Student Says 3 Put Nazi Sign On Hillel

The Dean of Men's Office has verified the fact that an Ohio State student was involved in the painting of a swastika on the entrance of the Hillel Foundation, 46 E. 16th Ave.

Capt. Tom Sawyer, chief of detectives, Columbus Police Department, said three persons were involved. The other two, also students, are from Ohio University, he reported.

The incident occurred early Saturday. Capt. Sawyer said that the Ohio State student had told an older friend and that the friend advised the student to report the incident.

POLICE ALSO reported that a paint can left at the scene was used as evidence.

Rabbi Harry Kaplan, Hillel director, was out of town yesterday and could not be reached for comment.

Capt. Sawyer said no charges have been made. "We'll have to wait until Tuesday when we can talk with Rabbi Kaplan," he said.

THE DEAN of Men's Office is investigating the incident and yesterday afternoon reported that it would take another day to make a decision on what action the University would take.

"However," Executive Dean William S. Guthrie said, "we'll take some action no matter what the Columbus Police Department does."

Anti-Semitic Action Asked

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(UPI)—The World Jewish Congress yesterday requested a United Nations "Study in Depth" of means to stop anti-Semitic acts.

At the same time, the Israeli government informed the world organization that "the people of Israel are shocked and disturbed by the recent outbreaks of hatred and anti-Jewish incitement in Germany and other countries."

IN A NOTE to the subcommittee on prevention of discrimination and protection of minorities, ambassador Yosef Tekoah said:

"The government and people of Israel are sensitive and alert to everything liable to cause injury to our brethren wherever they may be. The government of Israel is confident that the authorities in these countries in which these outbreaks have occurred will take vigorous measures to eradicate them lest they result in disaster for entire peoples and for mankind as a whole."

Dr. Maurice L. Perlzweig, representative of the World Jewish Congress at the United Nations, told the subcommittee the anti-Semitic outbreaks were "a question of life and death."

HE ASKED the 14-member group "not only to pass judgment but to initiate a study in depth to enlighten world public opinion and to give administrators some idea of how this complex problem can be dealt with."

The subcommittee agreed to move higher on its agenda and question "measures to be taken for the cessation of any advocacy of national, racial or religious hostility that constitutes an incitement to hatred and violence."

Bucks Beat Hens 109-38; Set New Scoring Mark

By Bernie Karsko

It was open season on Blue Hens, Delaware variety, last night as the Buck cagers bagged 109 points while giving up 38 to crack a St. John Arena scoring mark for a scarlet and gray five. The previous high was 106, set against Michigan last February.

JERRY LUCAS sat the game out in his street clothes (signing autographs most of the time), the first unit only played half of the game, and Fred Taylor cleared the bench in the last five minutes but Ohio State still hit 58 per cent from the floor for the night against the miss-matched Delaware squad who are now 3-9 on the season.

The 7,495 spectators saw the Bucks get off to a rather cold start. Chuck Hamilton tossed in a jump shot from the free throw line to knot the game up at 4-4 with three minutes expired.

But from then on Ohio State turned the game into a target practice session.

HOWIE NOURSE'S 12-foot push made it 20-11 with 12:30 left in the half. Ohio State then put together strings of 13, 14 and 12 straight points while yielding but 5 to run the halftime count to 57-16.

The first string had rung up a 39-14 lead before leaving with 5:34 to go in the half, but plagued by turnovers they were never really sharp.

U.S. Denounces Property Seizure

WASHINGTON.—(UPI)—The United States yesterday sharply protested Cuban government seizures of American property in an action signalling a new "get tough" policy against Premier Fidel Castro.

The State Department said the note, delivered in Havana by U. S. Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal, denounced the seizures as being "in denial of the basic rights of ownership of United States citizens in Cuba."

THE DEPARTMENT estimated that between five and six million dollars worth of American-owned property already has been confiscated by the Castro regime. Other officials consider this may be merely the "first installment" in Castro's property seizure drive.

The U. S. note strongly complained that property has been taken from Americans by the Cuban government "without court orders and frequently without any written authorization whatever."

The Department announcement said land and buildings of U. S. citizens have been seized and occupied, equipment confiscated and removed, cattle taken, timber cut and removed and pastures plowed under.

Faculty Gets Housing Issue Report Today

The Faculty Council this afternoon will receive a report from the Council on Student Affairs which contains Student Senate's resolution on "off-campus housing."

The resolution, passed by Student senate on Dec. 3, asks that the University refuse to register off-campus rooming houses whose landlords practice racial or religious discrimination.

Executive Dean William S. Guthrie, CSA chairman, last week speculated that the Faculty Council might refer the issue to one of its active committees or give it to another group for study.

The motion to send the resolution to the Faculty Council was passed by a five to three vote at CSA's Dec. 9 meeting. At the same meeting, CSA also passed a motion to send the Senate resolution through Dean Guthrie — to the President's Cabinet and the Board of Trustees for consideration.

The President's Cabinet has indicated, however, that it will not take further action on the issue until the matter has been discussed by the Faculty Council and other groups on campus.

The Student Personnel Council will take up the housing issue at its meeting this Thursday.

Military Ball Date Postponed

The date of the annual Military Ball has been postponed to Spring Quarter, Apr. 23.

The traditional ball, originally scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 20, will be held in the ballrooms of the Ohio Union, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

THE MILITARY Council, sponsor of the ball, announces that the change of dates was made to eliminate conflict on the longer weekend on which classes do not resume until the following Tuesday.

The ball will be held with full pomp and tradition which has characterized it in former years when it was given Winter Quarter.

Terry Firestone will act as chairman of the ball committee assisted by Larry Kelly, secretary; Ivan Miller, publicity; Ben Karalius, queens; David Reed, displays; Rollin Liggett, finance; Bill Green, ticket sales; Jack Hollander, programs and invitations; Hobart Bond, decorations, and Terry Hemeyer, band and entertainment. Webb Ellis will represent the Army ROTC on the committee with Bill Maycock, NROTC representative.

THE BALL is open to all military personnel on campus and cadets and midshipmen of the three units. Privilege cards will be on sale for $3.00 and will include payment for one other Military Council sponsored event to be held later this year.

The Military Queen and court are to be announced at the ball. The queen candidates will be sponsored by military honoraries representing the three units on campus. The Queens' Banquet is scheduled Wednesday, Apr. 20.

Health-Ed. Starts TV Series Today

Students taking Health Education 400 at 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. today will watch television during their lecture hours. But they won't be watching some old movie.

Instead, they will be viewing a 30-minute televised lecture by fencing coach Robert Kaplan, an assistant professor in the men's physical education department. The rest of the class period will be spent in discussion with a "live" instructor.

This marks the first time that television is being used in teaching a University required credit course, although closed-circuit television is used as a teaching aid in the College of Dentistry and sometimes in other campus areas.

Irving R. Levine

Levine To Be At Mershon

Irving R. Levine, NBC's roving European correspondent, will speak at Mershon Auditorium on Tuesday, Jan. 16, as the fourth program on the Celebrity Series. His topic, with accompanying color film, will be "This Is Russia."

A well known voice to listeners of NBC even before his present assignment as Russian correspondent, he was the first American radio and TV man granted accreditation by the Soviet government since 1937.

A veteran newsman at 35, Levine had many years overseas experience with INS in Europe and the Far East before joining NBC News seven years ago, covering such events as the Korean War. Since arriving in Russia, he has scored notable "firsts." In April, 1956, he submitted a list of questions to Premier Bulganin and got the first such replies given to an American correspondent.

In October, 1957, when Marshal Georgi Zhukov was dismissed as defense minister, Levine broadcast the first definite word from Russia that Zhukov's removal was in fact a demotion. He accompanied the Soviet leaders on trips to England in May, 1956, and to Finland in June, 1957.

Kentucky Gentlemen?

Syracuse University faced the same problem in the Cotton Bowl game on New Year's Day as did Ohio State's basketball team when it played a game at the University of Kentucky on Dec. 28. Following is an editorial, "No Heart in Texas," which appeared in the Jan. 6 Syracuse Daily Orange, student newspaper.

"We're very happy for worried Cotton Bowl officials. They can breathe more easily now. University of Texas football players, who spit racial insults at Negro members of the Syracuse squad, have apologized. The insults which provoked a couple of brawls before a national television audience, were made in the heat of the game, and now all should be forgiven and forgotten.

Yes, we're happy for the Cotton Bowl officials.

But we cannot say that we are happy or impressed with Texas and Texans in general. For the fact remains that the Syracuse squad was invited to Dallas for the game. The Texas team was host—and not a very sportsmanlike one.

As for Texas fans in the stands—and they provided about 70,000 of the 75,000 there—their actions were inexcusable. No one can object to their cheering their team. We cheered ours. But the same insults which provoked the fights on the field were being made quite vocally in the stands. In fact, we heard worse.

The Southwest Conference, of which Texas was the Cotton Bowl representative, prides itself on sportsmanship. They have big wrangles down there over who is to receive a sportsmanship trophy. Yes, they talked of Dallas and sportsmanship and Southern hospitality.

The hospitality itself was fine, but so far as sportsmanship is concerned, Southern hypocrisy would be a better term.

The Orangemen beat the Texans in their own prejudiced backyard. They are certain to land high in the top ten for the next couple of years, and it is evident that the Cotton Bowl will need Syracuse more than Syracuse will need the Cotton Bowl.

A jaunt to the Rose Bowl—if possible—or to the Liberty Bowl would prove a wiser choice for the future than a return to Dallas. No Syracuse ball players should be subjected to such insults as the Texans hurled, and the University has a responsibility to see that they aren't."

We would like to congratulate the Texans. At least they showed they are gentlemen, by apologizing to the Syracuse players.

But the University of Kentucky players, who hurled unnecessary and child-like insults at Ohio State, have failed to come forth with any such effort. We hope they do, for the Kentuckians, we know, are gentlemen.

Interpreting The News . . .

Presidents's Trip Is At Right Time

By William L. Ryan,
AP News Analyst

If the Russians contemplate a determined economic intrusion in South America—and there are signs of such intentions—then President Eisenhower's journey to the continent comes at an opportune time.

The trip can pave the way toward a searching review of U. S. policy with regard to the hemisphere neighbors. If this is one result, then the President's venture will pay off handsomely.

MOSCOW HAS been dangling lures before Latin America. It indicates willingness to buy such things as coffee, sugar and copper. Up to now this has been more talk than performance.

Strengthening of U. S. ties with South America can put those nations in a position to require the Communists to prove not only their good intentions but their ability to deliver on their promises.

U. S. relations with Latin America have been none too good. There is much anti-Yankeeism, even in such countries as Brazil, Chile and Argentina, which are on the President's itinerary. These and the fourth country, Uruguay, probably can be considered, at that, the Latin American nations most friendly to the United States.

THE RUSSIANS for some time have made noises for the benefit of Latin America, possibly with a notion of muscling in on its close economic ties with the United States. These Soviet gestures could provide levers for the Latin Americans to demonstrate their feelings of resentment. One result was that last fall, Brazil sent a trade mission to Moscow to whack up a barter deal with the Russians.

The Brazilians, with an eye cocked toward Washington, said Latin America hardly could overlook the potentialities of the Red bloc market for Latin American production. They contended there could be no danger of political contamination—knowing the United States feared just that.

As a result, there came about a barter deal in which Brazil agreed to swap coffee for Soviet oil and oil industry equipment. It turned out not to be much of a deal, however. There was little Soviet market for coffee. The Russians agreed one might be created but the Brazilians had to figure out how to sell the Russians on drinking more coffee.

THE POINT which now can be driven home to Brazil with her coffee, Chile with her copper, and the rest of the continent is that the Russians really do not need South American goods.

The question to be brought home is this: Are the Russians more interested in propaganda for Communism and anti-Yankeeism than they are in real trade?

If the Eisenhower journey promises to bring about some sort of revision of U. S. policy toward Latin America, then the Communist economic gestures can be rendered ineffective.

But apparently what the Latin Americans are waiting to hear is that they occupy a place in U. S. policy making at least equal in importance to Europe and Asia. They have no reason to believe that at this moment.

Editor's Mailbag

To the Editor:

One word in the article, "Loyalty Oath Views Aired," by George Miles (LANTERN, Jan. 8) disturbs me. I am quoted as saying that a person should be "willing to succumb to the present constitutional type government."

"Succumb" is a very strong verb, and I am certain that I did not use it during the broadcast. It means to yield under a heavy burden, and if the burden is an infirmity, it means to die. Rather, I meant, "willing to support the present constitutional government."

I do not favor a highly centralized form of government which might suppress individual liberties to the point of enslaving the governed. In fact, my viewpoint emphasizes states' rights and individual freedoms within an orderly framework of law and justice.

Foreign Students Come Here For Many Reasons

Editor's Note: We were pleased the other day to receive a short letter from an international student in response to a LANTERN editorial on "Values" (Jan. 5). We felt that more should be said, so we asked the student to write an article for the LANTERN about international students.

By Mrs. Rasmey Aly Khalil

As a newcomer to Ohio State, I waited last quarter to see what is going to be done, beyond "the camp orientation," to help international students be well adjusted. Some of us can speak English well, and have an idea about the U. S. Some can get acquainted easily with the American culture and the people. But still others lack these means and needs for adjustment.

It is true that we come to Ohio State to get degrees, but besides that we want to know much about the U. S., the land and its people, why they behave as they do and what they believe. In general we would like to know the American culture, past, present and future.

I HAVE HEARD many international wives complaining about the monotonous life that they live here, while their husbands are busy in classes and laboratories. I heard also that some international students have never been to the lovely buildings called Ohio Union or Mershon Auditorium. I like the "self-exploring" approach, but indeed some students have to be guided at the beginning.

I know that some of us, especially those who are working for doctorates are too busy for many activities because of studies and research. Others have adjusted nicely and know very kind American families, but still many need a great deal of help to live a happy and intellectual life in the New World.

So, I would like to suggest the following:

• A monthly forum with different staff members who are really interested in international culture, to discuss our culture, the U. S. and Ohio State and the like. We can meet every month in a different place, so we can know better our campus and other institutions in Columbus.

• Tours to some sororities, fraternities and social agencies, to get acquainted with their role and activities.

• Some department could sponsor seminars for the new international students as:

American Culture and Education—Where we can discuss the modern issues and trends in American culture and where we may get the opportunity to see this in action in schools, agencies, state departments and the like.

The Nature of the Non-Western World—Where we can discuss our culture, hopes, aims and fears, and plan and think together for better human relations.

• For the international students, especially their wives, I think the University, with the cooperation of some departments and other agencies as YMCA-YWCA, can offer free courses (with no credits of course) in English as a second language, guidance, home and family life, child development, clothing, home economics (to introduce the American kitchen), art, music, typing and the like.

So, when we return to our country, we can feel that we really gained something while at Ohio State.

I BELIEVE that the international students are a great power for better world understanding and that a big campus as Ohio State can play a significant role in order to maintain this value.

Mansfield Urges Action On Soviet Rocket Plan

WASHINGTON. — (UPI)—Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield urged the State Department today to lodge a strong protest against Russia's "arrogant" plan to set aside 27,000 square miles in the Pacific to test a powerful new rocket.

The Montana Senator telegraphed Secretary of State Christian A. Herter that if Russia ignored the protest, the United States should request a special session of the United Nations to "consider and deal with this high-handed pronouncement."

"IF THIS is what the Soviet Union means by the 'Spirit of Camp David,' we should seriously reconsider our agreement to attend a summit meeting this spring," Mansfield added.

Russia announced last week that it planned to use the central Pacific area as a missile test range between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15. It warned ships and planes to stay out of the area, which is about midway between the Hawaiian and Gilbert Islands.

Mansfield, who also is a key member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the countries most directly affected by the "unwarranted and arrogant" Soviet move "are Australia, Japan and the United States."

HE SAID the Soviet plan was "contrary to international policy" and would endanger sea areas which should remain open to navigation and fishing.

"Over the past several months the Soviet Union has been giving lip service to the cause of reducing tensions, but by its announcement it is not indicating a real desire to ease tensions at this critical moment in the world's history," Mansfield said.

"To place the lives of innocent and peaceful people of the South Pacific in jeopardy and to, in effect, set aside a part of the South Pacific as a Russian 'Mare Nostrum' (our sea) is a disservice and an affront which the people of the world should protest as vigorously and as strongly as possible, and at once."

RUSSIA SAID it planned to fire a "more powerful rocket" over the Pacific range. Military sources speculated that the Soviets were going to test the 8,700-mile range rocket which Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev mentioned to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) a year ago.

American scientists said they would not be surprised if the Soviet tests were aimed at putting a man into space this year.

No Protest Result Likely

By United Press International

The State Department will reject Sen. Mike Mansfield's demand for a protest against Russian plans to test a powerful new space rocket in the central Pacific, informed sources in Washington said yesterday.

Other sources disclosed, however, that this country will not protest against the Red plans which call for closing parts of the Pacific for the experiment expected within the next few weeks.

These officials said U. S. policy recognizes that freedom of the seas includes the right of any nation to conduct such tests as long as advance notice is given and action taken to minimize danger. The tests are planned for an area roughly 1,100 miles southwest of Hawaii.

Cuban Editor Feels Strong Red Influence

NEW YORK—(UPI)—The editor of the most outspoken newspaper in Havana said recently that freedom of the press existed in Cuba "as long as you dare to use it."

Jorge Zayas, editor of Advance who has written a series of stinging editorials criticizing Premier Fidel Castro, said that "Frankly, I've been able to say so far anything I consider beneficial for my country and I've published all the news."

"THIS ATTITUDE, of course, has earned me a lot of verbal abuse and economic persecution on the part of the government," he added.

Zayas, who attended Columbia University in New York, was interviewed on film in Havana on the CBS TV program "Sunday News Special."

Zayas said that free elections would be "the best thing that could happen" in Cuba.

"I THINK that an election would be the only solution to the Cuban problems," he said.

Asked whether he thought Castro was a Communist, he said:

"There is a very strong infiltration of Communist and leftist thinkers in the 26th of July movement (Castro's revolutionary organization), which do not respond to the majority of people who belong to that movement. There is no doubt there is one-man government."

Hayes Gallery Will Exhibit British Work

"Young British Painters," an exhibition of work by eight of Great Britain's leading young painters, will open at the Hayes Hall Gallery, with a preview showing from 3 to 5 p.m. next Sunday.

REFRESHMENTS will be served and the exhibition will continue until Feb. 5.

Hayes Hall Gallery is open daily from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to noon.

Included in the coming exhibit are more than 40 oil paintings and drawings by Sandra Blow, Robyn Denny, Donald Hamilton Fraser, Peter Lanyon, Louis Le Brocquy, Ceri Richards, William Scott, and Bryan Wynter.

THESE WORKS are regarded as an excellent representation of British painting of the present decade, the majority having been executed in the past three years. All are characterized by boldness and assurance in dealing with movement, form and color, and by an interest in the paint itself which produces varied surface textures. They vary in mood from the powerful to the poetic.

Titles of the works indicate, on the whole, an interest in the natural world, as for example, Peter Lanyon's "Mountain Landscape" and Bryan Wynter's "Forest Frontier," but the images presented are toward an abstract conception. This abstraction varies in degree according to the predilection of the artists and is expressed in highly personal idioms.

Subcommittee Asks For Additional Help

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — A House foreign affairs subcommittee asked the world's industrialized nations to speed up long-range plans for helping underdeveloped countries.

Rep. Frank M. Coffin (D-Maine), at a subcommittee news conference before the report was released, said he had found "an increasing awareness" in Western European countries of their responsibilities toward the poorer nations.

"GENERALLY speaking," he said, "these countries—even though they face heavy burdens—are willing to go further in foreign aid."

The subcommittee also urged the administration to "take the lead in helping American industries operating abroad to negotiate with foreign governments concerning the problems created by Russia's economic offensive."

Rep. Edna F. Kelley (D-N.Y.), chairman of the subcommittee on Europe, stressed the importance of a recommendation that the State Department create a single overall administrator for all foreign aid programs.

UNDER THE present system, she said, the Foreign Affairs Committee had to go to three or four different agencies in order to get the complete foreign aid picture.

The subcommittee criticized the Voice of America for not broadcasting to the minority language groups within the Soviet Union.

It emphasized the success of aid to Europe. This program "must now be re-examined in the light of Europe's economic recovery," the report said.

REP. CHESTER E. Mellow, (R-N. H.) described U. S. aid programs in Europe as "eminently successful."

Coffin said, however, that the United States and the industrialized countries of the West are "coming into a new era." These countries should become "more active partners in defense" and as they do this "should be treated as partners," he said.

Ohio State had 142 students from Hancock County in 1958-59.

Japanese Star Leaves Broadway Stage Show

HOLLYWOOD. — (UPI)—Little Myoshi Umeki, who won an Academy Award for her only picture, has left a highly successful Broadway stage show and returned to Hollywood.

The pixie-faced Japanese girl captured a coveted Oscar as best supporting actress for her role in "Sayonara," with Marlon Brando, then went on tour as a nightclub entertainer, ending up in "Flower Drum Song" on Broadway.

"AFTER WINNING the Academy Award, I couldn't just buy some post cards for my mother and go straight back to Japan," she said. "So, I traveled around the United States singing in nightclubs."

Most movie fans think Oscar winners are deluged with offers, but such wasn't the case for Myoshi.

"Before I went on Broadway, I had some picture offers," she said. "But they weren't any good. In one of them the producer wanted me to play a Filipino diving board champion. I can't even swim—just ski."

MYOSHI STAYED on Broadway for a year before coming back to Hollywood where she landed a job on NBC's Dinah Shore show.

"After the Dinah Shore show, I don't know what I'll do," she said. "I never plan things and so I don't get disappointed very often."

"In fact, I never planned on staying in America as long as I have. Now, I'm married to an American boy and want to become a citizen of this country."

"WHEN I came here for 'Sayonara,' I thought I'd return to Japan when the picture was over. But, the people here have accepted me and it's wonderful. I'll go to Japan to visit my family, but will return."

One thing that bothered Myoshi on Broadway was confusion arising out of visit with Japanese friends.

"I would spend the afternoon with my friends in New York and we'd talk in Japanese," she explained. "When I went to the theater at night I would still be thinking like a Japanese, so I'd go into my dressing room and recite all the lines I had in the show to get my mind used to English."

MYOSHI STILL has problems reading and writing in the English language, but she's come upon a unique solution.

"When I get a bunch of letters in English I write everybody the same answer," she laughed.

Nemetz Set For Lecture

Dr. Anthony Nemetz, of the department of philosophy at Ohio State, will speak on the "Relation of Science and the Humanities" Sunday in Newman Hall at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

This lecture is jointly sponsored by the Faculty Council of Newman Hall and the Newman Alumni Association. Dr. Nemetz is one of the most prominent Catholic philosophers in the United States. In 1956 he was voted "Professor of the Year" at Ohio State and last year was given the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters at St. Bonaventure University.

After the discussion refreshments will be served.

'Vera' Could Send Prices Up On Pearls

TOKYO—(UPI)—That cultured pearl necklace you were thinking of buying for $50 may soon cost you at least $60 — and you can blame Typhoon Vera.

The storm, worst of its kind in Japanese history, struck last Sept. 26. It left nearly 5,000 dead and also dealt a staggering blow to the nation's pearl producers, most of whom operate in the hard-hit Nagoya area of central Honshu.

AN ESTIMATED 75,000,000 pearl oysters worth $10,055,000 were swept out to sea or buried in the mud and debris. At least 40,000 of the 80,000 pearl "rafts" planted in Matoba and Ago bays were wrecked or badly damaged. The total loss to the industry was expected to exceed $15,000,000.

"Because of the Typhoon Vera, Japan's total pearl production may drop by 30 per cent for 1959 and 40 per cent in 1960," said Sakae Inouye of the Japan Pearl Export and Processing Association.

"It is inevitable that our exports will decrease and our prices will increase. We don't want to raise prices but it is impossible to avoid."

MOST INDUSTRY sources believe cultured pearls from Japan will cost at least 20 per cent more as production, which has averaged about 82,500 pounds annually, dips to 66,000 pounds in 1960.

What's more, the effects of Typhoon Vera will be felt for at least two or three more years. That's how long it takes to bring cultured pearls to maturity.

SAIL STAYS COURIER

MILTON, Fla. — (UPI) — Residents of this small northwest Florida town wondered why they missed out on mail service one day and then learned postmaster Joel Lee Adams was serving a 24-hour jail sentence for failing to come to court on a speeding charge.

In 1958-59, Ohio State had 270 students from Greene County.

Caviar And Emotion Are Double Feature

MOSCOW. — (UPI) — An evening at the theater in Moscow means a double feature: (1) four hours of emotional, exciting chest-beating across the footlights, and (2) food.

In that first respect, the Soviet Union is the world's best place for an actor to work.

FOR AN actor, the audience is his, all his, for four hours. The curtain usually rises at 7:30 and most of the plays last until 11:30. There's no such thing as being fashionably late, so latecomers can't disturb the actor's orations. They have to sit out the first act in the chilly lobby.

Then the thespian can pull out all the stops. Acting in Moscow, right down to the smallest walk-on part, is more emotional than it is on Western stages. At first, that's astonishing to a theater fan used to the relatively subdued style of Broadway.

But this is a country of stronger emotions in everyday life and the theater has to be that much broader to do ordinary life one better.

One long-run popular play, for example, is a real-life story telling how convicts and prostitutes built the White Sea Canal after the revolution. The heroine of "The Aristocrats," a truly buxom blonde, must have put in a good two miles striding around the stage with jaw outthrust during three acts. In one hysterical scene, she cried real tears and literally rolled around the stage, black velvet dress and all.

ANOTHER PLAY dramatizes most fervently life in Siberia 50 years ago, and could be called a Western in Russian boots. In this supercolossal epic, the hero steals his father's mistress, kills her to snatch money his father gave her, blames the murder on his best friend, has his father put in an insane asylum, takes dope, starts a forest fire, orders police to shoot striking workers at his mines and at last ends it all—and the play—by jumping out a window.

The scenic effects were just as flamboyant. Eight completely different sets twirled on a revolving stage. Snowstorms and fires were astonishingly realistic.

Because some theatergoers skip dinner to make that 7:30 curtain, during the first intermission there's a wild rush to a room called the buffet. Limp from the exciting play, you devour thick salami or caviar sandwiches, cheese, beer, sweet Russian drinks or sweeter pastry.

THEN BACK to your seat for another hour of emotion. Next intermission, everybody eats again. In fact, some foreign theatergoers don't understand a word of Russian but give the caviar sandwiches a rave review.

Most theaters put on classics, from Chekhov to Shakespeare which is easier than finding a good modern play that meets the requirements of glorifying the march to Communism.

Whatever the play, the Russians love their theater. Four four hours they sit in rapt silence, except when an exciting moment occurs in the plot. Then they discuss this turn of events with each other and a wave of whispers sweeps the theater.

MOST THEATERS are more ornate than in New York, sparkling with elegant chandeliers and little gilded boxes. But you don't see the elegant folks, eggheads or upper bohemians of a Broadway crowd. What appears to be so-called average people, of all ages, fill Moscow theaters, their sturdy figures dressed informally.

After the play, the Russians waste little time applauding the actors. They briskly head for the cloak room, an inescapable institution; you can't get into the theater without shedding your outer garb.

Everybody bundles up again in cocoons of scarves, fur hats, bulky brown coats and heavy boots. Then, like a great brown wind, they surge, chattering busily, into the snowy streets.

Crash Record Rises In 1959

WASHINGTON. — (UPI) — Chairman James R. Durfee of the Civil Aeronautics Board told Senate investigators the increased rate of fatal air crashes in 1959 could not be attributed to any single cause.

DURFEE MADE the statement before the Senate Aviation Subcommittee as it opened hearings into the "mounting toll of civil aircraft accidents."

He said the poor 1959 record focuses attention "on the fact that safety is the product of day-by-day attention to the myriad of details of airline operations and to painstaking investigation of every slip, every incident and every accident."

LAST YEAR 294 persons were killed in commercial airline crashes, more than double 1958.

Last week, in the first major tragedy of 1960, 34 persons were killed near Bolivia, N. C., in the crash of a National Airlines plane.

Chairman A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) said E. R. Quesada, head of the year-old Federal Aviation Agency, would be called to testify tomorrow.

GETTING SMARTER

ITHACA, N. Y. — (UPI) — A survey shows that college students may be a bit brighter, academically speaking, than their parents were.

A study of the marks of undergraduate students at Cornell University revealed that the average for the entire student body was 77.07 last year. A similar survey two decades before showed average marks of 75.21.

"Buckeye Thinclads Fair"—Says Snyder

by Phil Rohr

"An average dual meet team," is the modest prediction of Coach Larry Snyder concerning his team's chances in the upcoming Big Ten indoor track campaign.

"We might even do better in the Big Ten championships than in dual meets," said Snyder. "We have a pretty good group and all can score. We should finish fifth or sixth in the Big Ten."

HOW FAR Snyder and his squad go may depend heavily on how well they fare in the field and middle distance events. With Bob Riley out for practically the whole season, Snyder has no proven performer in either the hurdles or sprints.

The greatest wealth of talent is in the shotput. "We have a pretty good outfit," said Snyder. "All of them can put around 50 feet, but they'll have to get around 52 feet to win."

The top three shot-putters for the Bucks will be Ron Weldy, George Mirka, and Dave Poppler. Weldy, one of Coach Woody Hayes' footballers, is probably the top prospect of the three, with both Mirka and Poppler close behind.

ANOTHER TOP shotput prospect is Val Jekkals. Jekkals broke a bone in his left hand while trying to knock a baseball out of some netting in French Field House last quarter, but it should not hinder him too much. "He could come up strong," according to Snyder.

The Bucks should not have too much trouble scoring in the pole vault either. They have a proven performer in co-captain Dick Bowers, who vaulted over 14 feet two or three times last season.

Providing Bowers with plenty of support will be sophomore Gordon Campbell, whom Snyder describes as a "fine prospect."

ANOTHER VAULTER highly praised by Snyder is Dave Zielke whom he says is "limited somewhat by his size, but who nevertheless is a hard working boy."

Don Lawver, a straight-A student, will be the only high jumper until Bob Riley returns. Campbell does some high jumping and versatile Dan Maloney is also a possibility, but he is a better runner.

In the broad jump, Bob McEachern, bothered by a bad leg last season, will be the big man, and possibly the only man. Walter Williams, a soph, also may do some broad jumping.

THE SPRINTERS will probably be McEachern, Williams, Dick Harrison, and Tom Supensky, who ran intramurals last season.

The quarter and half mile events will be handled by Dick Payne, Maloney, Lavelle Rogers, Dick Strayer, co-captain of this year's team along with Bowers, Wendell Kessler, Bill Fry, and Ted Ebersol.

These men will not run both events but will switch around, depending on many different factors. The mile-relay team will also be picked from this group.

"THERE IS NO really outstanding quarter miler," said Snyder, "but there may be one or two in the half-mile."

In the mile and two-mile, the top men are Allen Stevens and Jim Massey. Other prospects are Keith Townshend, Jack Knoll, and Dale McCormick.

Bruce Briggs, Dick Williams, Dan Maloney, and Bill Henson, will be the top candidates for the hurdles with top man Riley, out with a broken ankle.

TRACK TALK . . . The track squad suffered another blow late last quarter when it was learned that freshman distance runner Alex Fultz, might not be returning to school.

Fultz, from Lemon Monroe High School in Middletown, suffered eye trouble late last quarter, and after going home for Thanksgiving vacation, did not return to school. Doctors thought that the difficulty might be with his brain, and as it was, this was the trouble. Fultz had a brain tumor.

Fultz won the state high school cross-country meet two years ago for Lemon Monroe, and last spring finished second. He was at Ohio State on a scholarship and will run the mile and two-mile when he returns to school.

ILLINOIS TRACK coach Leo Johnson has installed a new device that will help prevent injuries to athletes trying to clear hurdles. The top bar of high hurdles used in practice will be constructed primarily of sponge rubber, with a thin strip of plywood backing to give the bar rigidity. Johnson hopes the rubber will lessen knee and ankle injuries of hurdlers who fail to clear the bar.

Coach Says: 'Scout Officials'

CINCINNATI. — (AP) — "Sometimes I think we'd be about as well off scouting the officials as scouting the teams," George Smith, head coach of the University of Cincinnati basketball squad, said today.

Smith said the No. 1 college team of the nation competes in three sections of the country and in each of them the officials call the plays differently.

Just back from a successful trip to Wichita and Tulsa, he said the officials ruled differently there than they do here and in the east they call infractions by a still different measuring stick.

"Of course, when you're winning, you don't complain," he said with a grin.

UC has won 12 successive games. The Bearcats meet a real threat here Wednesday night, however, when they play St. Louis.

LONGER, WIDER COURSE

LAUREL, Md. — (UPI) — The grass course at Laurel, where the Washington, D. C., International is run each Veterans' Day, has been increased to one mile. The front and back stretches have been widened to 80 feet and the turns to 100 feet.

Buck Speedster

PAYNELESS—One of the more graceful runners for the Buck track squad this season is Dick Payne. Payne is a returnee from last season, and will probably be a member of the mile-relay team for the thinclads this year. Payne will also run in the quarter and half-mile for Snyder.

Pomerene Hall was completed in 1927.

All In The Big Ten . . .

Basketball And Wrestling Lead Weekend Schedule

By Ken Koblitz

Basketball and wrestling will occupy the spotlight at home this weekend. Buckeye sports fans will be running from the Men's Gym to the St. John Arena in order to watch all of the exciting action.

THE MATMEN will entertain the Michigan Wolverines, and Coach Casey Fredericks' boys hope to make the visit an unpleasant one for Michigan. This is easier said than done, as Michigan is always one of the better wrestling squads in the Big Ten. "We'll have to be on our toes to take them," said Fredericks. "As our sophomores gain experience, we'll improve."

Wrestling is gaining a large following and this weekend's meet should be a real treat, with the added incentive of the Buck-Wolverine rivalry. Starting time is 2 p.m.

AT 8 P.M. Saturday Fred Taylor's cagers resume Big Ten action as they take on the Northwestern Wildcats. The Cats hold a decision over Indiana (remember them) and will provide all the competition the Bucks will want.

Northwestern is big, fast and experienced, and are to be reckoned with in the Big Ten race. The game is a major hurdle in the Bucks' progress toward the top of the Big Ten heap and should be a crowd-pleaser.

Mike Peppe's swimmers take to the road again for a visit to Miami at Oxford. Ohio State will be favored on the strength of their double win last weekend.

CHICO SIGNED

CHICAGO. — (AP) — Shortstop Chico Carrasquel was signed yesterday by the Chicago White Sox as a free agent.

The Sox received the 32-year-old veteran's signed contract from his home in Caracas, Venezuela.

Carrasquel, a star for the Sox from 1950 through 1955 after being bought from Brooklyn, was released by Baltimore after the 1959 season. He appeared in 114 games in 1959, batting .223.

Morse Joins Presidential Hopeful List

WASHINGTON. — (UPI) — Sen. Wayne L. Morse (D-Ore.) yesterday became the third announced candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination. He said he will enter the May 3 District of Columbia primary.

His action swelled to five the ranks of Senate Democratic Presidential hopefuls.

Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) previously had announced for the nomination. Seeking delegates but not announced are Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.).

Morse said he had been considering the move for "a number of weeks . . . and I have now made my decision to enter the race."

The senator said that A. L. Wheeler, chairman of the D. C. Democratic Central Committee, had agreed to serve as his campaign manager. Aides said Morse still was undecided about entering other primaries.

Morse said he would announce more details about his campaign next week. When he recently disclosed he was considering entering the district primary, he also said he "probably" would get into Oregon's May 20 primary and might enter the April 5 Wisconsin primary.

Professors Predict . . .

Election Outcome Predictions Vary

By Dick Williams

The winner of the 1960 presidential election is anybody's guess—and everybody's guessing. As a trip to Ohio State's political science department revealed, the political scientists, too, are given to pre-election predicting.

Dr. E. Allen Helms, professor and chairman, political science, warns however, "It's much too early to draw any conclusions, since the entire political picture may change by summer."

"I WILL SAY," Dr. Helms said, "that Nixon seems clearly in the lead for the Republican nomination, though I wouldn't rule out Rockefeller completely. His chances seem slim now, but if Nixon runs into trouble (and that is entirely possible at this stage) Rockefeller is standing by."

The Democrats are without a single, outstanding candidate, Dr. Helms believes. "At the present time, it's a wide-open field. Kennedy is currently in the news, but let's not rule out Stevenson, Humphrey and Symington. Stevenson, in particular, is a strong candidate, though I hesitate to make any predictions yet about the Democratic nominations."

Dr. Louis Nemzer, associate professor, political science, is less certain about Nixon's chances of capturing the GOP nomination. "The odds are in Nixon's favor today," Nemzer said. "But I'm not entirely convinced that the steel strike settlement won't backfire. If steel prices rise during the next few months, many people will be unhappy. The steel companies agreed not to boost prices, but there's no guarantee that they won't change their mind.

"THERE'S NO doubt that Nixon is the outstanding candidate—his negotiations with Russia helped considerably—at the present time, but a lot can happen during the next few months."

Turning to the Democratic candidates, Dr. Nemzer picks Kennedy and Stevenson as the party's two strongest contenders. "There's a chance Kennedy may take it on the first ballot," Dr. Nemzer predicts. "If he doesn't, he's going to feel strong competition from Stevenson . . . possibly others."

Dr. George K. Romoser, instructor, is skeptical of the steel companies' promises not to raise prices. "I won't deny that this was a shrewd political move on Nixon's part," he said. "But always in the past, prices have risen following a strike. I personally look for a price increase before the election."

"The Democratic Party will have difficulty choosing their nominee," Dr. Romoser said. "In the absence of one appealing candidate I look for a possible deadlock at the convention, and then a dark horse."

Convict Gets New Rebuff

WASHINGTON —(UPI)—Convict-author Caryl Chessman received a new rebuff from the Supreme Court today in his 11½ year legal fight to escape death in California's gas chamber.

With his execution now set for Feb. 19, the court turned down Chessman's request for a reconsideration of its Dec. 14 order denying him another hearing. The court has considered the case in one form or other more than a dozen times.

Chessman's attorneys promptly served notice they would continue their legal maneuverings. They said they would apply for an eighth stay of execution to permit them to plead Chessman's case in lower federal courts and, if necessary, to bring it back again to the high court.

The Supreme Court acted in the Chessman case in a brief order without a written opinion. Its action featured its first "decision Monday" since recessing in December for the holidays.

In other major cases, the court dealt new legal blows to former Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack and his Miami friend, Attorney Thurman A. Whiteside, and to Arch Segregationist John Kasper.

B'nai B'rith Leader Talks On Outbreaks

PEORIA, Ill.—(UPI)—The president of the Jewish service organization B'nai B'rith warned against "speculative conclusions" on the rash of anti-semitic incidents which have spread to four continents.

The Jewish leader, Label A. Katz of New Orleans, said the widely-scattered outbreaks "cannot be evaluated with clarity until investigations show where a possible neo-Nazi conspiracy ends and the dementia and hooliganism of psychopaths and delinquents begin."

KATZ TOLD a Midwest regional B'nai B'rith meeting, "It can be harmful to exaggerate the implications of what has been taking place because of the world-wide publicity given it."

But he said he "welcomed the extensive press attention and editorial condemnations as a healthy indication of public concern with the criminal evil of anti-semitic outbreaks."

He called for "thorough investigations by official sources that can probe the cause as well as the effect of spreading vandalism."

"IT IS important to separate the malcontents and juvenile pranksters from the organized conspirators," Katz said.

He said a B'nai B'rith study team, headed by Benjamin R. Epstein of New York, national director of its anti-defamation league, will leave early this week for West Germany where the outbreaks began and "where there are indications that stubborn remnants of the Nazi movement were at work."

ALL THE SAME

HOLLYWOOD. — (UPI) — TV star Don Porter, who returned from a recent hunting and fishing trip, says his guide explained why he never used a cookbook.

"I got a book once," he told Porter, "but I couldn't use it. All of them recipes started the same way: 'Take a clean dish . . .'"

Court Frees Six Youths, Communists Outraged

MOSCOW—(UPI)—The newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda, guardian of young people's morals, recently bitterly criticized a court which convicted six youths of raping a girl and let them free on parole.

The young Communist league newspaper said "Everybody is outraged" about the case. The article was unique, since Soviet newspapers rarely print stories about sex crimes.

THE CENTRAL figure of the affair was a youth named Abramov. He was described as a stilyagi (Russian juvenile delinquent) who worked in a factory in Chelyabinsk, an industrial city in the Urals.

"He acted like a movie actor in foreign pictures," the newspaper said. He had affected mannerisms, was often late, and bragged about drinking parties. He joined a football team but missed the important game.

"He once brought home 'a wife' under age, lived with her for three months, then dropped her," the newspaper added.

KOMSOMOLSKAYA Pravda said Abramov and his pals called the main street of Moscow "Broadway." They called girls indecent nicknames, and when the parents of one of the boys was not home, they used their apartment for "night orgies with wild music and dissipation."

The girl in the case was a 15-year-old identified only as Nellie U.

She was led astray when the boys "made fun of her 10th-grade boy friend for being so old fashioned."

"YOU CAN'T read without disgust the cynical testimony where the criminals partially admitted their guilt," the newspaper said.

The judge of the court which tried the boys ruled the accused were young, first offenders. He gave them a suspended sentence.

STAY HOME

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y.—(UPI)—When four disgruntled hunters returned home to Watkins Glen from a completely unsuccessful deer-hunting expedition to the Adirondacks, several hundred miles away, they learned that a herd of five deer had appeared during their absence in the backyard of one of their homes.

Richard Anderson of Battelle Memorial Institute will speak Wednesday before Eta Kappa Nu fraternity.

Speaker Set For Banquet

Eta Kappa Nu, honorary electrical engineering fraternity, will hear a talk on Alaska's hydroelectric potential on Wednesday evening at its initiation banquet. The speaker will be Richard J. Anderson, assistant to the president of Battelle Memorial Institute.

Anderson spent his youth and early childhood in New York City. He was graduated from Columbia University in 1935 with honors in geology. In 1940, he was appointed to a field party of the United States Geological Survey for duty on the Kenai Peninsula in Alaska.

During the war years, Anderson was engaged in mineral exploration in Alaska for the Aluminum Company of America. He spent part of 1945 and 1946 traveling throughout the Territory. In July, 1959, he toured Alaska by air.

He became associated with Battelle Memorial Institute in 1948, and has been involved principally in administrative duties since 1950.

Philippine School Like Ohio State

By Nancy Stenger

Jade Lin, from the University of the Philippines, is the fourth member of her family to do graduate work in mathematics at Ohio State.

Jade's two older brothers received their masters' degrees from Ohio State, and her father, who is professor of mathematics at the University of the Philippines, earned his doctorate here.

BORN IN Hong Kong, the quiet, friendly coed moved to Quezon City, near Manila, when very young. She plans to return to the Philippines when she has completed requirements for her master's degree at Ohio State. She hopes to teach or to work in a mathematical capacity for a corporation.

Comparing Ohio State with the University of the Philippines, Jade said, "The system is much the same. They copy the Americans closely." She continued softly, "I think you have a much better mathematics program here."

When asked which school was more difficult, she said, "It's hard to compare them. I guess in graduate school one has to work much harder anyway."

JADE SAID that students in the Philippines don't date as much as students here. "Therefore, they study but not as intensively as students here. Since they have more time they spread it out."

Suspect Sabotage In Cable Cutting

QUINCY, Mass. — (UPI)—The Navy disclosed yesterday the FBI and Navy intelligence were investigating a third case of possible sabotage aboard naval vessels in New England shipyards.

The report came even as authorities questioned 2,500 civilian employees of the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Quincy shipyard regarding a previously disclosed incident.

Each case involved severed or defective cables. The latest to be turned over to FBI and intelligence officers involved fire control cables aboard the guided missile frigate Luce which is under construction.

THE NAVY said it first appeared that the cables were too short to be hooked up. The defect was first noted Dec. 28 and ruled accidental, but later was included in the investigation of two other incidents aboard the nuclear submarine Nautilus and the cruiser Long Beach, the nation's first nuclear-powered surface ship.

The Long Beach is being built here at the Bethlehem yard along with the conventionally powered Luce. The Nautilus cable cutting occurred in October at the Navy's Portsmouth, N. H., shipyard.

The armor-encased anti-magnetic cable of the Long Beach was found Wednesday to have been cut through with a hack saw. The cable is designed to repel magnetic mines in hostile waters.

LAST OCTOBER, the Navy disclosed "apparently intentional" cable cutting aboard the nation's first nuclear submarine, the Nautilus, which was being overhauled.

Honorary Society

Pre-medical and pre-dental students who have completed five quarters or more of pre-medical or pre-dental work with an accumulative point-hour ratio of 3.00 or better and who are interested in becoming members of Alpha Epsilon Delta, national pre-medical honorary society, are asked to come to the office of the College of Arts and Sciences at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Applications for initiation may be obtained and interviews held with the officers of the chapter and advisor, Frances Naylor.

She said that most of the boys in her country study engineering and the girls are pretty evenly divided between education and pharmacy. "Surprisingly there are not as many in home economics."

Dorm life at Paterson Hall agrees with Jade. She said, "Dorm life back home is so different. The two can't compare. Girls have to sign out for everything, even classes. After 8 p.m., special permission has to be received to leave the dormitory."

SHE SAID that most of the students go home on weekends and that boys "can't visit girls' dorms when they please. There are two days with special times set aside for visiting. If a boy has a date at any other time he can go to the desk to ask to see her but he can't go into the lounge."

As for the Ohio State students themselves Jade said, "I think they're a little older than students back home. Despite what people say, they are more mature."

Summing up, she said that Ohio State students are "more friendly than at home. Here people smile at you even when you don't know them."

Bucks Top Delaware

Garry Gearhart, John Cedargren, Richie Hoyt, Dick Furry and Bob Knight took over and added 18 more points while putting on a crowd pleasing performance with their work under the bucket.

BEFORE RETIRING for the night, John Havlicek, Joe Roberts, Mel Nowell, Larry Siegfried and Howie Nourse opened up the first five minutes of the second stanza with a 19-point barrage.

Taylor cleared the bench with the score 93-30 and a little over five minutes to go.

After two misses with 99 showing on the board for Ohio State, Knight got the biggest hand of the night as his "bunny" put the Bucks over the century mark for the first time this season.

Five men placed in the double figure column in scoring with Knight topping the quintet at 15. Roberts and Nowell meshed 14 apiece, Havlicek hit for 13 and Nourse got 10.

SLICING IT THIN

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass. — (UPI) — Biological tissues can now be sliced so thin that 254,000 layers would be needed for a one-inch thickness. This is possible as the result of an automatic microtome knife sharpened developed by the American Optical Co.

Land-Seizure Protested

THE PROTEST capped a steady decline in relations between Castro's Cuba and the State Department. Bonsal had tried in a series of informal petitions to win some satisfaction from Cuban authorities over the confiscations.

Department officials noted the protest contained no threat of retaliatory action. There have been suggestions the United States might lower Cuba's sugar import quota or withhold money due Cuban exporters.

The announcement said in many seizures "no inventories were taken nor were any received, preferred nor any indication afforded that payment was intended to be made" to the American property owners.

THE UNITED States dismissed Cuban contentions that the property was taken validly as part of Castro's "national agrarian reform institute."

The United States in previous notes, the Department said, expressed full support of soundly conceived programs for rural and land reform not only in Cuba but in other countries.

There were 618 students from Hamilton County at Ohio State in 1958-59.

LUCKY STRIKE presents

Dear Dr. Frood:

MARRYING FOR MONEY—IS FROOD IN FAVOR?

(see below)

Dear Dr. Frood: The other day I stopped at my boy friend's house unexpectedly and I found Lucky Strike butts with lipstick on them in the ash tray. What should I do?
Observant

Dear Observant: Go ahead and smoke them. A little lipstick won't hurt you.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am a 267-pound tackle on the football team, cleanup hitter on the baseball team, champion shot-putter and captain of the basketball team. Where can I find a job when I graduate?
Athletically Inclined

Dear Athletically Inclined: Look in the Want Ads under "Boy—strong."

Dear Dr. Frood: Recently, while collecting ants, I happened upon this strange creature in the woods. I enclose a sketch. What is it?
Nature Lover

Dear Nature Lover: It is socia ignota (blind date). Do not go near. Poisonous.

© A. T. Co.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am a math professor. Over half my students are flunking their tests. What can I do about this?
Discouraged

Dear Discouraged: Use Frood's Formula: Divide distance between students' chairs by 2. Since chairs will now be closer together, result should be a 50% improvement in exam grades.

Dear Dr. Frood: Last Saturday my girl told me she couldn't go out with me because she had a cold. Next day I found out she was out with my roommate. Think I should stay away from her?
Disillusioned

Dear Disillusioned: Better stay away from your roommate. He's probably caught the cold now.

Dear Dr. Frood: I understand that your hobby is cooking. Mine is, too. But my girl friend says any guy who cooks is a sissy. How can I make her stop laughing at me?
Cooky

Dear Cooky: Place a large cauldron of oil over a high flame. When it comes to a boil, add your girl friend.

Dear Dr. Frood: Should a man marry a girl who makes more money than he does?
Old-Fashioned

Dear Old-Fashioned: If it's at all possible.
