Healthy, stable and harmonious. One of the principles of the movement, as expressed by its founders, is that a healthy and harmonious society is the foundation of a healthy and harmonious individual. This principle is reflected in the movement's ideology and actions, and is one of the guiding principles of its work.

The movement aims to create a healthy and harmonious society by promoting social justice, equal rights, and democratic values. They believe that a healthy and harmonious society can only be achieved through the active participation of all its members, and that everyone has a role to play in creating a better world.

The movement's approach is based on the principles of equality, freedom, and solidarity, and they believe that these principles are essential for creating a healthy and harmonious society. They work to promote these values in their daily activities and in their interactions with others.

In conclusion, the movement's commitment to healthy and harmonious society is one of its core principles. They believe that a healthy and harmonious society can only be achieved through the active participation of all its members, and that everyone has a role to play in creating a better world.

The movement aims to create a healthy and harmonious society by promoting social justice, equal rights, and democratic values. They believe that a healthy and harmonious society can only be achieved through the active participation of all its members, and that everyone has a role to play in creating a better world.

The movement's approach is based on the principles of equality, freedom, and solidarity, and they believe that these principles are essential for creating a healthy and harmonious society. They work to promote these values in their daily activities and in their interactions with others.

In conclusion, the movement's commitment to healthy and harmonious society is one of its core principles. They believe that a healthy and harmonious society can only be achieved through the active participation of all its members, and that everyone has a role to play in creating a better world.