DR. WHITMER, MISS RICKARD AND DR. PATERSON

Women's Institute Opens Monday at OSU

BEHIND-THE-SCENES workers active in promoting the first annual Women's Institute on the Ohio State University campus, Monday through Wednesday, include Dr. Anne Bernadine Whitmer of the university's English department and Miss Anne M. Rickard of the bureau of public relations. They are shown above with Dr. Ann Paterson, professor of physical education, who will give an orientation address on "Leisure Time" at the second general institute session Tuesday at 9 a.m. in the University Hall auditorium.

Several hundred prominent civic and social leaders from throughout Ohio are expected to participate in the three-day meeting. An important event of the year-long observance of the university's seventy-fifth anniversary, the institute will recognize the contributions made by women's organizations of the state and assist them in planning future programs aimed at better living in all Ohio communities.

Included among those having made reservations to attend the institute are Miss Lelia Massey of Delaware; Mrs. Ruth Young White, 208 E. Broad St.; Miss M. Fleta Thomas, 1576 Neil Ave.; Mrs. Henry A. Stair, 33 Auburn St.; Mrs. Margaret C. Speer, 1654 Doone Rd.; Mrs. Ada M. Smith, 1600 Alum Creek Dr.; Mrs. John Gray Rhind, 1496 Perry St.; Mrs. Mary A. Quinn, 478 S. Warren Ave.; Mrs. James T. Kirk, 192 Twelfth Ave.; Mrs. Fred P. Ellsperman, 336 Tibet Rd.; Mrs. Fred L. Donnelly, 190 Clinton Heights, and Mrs. Harlan W. Bradshaw, 249 Sixteenth Ave.
