In Memoriam Thomas J. Taylor

lessen ten hurled into view beyond the reef tonight a star passing overhead without thought or action in the heavens of my mental plate against the tunes resolved to become this tune entry into the world’s plain and center at some distance arrival noted for others to guide them onto the frame of familiarity a day away from the landing site this place unparalleled like a moebius strip on the table with words on the side to indicate a path or life journey to take forward into the mark of light and dark against every

Tom Taylor
From Seventy, Luna Bisonte Prods, 2008