Mikan: Journal for Hebrew Literary Studies

Volume 1, May 2000

The Department of Hebrew Literature
Ben-Gurion University of the Negev Press
Contents

Yigal Schwartz - 9
The Engineering of Man and the Construction of Space in Modern Hebrew Literature

Tamar Hess and Hamutal Tsamir - 25
Two Readings of Dahlia Ravikovitch's Early Poetry (Introduction)

Tamar Hess - 27
The Poetics of a Fig Tree: Feminist Aspects in the Early Poetry of Dahlia Ravikovitch

Hammatal Tsamir - 44
The Living and the Dead, the Believers and the Uprooted: A Reading of the Poem "The Arrival of the Messiah"

Hannan Hever - 64
"Our Poetry Is Like an Orange Grove": Anthologies of Hebrew Poetry in Eretz-Israel

Esperanza Alfonso - 85
Constructions of Exile in Medieval Hebrew Literature: Between Text and Context

Yitzhak Ben-Mordechai - 97
The Gangster and the Sphinx: A Reading of Nissim Aloni's Eddy King

Adi Ophir - 115
On Postmodern Literature and its Moral Justification: A Reading of Orly Castel-Bloom's Involuntary Stories

Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari - 134
What Is a Minor Literature?

From the Archive - 144
M.M. Feitelsohn
The Liberated Woman in Our Literature

Portrait - 150
Until Now, I Have Written the First Part: An Interview with Aharon Applefeld