

Faculty Council Adds Thorn to Rose Bowl Future

By Sonja Judy

The familiar scent of rose buds may not tantalize Buckeye pigskinners in 1961.

Ohio State's Faculty Council has voted against renewing the Big Ten's Rose Bowl agreement.

AT A MEETING Tuesday afternoon the 80-member body voted orally to instruct Dean Wendell D. Postle, faculty representative to the Big Ten, to cast Ohio State's vote against taking part in the post-season classic.

The Big Ten faculty representatives who met last weekend in Madison, Wis., approved entering into negotiations to continue Rose Bowl participation by the conference.

The University council's action will reopen the subject to another vote at the Big Ten meeting May 22-23, 1959. It is then that the Big Ten Conference will decide to either continue or discontinue the present contract with the Tournament of Roses Committee.

THE BOWL GAME for New Years Day, 1960, will be played as scheduled under the present contract.

The action of the Ohio State council applies only to Rose Bowl games. A standing rule already prohibits the University from taking part in other post-season games.

Ohio State will still take part in Bowl games if a majority of Big Ten schools vote to continue the current contract which expires in 1960.

The Tournament of Roses Committee controls the Rose Bowl game and Rose Parade. It has an agreement with the Pacific Coast Conference which conducts the games and invites the Big Ten teams for the annual classic.

THE PACIFIC COAST Conference is now being dissolved, but if the Big Ten should vote to continue the contract, close observers say there should be no lack of ready and willing aspirants from the West Coast to bid for the Rose Crown.

Such teams as UCLA, Southern California, California or Stanford are suggested as possible replacements for the Pacific Conference teams in the Bowl.

Tournament of Roses committeemen, John Biggar and Lay Leishman, appeared at the NCAA meet in Cincinnati last January and were reported to be in favor of the Big Ten's continued participation in the annual Battle of Roses.

RICHARD LARKINS, director of athletics, had "no comment." Coach Woody Hayes was speaking at Canton and could not be reached.

The Faculty Council's vote Tuesday followed submission of a statement of policy by the University's 10-man Athletic Council which is reported to favor continued Rose Bowl participation.

Ohio State has sent four teams to the Rose Bowl, three in the past 10 years — 1949, 1954 and 1957 — winning all three.

LONG WAY DOWN—This is the path that three construction workers took on their trip down an elevator shaft in the new north wing addition of University Hospital yesterday.

Workers Fall Seven Stories; Tally — One Bruised, Two Fair

Three construction workers fell seven stories and survived while working in an elevator shaft of the north wing of University Hospital yesterday morning.

Two of the men sustained multiple fractures and lacerations as a result of the fall. The third was released from University Hospital after emergency treatment. None of the workers were in serious condition at press time.

Reported in fair condition are: Lyle Riehm, 24, of 1313 E. 17th Ave. and Ralph Wise, 27, of 114 E. Whitson. The third man was Richard Ivanoff, 26, of 680 Linworth Rd. He walked away from the accident with only minor bruises.

The accident occurred yesterday at 11:15 a.m. in the new addition to the hospital where the workmen were installing steel guide rails in an elevator shaft.

The men had been at the fifth floor level of the shaft when the temporary scaffolding on which they were working apparently tilted and caused them to fall. The workmen plunged to the sub-cellar level of the elevator shaft. The distance the men fell totaled seven stories, approximately 80 feet.

Snow Buries Central Ohio

A heavy snowstorm raced across the Ohio valley into the central Appalachians Wednesday and tornadoic winds whistled across parts of Dixie.

Heavy snow warnings of accumulations of four or more inches were posted by the U.S. Weather Bureau for Central Indiana and Ohio.

Meanwhile, minor floods developed along the White and Wabash Rivers of Indiana, previously hard-hit by maverick waters in January and February.

'U.S. Won't Fight Ground War'—Ike

WASHINGTON—(UPI)—President Eisenhower said in his news conference Tuesday the United States would not fight a ground war over Berlin and strongly implied it would resort to nuclear weapons should hostilities break out.

The President flatly declared at his news conference that "we certainly are not going to fight* a ground war in Europe" because we could not win it against Russia's more numerous troops.

THE PRESIDENT made clear he would decide about use of nuclear weapons only after the Russians pushed matters "in the direction of real hostilities." But he said he did not believe they would be "senseless enough" to do this over Berlin.

Eisenhower also took sharp issue with Congressional demands that U.S. forces be enlarged in the face of the Berlin threat.

"WHAT WOULD you do with more ground forces in Europe?" he demanded. "Would you start a ground war?"

On the prospect of atomic war, the President said such warfare would be "self-defeating."

Senate Rests On Vote Issue

The Student Senate voted to shelve the recommendation on changing Senate representation until next fall.

The Senate adopted a recommendation on changes in organizational membership. Starting immediately the Senate will consist of the elected Senators, representatives of the nine undergraduate and professional colleges, and representatives of the following organizations:

WSGA, FAO, Panhellenic, Women's Residence Hall Council, Men's Residence Hall Council, Freshman Class Council, International Students Association, WMCA-YWCA, Military Council and the Graduate School.

Caniff To Give 'Chalk Talk' At Journalism Student Night

Milt Caniff

Milt Caniff, noted cartoonist and Ohio State alumnus, will appear Friday in the Ohio Union for the first annual Journalism Night. It will be open to the public.

Following his "chalk talk" at 8 p.m. in the Conference Theater there will be an informal coffee hour in the Franklin Room.

Prominent local journalists will be available to talk with anyone—especially those freshmen and sophomores interested in entering journalism.

Caniff is the creator of the comic strips, "Terry and the Pirates," and "Steve Canyon," which was recently adapted for television.

The program is sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi.

Student Wants Class Opening on March 31

Beards Attract . . .

To the Editor:

"Name Withheld on Request" in the March 5 LANTERN confirmed my suspicion that beards and mustaches are used chiefly as a device for attracting attention (and entering contests, of course.)

The fact that he gets as many favorable as unfavorable remarks might be partly due to a collection of "conformities" known as manners which advocate saying nothing at all or sometimes even telling "little white lies" rather than saying something uncomplimentary.

I suppose he tells the girls that one about how "no one should mind going through a little brush to get to a picnic." Who ever heard of a picnic in the middle of a briar patch? I've found snakes in them before, though.

I say the more power to him if a beard cures his inferiority complex; I'd imagine it would give him one, instead, (I notice he withheld his name.)

Linda Hurd, A-1.

Easter . . .

To the Editor:

I believe the out-of-town students of Ohio State have been dealt a severe injustice. The University calendar shows Spring Quarter classes to begin on March 30, the day after Easter.

This means students living out of Columbus will have to spend Easter Sunday on the road. Is this the ideal way to observe Easter?

Why couldn't classes begin on Tuesday so we can spend Easter with our families and then drive back to school on Monday? The heavy holiday traffic Easter Sunday evening poses another inconvenience, and I might add, it presents a hazard.

I would appreciate any consideration on this matter by the administration.

Steve Demidovich, Com-2.

Adults Realize Responsibilities in Columbus . . .

To the Editor:

A letter of mine was edited for publication such that it appeared to contain a personal attack on some officials of the University. It is an unfortunate situation, to which I can only say that no such inferences were intended or—in the original letter—made.

ODDLY ENOUGH, one answering letter which defends the administration states that "It does not go in search of violators of its rules," but rather waits until "someone has complained" to take action. The authors blandly assume that the violation has been "wanton, degrading, and obnoxious" to warrant a complaint.

Yet, in the case described, the student who made the "complaint" (and whose identity was later discovered) had no such cause. He sought only revenge for an imagined injury, a safe means of retaliation against a fellow student who considered him a friend. It was the vindictiveness of this unfortunate person which was described as "base and vile."

THE VIOLATION—the student was accused of "harboring" unchaperoned girls in his apartment. This term, which seems to have shocked some, was used in a sardonic sense. One of the girls, you see, was his sister.

Their mother failed to find this "wanton, degrading and obnoxious." Evidently, though, the University found it so.

And so we "few," we few men (and women) who are over 21, we few are now accused of "poisoning that which is most beneficial for the majority." "Poisoning?"

OUR CASE IS this, no more: we are—mature or not—responsible adults, according to the law. We are residents of Columbus, Ohio, U.S.A., quite aware of our obligations—and our rights—under the laws of city, state, and nation. We have been away from mother for several years, and now we would like to settle down for a bit in some poor semblance of a home, as decent, self-respecting citizens of Columbus, as workers and students.

We would live here as Americans—free from arbitrary search and seizure, free from star chambers and faceless, nameless accusers, free from an authority which tomorrow may be the unwitting weapon in a personal vendetta.

If others feel a need for the security of administration rules they are welcome to it. When—if—they awaken to the fact that the price has been a goodly portion of their rights as Americans and something of their character as well; why, then they can examine, and agitate, and take appropriate steps through the proper channels.

They might even try a bit of poison.

Bill Buchanan, Grad.

Flattered . . .

To the Editor:

Clippings of the defense of Peanuts in your Mail Bag column have been sent to me, and would like to thank those people who went to the trouble to write

It takes many years to build up a comic feature, and it some times takes only one or two letters to an undecided editor to tear it down.

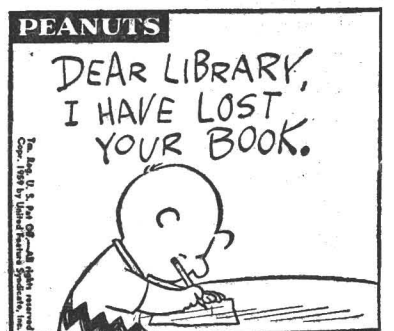

I am flattered that college papers throughout the country have been running Peanuts, for it is to this audience that I primarily cater, and I was thrilled that so many readers came to our defense, thereby assuring the continuation of the publication of Peanuts in such newspapers.

It is very gratifying to be accepted by those readers whom you are trying so hard especially to please.

Senate Favors Hawaii Statehood

The Senate voted to make Hawaii the 50th state. The House set the stage for action on an almost identical bill today.

The Senate roll call vote was 76 to 15. The House voted 337 to 69 to bring the statehood bill up for debate. The chairman of the House Territories Subcommittee, Democrat Leo O'Brien of New York, said he'll propose amendments to his own House bill to make it conform exactly to the Senate version. The final House vote would thus send the measure directly to the White House and avoid House-Senate conferences.

Demonstrators have hanged United Arab Republic President Nasser in effigy in Baghdad, capital of Iraq. There were calls for vengeance as a result of the rebellion against the Iraqi regime of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem. Kassem's government said the rebellion in the north has been crushed, but that the rebels killed a number of army officers loyal to the regime.

UPI reported the Kassem regime has executed at least 60 Iraqi officers and civilians for taking part in the rebellion.

The U.S. Army is reported ready to provide an unarmed test convoy of one to four trucks if the West should decide on a firm challenge of any forceful action by the Communists on the road to Berlin. Should the Communists set up a roadblock, the plan apparently calls for some manner of token force to accompany the next convoy, perhaps a tank or two.

The Senate has voted 90 to one to continue the peacetime military draft for four more years. The House already has voted for the four-year extension, but the measure goes back to it for consideration of a Senate amendment.

France turned down a proffered foreign loan of $158,000,000 in a striking show of confidence in the austerity economic policy of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

General George Marshall has been flown from an Army hospital at Fort Bragg, N. C., to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington. The 78-year-old Marshall is seriously ill after suffering two strokes.
