navy's research and development programs in such areas as: airborne electro-mechanical and electronic systems, inertial components, radar components and computers, electronic counter-measures, heat transfer studies, and anti-submarine warfare systems.

Accomplishment of the impossible is tradition at NAFI. If you are a young man or woman with initiative and imagination who has talent to contribute to a dynamic Navy, consider Naval Avionics Facility Indianapolis as an outlet for your professional expression.

All positions will be filled in accordance with applicable Civil Service procedures.
