Thousands of Alumni Will Sing Ohio's Praise.
A hundred years of memories will be recalled in one weekend, when Ohio State University alumni throughout the world return to their alma mater to observe the university's centennial year.

A Centennial Ball on March 20 at the Sheraton Hotel will highlight Chatter Weekend, with more than 142,000 OSU alumni being invited to the giant birthday celebration.

Photographs fade and landmarks fall, but memories of old and dear schoolmates and campus scenery stay as green as the newly sprouting grass on The Oval.

Time and change have not dimmed memories of strolling around Mirror Lake, dancing at a junior prom in the old Elks' Lodge, tennis playing on a dirt court in an open field, campus coeds turned "angels of mercy" during World War I.

Giant searchlights will point the way to the Sheraton Hotel the evening of the gala ball, and the music of the OSU Marching Band will herald the beginning of the celebration.

Scarlet and gray red carpet treatment will be accorded alumni, as they ride the escalators to the renamed "Buckeye Promenade." Greeting guests will be the honorary chairmen, OSU President Novice G. Fawcett and Milton Caniff, and their wives.

Also in the receiving line will be C. Gordon Jelliffe, OSU Alumni Association president; William E. Knepper, alumni centennial chairman; William A. McNutt, Franklin County Alumni Association president; Dr. Alfred Garrett, general centennial chairman, and Dr. Richard M. Hall, director of Alumni Affairs.

A flourish of trumpets will open the doors to a champagne dinner, with dancing to the music of Sammy Kaye and his Orchestra.

OSU Centennial Ball Invitations
Go Out by Coed Couriers Sunday

A Buckeye-Blast-off is slated Sunday afternoon at the home of Ohio State University President and Mrs. Novice G. Fawcett to mark the formal mailing of invitations to the Ohio State Centennial Ball March 20.

Most of the 142,000 living Ohio State alumni are being invited to the ball through various mailings, but very important alumni, called VIA's, will be invited personally, by one of the university's Centennial Couriers.

The Couriers, Ohio State coeds in scarlet and grey costumes, and their escorts, men from the ROTC ranks at the university, will deliver and mail 400 invitations to VIA's following a tea given in their honor at 1 p.m. at the Fawcett home.

Among the Couriers will be 10 coeds from the Angel Flight, 10 from the Co-Ed Cadets, 10 from the Mortar Board and the Centennial Queen and her Court. They will depart from the Fawcetts' at about 1:30 p.m., traveling by historic vehicle and scarlet Volkswagens. Pep band music will cheer them away.

They will carry scarlet and grey corsages to present to each of the VIA's receiving an invitation in the Columbus area.

Many Northwest Area residents are serving as chairmen on the committee planning the ball to be held at the Columbus Sheraton.

These include Mervin A. Durea as ball co-chairman; Charles H. Kent, cocktail hour co-chairman; John J. Spittler, decorations co-chairman; John Moore, entertainment co-chairman; Del G. Starkey and Henry L. Wagner, historians; William K. Judy, invitations; Frederick Stecker, protocol; Mrs. Richard S. Donahay Jr. and Kline L. Roberts, public relations co-chairmen; Richard Trott and Mrs. Edward E. Slooter, memorabilia co-chairmen.

C. Gordon Jelliffe, 2405 Onandaga Dr., is president of the Ohio State University Alumni Association and William E. Knepper, 2825 York Rd., is alumni centennial chairman.

Search skylights will beam and a rally wagon will play the music of the Ohio State Marching Band from 7 to 8 p.m. as guests arrive at the Sheraton for the ball.

During this cocktail hour, the Charlie Pickens Trio will play for the "Buckeye Promenade," on the mezzanine.

The centennial queen and her court and their escorts will greet all guests in the lower lobby where large banners will welcome the alumni. Scarlet and grey carpet laid especially for the occasion will direct the way to escalators and up to the "Promenade."

From 7:30 to 8 p.m., a small reception line to greet all guests will include President and Mrs. Fawcett, the Milton Caniff's, honorary chairmen; the Jelliffes, the Kneppers, the William A. McNutts, Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Garrett, and Dr. and Mrs. Richard M. Mall.

Mr. McNutt is president of the Franklin County Alumni Association; Dr. Garrett is general centennial chairman; and Dr. Mall is director of alumni affairs.

At 8:30 p.m., a flourish of trumpets will open the doors to a champagne dinner and the music of Frank Larue and his strolling violins.

Guests will be presented with gifts created by Mr. Caniff. Mr. Jelliffe will make presentations and introduce entertainment including William Dougherty playing his own composition, "Across the Field."

From 9:15 p.m. to 1:30 a.m., there will be dancing to the music of Sammy Kaye and his orchestra.
Couriers Deliver Ohio State Centennial Ball Invitations

Clad in scarlet and grey and armed with invitations, scarlet and grey poms poms, and scarlet carnations, some of Ohio State Centennial Couriers rode off in scarlet Ford Mavericks Sunday afternoon, from the home of President and Mrs. Novice G. Fawcett on Ohio State University campus.

The Centennial Couriers were chosen from the ranks of the Centennial Queen and her court, Mortar Board, Coed Cadets, and Angel Flight. They bore invitations to the gala OSU Centennial Ball to be held Friday, March 20, at the Sheraton-Columbus Hotel.

The invitations were hand-delivered to some 400 “very important alumni.”

The cars they rode in, driven by their young male escorts, had an Ohio State seal on the fender.

This Buckeye Blast Off from the Fawcett home was the culmination of weeks of preparation by the Centennial Ball committee headed by Mrs. Raymond A. Bethel and Mervin A. Durea. President and Mrs. Fawcett, along with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Caniff of New York City, are the honorary co-chairmen of the ball.

The ball, which is the kickoff for Charter Weekend at Ohio State, will include cocktails at 7 p.m., dinner at 8, memorabilia and entertainment and introduction of famous guests at 9:15, followed by dancing to Sammy Kaye and his orchestra.

Model Cities Revisio
To Await New Coor

By MIKE IORZ
Citizen-Journal Staff Writer

Plans to overhaul the Model Cities General Assembly and to appoint an advisory commission to study program problems will be tabled temporarily Monday night by Council.

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner said agreement had been reached to forego action on the measures until new Model Cities Coordinator John Francis gets his feet on the ground.

SENSENBRENNER made his announcement Friday after the weekly closed-door Council and Administration (Con-Ad) meeting.

Francis, an attorney and former chairman of the Civil Service Commission, was appointed by Sensenbrenner last Monday to look at city's top Model Cities Post. He begins that job Monday, succeeding by Co-Sylvestre Angel, who Monday assumes similar duties in Detroit.

FRANCIS SAID he did not request tabling the Model Cities measures, but would use the time "to get in there and find out what the problems are," before recommending any major changes.

The mayor's controversial proposal to appoint 20 more people to the 30-member MCDA was tabled last Monday by Council.

THE OTHER PROPOSAL, made by Councilman John Rosemond, was to create an 11-member Model Cities Advisory Commission, to find out why the program seems to have bogged down.

The Model Cities Program currently is being reviewed by a committee established by the p. A citizen's group called the PLAN.

Asbeck Chose To Stay With Unit In Vietnam

Gregory J. Asbeck, Grove City, who was killed in a plane crash at Da Nang Air Base in Vietnam, apparently chose to stay in Vietnam with his Naval air unit, U.S. Rep. Chalmers Wylie's office was advised by the Pentagon.

The mother of the 22-year-old marin's mate said it seemed unfair for her son to be there so long when most of the boys get to come home after a year. He had been in Vietnam about two and a half years.

REP. WYLIE'S Washington office in response to a request from Mrs. Frank X. Asbeck, asked the Pentagon why Asbeck was not returned to the United States.

The Pentagon asked Fleet Air Reconnaissance Squadron No. 1 why, and the Squadron sent this message to the Chief of Naval Personnel at Washington:

"ADVISE CHIEF of naval personnel Asbeck has requested leave."

In a later message:

"INTERVIEWED subject on 15 December, 1969. Member stated he had written he would request leave. However, he subsequently decided not to. Asbeck will advise mother of present plans."

Then on Oct. 18:

"ASBECHE WAS given orders to the Airborne Early Warning Squadron No. 3 and Asbeck requested orders he cancelled. He did not want assignment. He desired to stay in unit he was in. Does not want leave and will communicate same to parents."

Location of Airborne Early Warning Squadron No. 3 is classified, Wylie's office was

A full-scale legislative investigation of conditions in Ohio Penitentiary — that's what House Minority Leader John C. McDonald (D-Newark) will demand Monday.

He will ask for bipartisan support. But, chances he will get it seemed slim.

REP. KEITH McNamara (R-Columbus), told the Citizen-Journal late Friday:

"Any recommendation for an "additional study of Ohio's penal system" would be an obvious effort at headline hunting."

 McNamara referred to the fact McDonald, 33, a lawyer, seeks the Democratic nomination for Ohio Attorney General.

McNamara introduced last fall a motion asking the Legislative Service Commission (LSC) to study "all aspects of prison operations and the parole system." He said Friday the LSC staff is doing so.

McDONALD will ask for a blue-ribbon committee to investigate charges raised in a Bloomfield. He wrote an eye-witness account of his days as a guard last fall Ohio Penitentiary.

"This is a follow-up," McDonald said, "of the horror revealed in the Bloomfield series. We have going at this for years. The climate may be right for it now as the public is concerned. ... What we need now's some teeth and no more whitewash."

LEGISLATURE wants to be sure he gets his place where in the Republican-controlled General Assembly but two Democrats said they would support the resolution "no matter which party presents it."

They were Sen. Marigie Vaillette, Toledo, and Rep. Phale D. Hale, Columbus.

David Johnston, LSC staff director, said he hoped the LSC investigation would in report form by January. He said he has one staff member working on it full time and one or two others working on it "pretty steadily."

Blood-Stained Rug Linked To Murders

Police admitted Thursday they have a two-by-four-foot gold throw rug which they believe was taken from an OSU area apartment where an OSU graduate student and his girl friend were murdered Feb. 27.

Police said a blood-stained rug matching the description of one missing from the 178 W. Eighth-Apartment where William Sproat, 22, and Mary Petry, 20, a coed at a Cincinnati college, were murdered, was recovered March 5, but has proved no help in the murder investigation.

Sproats roommate, Thomas McGuigan, 22, told police he thinks it's the same rug, but can't be sure.

Detectives think the killer used the rug to wipe blood from a butcher knife he used in the murders.

Police said the blood stain on the carpet was taken to be the same type as Miss Petry's blood. This was considered significant, however. Both victims had very common blood types.

THE RUG was found in the back of an old, abandoned Omar Bakery truck an alley west of High-st with in eight blocks and south of the murder scene.

Indications were that it had not been in the truck the entire time since the murder.
