

Docent-in-training Call for Applications

The Wexner Center exhibits work created by artists from around the globe. We welcome visitors from a range of backgrounds and communities. In order to serve a diverse audience, we need a diverse team.

We are now taking applications for our 2013-2014 class of docents. Contemporary art challenges viewers to face and explore potentially provocative topics. Docents lead meaningful gallery discussions and push visitors to experience art from a range of perspectives. They guide the public in exploring issues of identity, race, sexuality, politics, and more. An academic background in the arts isn't necessary, but a love for the arts and people is.

The Wexner Center has recently entered into an exciting partnership with the Billy Ireland Cartoon Museum and Library. Starting late this fall, Wexner Center docents will have the opportunity to give public tours of the Cartoon Museum galleries along with the Wexner Center galleries. Join us to expand your knowledge of cartoons, comics, and contemporary art.

To apply, send a letter of intent along with your resume to edweb@wexarts.org or send by post to the Wexner Center (1871 North High Street, Columbus, OH 43210) c/o Docent Program. Applications must be in our hands by July 28. To learn more, visit wexarts.org.

Wexner Center for the Arts

The Ohio State University
1871 North High
Street
Columbus, OH
43210-1393
(614) 292-3535