Block 'O' Goes to Class

aspect of campus life and traditions at Ohio State. The assignment was in the form of a contest, with prizes being awarded by Block O, although it was required of each student. Prof. Harry Phillian, who teaches the class, said, "From what I saw of their work, we really ought to have some good Block O stunts next year." Photo by Tom Calovini

Attorneys Voice Hope Smith Jurors Will Be Picked Soon

Both Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, John Compson, and Defense Attorney, George Tyack, voiced high hopes last night that the remaining jurors for the David S. Smith trial will be selected by the end of today's proceedings.

FOUR JURORS—out of 15 questioned—were picked during yesterday's opening events.

They are:

Damian B. Kramer, 1683 Wyandotte Rd., a stock supervisor for Lazarus.

William W. Kremer, 930½ E. Livingston, a railroad yard conductor.

Mrs. Edith E. Dawson, 3546 Leighton Rd., housewife and mother of four children.

Mrs. Freda B. Kaiser, 301 S. Hamilton Rd., housewife and grandmother.

SMITH, a former part-time Ohio State student, is accused of the Dec. 16 sex slaying of his pregnant neighbor, Mrs. Janice Porter. The victim was the wife of Myron, an Ohio State dental student who is to graduate in June.

Questioning of the prospective jurors centered around the capital punishment issue and also the degree of proof needed to justify an insanity plea.

Five of those questioned were excused after they voiced opposition to capital punishment and another was dismissed after he challenged the "reasonable doubt" definition for determining insanity.

DEFENSE ATTORNEY Tyack said last night that while the defense is given the burden of proving Smith insane at the time of the murder, "insanity must be proved only by preponderance, or weight, of evidence and not beyond reasonable doubt."

Tyack would not say what type of evidence he would offer to justify Smith's insanity plea at the preliminary hearing.

NEW YORK—(UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman told a Columbia University audience that he was not a great president, but he had fun trying.

The prosecution has subpoenaed the superintendent of the Lima State Hospital, Dr. Henry Luidens, who has held Smith was legally sane at the time of the slaying.

Two Deans Get Awards

The annual Professional Interfraternity Banquet will be held Wednesday in the Ohio Union.

Rho Chi Phi, pharmacy fraternity and Epsilon Phi Epsilon, optometry fraternity, will honor an outstanding member of each profession. Dean Lloyd M. Parks of the School of Pharmacy has been selected by Rho Chi Phi as recipient of its award. He is a holder of the Ebert Prize for the most outstanding contribution in pharmaceutical research. Dr. Henry W. Hofstetter, dean of the School of Optometry of the University of Indiana will be honored by Sigma Phi Sigma. He was formerly an associate professor of optometry at Ohio State.

The professional fraternity which rates the highest scholastically, will be awarded the Burrell Trophy.

Members of 18 professional fraternities will attend the banquet which will be held in the Franklin Room at 6 p.m.

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. has been offered approximately $56,110,000 for its studio property in Los Angeles, the company said.

Rebels Take Over Village in Panama

PANAMA—(UPI)—A rebel invading force from Cuba has captured a small coastal village after exchanging fire with two National Guard landing barges, the government announced last night.

The announcement came after the United States issued a statement that it had authorized* an arms shipment to Panama to help fight off the invasion.

A COMMUNIQUE said the invaders took control of the village of Nombre de Dios, about 75 miles from Colon. Some of the revolutionaries were said to have been wounded and the government said that three rebels were captured.

The remainder of the estimated 80 men and one woman headed toward Colon, Caribbean gateway to the U.S.-operated Panama Canal.

A government statement said that fire was seen aboard the barges, which patrol the Panama coastline. The National Guard is Panama's only military force.

THE CLASH was announced after the government of President Ernesto de la Guardia, Jr. charged that "lawless foreigners" had invaded Panama from Cuba. The government said that all the rebels had pledged support to Roberto E. Arias, revolutionary leader who is the husband of British ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn.

Arias took diplomatic asylum in the Brazilian embassy here last Friday.

A government communique last night said the barges were patrolling the coastal waters to prevent the invaders from escaping by sea. It added that National Guard troops were "maintaining complete vigilance on land."

Delegates Attend Big Ten Meeting For Dorm Prexies

By Carole Lusch

"It's great to be back but we've got a lot of work to do," was the general opinion of 11 Ohio State dormitory presidents and two advisors upon returning from the Big Ten Residence Halls Conference.

About 170 dormitory presidents and advisors representing each of the Big Ten schools met at the State University of Iowa in Iowa City for the conference April 24-26.

THE THEME of the conference was "Blasting off to Better Dormitory Government."

On Saturday the delegates met in discussion groups to consider "The Place of Government in the Residence Halls"; "The Relationship of the Residence Hall to the Whole University Community"; and "Residence Halls and the Personal and Social Development of the Student."

Of special interest to the Ohio State delegates was the discussion of housing at Indiana and Wisconsin where men and women students live in different sections of the same building. Plans to move women into the east wing of Baker Hall will go into effect next autumn quarter.

IN A SUMMARY speech, Dr. Dirck Brown, counselor to men at the State University of Iowa, emphasized (Continued on page 8)

Journalists To Take Part In Convention

LANTERN staffers and representatives of the School of Journalism will attend the Ohio College Newspaper Association's annual convention in Akron this weekend.

The University of Akron will play host to delegates from over 30 colleges and universities during the two-day meeting.

ATTENDING from Ohio State will be Jack Wittenmeier, Ardath McGregor, Phyllis Cashman, Dave Boerner, Don Bandy, Jaan Kangilaski, Tom Calovini, Kris Harley, Jack Jaeger, Howard Pierce, Mac Shaffer, LANTERN advisor, and George Kienzle, director of the School of Journalism.

Opening session of the convention is 4 p.m. Friday in University Theatre.

MURRAY POWERS, managing editor of the Akron Beacon Journal, will talk on opportunities in the daily press. Miss Frances Murphey, editor of the Tallmadge Home News and chief of the Beacon Journal's Summit County Bureau, will discuss the weekly press and women in journalism. Mort Leggett will deal with employee publications.

Forrest Still Jr. will talk on internal communications opportunities and Dick Shippy of the Beacon Journal will handle the sports aspect.

SATURDAY WILL start with breakfast in the Kolbe Hall Green Room. Business sessions covering constitutional amendments, election of officers and selection of 1960's state convention site, will begin at 10 a.m. in University Theatre.

Four and a half hours of student led panel discussions covering all phases and problems of student newspaper publications will also be held.

The annual awards banquet will be held at 7 p.m. in the Student Center Hilltop Dining Room.

A Penny A Week

Something besides another pie eating contest has been added to May Week this year.

For the first time, the Student United Fund Drive is being held in conjunction with May Week. SUF represents the contributions of the Ohio State student body to international, national and local charity.

A once-a-year drive, the proceeds will be divided between Franklin County United Appeal and World University Service. Most of us are familiar with the United Appeal, but just what is World University Service?

It is a common fund, shared by university students of five continents, which unites the world university community in a common effort against poverty, hunger, sickness and despair at colleges throughout the world.

World University Service, since its establishment in 1920, has resettled exiled students, equipped classrooms, supplied medicine and X-ray equipment, and granted scholarships. It is sponsored here under the auspices of Student Senate.

Its regular program answers long-term needs for universities. Where textbooks are expensive and rare, WUS provides printing equipment. In times of crisis, WUS becomes an agency for relief. Where disease begins to riddle a university, WUS takes over.

Recently it has aided Hungarian refugees, established a $240,000 loan fund and provided scholarships totaling $10,000 for African medical students.

Arnold J. Toynbee, twentieth century historian, said, "Our age will be remembered because it is the first age since the dawn of history in which mankind has dared to believe it practical to make the benefits of civilization available to the whole human race."

This is the chance offered to every student during May Week—the chance to give for someone else's benefit. It's a once-a-year chance to share in the effort to raise $10,000 for Student United Fund. That's 50 cents per student—less than one cent a week for one year.

Ohio State's record of giving has fallen far below that of other Big Ten schools in past years. Let's make this the year we do our share.

Oscars for Nobel Winners?

According to news reports, a New Jersey high school recently granted 50 letter awards to its outstanding students.

The awards were made on the basis of academic standing to the school's top scholars. Similar to football letter awards, they recognized outstanding ability and could be worn on any sweater.

This was a method resorted to by one school in the push for better scientists and scholars after the scare that Russia might be beating us in the education race.

At first, it seemed like a good idea—if we give as much prestige to making grades as to making touchdowns, students will begin to do better work.

But, on second glance, doesn't it seem rather ironical to award a top student scientist by the same method we award a top student quarterback?

As a Toledo Blade staff writer remarked, isn't this sort of bribery somewhat like offering Oscars to Nobel Prize winners?

Many Neglect To Protect Against Polio

By Louis Cassels

WASHINGTON — (UPI)—Lance is a sandy-haired four-year-old boy whose worldly goods include a battered teddy bear and a nearly-new tricycle.

The teddy bear sees a lot of action. But the tricycle is permanently parked in the garage.

Last summer—Aug. 12 to be precise—Lance came down with what seemed to be a slight cold. During the night he developed a high fever and pains in the neck. He was rushed to Children's Hospital and placed in an iron lung.

Lance pulled through. But he will spend the rest of his life with braces on both legs and a nearly useless left arm.

His mother and father will spend the rest of their lives with the knowledge that it need not have happened.

They just didn't get around to giving Lance his polio shots.

IT CAN HAPPEN to you—or to your child.

Polio has not been stamped out. There were 3,083 cases of paralytic polio in the nation last year—an increase of nearly 50 per cent over 1957.

Most of the cases were concentrated among young children like Lance. The heaviest attack rate of all was among babies less than a year old.

"A LOT OF PARENTS seem to have the idea that you don't need to vaccinate a child against polio until he's nearly ready for school," said a U. S. Public Health Service official.

"This is a tragic mistake. Every child should get his first polio shot within two or three months after birth. The full series of three shots should be completed before the child reaches his first birthday.

"To wait is to gamble with a child's life."

THE POLIO SEASON will be getting underway soon. Salk vaccine is now plentiful and cheap. For those who can't afford the charge of a private physician, public health clinics are ready to administer free shots nearly everywhere.

Of the total U. S. population of 175,000,000 people, only 60,400,000—slightly more than one-third—have been vaccinated against polio.

CHILDREN ARE not the only ones who need Salk protection. Adults get polio too—especially young adults who are around children a lot. And the chances of death or lifelong disability are much greater when an adult is stricken.

In earlier years, when Salk vaccine was scarce, the Public Health Service stressed the desirability of vaccinating everyone under 40. This gave rise to a widespread belief that those over 40 are immune from polio.

IT ISN'T SO. The Public Health Service no longer speaks of vaccinating those under 40. It urges that everyone be vaccinated.

Even in the age bracket under 40, however, the job is far from completed.

Only half of all Americans under age 40 have had the full series of three shots.

In the most susceptible age group of all—under 20—only two-thirds are protected.

Graduate Council Meets . . .

Open Letter to Graduate and Professional Students:

As is well known, the Official Student Handbook of Rules and Regulations contains certain rules which (1) prohibit the possession of alcoholic beverages in University housing, in rooming houses inhabited by students of the University, in fraternity and sorority houses, and so on; and which (2) regulate the coming and going of women students of the University to such living units as are inhabited by men.

AS IS NOT well known, however, the University has long regarded those rules as governing the behavior of graduate and professional students 21 years of age or older in their own private homes or apartments. Even in recent years, University officials have made inspections of such private dwellings. Graduate students have been charged with violation of the above-characterized rules, and have been brought before the undergraduate student court and punished.

On the evening of Tuesday, April 28, the Graduate Council will consider and vote upon a resolution which embodies specific recommendations that the rules be amended. It is recommended therein that graduate and professional students who are 21 years of age or older be granted greater freedom than is now allowed (1) with respect to their behavior in their own private homes and (2) with respect to their behavior in visiting private homes of other graduate or professional students who are 21 years of age or older.

IT IS PROPOSED rather that the behavior of these persons in these two respects be governed by this precept: That it shall reflect only credit upon the University. It is proposed further that cases of disregard of this precept be adjudicated by a court composed of graduate and professional students, not by a court composed of undergraduate students.

The persons who will bring to the floor of the Graduate Council the resolution spoken of in the above paragraph are motivated by the following beliefs: That the dignity of the graduate or professional student is recognized when he is allowed to conduct the private affairs of his life as an adult citizen of the community in which he lives, and when he is judged only by his peers; and that his dignity is not recognized—nay, that it is spat upon—when his freedoms as a private citizen are unduly abridged, and when he is judged by persons who are not his peers.

The April 28 meeting of the Graduate Student Council will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Ohio Union. I urge all members of the Graduate Council discharge their duties of attendance. I urge further that all graduate of professional students... make themselves known by attending that meeting and exercising their right to speak upon an issue which effects their lives even in their own homes.

Veterans . . .

To the Editor:

Tuesday morning while reading the LANTERN I saw another article concerning the dismissal of the Veterans' Club from the Senate.

I find it non-stimulating to hear again how veterans are usually older, more experienced, and with greater responsibility than the average student. So what if they are and are they?

Am I supposed to weep and join their cause to still them? Should I feel sorry for them? Rather, I find that I am actually very tired of listening to them.

BIENNIAL DISNEY

HOLLYWOOD—(UPI)—Walt Disney has announced he will produce an animated feature every two years. He will follow "Sleeping Beauty" with "101 Dalmatians" and then contemplates a tale about King Arthur's youth.

Fly Ball . . .

To the Editor:

I'm walking to Hagerty Hall, Mendenhall Lab, or to the Ohio Union from the dormitory, but I feel as though I'm going through a maze with the object being to keep from getting hit by flying baseballs or golf balls.

I'm referring to the college two-year-olds who insist on playing ball in the area surrounded by the above mentioned buildings. I thought that the area on the side of the hospital was provided for such trivials.

Everybody is talking about abolishing compulsory ROTC. Why not abolish ball playing in this area? It's dangerous and it's a menace.

Plans Made For YM-YW Spring Camp

May Camp, sponsored by the YMCA-YWCA, is aimed at students who want to relax, have plenty of time for bull sessions and come up with a specific issue or suggested proposal for some undertaking. This camp is scheduled for Camp Christian, Friday, May 1 through Sunday, May 3.

According to co-chairmen Kay Evans, Nurs-2, and Bob Schmidt, A-4, the discussion will center around four major topics and at the end of camp some resolutions and recommendations will be formulated and proposed to various campus groups and organizations. The topics and their respective chairmen are:

"MEN AND WOMEN in the 20th Century." Chairman, Gretchen Mussman, Com-3. The purpose of this group is to find authentic selfhood as it should be practiced in our relations with other persons, recognizing that the changing roles of men and women raise many difficulties. The Rev. Hal Meyers of Indianola Presbyterian Church will serve as resource person.

"Work and Vocation." Chairman, Dave Keck, Ed-2. This group will stimulate serious thinking on why students chose their particular vocations and will consider the importance of Christian ethics in making professional decisions. The Rev. Charles Harris of the First Community Church will lead this group.

"HUMAN RELATIONS." Chairman, Bob Vickers, Com-2. This group is concerned with the promotion of good human relations among college students at Ohio State and wishes to supplement the work of the Student Senate Sub-committee on Human Relations.

"International Relations." Chairman, Miriam Benson, A-3. This group will hope to get a basic understanding of the true international situation today and to look at the situation at Ohio State in regard to the relations between international students and American students.

Each topic will have a student chairman, student advisors and a professional person to guide the discussion. Upperclassmen, freshmen, and international students are all invited to participate. Dogpatch will be the theme of the camp with a square dance being held Saturday night. Additional recreational facilities will be available. The cost will be nominal and applications may be obtained at the Y offices. For further information call Ext. 794 or inquire at the Y office, room 212 Student Services Building.

THE PLAQUE READ: "To Rollo C. Baker, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., assistant dean, secretary of the faculty of medicine, professor of anatomy . . . in grateful appreciation of 44 years of loyal and devoted service to this College of Medicine from its faculty, students, and alumni, on the 125th anniversary of its founding, 1959."

Dr. Baker has been a member of the college faculty since 1918. In 1932, he was appointed professor of anatomy and in 1933 was named chairman of that department, a position he held for 10 years. During that time, Dr. Baker also served as secretary of the College of Medicine. In 1943, he was appointed acting dean of the college, and the following year was reappointed secretary.

AN EFFICIENT and devoted educator, Dr. Baker has served on the Admissions Committee of the College of Medicine for the past 15 years. He has made valuable contributions to the anatomy and embryology of the nervous system, endocrine organs, and the pharyngeal hypophysis.

Born in Middlebourne, O., he earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from Ohio State and the Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago.

Rally Starts May Week

Pageantry and festivity as King Arthur might have viewed at the tourneys in Camelot will characterize the annual May Week Rally and Panorama on May 5.

Beginning at 7 p.m., two parades, the first winding down 11th and Neil past the dormitories and a second circuiting the sorority and fraternity district will meet on the Oval and proceed to St. John's Arena.

Displaying the precision and skill of a troupe of court jesters, Buckeye Collegiannes will combine with the Herald Trumpeters to lead the parades.

Panorama, an all-campus talent revue, will unfold against a background of an Old English theme at 8 p.m. in St. John's Arena.

Tim Hall, chairman of the rally, stated the judges decisions would be based on adherence to the theme, number of participants, amount of enthusiasm displayed, and originality.

Meet Valerie Vampire

Valerie Vampire as played by Ohio State coed Jodie Sanderson.

WARNING: Don't Date That Gal—That Frankie Can Really Get Rough

By June Gladfelter

Lying in a casket every Saturday night is a new way of getting away from it all for one Ohio State coed.

Playing Valerie Vampire, Frankenstein's girl friend, Jodie Sanderson, A-3, presents Shock Theater to Toledoans over WTOL-TV at 12:30 a.m.

WEARING A long black velvet dress, and a black wig with a white streak down the side, Jodie lies in a casket and prepares the audience for tales of Frankenstein, Dracula, and werewolves.

While weird music plays, she slowly opens the casket door saying "good evening," and then makes a sarcastic remark. On St. Valentine's Day she said:

"I got a valentine from Frankie which said, 'I'll drink your blood, you drink mine. Be my valentine.'"

DURING THE break she makes sarcastic remarks on the movie such as, "Some days you just can't get a head."

She closes the show by shutting the casket door slowly, saying in her special horror show voice, "Good night, sweet dreams."

Jodie has been playing Valerie Vampire since last December. She got the job because, "I had the voice they wanted and I fit in the casket," she laughed.

Jodie is majoring in radio-speech, and wants to work in Radio Free Europe after graduation.

SHE IS GOING to France this summer to work in French radio and television to gain experience. She also wants to attend the Vienna Youth Festival.

The slim 5 ft. 6 in. brown-haired beauty is a transfer from Toledo University. She was dormitory queen, news editor of the campus newspaper and was in the university theater. She was in the Miss Toledo contest three years ago.

Jodie has to be at the studio by 7:30 Saturday evenings to prepare for her role. It takes her an hour and a half to put on her makeup.

SHE SAID THAT she enjoys working late in the evening because we can get away with a lot of things.

"In one movie, a group of African natives were marching to their camp to burn some captives alive. While they were marching, we cut out the original music and dubbed in The Children's Marching Song. We got into a little bit of trouble for that," she laughed.

Jodie named classical music as her favorite type, especially Tchaikovsky and Rachmaninoff. She likes to sing and read.

JODIE SAID her movie idol is Maria Schell. "She has a classic personality. I guess it's just the way she looks."

Jodie remarked she enjoys doing her television show. She has been offered a couple of jobs because of it. Recently she was asked by the producers to appear on, "To Tell the Truth" from New York City as Valerie Vampire.

OSU Professor Gets Fellowship

The U. S. Public Health Service has named Dr. Gordon E. Green of Ohio State's microbiology department as one of 28 recipients of five-year fellowships in medicine and dentistry.

The fellowships, carrying no specific stipend, are designed principally for promising young scientists in the period between completion of post doctoral research training and eligibility for permanent higher academic appointments, the health service said.

Editor To Speak Here On 'Freedom or Secrecy'

James R. Wiggins, executive editor and vice-president of the Washington, D. C. Post and Times Herald, Thursday will deliver the fifth lecture in the William Maxwell Memorial Series sponsored by the School of Journalism and the Graduate School.

The lecture, at 4 p.m. in the Ohio Historical Society Auditorium, will be open to the public without charge.

WIGGINS, newly-elected president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, has been active for many years in the fight conducted by the ASNE against the practice of suppression of news at the source, especially in government.

In 1946, his book "Freedom or Secrecy," a definitive study of news suppression and its effects in a democracy, was published by the Oxford University Press. His Ohio State lecture, which will bear the same title as the book, will give background and recent information on this subject.

The William Maxwell Memorial lectures were established in 1955 by the School of Journalism. Maxwell started his newspaper, "The Centinel of the North-West Territory," in 1793 in what was then the tiny village of Cincinnati. It was the first newspaper in the territory.

WIGGINS HAS been with the Washington Post and Times Herald since 1947 when he came to the paper as managing editor from the New York Times where he was assistant to the publisher. He began his newspaper career in 1922 in Minnesota, his native state, on a country weekly which he later purchased. He went to the St. Paul Pioneer Press in 1930 as an editorial writer and subsequently served that paper as Washington correspondent, managing editor and editor successively before going to the New York Times in 1946.

He has been many times honored for his work as one of the nation's most distinguished editors. In 1954, he was named Lovejoy Fellow by Colby College for outstanding contributions to American journalism. In 1957, the University of Arizona named him to receive the John Peter Zenger award for freedom of the press.

THE MAXWELL lectures are offered as part of Journalism 622, a course established at Ohio State to explore the basic issues behind the great news events of our times.

Distinguished members of the faculty of various departments of the University also lecture in the course which undertakes a study of news events in the light of their social, political, economic and historic backgrounds.

Previous Maxwell lecturers have been Mark F. Ethridge, publisher of the Louisville Courier Journal and Times; Herbert Brucker, editor of the Hartford (Conn.) Courant; Gerald W. Johnson, distinguished author and former editorial writer of the Baltimore Sun; and Hodding Carter, Pulitzer Prize-Winning editor of the Delta Democrat Times, Greenville, Miss.

Runnels Proves '58 Mark Can't Be Ignored in 1959

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Pete Runnels of the Boston Red Sox is spraying his hits again and this time he can't be ignored.

Off the mark with a nifty April average of .375, Runnels is beginning to make 'em think his tremendous drive for the American League batting crown last year wasn't so fluke after all.

In the season's opener, he picked off one of the two hits allowed by Bob Turley of the Yankees. In another game he went 3 for 3 against Turley and reliever Zack Monroe. He was 2 for 4 his next time out against the Yankees and that's a pretty fair record against world championship pitching.

A YEAR AGO they might have called Pete's April surge "just one of those things." But today Runnels is a respected batsman off his showing last season when he lost the batting crown on the final day to the best hitter of our times — teammate Ted Williams. Ted wound up at .328, Runnels with .322.

"If I had been beaten out by anyone else I'd have felt bad," he said. "But it's no disgrace to finish second to Williams."

Even so it was a tough ending to an amazing year for Runnels.

A YEAR AGO, opening with the Red Sox after seven years with the Senators, he was considered

Buckeye Nine To Take Part In Centennial

The Ohio State baseball squad and other University representatives will take part in the centennial of intercollegiate baseball next Friday afternoon when the Buckeye nine plays host to the invading Spartans of Michigan State. The game is scheduled for 3:30 after a special program highlighting the college phase of the "National Pastime."

Ohio State President Novice G. Fawcett will throw out the first ball to former Ohio Senator John W. Bricker, who is a former catcher for Ohio State.

In another salute to intercollegiate baseball, Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner will declare May 1 as College Baseball Day in the city of Columbus.

The first college baseball game was played in 1859 between Amherst College and Williams College at Pittsfield, Mass.

The Ohio State band under the direction of Jack O. Evans will participate in flag-raising ceremonies prior to the start of the game.

The Michigan State game will open the Big Ten home season for the Buckeyes, who have won two out of three in Conference play. The Wolverines of Michigan will invade the Ohio State campus for a doubleheader Saturday starting at 1 p.m.

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — Tom Wilson, offensive halfback for the Los Angeles Rams, is a top-notch golfer who shoots consistently in the low 70's while using an unusual cross-handed grip.

LOSING PITCHER

CHICAGO — (UPI) — Pitcher John Nabors treasured the one game he won for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1916. It was his only victory as he lost 20 in a row for the A's that season.

with a first division team.

"Ted helped me in many ways," says Pete. "For one thing he can read opposing pitchers, how they're throwing and what they're throwing that day. And when I'm hitting ahead of him, I've been getting better pitches to swing at."

OBVIOUSLY, no pitcher wanted to walk Runnels with Ted coming up next.

This year, with Ted sidelined by a neck injury, that threat to pitchers no longer exists but Pete's average hasn't suffered any.

The fact that he seems to be a "regular" second baseman instead of a jack-of-all-trades seems to help.

Middleweight Champ Keeps Plans Secret

NEW YORK—(AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, refusing to be rushed, said today he hasn't signed for a defense of his middleweight ring title against Carmen Basilio at the Los Angeles Coliseum Sept. 21.

"There are details to be worked out," the champion said. "I am discussing the fight, but I haven't signed. I will say I am closer than ever to an agreement."

A San Bernardino, Calif., promoter, Roy Warner, announced Saturday that the Robinson-Basilio fight in Los Angeles was set. Confirmation came from George Gainford, one of Sugar Ray's managers.

ROBINSON SAID he would give Basilio first shot at his title when he defends it but added he would prefer a couple of tuneup bouts first.

Sugar Ray said he preferred the title fight be held in California originally but now he was not sure.

"A little situation has developed because of an outside promoter, one from out of state," he added. "I may not even fight in Los Angeles if the California commission tries to force a different promoter on me."

Robinson did not identify the outside promoter but added: "I don't want to do business with the IBC (International Boxing Club)."

HE SAID he would prefer having the bout promoted by someone of his own choosing. He would not name prospects.

"I can't arrange a fight in 15 days," he middleweight king said. "If the Boxing Commission has the power to take my title away, let 'em go ahead."

guy, Runnels has shuttled from position to position every year since coming up to the majors in 1951. He has played every infield position — including first and second last year — and played the outfield one year with the Senators. In the minors he also caught briefly and pitched even more briefly.

ONE THING he always showed was spunk and despite his .230 average in 1957 manager Mike Higgins of the Red Sox was eager to get him. On Jan. 23, 1958, Boston landed Pete in exchange for first baseman Norm Zaichin and Rookie Albie Pearson.

Pearson wound up as the "Rookie of the Year" for 1958. If Pete had flopped the deal might have looked bad.

As it turned out, everyone is happy — Runnels most of all. either trade bait or a spare wheel on the Red Sox infield. The year before he'd hit only .230 for Washington.

But life as a big time hitter began at 30 for Runnels and he was a factor in the batting race all the way down to the wire. Two things spurred him on — tips from Ted and the incentive of playing

Bucks Track Team Invades Penn State For Dual Meet

Ohio State's weakened track squad will travel to Penn State this weekend with high hopes of returning home with a victory in their first outdoor dual meet of the season.

In an indoor meet earlier this year, the Bucks whipped the Nittany Lions 65-49 in a match that was much closer than the score indicates.

The Lions are particularly strong in the long-distance runs. In the indoor meet four records were set by this team, two of them coming in the one and two mile runs.

ED MORAN is the main long distance threat for Penn. Moran traveled with the American team *that toured Russia last summer and he set the one mile record at French Field House with a time of 4:11.2. Dick Engelbrink, a junior, set the second Field House long distance record with his 9:18.9 in the two-mile.

Charles (Chick) Werner, the head coach at Penn State, was a member of the U. S. coaching staff for the Olympics in 1952. This year, he has been named head coach of the U. S. team for the Pan-American Games.

WERNER HAS gone to both the Far East and to the European Theatre several times in order to conduct track and field clinics for the Army and for the State Department.

Werner has been coaching at Penn State since 1933. Such prominent names as Bill Ashenfelter, Roosevelt Grier, Art Pollard, Horace Ashenfelter, and Moran have been developed by Werner during his long tenure as head coach.

Sponsoring Summer Study Programs in 1959

Twelve universities in five Latin American countries are sponsoring summer study programs in 1959, according to an announcement from the Institute of International Education. These countries are Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Mexico, and Peru. Courses will be given in the Spanish language, literature, history, and culture; archaeology and anthropology (conducted in English); arts and crafts; human relations and group guidance; drama, music, and art; geography, sociology, and economics; ethnology and folklore; and many other areas in the humanities, sciences, and creative arts. The International Students Office, 112 Administration Building, will give further information to interested students about these programs, and others in Europe, Canada, and the Near East.

University of Oslo Conducting Summer School

The Scandinavian countries—Norway, Denmark, and Sweden—are offering numerous opportunities for study during the summer of 1959. The University of Oslo, in Norway, is conducting an International Summer School with courses in the Norwegian language and culture, international relations, social studies, and humanities. There will also be a seminar for teachers on the educational system of Norway and physical education in Scandinavia.

Five programs are being offered in Sweden. The Anglo-American Center in Mulsjo will give instruction in the Chinese language and culture. Other courses will emphasize the Swedish language, culture, politics, and economics.

Attention will be focused on Danish culture in programs in Copenhagen and Elsinore, Denmark, while the College of Physical Education in Fredenborg, Denmark, will concentrate on its specialty. Almost all courses in these countries are conducted in English.

Further information on Scandinavian summer study program, as well as others in Europe, and Latin America, Canada, and the Near East, may be obtained in the International Student Office, 112 Administration Building.

Summer Study Programs Offered in Spain and Portugal

Spain and Portugal are only two of the many countries in Europe which are offering summer study programs in 1959. A student may receive instruction in the Portuguese language, literature, and culture; art and archaeology; or ethnography and geography at the University of Coimbra or the University of Lisbon in Portugal. Courses in Spanish language, literature, and culture are given by eight academic centers in Spain. The University of Madrid also offers painting, music, dancing, and folklore.

The International Students Office, 112 Administration Building, also has information about summer study programs in Latin America, the Near East, and Canada.

Summer Quarter Cards Are Available on May 1

Summer Quarter Schedule cards for students in Agriculture, Arts, Commerce, Home Economics, Education, Engineering, Graduate School and combination colleges may be obtained at The Registrar's Office on Friday, May 1, 1959.

Schedules may be filed in College Offices on Monday, May 4. Final date for filing schedules without an extra fee is Saturday, May 9, 1959. The extra fee for any student who files his schedule cards in his College Office after May 9 will be $1.00 a day up to a maximum of $5.00.

Russian Boss Is Back From His Vacation

LONDON — (UPI) — Moscow radio reported today that Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was back in the Soviet capital after a month-long vacation that had touched off western rumors he was ill.

The Soviet leader's presence in Moscow was made known without fanfare in a one-sentence official Tass News Agency dispatch broadcast "for press abroad."

IT SAID Khrushchev "today received in the Kremlin the leader of the Greek Progressive Party, Spyros Markezinis, and had a talk with him."

It was the signal that Khrushchev, who vanished from the capital a month ago on a highly unusual spring vacation, was back again and in form.

Neither Khrushchev's departure nor his return as such had been reported by Soviet officials.

BUT REPORTS appearing in some Western newspapers last week saying that Khrushchev might be ill caused the Soviet Foreign Ministry press office to issue an extraordinary statement denying there was anything wrong with the premier.

The personal status of a high Soviet official normally is considered a completely private affair in Moscow. But speculation had reached such a point that Soviet officials told foreign correspondents that Khrushchev's health was "excellent."

UPI Correspondent Henry Shapiro cabled from Moscow this morning that Soviet officials considered rumors of Khrushchev illness as "malicious."

5 Graduates Are Honored

Five graduates of the College of Engineering will receive "Distinguished Alumnus" awards during the sixth annual conference for engineers and architects of the college Friday.

To be cited for outstanding eminence in engineering research and related industrial and professional activities will be:

David H. Davis, assistant to the vice-president of operations, Consolidated Coal Co., Pittsburgh; Cleatus M. Huguenard, section manager, J79 engineering project, General Electric Co., Evendale, O.

Russell C. Newhouse, director of missile systems development, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Whippany, N. J.; Karl Schwartzwalder, director of research, AC Spark Plug Division, General Motors Corp., Flint, Mich., and Hobart W. Seyler, assistant vice-president, Coal Chemical Operations, U. S. Steel Corp., Pittsburgh.

Presentations will be made during a luncheon in the Ohio Union. Fifteen sectional meets start at 2.

Rifle Teams Win Honors At Meet

Two Ohio State drill teams took honors at a meet held Saturday at the University of Michigan.

Pershing Rifles squad of the Army ROTC won third place in the regular manual drill meet. An Air Force team won third place in the exhibition manual.

In individual matches, Richard Oswald, company first sergeant, of the Pershing squad, and Ted Harding, cadet first lieutenant, of the Air Force, tied for second place.

All the beauty and excitement of a summer wedding were brought to Ohio State coeds last week by the Alumnae Council.

The fourth annual bridal fashion show followed a dessert for senior women. Both the dessert and the fashion show were held in the Ohio Union ballrooms.

OHIO STATE coeds modeled bridal gowns and trousseau fashions. Built around a color theme, the show opened with trousseau suggestions. Trousseaus were shown with predominating shades of beige, black, white and multi-color.

A wedding scene complete with mother of the bride, attendant, flower girl, and the bride and groom climaxed the show.

The evening's show culminated a day of hard work for Mrs. Mary Ann Tomlinson, Lazarus fashion coordinator, and her three staff members.

THE AFTERNOON was spent rehearsing the models for the evening's performance. Two trucks were needed to move the clothes and equipment to the Ohio Union ballrooms in the morning.

The models, girls who have been specially trained by Lazarus, were Ann Wallet, Kelly Kilpatrick, Lynn Goorey, Kitten White, Judy Mazzoil, Patti Donaldson, Cleone McNamare, Marlene Yochum, Anne Allen, Betty Jo Randolph, Nancy Van Voorhis and Barb Colucci.

United Student Fund Drive Will Be During May Week

The annual Student United Fund Drive will be held from May 4 to 8 at Ohio State. The goal for the drive is $10,000.

Under the direction of the Student Senate, the proceeds will be divided between the United Appeal Fund for Franklin County and World University Service.

HELD DURING May Week for the first time, the drive will involve three areas: dormitories, sororities and fraternities.

A trophy will be awarded in each area to the organization contributing the most money. This will give points regarding the May Week trophy, also.

Sorority and fraternity pledge classes will take contributions in the Merston and Stadium parking lots on Monday and Wednesday and during the May Week Panorama.

AN AUCTION to make more money will be held during the May Week Supper at 6 on May 7.

Such things to be auctioned are: the grand piano from the Union Lounge; President and Mrs. Fawcett as dinner guests; Mr. and Mrs. Woody W. Hayes as dinner guests; the May Queen and Court to serve dinner at a fraternity; the Gold-digger's King to serve dinner at a sorority; Bob White's football shoes and other things.

A donut sale will be held May 4 from 7 to 10 p.m. Women students will go to sororities and fraternities and dormitories to sell them.

The first public power supply system was inaugurated in England in 1901.

Biggest for the Best

YE BIG TROPHY—How'd you like to have a trophy the size of this one after all the May Week festivities are over? May Week planners, Sue Pardee, A-2 (left), and Marilyn Kail, Com-2, take a look at a trophy as big as the one to be awarded for over-all May Week participation. Dorm Presidents Convene For Big Ten Conference

phasized the following main thoughts brought out at the convention:

- that there is the need of evaluating what leaders are doing;
- that the needs and desires of the students should be administered through communication;
- THAT CHANGE should be encouraged through suggestions and recommendations;

PiKA's Host District Meet

Pi Kappa Alpha will play host to the fraternity's 1959 district convention May 1 through 3.

About 200 delegates from chapters in Ohio, West Virginia and Michigan will attend the three-day meeting.

A "date bureau" has been designed to obtain dates for the visiting delegates for the "Dream Girl" formal on Saturday evening at the Athletic Club.

Other features of the convention will be basketball and golf tournaments, a stag party at Oak Park and workshops and business sessions at the chapter house.

Chairman of the event is Robert Knachel, Engr-5.

Liars Contest Is Scheduled by Club

Did you ever tell a lie? If you haven't, here's your chance!

The International Students Association has imported a number of liars from abroad and a "Liars Contest" is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 1, at the International Students Center, 104 East 15th Avenue.

Expensive prizes will be awarded to the best liars. Come and try your luck. You will find out how "expert" you are!

The contest will be followed by dancing and refreshments.

Mershon Now In Third Year Of Operation

More than one quarter of a million persons have attended Mershon Auditorium programs and events it has been announced by University officials as the new building celebrates the anniversary of its second year of operation.

In the two year period, attendance statistics show that 253,900 patrons attended 164 major programs and events excluding special tours and "open houses."

THE BUILDING was officially dedicated on April 29, 1957.

Beginning with a notable concert on April 22, 1957, by Rise Stevens, as the last event on the former Guest Artist Series, the Auditorium has presented on its Great Artist Series such musical "greats" as the Cleveland Orchestra; Jerome Hines, basso; Marian Anderson, contralto; Roger Wagner Chorale; and Isaac Stern, violinist among many other artists. Appearances have been made by National Ballet of Canada, Cleveland Playhouse, and American Ballet Theatre.

The Celebrity Series has featured Robert Frost, Carl Sandberg, Richard Dyer-Bennet, Vincent Price, Virgil Fox, Carlos P. Romulo, Julien Bryan, Ogden Nash and Cornelia Otis Skinner.

MORE THAN 30 programs have been presented by the School of Music groups including the Concert and Buckeye Bands, Men's and Women's Glee Clubs, Symphony Orchestra, and the renowned Symphonic Choir, as well as organ recitals by Wilbur Held, associate professor of music.

Mershon Auditorium has seen two notable musicals by University Musical Productions, the memorable "South Pacific" in 1957, and the unforgettable "Guys and Dolls" in 1958, as well as numerous student mass meetings, contests and student sponsored "pop" programs which have included Fred Waring, George Shearing, and the Dave Brubeck Quartet.

Art Displays Set Up Here

Art, ranging from etchings by Picasso to paintings by Ohio State faculty members, is now being displayed on the campus.

Picasso's set of 97 etchings, shown in the exhibition at the Ohio Union, will remain up through May 20. Picasso, who now is 78 and still producing masterpieces, executed this entire set of etchings, known as "La Suite Vollard," during the years 1930-1936.

The plates cover a wide variety of subjects and reveal Picasso's mastery of all the possibilities of etching.

Decorating the walls of the Browsing Room of the Main Library is a colorful exhibit of 10 paintings by Robert O. Chadeayne, associate professor of fine arts. The eight oils and two small collages represent the professor's most recent work, and will be shown through May 9.

Professor Chadeayne's work is represented in collections throughout several states.

Paintings and ceramics by two other Ohio State art teachers are on display through this week in Hayes Hall. Edward Hewett, an instructor in the school, and Prof. Paul Bogatay are exhibiting their work.

MEASURES SPACE—T. Gordon Hame, assistant professor of electrical engineering at Ohio State, explains how he measures the peaks of Sputnik III's beeps to work out the electron density of outer space.

Sputnik Beeps Help Fix Extent of Ionosphere

Conclusions put forth by an Ohio State scientist, who has been eavesdropping on the beeps of a Russian satellite, may cause rocket navigators to re-draw their charts of outer space.

T. Gordon Hame, assistant professor of electrical engineering and associate supervisor at the University's Antenna Laboratory, says the electron filled ionosphere, which makes short wave radio communication possible, extends thousands of miles further out into space than was previously supposed.

SCIENTISTS thought the ionosphere, which begins abruptly about 50 miles above the earth, extended upward to about 300 miles above sea level. The Ohio State engineer says it goes much further.

"The electrons reach their greatest density at a point about 200 miles above the earth," Hame said.

OSU Awards Set For TV Meeting

Winning awards in the annual American Exhibition of Educational Radio and Television Programs, known as "The Ohio State Awards" will be disclosed during the first three days of the 1959 Institute for Education by Radio-Television to be held here May 6-9 at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel.

Awards will be granted in seven classes for television and 10 classes for radio for the best of 651 U. S. and Canadian programs broadcast in 1958. The entries, 286 in television and 365 in radio, are being judged at 21 evaluation centers throughout the United States.

Broadway TV producer David Susskind will address the convention on "The Creative Man in Television." Entertainment will feature television's Shari Lewis.

"From there on, the electron density tapers off gradually into space."

He said this probably means that kinetic temperatures in the exosphere (which is considered to encircle the earth above an altitude of some 625 miles) are much higher than previously was thought. It also means that the ionosphere extends outward into what has been called the exosphere.

THESE CONCLUSIONS were based in part on data obtained by Hame while working on a research project sponsored by the Wave Propagation Branch of the Wright Air Development Center's Aerial Reconnaissance Laboratory at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton.

The Ohio State engineer said that beyond an altitude of 200 miles, real kinetic temperatures would increase five times within 700 miles on an outward space journey.

THE ENGINEER has been listening to Sputnik III since last July on a 20,005 megacycle frequency. Since January, he also has been listening to the Soviet satellite's second harmonic on 40.01 megacycles. This, he said, cut down the margin of error in measuring the electron density to about two per cent.

Hame said when the satellite's radio signals pass through the ionosphere, the effect of the earth's magnetic field and the electrons polarize the signal. By measuring the time difference between the polarized peaks on recording graphs, he and his associates are able to work out mathematically the electron density in space.

THE RESEARCHERS tune in on the satellite's beeps some five hours each day, and reap more than 25 feet of space data on the graph paper daily.
