Figure No. 264 K.—This consists of a Ladies' skirt and waist. The skirt pattern, which is No. 7013 and costs 1s. 3d., is in nine sizes for ladies from twenty to thirty-six inches, waist measure, and may be seen in four views on page 167 of this Delineator. The waist pattern, which is No. 7019 and costs 1s. or 25 cents, is in thirteen sizes for ladies from twenty-eight to forty-six inches, bust measure, and is differently illustrated on page 168.

A charming gown for a garden fête is here portrayed made of pink organdy dotted with white, and trimmed with insertion and two widths of velvet ribbon. The five-gored skirt falls smoothly at the front and sides and in rolling folds at the back, and is gathered at the top, where only enough fullness is allowed at the front and sides to secure a comfortable adjustment over the hips. The skirt may be fitted by darts at the top of the front and sides, but gathers are preferable when light, airy fabrics are made up. A notable feature of the skirt is a graduated, gathered flounce, which is deepest at the center of the front, where its upper edge forms a decided point. The flounce is headed by a twist of narrow ribbon knotted at intervals; a large bow of wide ribbon consisting of two loops and upright ends is placed at the point, and the bottom is adorned with two rows of insertion. The flounce may shape two points in front instead of one, and the skirt may be flared at the top of the back instead of gathered, the pattern providing for the several styles mentioned.

The waist is worn beneath the skirt and has a full outer body consisting of a back and fronts joined in under-arm and short shoulder seams and outlining a pointed yoke. The bodice parts are gathered at the top, and the fullness at the lower edge is drawn well to the center and collected in two rows of shirring at the back and at each side of the closing, which is made with hooks and loops at the center of the front. The shirring is also placed at belt depth and are concealed by a row of loops that runs the whole distance of the waist. To secure a perfectly smooth adjustment, the waist is provided with a lining fitted by the customary darts and seams.

The waist is encircled by a folded belt of ribbon that is crossed at the center of the front under a tuckable bow consisting of skirt loops and upright ends. The lining is faced at the sides and back with the full body and trimming of vertical rows of insertion which spread upward from the lower edge of the facing, followed by a twirl of narrow ribbon knotted at intervals, a bow of the ribbon being placed at the bust. The standing collar is concealed by a band of insertion, and a bow of ribbon is placed at the throat.

The mutton-leg sleeves are shaped by inside and outside seams, the outside seams extending only to the elbow, where they terminate below plaited fullness; they are close-fitting below the elbow and very voluminous above, and are mounted on smooth linings shaped by inside and outside seams. Bands of insertion start from the inside seam of each sleeve at the wrist and are carried diagonally upward about the arm to meet in a point at the outside under a coquettish bow of ribbon.

The mode will make up exquisitely in plain or fancy, India silk, taffeta, Japanese crepe, challis, crepon, dotted Swiss, linen lawn, batiste or nainsook, and trimming may be arranged with lace, insertion, embroidered edging or ribbon. The yoke facing will frequently be of lace, headed net or all-over embroidery.

The hat is a fanciful shape in fine straw and is stylishly trimmed with ribbon, white lace and flowers.

Styles for Misses and Girls.

This illustrates a girls' dress. The pattern, which is No. 7027 and costs 1s. or 25 cents, is in eight sizes for girls from five to twelve years of age, and may be again observed by referring to page 177 of this magazine.

An extremely effective gown for best wear is here pictured, the material selected for its development being old-blue cashmere. The full, round skirt reaches to a becoming depth and falls in graceful folds all round from gathers at the top, where it is joined to the body. The body has a full front and full back, which are shaped in moderately low, round outline at the top and are mounted upon a high-necked body-lining adjusted by the fulness of the back is similarly disposed at each side of the dress, which is made invisibly at the center; and under-arm girding produce a becomingly smooth effect at the sides. The body lining, exposed to shallow yoke depth is covered with a facing of cashmere.

Single bust darts and the usual goreds. The fulness at the front is drawn to the center in soft folds by gathers at the top and bottom; decorated with diverging rows of lace insertion, and similar insertion covers the close-fitting standing collar and decorates the free edges.
