Mother dear,

We arrived in Seattle at 7.30 this morning. It was rather rough last night, but it was just from the wind. It was the only rough place we had coming back. We had a dandy time coming back.

As a souvenir I have the official list of the passengers who sailed from Seattle. It was posted by the Currier, and he gave it to me.

I'd like to know what is the matter with Auntie. I sent her cards from Yellowstone and some from there + among them a leather A.Y.P. card. I sent her some from Alaska also. Almost every time I sent you one I sent her one.

I was not sick once while I was gone. I saw enough father so that people here at the hotel spoke of it. I'm more tanned also.

A Texas judge who is worth 3 million was on the ship coming back with his wife, two daughters and 2 grandsons. He owns a ranch in Texas which is about 10 miles square. They have invited me to visit them, and Uncle Alex wants me too. He may have a business motive. I will likely stop there for 2 or 3 days. He wants to take me to a real southern hunt. I can have a pony all for myself he said. It is an opportunity not to be lost, don't you agree?

We had a great time last night our last on board. No one turned in before 12) some not until
2. I did at 12. It seems awfully funny to be on land again.
They certainly were glad to see us there at the hotel.

Will you never can tell what people will do. Walt certainly seems to be the limit. As for his mother ~~they are~~ she is the limit.

So you like the Thomases?
what's that about Brevice? Do you believe it?

I fail to see the point of Mrs.
Pick's joke. So the tree didn't bloom.

I did not send a card to Will Ward. I sent it to his mother!

He is a cheerful ~~type~~ <sup>type</sup> ~~lie~~. I have not sent any more to the Post. Do not worry. I got a letter from Walt which I will enclose. In it he acknowledges our letter.

I did not have any hat on while I was gone. I'm sending a large envelope with me or too things I do not want lost.

I got your five letters this morning and one from Walt, and one from Adelaide. I'm not sure whether Adelaide is going to Mexico or not.

The Mexican trip is all planned and I start home immediately on getting back. I'll be about our work late. U.S. has the day set for us to start to Mexico and all goes O.K.

He wants me to see all the people whom he knows. He has told them about my coming for so long. I'm doing my best to assure you. I guess I'm succeeding fairly well. He is so tickled he does not know what to do. He is starting plans for next summer already.

We are "on" for the pictures.
