Introduction

The Audiovisual Collection Sub-Group contains approximately 100 cubic feet of materials and 314 oversized or framed items documenting the life of Senator John H. Glenn, Jr. and the life of his wife, Anna “Annie” Castor Glenn. The materials date from 1896 to 2016, though the bulk of the materials date from 1959 to 1998. Included in the Audiovisual Collection are materials from the Glenn and Castor families, from John Glenn’s childhood in New Concord, Ohio, from Glenn’s military, space, and corporate careers, and from Glenn’s political career as a United States Senator from Ohio. Approximately one-third of the sub-group consists of photographs ranging from family snapshots to photographs taken by various official photographers for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and the United States Senate. Other types of visual materials in the collection include original works of art, limited edition prints, cartoons, portraits, maps, and motion pictures in both film and video format. Sound recordings contained within the collection include cassette and reel-to-reel tapes, phonographic recordings, and compact disks. The remainder of the collection consists of certificates and awards given to John and Annie Glenn and various types of ephemera collected by them.

Access: The Audiovisual Collection Sub-Group is open to public research under the rules and regulations of The Ohio State University.

Copyrights: John and Anna Glenn have dedicated such copyrights as they possess in the Audiovisual Collection Sub-Group to the public. Consideration of all other copyrights is the responsibility of the author and the publisher.

Arrangement: The arrangement of the materials within the Audiovisual Collection Sub-Group consists of thirteen series – Audio Tapes; Cartoons; Certificates; Compact Disks; Ephemera; Maps; Motion Picture Films; Original Art Works; Phonographic Recordings; Photographs; Portraits; Prints; and Video Tapes.

Processing Note: Jeffrey W. Thomas, with staff members, Michelle Drobik and Julie Petersen, processed and arranged the Audiovisual Collection Sub-Group from 1999 to 2006. Additional materials were added to the collection from 2010 to 2017. Most of the items housed within the Audiovisual Collection arrived at The Ohio State University already separated by type of material. The culling performed for preservation purposes during the processing of the Senate Papers and the Non-Senate Papers Sub-Groups of the John Glenn Archives added further items, especially photographs, to the collection. With the exception of the photographs, the collection’s box and folder inventory provides a listing on the item level of all the materials within the collection.

Many of the series within the collection contain materials too large to fit within a standard size archival box. Workers processing these oversized materials sorted them first by type into their respective series, then by size for storage in suitable boxes. In addition, the collection contains more than three hundred framed items, each entered individually in the inventory under box numbers in the 900s. Listed at the end of the box and folder inventory for each series, when appropriate, are the items housed within the oversized boxes attached to the series, and the framed items included with that series.

Scope and Content Note

Series 1: Audio Tapes

Boxes 1 - 12

The Audio Tapes Series consists of 511 sound recordings dating from 1959 to 1998, though most tapes date from the 1980s and 1990s. Formats within the series include cassette tapes, micro-cassette tapes, and reel-to-reel tapes ranging from three to seven inches in diameter. The arrangement of the recordings within the series is first by format, then by the sub-series of Senate, NASA, Family, and Annie Glenn. Arrangement of the tapes within each sub-series is in chronological order.

Most of the 286 sound recordings on cassette tape date from John Glenn's career in the U.S. Senate. The tapes contain recordings of interviews, press conferences, and speeches, along with recordings dating from 1985 to 1988 of Glenn's "Dateline Washington" radio program. Also included is a series of recordings from the Great Lakes Washington Roundtables on Pollution Prevention held between April and December 1994. The Great Lakes Task Force, a bipartisan coalition co-chaired by Senator Glenn of U.S. Senators from the states bordering the Great Lakes, sponsored these roundtables.

With just a few exceptions, the 122 micro-cassettes in the series date from Glenn's campaign for the Democratic Party's nomination in the 1984 presidential election. Dating from 1982 to 1984, the recordings consist of speeches, interviews, and press conferences. Other micro-cassettes contain recordings from the late 1980s of various political speeches and statements on such policy issues as arms control, "Star Wars," and pollution. Of note are four micro-cassettes containing recordings from the November 1978 CODEL Ribicoff trip to London and the Soviet Union in which Senator Glenn participated.

The NASA sub-series of cassette recordings includes tapes containing the air/ground communications during the Friendship 7 space flight on February 20, 1962, and Glenn's interviews and statements on significant anniversaries of the event. Other recordings date from Glenn's return to space in 1998 as a crewmember aboard the Space Shuttle Discovery Mission STS-95. These tapes include training sessions and various media interviews.

Most of the 103 reel-to-reel tape recordings in the series pertain to Glenn's space flight aboard the Friendship 7 spacecraft. The recordings include multiple tape sets of the space flight's air/ground communications, and a set of tapes from the New York City ticker-tape parade held in honor of Glenn on March 1, 1962. Also included are recordings of a few radio programs produced in tribute to the space flight. The series contains recordings of various poetry, music, and messages sent to Glenn by school children and the general public. Other tapes contain recordings of the statements and interviews made by Glenn following his space flight, including his speech to a special joint session of Congress. Also of note are recordings of the speeches he and Soviet cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov delivered at the Committee on Space Research (COSPAR) meeting in May 1962, and recordings of the radio broadcasts from the goodwill tour of Europe Glenn made for NASA in 1965.

Reel-to-reel recordings from John Glenn's years in the U.S. Senate consist chiefly of radio spots from his 1970 through 1980 election campaigns, and a few interviews about his consideration as the Democratic Party's vice-presidential nominee in the 1976 presidential election. Also included is a recording of the statements made by Annie Glenn and Rene Carpenter at an event during Glenn's 1964 senate campaign.

The series also contains several recordings of speeches made by Annie Glenn, including her first public speech given on September 15, 1979 at the Canton (Ohio) Women's Club. Included in the series under the family sub-series is a recording of the "Layman Sunday" sermon John Glenn delivered in 1959 to the congregation of the Little Falls Presbyterian Church in Arlington, Virginia. Also in the family sub-series are five cassette tapes recorded by Lyn Glenn during her trip in 1985 to various refugee camps in Southeast Asia.

Series 2: Cartoons

Box 13; 24 framed items

The Cartoons Series contains fifty-seven political cartoons, dating from 1959 to 2016, pertaining to John Glenn's two assignments to NASA and to his career in the U.S. Senate. Most of the cartoons within the series are original works of art inscribed to Glenn and signed by the cartoonist. Included in the series are works by such notable cartoonists as Jim Borgman, Mike Peters, Jeff Stahler, and Gary Trudeau. Topics for the Senate cartoons include most of Glenn's senate campaigns and his 1984 presidential campaign. Other Senate cartoons pertain to the cleanup of U.S. Department of Energy nuclear sites, Congressional legislation on regulatory reform in 1995, and Glenn's retirement from the U.S. Senate.

The NASA cartoons contain a few items satirizing NASA during the Project Mercury era and several cartoons honoring John Glenn for his Friendship 7 space flight. Also included are numerous cartoons relating to Glenn's return to space aboard the Space Shuttle Discovery in 1998. Many of these cartoons play upon the fact that Glenn returned to space as a shuttle astronaut at the age of seventy-seven.

Series 3: Certificates

Boxes 14 - 18; 12 framed items

Items within the Certificates Series date from 1919 to 2016, though the bulk of the items date from 1959 to 1998. The series contains the hundreds of paper-based recognitions presented to John Glenn over the course of his fifty years in public service. The various certificates pay tribute to Glenn's activities and achievements in all the various phases of his life - military, NASA, corporate, and the U.S. Senate. The series also contains many items presented to Annie Glenn, along with items presented to the parents of both John and Annie Glenn. Included in the series are such recognitions as certificates of appreciation or achievement, awards, certificates of membership, honorary degrees, proclamations, and resolutions. The arrangement of items within the series is initially by size for preservation purposes, with each size then arranged in chronological order. The collection box and folder inventory contains a listing of all items within the series.

Series 4: Compact Discs

Boxes 19 - 19.1

The Compact Discs Series contains sixty-one CDs or DVDs dating from 1974 and from 1997 to 2015. The 1974 item is an electronic format copy of an audio recording of the primary election debate between John Glenn and Howard Metzenbaum that took place at the City Club of Cleveland on May 3, 1974, during which Glenn delivered his noted “Gold Star Mother” speech. Five of the discs contain songs or music written and dedicated to John Glenn in response to his 1998 return to space as a crewmember aboard the Space Shuttle Discovery Mission STS-95. Another disc contains a Microsoft PowerPoint slide presentation on the building of a full-sized replica of the Friendship 7 spacecraft by the apprentice program of the Bosch Corporation in Charleston, South Carolina. Upon completion, the company installed the replica on the U.S.S. Yorktown at the Patriots Point Maritime Museum in Charleston on February 20, 1997, the thirty-fifth anniversary of Glenn’s space flight. Other discs pertain to Glenn’s involvement in programs celebrating the 100th anniversary of manned flight in 2003, the 50th anniversary of NASA in 2008, and the 50th anniversary of the Friendship 7 space flight in 2012. Also included are DVDs from various events honoring John Glenn, events where he presented a speech, and copies of two television programs aired in 2006 featuring John Glenn. Of note are two DVDs pertaining to the celebrations held at The Ohio State University in February 2012 to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Friendship 7 space flight and a documentary on the life of John Glenn produced by WOSU Public Media in 2013.

Series 5: Ephemera

Boxes 20 - 32; 23 framed items

The thirteen cubic feet of materials within the Ephemera Series date from 1938 to 2014, though most of the items date from the 1970s to the 1990s. The series contains a large number of miscellaneous paper-based items pertaining to all aspects of John Glenn’s various careers and to the activities of Annie Glenn. The arrangement of the series is by type into the ten categories of campaign, greeting cards, invitations, membership cards, miscellaneous, name tags, postcards, programs, stickers, and stamps. The arrangement within each category is alphabetically by folder heading, except for the campaign materials, for which the arrangement is chronological. Also arranged in chronological order are the commemorative stamp albums contained within the stamps category.

The campaign ephemera contain examples of the stationery, brochures, newsletters, issue statements, palm cards, and bumper stickers produced during Glenn’s six election campaigns for the U.S. Senate. Also included are materials from his 1984 presidential campaign and a “Dukakis-Glenn” bumper sticker reflecting the consideration of Glenn as the Democratic Party’s vice-presidential nominee in the 1988 presidential campaign. Housed in Box 32 are oversized posters from most of Glenn’s political campaigns.

The series contains a small sampling of greeting cards received by John and Annie Glenn from 1992 to 2002. Included are holiday cards and birthday cards sent to John Glenn, along with a few examples of the holiday cards sent by the Glenns during the 1990s. Also included are some holiday cards sent to the Glenns from the White House dating from the 1970s and 1980s. Of special note are some large, handmade valentines and holiday cards, dating from the 1960s to the 1990s, created by Ethel Kennedy, the wife of Robert Kennedy.

Most of the invitations in the series pertain to state dinners and similar events at the White House and other venues attended by Glenn during his career in the U.S. Senate. These events include presidential inaugurations, treaty signings, and dinners held in honor of foreign dignitaries. Also included is a series of invitations sent to Annie Glenn for luncheons sponsored by the Ladies of the Senate organization and for other events hosted by First Ladies Rosalynn Carter, Nancy Reagan, Barbara Bush, and Hillary Clinton.

The small number of membership cards in the series pertain primarily to various military and aviation organizations in which Glenn was a member. These organizations include the Explorers' Club, the Association of Naval Aviation, the National Aviation Hall of Fame, and the Early and Pioneer Naval Aviators Association.

The miscellaneous category contains various materials that do not fit readily into the other nine categories. Included are examples of Glenn's personal stationery and business cards and mementos from his childhood, such as a photocopy of the "Kars Kleaned Kwickly..." classified newspaper advertisement he took out as a teenager and an invoice pad from the Glenn Plumbing Company. Other mementos date from the Project Mercury era and include a kids menu in the form of a spaceman mask with meals named after the Mercury astronauts; napkins, placemats, and a ticket from the homecoming parade for Glenn held in New Concord, Ohio on March 3, 1962; Project Mercury trading cards; and Glenn's "receipt" for the Friendship 7 spacecraft.

The name tags in the series include Glenn's identification badges for various NASA mission launches and other events. Other name tags date from events Glenn attended as a U.S. Senator, such as visits to the United Nations and NATO, as well as his delegate badges from several Democratic Party conventions.

The postcards include a few cards with images of Glenn's boyhood homes in Cambridge and New Concord, Ohio. Other postcards pertain to Glenn's NASA career and include items from his original assignment with Project Mercury and from his return to space aboard the Space Shuttle Discovery in 1998.

The programs include items from a wide variety of events Glenn attended or participated in, ranging from the Cleveland National Air Races in 1938 to the opening ceremonies for the 2002 Olympic Winter Games held in Salt Lake City. Many of the programs are from events honoring Glenn, such as the Aviation Hall of Fame Enshrinement in 1976, the presentation of the first Congressional Space Medal of Honor in 1978, the Goddard Memorial Trophy Dinner in 1999, and the Alexis de Tocqueville Society Awards in 2002.

Most of the stickers in the series are from the various NASA programs and experiments pertaining to or performed during the Space Shuttle Discovery Mission STS-95. Other stickers in the collection include one with the logo of the Friendship 7 space flight and a few pertaining to U.S. Marine Corps aviation.

Contained within the Ephemera Series are numerous stamps, commemorative covers, and first day issue covers collected by Glenn during his NASA career and during his four terms in the U.S. Senate. Included are an extensive number of covers with a variety of cachets for the Project

Mercury stamp issued by the U.S. Postal Service on February 20, 1962, the day of the Friendship 7 space flight. Also included are stamps from many foreign countries released to commemorate either Glenn's space flight or the space flights made by other American astronauts and by various Soviet cosmonauts.

During his Senate career Glenn was a member and for a time, chairman, of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee. This committee holds the oversight responsibilities for the operation of the U.S. Postal Service. As a committee member Glenn collected approximately two hundred commemorative stamp albums dating from the 1980s and 1990s sent to him by the U.S. Postmaster General. Embossed on the cover with Senator Glenn's name, most of the albums contain a first day issue cover and either a plate block or a pane of the newly issued stamp. Many albums also contain information printed by the Postal Service about the stamp. Also included in the series are twelve oversized, framed and matted items containing first day covers, plate block sets of stamps, or panes of stamps commemorating either John Glenn's Friendship 7 space flight, his flight aboard the Space Shuttle Discovery, the Project Mercury space program, or other NASA programs.

Series 6: Maps

11 oversized items

The Audiovisual Collection contains a few large maps collected by John Glenn during both his NASA and U.S. Senate careers. One map is of Glenn's hometown of New Concord, Ohio and features various points of interest, including Glenn's boyhood home. Three of the maps, dating from the 1980s and 1990s, pertain to Glenn's work as co-chairman of the Great Lakes Task Force and feature Great Lakes economic and environmental issues. The remaining maps pertain to Glenn's NASA missions and include his personal map of the solar system. Other NASA maps show the orbital paths of the Friendship 7 space flight and the orbital paths flown during the Space Shuttle Discovery Mission STS-95.

Researchers should note that additional maps are located within the Military Series and the NASA Series of the Non-Senate Papers Sub-Group.

Series 7: Motion Picture Films

Boxes 33 - 47

The Motion Picture Films Series contains fifty-eight items dating from the 1950s to the 1970s. Sorted into the sub-series of family, military, NASA, corporate, and senate, the films range in size from three to sixteen inches in diameter. All the films are 16mm in format, except for one commercially produced 8mm film containing footage of the Friendship 7 space flight.

The family sub-series contains six short, color home movies of the Glenn family. The films date from the early 1950s and show various family activities recorded during the time John Glenn served with a U.S. Marine Corps aviation squadron stationed near Corpus Christi, Texas.

The twenty films in the military sub-series date from the early to mid-1950s. Most of the films contain black and white footage from the gun camera mounted on the aircraft Glenn piloted during the Korean War. The footage shows various bombing and strafing missions Glenn flew as well as the aerial combat Glenn engaged in against North Korean MiG fighters. Other films dating from the Korean War record some ground activities at the airfield Glenn flew from, and include footage showing the damage done to his jet by enemy anti-aircraft fire. The sub-series also includes a few films from the time period when Glenn was a test pilot at the Naval Air Test Center in Patuxent River, Maryland. Another film contains footage (picture only, no sound track) of one of the five appearances Glenn made in September and October 1957 on the “Name That Tune” television game show following his Project Bullet record breaking transcontinental flight.

The twenty-five films in the NASA sub-series date from the Project Mercury era of the early 1960s. Many of these films contain footage of the Friendship 7 mission, including one film with color footage of Glenn inside the capsule taken during the space flight. NASA produced most of these Friendship 7 films, though the collection also contains a film shot by an Italian film crew and another film on the space flight produced by the Burroughs Corporation focusing on the spacecraft’s guidance system. Other films in the sub-series record the activities immediately following the Friendship 7 mission. Included is footage of Glenn and fellow astronaut Scott Carpenter scuba diving off Grand Turk Island, footage of the Patrick Air Force Base and Cape Canaveral ceremonies, and multiple films of the homecoming parade in honor of Glenn held on March 3, 1962 in New Concord, Ohio. Also contained within the NASA sub-series are a few films shot during or about Glenn’s goodwill trip to Japan in 1963, along with footage of an interview of Glenn by David Brinkley recorded on February 20, 1963, the first anniversary of the Friendship 7 space flight.

The single film within the corporate sub-series contains a color copy of the documentary “On the Trail of Stanley and Livingstone” featuring John Glenn produced by Wolper Productions, Inc. in 1967 and nationally broadcasted for the “Great Explorations” television program in January 1968. On the program Glenn retraced the route through Africa taken during 1871 by Sir Henry Stanley in his search of Dr. David Livingstone.

Of the five films in the senate sub-series, two pertain to Glenn’s campaign for the U.S. Senate in 1970. One of these films contains a short campaign advertisement, while the other has footage of his campaign announcement speech delivered at Muskingum College on January 15, 1970. The other three films consist of a profile of Glenn produced for the 1976 Democratic Party National Convention, a profile of Admiral James Stockdale featuring footage of Glenn with the admiral, and an interview of Glenn on the news program “Face to Face” dating from the 1970s.

Series 8: Original Art Works

Box 48; 36 framed items

The Original Art Works Series contains forty-eight items dating from 1962 to 2015 collected by or given to John and Annie Glenn. Included in the series are oil and watercolor paintings, drawings in pencil, charcoal, or ink, art prints, etchings, a bas-relief sculpture, and a mosaic tile portrait of John Glenn. While professional artists produced many of these works of art, the majority of the items in the series are by amateurs of varying ability. Several of the paintings and drawings depict the “MiG Mad Marine” F-86 Sabre aircraft Glenn flew during the Korean War as an exchange pilot with the U.S. Air Force. Glenn’s Friendship 7 spacecraft and other NASA spacecraft of the 1960s era are the subject in many of the other paintings and drawings. Also included are a variety of Japanese art prints and other works of art given to Glenn during his NASA goodwill trip to Japan in 1963. In addition, the series contains pen and ink drawings of President John F. Kennedy and Robert Kennedy given to the Glenns by Ethel Kennedy in the late 1960s.

Sixteen of the items in the series are paintings by folk artist Bernadine P. Stetzel of Fremont, Ohio. A personal favorite of Annie Glenn, many of Ms. Stetzel's paintings depict major events in John Glenn's life, such as the New York City ticker-tape parade held on March 1, 1962 to honor Glenn and the other Project Mercury astronauts, Glenn's speech to the 1976 Democratic National Convention, and his speech announcing his candidacy for president in April 1983.

Series 9: Phonographic Recordings

Boxes 49 - 51

The Phonographic Recordings Series consists of sixty-four sound recordings on vinyl disks formatted at 45 rpm, 78 rpm, or 33.3 rpm. The recordings date from 1961 to 1983, though most of the materials date from 1962 and 1963. The series includes one 45 rpm record containing a campaign song performed by John Stewart of the Kingston Trio for John Glenn's 1964 senate campaign. All other records in the series pertain to either Glenn's Friendship 7 space flight or to other aspects of NASA's early space programs. The arrangement of the series is first by record format for preservation purposes, then alphabetically by name of the recording artist or record company name.

Among the 33.3 rpm records are recordings of Glenn's Friendship 7 space flight and other Project Mercury space flights commercially produced by such major record labels as Columbia Records, Reprise Records, and the National Broadcasting Company. A typical record may contain sound excerpts from the space flight's air/ground communications, from the flight's media coverage, and from the events following the flight's successful conclusion. Other 33.3 rpm records in the series contain musical tributes to either John Glenn or to the NASA space program in general. Also included is a recording of the Friendship 7 space flight produced by the U.S. Information Agency for use in English language classes. Another record contains an interview of John Glenn, dated April 31, 1963, from the NBC news program "Meet the Press."

Most 45 rpm and 78 rpm recordings in the series contain songs written to commemorate John Glenn and the Friendship 7 space flight. These recordings offer a variety of songs performed by either professional musicians or by amateurs of varying degrees of talent. Typical of the songs represented in the series are such titles as "The Day John Glenn Came Home," "Mighty John Glenn," "Big John Glenn," "Orbit with Me," "I Dreamed I was an Astronaut," "Just a Spaceman," and three different selections of "The Ballad of John Glenn."

Series 10: Photographs

Boxes 52 - 110; 95 framed items

The Photographs Series consists of forty-five cubic feet of photographs, negatives, and 35mm slides dating from 1896 to 2016, though the bulk of the materials date from the 1930s through the 1990s. In addition, the series contains twenty-one boxes of oversized photographic prints ranging in size from nine by eleven inches to twenty by twenty-four inches. Also included in the series are ninety-two framed and matted photographs, most having some type of inscription or signature on the mat. Arranged into the seven sub-series of family, military, NASA, corporate, senate, post-senate, and Annie Glenn, the series presents a wealth of visual documentation about a wide variety of events, activities, people, and places associated with John Glenn's various careers. Also well represented within the series are photographs of his wife, Anna "Annie" Castor Glenn, along with images of members of both the Glenn and Castor families.

The family sub-series consists of one and one-half cubic feet of photographs, three boxes of oversized photographs, and two photograph albums. Included in the sub-series are photographs of John Glenn's father and mother, John H. and Clara (Sproat) Glenn, Sr. The photographs range from a baby picture of John H. Glenn, Sr. taken in 1896 to images of Clara Glenn being honored as "Mother of the Year" in 1962. Many of the photographs in the sub-series are family snapshots taken during the 1920s and 1930s and show images of John Glenn, Jr. as a baby, child, and teenager growing up in New Concord, Ohio. The Glenn family snapshots also feature images of the Glenn home and other locations within the village of New Concord. Other snapshot type images in the sub-series originate from the Dr. Homer and Margaret Castor family and include childhood photographs of Annie Castor Glenn. The sub-series also includes some photographs of David and Carolyn Ann "Lyn" Glenn, the children of John and Annie Glenn. Most of these images consist of family portraits dating from the 1950s to the 1990s. Of special note is a series of candid photographs of Annie, David, and Lyn Glenn taken during the 1959 to 1965 time period by photographers for Life magazine. Also of note within the sub-series are photographs of Robert and Ethel Kennedy, including two photograph albums from the 1960s of social events at the Kennedy home on Penobscot Bay, Maine.

Also included in the family sub-series is one cubic foot of photographs taken by Lyn Glenn during various political and NASA related events she attended in the 1990s. Events of note include John Glenn's 1992 re-election campaign, the inaugurations of President William J. Clinton in 1993 and 1997, and her father's return to space in 1998 as a crew member aboard the Space Shuttle Discovery Mission STS-95.

The military sub-series consists of one cubic foot and two oversized boxes of photographs, dating from 1942 to 1998, arranged chronologically into the categories of World War II, Post-War, Korean War, test pilot, and miscellaneous. Many of the photographs are portraits of John Glenn in uniform taken at various times during his twenty-three-year career as an aviator in the United States Marine Corps. A number of these portraits show Glenn posed on or alongside the aircraft he flew, such as the F4U Corsair in World War II, the F9F Panther and F-86F Sabre in the Korean War, and the F8U Crusader he flew as a test pilot in the mid-1950s. Other photographs in the sub-series are of scenes and activities taken at the various stateside and overseas airfields to which Glenn was assigned. These airfields include locations on Midway Island and the Marshall Islands during World War II. The World War II and Korean War photographs also contain some aerial photographs of target areas for the fighter-bomber missions Glenn flew during these two conflicts. Most of the photographs in the test pilot category pertain to Project Bullet, the record setting transcontinental flight Glenn flew in July 1957. The miscellaneous photographs date from 1965 to 1998 and pertain to military related events Glenn attended or was associated with after his retirement from active duty. Examples include the building of the Korean War Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C. and various anniversary celebrations for the U.S. Marine Corps.

The NASA sub-series contains photographs dating from 1959 to 1999 and consists of eight and one-half cubic feet of photographs, eight boxes of oversized photographs, and four photograph albums. With the exception of a handful of images, photographs within the sub-series are black and white prints of photographs taken by official NASA photographers. Arranged in rough chronological order, the sub-series covers the three general categories of early NASA programs, post-NASA career, and the Space Shuttle Discovery Mission STS-95.

Photographs within the early NASA programs category date from 1959 to 1964. Included are some images of the unmanned space missions conducted by NASA from 1959 to 1961, and some photographs of the various astronauts and missions within the Gemini and Apollo space programs. The majority of the photographs, however, pertain to the training and missions of the original Mercury 7 astronauts in the Project Mercury space program. Included are an extensive number of photographs of Glenn's training for his Mercury-Atlas Mission 6 aboard the Friendship 7 spacecraft and of the various mission launches postponed during January and February 1962. The sub-series offers excellent documentation of Glenn's historic February 20, 1962 orbital flight. Contained within the sub-series are numerous photographs of the mission's preflight preparations, of the mission launch, of Glenn inside his capsule during the flight, and of the post-flight recovery activities. Also well documented are the parades and ceremonies held in honor of Glenn in the two weeks following his successful space flight.

The post-NASA career category contains photographs dating from 1965 to 1998, the period of time between Glenn's resignation from the space program and his return to space as a crewmember on the Space Shuttle Discovery. Included in this category are photographs from Glenn's goodwill trips for NASA to Japan in 1963 and to Europe in 1965 and 1966. The remaining photographs pertain to a variety of space related organizations in which Glenn was a member, or to reunions and anniversaries of the Project Mercury space program.

The NASA sub-series also includes many photographs pertaining to John Glenn's return to space as a crewmember on the Space Shuttle Discovery Mission STS-95. These photographs cover Glenn's visits to various NASA facilities, his training for the mission, and the mission launch, onboard activities, and landing. Additional photographs document the post-flight activities of the shuttle crew, including the parades held in Cocoa Beach, Florida and New York City, and trips to Japan and Spain made by the shuttle astronauts.

NASA sub-series photographs in the oversized boxes generally pertain to the same subject matters as outlined above. Separated into appropriate sized boxes for conservation purposes, these oversized photographs are listed on the item level in the collection box and folder inventory. Notable within the oversized boxes are the photographs of the Project Mercury space program taken by Life magazine photographers from 1959 to 1964. These Life magazine photographs also include some images of John Glenn's activities during his brief campaign for the U.S. Senate in 1964. Also of note within oversized materials are the photographs sent to Glenn by NASA astronauts and officials during his four terms in the U.S. Senate. Included are a number of matted and autographed photo montages from various space shuttle missions dating from the first space shuttle mission in 1981 to the "All Ohio" crew aboard the Space Shuttle Discovery Mission STS-70 in July 1995.

The corporate sub-series consists of one cubic foot of photographs dating from the 1960s and 1970s. Most of the photographs pertain to the trips John Glenn made in the 1960s to various foreign countries as the vice president for the Royal Crown Cola Company's international division. Other photographs are of groundbreakings and other activities for Holiday Inn motels in Florida. Of note is a series of photographs taken during Glenn's trip through Africa in 1967 for the television program "Great Explorations."

The senate sub-series dates from 1964 to 1998 and consists of seven cubic feet of photographs, three oversized boxes, and one photograph album. Arranged into the four categories of campaigns, chronological files, VIPs, and portraits, the photographs within the sub-series offer a substantial amount of visual materials documenting Glenn's political campaigns and his twenty-four years in the U.S. Senate.

Arranged chronologically by election year, the photographs within the campaign category cover all six of Glenn's campaigns for the U.S. Senate, from 1964 through 1992. The category also contains photographs from his bid for the Democratic Party's presidential nomination in the 1984 election. Photographs for each election campaign generally consist of images of Glenn speaking or of Glenn with voters at various campaign events. Due to volume, event photographs within the 1984 presidential campaign files are arranged by state. Other campaign photographs feature Annie or Lyn Glenn, both of whom were active during election campaigns. Photographs of Annie and Lyn are especially prominent in the 1984 presidential election.

Dating from 1968 to 1998, the chronological files cover Glenn's four terms in the U.S. Senate as well as some of his political activities prior to his first election, such as Robert F. Kennedy's presidential campaign in 1968. Included are general files of miscellaneous photographs sorted per year from 1974 to 1998. Following each yearly general file are files of photographs pertaining to specific events occurring within that year. Examples of these wide ranging events include committee hearings, political conferences, White House meetings, speeches, press conferences, and media interviews. Other files contain photographs from the various overseas trips Glenn participated in as a member of a congressional delegation.

Included in the senate sub-series are photographs dating from the 1960s through the 1990s of an assortment of political figures, celebrities, athletes, and other noted individuals. Arranged in alphabetical order by surname, the majority of these VIP photographs are of John Glenn posing with a particular individual or group of people. Most VIP photographs are autographed and may contain a brief inscription to Glenn.

The senate sub-series also contains various portraits of John Glenn dating from 1964 to 1998. Most of these portraits are formal posed photographs used for election campaigns and for U.S. Senate directories. The remaining portraits consist of a small number of noteworthy candid photographs of Glenn dating from the 1970s and 1980s.

Senate photographs located within the oversized boxes generally follow the subject areas outlined above. Many of the oversized photographs are group portraits of the U.S. Senate or of the Senate committees in which Glenn held membership. Other oversized items contain photograph montages from congressional delegation trips.

The post-senate photographs date from 1999 to 2016. Most photographs are from events Glenn attended or spoke at during this time period. Events include the July 1999 celebration marking the 30th anniversary of the Apollo 11 moon landing; various programs in 2003 celebrating the 100th anniversary of manned flight; and programs marking the 50th anniversary of NASA.

The Annie Glenn sub-series consists of two photograph albums compiled by Mrs. Glenn during the 1960s and a limited number of photographs pertaining to her activities from the 1960s to the 1990s. The two albums contain photographs of various events and ceremonies attended by the Glenns, such as the Robert H. Goddard Memorial Dinner in 1963. The albums also contain photographs from a business trip to Italy for the Royal Crown Cola Company and of a rafting trip in Idaho the Glenns participated in with Robert and Ethel Kennedy. Included in the sub-series are photographs from the overseas trips Mrs. Glenn made during the 1980s and 1990s, either alone or with Senator Glenn. Countries she visited include Taiwan, Thailand, India, Morocco, Jordan, and Greece. Other photographs are from Mrs. Glenn's speaking engagements dating from the 1980s and 1990s, mostly to organizations involved with speech and hearing disorders.

Series 11: Portraits

Boxes 111 - 112; 13 framed items

The Portraits Series consists of forty-seven oversized or framed portraits of John Glenn dating from 1960 to 1998. Contained within the series are larger format, airbrushed prints of many of the photographic portraits of Glenn located within the Photographs Series. The series also contains a number of original oil paintings and pen and ink drawings of Glenn done by both professional and amateur artists. Most of these portraits date from the early 1960s and depict Glenn as an astronaut in NASA's Project Mercury space program. The remaining items are portraits of Glenn as a U.S. Senator and date from the mid-1970s to early 1980s. Included in the series is an oil portrait depicting Glenn as an astronaut for the Space Shuttle Discovery Mission STS-95. The Boeing Corporation commissioned this portrait and presented it to Glenn in 1998.

Series 12: Prints

Boxes 113 - 115 and 135; 109 framed items

The Prints Series consists of 214 oversized or framed items dating from the 1950s to 2015. Contained within the series are posters and signed limited edition prints covering various aspects of John Glenn's careers in the military, NASA, and politics. The military prints generally consist of drawings of the aircraft Glenn flew in World War II, in the Korean War, and as a test pilot in the 1950s. Many of the NASA posters and prints date from either the Project Mercury era of the late 1950s and early 1960s or from Glenn's return to space on the Space Shuttle Discovery in 1998. The series also contains numerous prints with a general space theme as well as prints and posters commemorating specific NASA missions, programs, and anniversaries. Most of the posters and prints pertaining to Glenn's years in the U.S. Senate reflect his activities and special legislative interests, such as Ohio economic development, aging issues, and the environment. Also included are prints presented to Glenn as an award or commendation for his work in a particular public policy area.

The series also contains some items pertaining to Glenn's corporate career and post-senate activities, along with a few items pertaining to Annie Glenn. Non-framed items within the series are sorted first by size for preservation purposes, and then arranged in rough chronological order by sub-series. A listing on the item level of the prints and posters within the series is located in the collection box and folder inventory.

Series 13: Video Tapes

Boxes 116 - 134

The Video Tapes Series consists of 472 video tapes containing footage dating from 1957 to 2007, though most tapes date from the 1980s and 1990s. Arranged into the six sub-series of Senate, post-senate, military, Annie Glenn, family, and NASA, the video tapes present a substantial amount of visual documentation on most aspects of John Glenn's various careers. The majority of the video tapes are in VHS format, though the series also contains some ¾ inch and Beta formatted recordings. The tapes in each sub-series are sorted first by format, and then arranged into chronological order within each format. The box and folder inventory contains a listing on the item level of all tapes located within the series.

The video tapes in the Senate sub-series date from 1974 to 1998 and generally consist of Glenn's speeches, floor statements, committee hearings, media interviews, news conferences, and public service announcements. Included are some documentaries and news programs on public policy issues of special legislative interest to Glenn. Numerous tapes pertain to the investigation of Charles Keating and the Lincoln Savings and Loan failure, including a full set of tapes of the "Keating Five" hearings held by the Senate Ethics Committee from November 1990 to January 1991. Also included within the Senate sub-series are tapes dating from Glenn's 1980, 1986, and 1992 Senate re-election campaigns and from his campaign in the 1984 presidential election. These campaign tapes consist chiefly of interviews, news conferences, and campaign commercials from both Glenn and his various opponents. Many of the tapes within the Senate sub-series dating from 1998 and most of the tapes within the post-senate sub-series contain recordings of award ceremonies and tributes to Glenn given by various organizations and individuals. The post-senate sub-series also includes tapes pertaining to Glenn's involvement in various celebrations during 2003 marking the 100th anniversary of manned flight. Other tapes reflect Glenn's continued involvement in space related activities.

The military, Annie Glenn, and family sub-series are limited in scope. The sole military related video tape contains footage of Glenn's appearance in 1957 on the "Name That Tune" television program following his Project Bullet record breaking transcontinental flight. The Annie Glenn sub-series contains interviews of Mrs. Glenn dating from 1984 and 1986, and tributes to her given in 1998 by the Columbus Speech and Hearing Center and in 1999 by the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges. The family sub-series contains footage from Senator Glenn's 65th birthday party, two interviews of Lyn Glenn dating 1997 and 1998, and an interview of the Glenn family dating from 1998.

Most of the tapes within the NASA sub-series pertain to Glenn's 1998 return to space as a crew member aboard the Space Shuttle Discovery Mission STS-95. These tapes include official NASA footage used in the astronauts' training for the mission and NASA footage highlighting the shuttle crew's daily activities during the space flight. The sub-series also contains a few interviews of Glenn and other crewmembers. Other tapes provide footage of the various parades held following the space flight. Also included within the sub-series is an assortment of commercially produced documentaries and news programs about Glenn's return to space. Tapes in the NASA sub-series dating prior to 1998 include footage of Glenn's space flight aboard the Friendship 7 spacecraft in February 1962. Other tapes pertain to anniversaries of the Friendship 7 space flight and to the history of NASA's space program in general. Also included is footage of Glenn's interview following the Space Shuttle Challenger accident in January 1986, along with footage of various programs produced and ceremonies held in tribute to the Challenger astronauts.
